Letters from the Districts.

Palestine District.

C. G. CURTIS.

Palestine District Conference met in St. Paul M. E. Church to hold its second session for 1890, in Palestine, Texas, Nov. 26, 1890, Rev. W. Wesley, Presiding Elder, in the chair. C. G. Curtis was elected secretary.

The question for and against the admission of women as delegates was discussed by the conference, and a testing vote of its expression resulted in two for and nineteen against.

J. A. Tillory was elected assistant secretary.

The financial statistics of last district conference were called and properly adjusted.

The following brethren contributed to the Presiding Elder's suit: W. H. Jackson, $3; J. D. Mead, $3; J. H. Anderson, $2.50; Payton Womack, $1.50; G. W. Love, 75c; Carey Davenport, $2.50; Frank R. Morton, $1; Daniel Atkins, $1.25; C. G. Curtis, $2.50; J. A. Tillory, $1; Jesse Averhart, 50c; Riley Hillory, 50c; Aaron Casselberry, 25c; Amos Drayton, 25c; Godfrey Langham, 50c; Frank Johnson, 25c; J. Holland, 25c; J. Washington, 25c; Claydon Kelley, 50c; E. A. Gray, 25c; Wm. Schorn, 25c; A. Arnold, 50c; Mason Wilson, $2.50.

Rev. M. Fountain, of the A. M. E. Church, was introduced to the conference.

Rev. W. H. Jackson made some remarks commending the Presiding Elder for his Christian character, and business management, and faithfulness of duty on the district. Services were conducted as follows:

Sunday school—Rev. L. H. Barnett and Rev. M. Wilson.

Love Feast—Rev. C. G. Curtis, Preaching—11 a. m., Rev. Carey Davenport. 3 p. m., Rev. Wm. Wesley. 7:30 p. m., Rev. J. D. Mead, assisted by Rev. C. G. Curtis.

All the reports showed great progress.

The appointments of local preachers and exhorters, as made at the first district conference, were adopted for this conference.

The characters of the following local preachers were passed and their licenses renewed: Amos Drayton, James Eddings, Jesse Averhart, Samuel Gamble, Henry Thomas, Logan Tensley, Riley Hillory, Robert Thurman, Belford Turner, Lovell Johnson, Nicholas Blain, DeCato Blain, Jack Jones, Wm. Titus, James Gabriel, Allen Clough, James Allen, Andrew Fred, Elijah Dickens, Benjamin Franklin, Thornton Sales, Richard Thompson, Joseph Watkins, F. R. Morton, John Holley, Stephen Middleton, Godfrey Langham, Anderson Arnold, Jacob Washington, Andy Harris, John Holland, Frank Johnson, Thomas Munson, Wm. Henry, W. H. Cheatham, Nicholas Perkins, B. M. Mathis, Anderson McDaniel.

The characters of the following local preachers passed, but their licenses were not renewed: Washington Armstrong, Samuel Tensley, F. G. Sillemmon, L. H. Hunter, Frank Smith.

Brother R. S. Franklin's case was referred to the fourth quarterly conference.

The cases of W. B. Gasby and Edmond Barrett were referred to the first quarterly conference in 1891.

Bro. Thomas Munson was granted license to preach on condition that he learn to write his name by the fourth quarterly conference in 1890.

The following brethren were recommended for ordination as deacons: J. H. Anderson, Geo. W. Love, Jessie Averhart.

For recognition of orders: M. Smith.

For admission into the traveling connection: J. H. Anderson.

Ootton Bin was selected as the seat of the next district conference.

Conference voted by a large majority to have but one district conference a year.

The Presiding Elder was requested to call a Sunday school convention as early as possible in 1891.

The characters of the following exhorters were passed and their licenses renewed: Aaron Casselberry, Peter Carden, Thomas Brooks, Geo. Davis, Ben Lee, H. P. Leavell, Willis Anderson, Isaac Jones, Daniel Turner, James Gabriel, Jr., Richard Owens, Harry Holley, Tenney Middleton, Mitchel Robinson, C. C. Moore, Jeff. Henry, W. M. Hunt, Wm. Armstrong, Solomon Kellum, J. Lee, C. H. Davis, C. Hamilton.

Bro. Calvin Grayson's case was referred to first quarter in 1891.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That this district conference highly endorses Dr. A. E. P. Albert, the editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, for the broad stand taken on all questions relating to both church and state.

2d. That the members of this district conference do more in the future than they have done in the past to circulate the SOUTHWESTERN.

The membership of the district numbers 1291.

Benevolent collections, including conference claimants and episcopal fund, $399.

Conference adjourned with benediction by the Presiding Elder.

Baton Rouge District, Fourth Round.

J. W. HUDSON.

We commenced our closing round for this conference under circumstances much more favorable than the first round, March 15, when the high water held charge for two months over the Old River and Atchafalaya, the richest part of the Baton Rouge district.

October 18, Yellow Bayou and Summer Chapel, twenty miles from West Melville, on the Atchafalaya river. Upon this new work, Bro. J. D. Pool has put in three years of faithful work, in so much that Yellow Bayou now stands by itself with Bro. Daniel Anderson, who was appointed to it from the district conference August 26. The church is in good condition spiritually and financially, the overflow to the contrary notwithstanding. $16 benevolent money reported on hand.

Rackasee Island, forty miles from Bayou Sara, on the Mississippi river. Bro. Jules Benn is in charge of this place. We have no property of our own. We hold service in property owned by Brother Bazael Robinson, a local preacher in our church. He is the proprietor of two large plantations, has a large family, and all are members of the church. His son, H. J. Robinson, is now attending the New Orleans University. We hope, some day in the near future, to buy a lot and build. Then this will be a stronghold for Methodism. Bro. Benn has been in such bad health this year, we fear his report will fall behind that of last year. The health of many is undermined from last spring overflow.

Union Chapel and Bayou Leaworth, eight miles apart, in the parish of Pointe Coupee, fifty miles from Bayou Sara. Bro. Isaac Scott has been two years in charge of this circuit. At Letsworth, a new church has been built this quarter, at a cost of $250, and all paid. Bro. Scott can show us better than he can tell us, about the benevolent collection, $23, when conference convenes.

Bro. Emmanuel P. Harris has served the good people of Scott Chapel very acceptably for four years.

West Baton Rouge is just across the River from East Baton Rouge, the capitol of the State. We have a nice church and parsonage, valued at $3000, much to the credit of the pastor and people. Many converts this year. Bro. Harris is closing up with a spiritual walk-over, and a benevolent income to conference of $29. Who will take it next year and do better?

In the State of Mississippi, Wilkerson county, ten miles from Woodville and three miles from the Louisiana line, is Merrill Chapel, Neptune Randolph, pastor. One year's service with the people makes him feel like a change will be best for all concerned. He has not been able to sing this year, "If my soul could stay in such a frame, December would be as sweet as May." $21 benevolent money may be forthcoming.

Mt. Zion, eight miles from Jackson, La. Bro. Sumner McGruder supplied this point with some degree of success. The membership is small, but faithful to every interest of the grand old Church. $12 for benevolent purposes reported on hand Nov. 16, at which time the conference was held.

Bro. P. W. Clark, pastor of Wesley Chapel, thirty-five miles from the city of Baton Rouge, and three from the town of Wilson, on the Mississippi Valley railroad. The two years' work at this place speaks well for pastor and people. With such men as Bros. Clark, James Fair, Cornelius Spears, and Dan Allen, who come when they are called and go when they are sent, success must follow. $28 benevolent money on hand.

Vincent Chapel, seven miles from Clinton, on the Mississippi Valley Railroad. A new church has been put up in the last nine months at a cost of $300. Bro. D. G. Pharris supplied this place to the satisfaction of all concerned. We started with five members this year. Fifteen have been added since the erection of the building, and many more are on the way. $8 for benevolence will be sent to conference.

Clinton, thirty-three miles from the city of Baton Rouge, on the Mississippi Valley railroad. Our church, Mt. Zion, is in the lead among the colored people. The trustees bought a lot adjacent to the church grounds, with a good house on it, for a parsonage, in which the pastor now lives. Bro. H. James feels that his first year at this place has proved a blessing to him and the people. Many converts have been added to the church. The year, for good to all, will long be remembered. $37 for benevolent purposes reported on hand.

Comite, six miles out from Clinton. Bro. R. J. Thomas has held the fort two years at this point. We have hoped for a new church here for a long time. At last the lumber is on the ground, and by the close of the year the good people expect to watch the old year out and new year in, in the new building. They have done well. $25 for benevolent purposes on hand.

Macedonia, four miles east of Clinton, and Pine Grove, eight miles from Macedonia. This circuit is under the good command of Bro. H. C. Gair. Two years he has acted well his part. A new church at Macedonia, 30x50 feet, and a new building at Pine Grove, place him among the church building preachers. Much credit is due to Bro. Geo. Banks, a local preacher of this charge, who loves good work as much as he does his wife. He is a true man. $29 for benevolent purposes will come.

Mt. Carmel, eight miles west of Clinton. We have a good church and parsonage at this point. Bro. Abraham Hilton is pastor. The people want him, and he wants them another year. $28 for benevolence will be forthcoming.

Slaughter, 108 miles from New Orleans, on the Mississippi Valley railroad, and twenty miles from the city of Baton Rouge. A prosperous town with a population of 600. Our church is centrally located, and promises well for the future. Bro. C. C. Wright has been found to be the right man in the right place, and people write for his return. $12 for benevolence.

Plank Road, twelve miles from the city of Baton Rouge and three miles from Baker Station, on the Mississippi Valley railroad. We are not owners of any land at this place yet. The building is ours and can be removed whenever we are desirous to do so. We expect in a few days to buy a lot. It may be the same on which the building now stands. The money is on hand for that purpose. $11 for benevolences is arranged for. Bro. Chas. Barnes, pastor; one year of faithful service.

New Roads, parish seat of Pointe Coupee, with a population of 300. Eight miles away from telegraph, railroad and steamboat communication.

Eight miles and we come to Bayou Sara, west side of Mississippi River, and French Settlement. Our church at this place is not what it ought to be, owing to powerful odds. We can only hope for the better. The faithful few do all they can for the good of the work, but the Catholic element keep us on the rough edge. Bro. Reuben Turner is pastor. $10 for benevolence.

Jackson, thirty-one miles from Baton Rouge and six miles from Ethel, the nearest railroad station on the Mississippi Valley railroad. An inland town with a population of 400. Magnolia Chapel, with Bro. A. J. Tirquit as pastor, stands second to none on the district, financially and spiritually. A debt of long standing to the Church Extension has been paid, and many others to the home people also settled. The people will feel much disappointed if he is not returned. $30 for benevolent purposes on hand.

Priestley Chapel, eight miles east of the City of Baton Rouge. Bro. Stephen Green, pastor. We have had a year of warfare at this church on the part of preacher and people. Three different times during the year the Presiding Elder was called upon because of misunderstandings with the members and pastor, which ended in a law suit. The fourth quarter was held in Baton Rouge, because of the bulldozing in that part of the parish. Many of the people are in the city for protection.

Jones Creek and Conrad, a circuit ten miles apart and eight miles northeast of Baton Rouge. Bro. Ephraim Harrison has labored with much success on this circuit for four years, until about the 20th of November, when the bulldozers began their work by whipping, killing and driving away our people. He was so badly beaten I had to hold his fourth quarter by his bedside in the city of Baton Rouge, and with him only.

At Zacharie we have Albert Chapel, built after the improved style of plan B of the Church Extension. Bro. T. A. Brown is the pastor and has done a wonderful work in this place. Bro. Brown is a hard worker and certainly deserves credit.

Letters from the Pastors.

SPECIAL TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Please take notice, 1st. That all anonymous letters go directly to our waste basket; 2d. Letters must be written on only one side of the paper; 3d. No frivolous questions will be noticed; 4th. Abbreviations should not be used; 5th. Notes and items must be condensed so as to insure brevity; 6th. We return no manuscript.

S. S. Corfrew, Greenwood, Miss.

We are trying to push forward the work of the old church. I was with Revs. C. W. Wright and H. M. Hollins, and assisted them in organizing his church on Oct. 17.

Bro. Wright was sent to this work by the district conference, and Bro. E. O. Carter was appointed by the district conference to go to Caloway circuit. He would not go; so I sent Bro. H. M. Hollins. This will be one of the greatest works on the district. My church at Woodburn will soon be ready for dedication.

A. N. Jackson, LaFayette, Ala.

Our fourth quarterly conference was held Dec. 6, 7. A Lovefeast was held Friday night, at which the presence of the Holy Spirit was wonderfully manifested.

Thirty-three members of the conference were present with a large number of visitors. The reports showed progress, and peace and good will among our people. During the quarter the pastor had been paid $182.74; elder, $12; sick members, $12; and all the benevolent moneys collected—exceeding the apportionment, and the record of any previous year in the history of the church.

Our burned Bell church is nearing completion. Plans and drawings for a new church in town have been purchased from the Church Extension Board. The presiding elder, Rev. W. F. Smith, was present, and conducted the services. Despite the heavy rain Sunday morning, a large number turned out to the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The presiding elder was presented with a silk hat, and the pastor with a suit of clothes. Collection, $63.

F. M. Lashington, Pleasant Hill, La.

Our fourth quarterly conference was held Dec. 6. Rev. T. G. Montgomery, presiding elder, was present. Notwithstanding the rain and cold the conference had an interesting session. The church is alive, and we have raised all of our benevolent moneys. Will go to conference rejoicing. We are always glad to have our presiding elder with us. Collection, $96 85.

G. J. Rogers, Rosedale, La.

Our fourth quarterly conference was held Dec. 6, 7. The presiding elder was well pleased. He preached a glorious sermon. Rev. J. W. Hudson is loved by every one in this community—whites as well as colored. He is leading this district to victory.

J. A. Tirquit, Jackson, La.

Before giving you a resume of our year's work, permit me to congratulate you upon your selection of one of fairest belles of Shreveport for a life partner. While congratulating you, permit me to give expression to my great joy consequent upon the fact, that on the 10th of December there came to my house a beautiful little stranger in the person of a bouncing baby boy, and at this writing the mother and child are doing well. The writer is the happiest and proudest man in Jackson. May it be known to all that another son is born to Methodism.

When I first took charge here the clouds were dark, and hung low; but by indefatigable toil and trust in the Lord, I was able at the fourth quarterly conference, to make a report quite in advance of former years.

The Sunday school has increased at least 150 per cent., and is in a prosperous condition. Twelve scholars have been converted from the school; and some whose parents are deep-water Baptists. Seventeen have been converted from adults, and eighteen probationers taken in.

The church burdened by a long-standing debt to the Church Extension Society, has been freed from same, and now owes no one. It has also been insured for three years in the Mechanics and Traders insurance company of New Orleans, La.—a thing never before done. $513 60 had been raised for all purposes up to Nov. 29th. Presiding elder paid and conference money raised. The people are well pleased with their present pastor, and ask that the conference send him another year.

Presiding Elder Hudson is quite a favorite among them. And when it is known that he is coming, the church is filled to its utmost capacity to hear and see him. Bro. Hudson is one of those unassuming preachers who shoots and never fails to hit the mark, and leaves a deep and abiding impression upon his hearers. At our last quarterly conference the following resolution was passed and ordered printed in the SOUTHWESTERN, viz:

"Whereas, The Rev. J. H. Hudson, Presiding elder of the Baton Rouge District, Louisiana Conference, has, for two years, acceptably served this district to the great satisfaction of all the preachers, members and parties concerned; be it therefore resolved:

"That, In the judgment of the fourth quarterly conference of Jackson, La., the district has never been better presided over; resolved further,

"That, We renew our confidence in, and our affection for him; bidding him God-speed in his mission of labor and love; tendering him our heartfelt appreciation of his efficient service, and pray that God will spare him to us many days, and so influence the judgment of the conference to continue him in the present incumbency as long as the extreme time limit will allow."

E. Troup, Clarksdale, Miss.

My fourth quarterly conference was held by Rev. C. P. Head. Reports showed progress. Many souls had been converted. Purchased a new bell for the church at a cost of $13 80; and $11 of improvements made on church property. Elder preached a soul-stirring sermon, and administered the Sacrament to thirty-seven persons. Two were admitted into full membership. Paid elder, $11; pastor, $75; subscription for the new church to be built at Lyons, Miss., $7,500; collected of that amount, $2000.

L. C. McLendon, Elijah, Miss.

Our fourth quarterly conference convened in the Hamric Hill M. E. Church, Dec. 6, 7. The work is alive. Sunday at 11 o'clock Dr. H. R. Revels preached a soul-stirring sermon. The Doctor, having to go to Lott's Chapel to preach at 3 p. m., Sacrament was omitted until the following Sunday. Paid pastor, $50 55; elder, $10; raised for all purposes, $97.80. We have part of the lumber on the ground to build the parsonage. Thank God we are on the line of success. Everything is moving along nicely.

G. W. Norris, Caldwell, Tex.

This circuit has not done so well this year, as I have been sick part of the time, but we are moving onward. At Caldwell we have but three members, and the other churches are against us; but we are moving onward. At Zion Hill we have about 150 members. We are preparing to build a new church. Our people here need a great deal of teaching. They have no Sunday school; only sometimes. At Lynn Station we have twenty members, and they are full-blooded Methodists. They have as good a Sunday school as there is on the Navasota District, and the members stand by the church and ministry with such an elder as Rev. W. A. Logan, we are bound to succeed.

I think that the preachers and presiding elders ought to be Christian men and full of the power of God, and not of the Devil. If we can not live in love with each other how can the members who are under us live in love with each other? Some time the church will take a man who is a bad man, who has an education and make him a presiding elder. The church does not intend to do this, but it happens nevertheless.

The following program was rendered at the jubilee of the Ebenezer Methodist Episcopal Church, Jacksonville, Fla., on the twenty-sixth anniversary of its organization, Nov. 20 23:

Wednesday night, Nov. 19th—Opening sermon, by Rev. John Wilson.

Thursday, Nov. 20th 3 p. m.—Praise and testimony meeting, conducted by the pastor.

At 7 p. m.—Half hour concert by the young people. Reading history of organization by the pastor. Thanksgiving sermon by Rev. W. J. Salmund. Concluded with testimonies by a few of the first members of the church.

Friday, Nov. 21st, 3 p. m.—Sermon by Rev. P. Patterson.

At 7 p. m.—Half hour concert young people. Addresses by Rev. C. C. Manigault, S. B. Darnell, and S. Jackson.

Sunday, Nov. 23d, 8:30 a. m.—Sunday school; at 10 a. m. Lovefeast; at 11 a. m., preaching by Rev. B. Dilworth, presiding elder, assisted by J. G. Howard; at 3 p. m., addresses by Revs. J. G. Howard, E. Ferguson, and J. Grant; at 7 p. m., half hour concert by young people; addresses by Revs. J. T. Elliott, J. P. Patterson, Y. K. Meeks, and J. M. Deas. Concluded with the Lord's Supper. The whole was interspersed with choice music by the choir.

Our Church.

$1,200,000

For Missions by Collections Only.

In one day last November I was present when over 150 persons were savingly converted to God, and received the witness of the Spirit. Preachers are anointed from on high, and our Christians as a body will compare favorably with any body of Christians in India. And yet this is but our day of small things. Better days are ahead; brighter skies will soon be over us. Our Church has now a golden opportunity to do great things for God. Will she sustain us, as the Baptists sustained their missionaries when the great work among the Telugus commenced? The one thing for which Christians seem really to give freely is for actual soul-winning among the heathen. Now is the opportunity of the Methodist Episcopal Church. She can have 50,000 converts in India within five years if she will add $50,000 to the resources of her missionaries. The Baptists called for $50,000 last year for new work and received $52,000. Here is a lesson which the wise should ponder.—Bishop Thoburn, on work in India.

Annual Meeting of the Board of Education.

The annual meeting of the Board of Education was held at the office in New York Dec. 3. The reports of the treasurer and of the corresponding secretary showed a year of marked prosperity in every department of work.

Notwithstanding the large increase of the previous year from $31,000 to over $42,000, a similar advance was made last year to $52,500 cash collections. A still greater increase in returned loans was shown, and the total income for the year from all sources was $69,368. The invested fund is now $226,000. The increase in collections in two years has been 69 per cent, and in returned loans 90 per cent. Special efforts are now being made to collect the loans made previous to 1886, and still larger returns are confidently expected. The collections of the year came from about 5,600 Sunday-schools.

The entire amount of the collections is now distributed among the several Conferences in home and foreign fields. The amount thus disbursed the past school year was $42,173.96 to students distributed in 100 different colleges, theological schools and academies.

Average amount loaned to each beneficiary for the year, $45.68; total number of beneficiaries to the end of the last school year, 3,207.

The amount of $50,000 was appropriated for the present school year, ending in June next, which will greatly cheer many needy students in all our schools. Some requests have been made. Methodist people are beginning to appreciate the work of this Board, and to include it among the church societies remembered in their wills.

Dr. Payne reported that he had visited 28 conferences during the year, making during his incumbency of the office 69 visits to the conferences, and 58 different conferences visited and addressed. He had traveled 22,000 miles during the year. The utmost harmony prevailed in all the deliberations and actions of the Board, and the good work done and the hopeful outlook gave great encouragement to all its members.

General Church News.

An unknown giver has presented to the Young Men's Christian Association of Haverhill, Mass., $10,000 for a building.

William P. Southworth, of Cleveland, Ohio, has given $50,000 for a ward or wards in the hospital there to be devoted to the care of sick and disabled children.

During the past fifteen years the Cincinnati Baptists have added seven new churches to the number then existing, the total number now being 26; the total membership has risen from 2,544 to 4,020; and the total amount of benevolent contributions raised last year is four-fold what it was fifteen years ago.

The will of the late Franklin B. Jagger has been filed at Burlington, Iowa. It contains bequests of $5,000 to the American Home Missionary Society of New York, $5,000 to the Iowa Congregational Home Missionary Society, $5,000 to the Iowa College at Grinnell, Ia., and $2,000 to the Public Library at Burlington.

The House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church at a special meeting in Pittsburg, Pa., on Oct. 23, chose Rev. John W. Chapman, missionary at Anvik, Alaska, to be Missionary Bishop of Alaska, and Rev. William S. Langford, D.D., of New York, to be Bishop of Japan. Rev. Dr. Langford, who was in Pittsburg in attendance upon the Missionary Council, having satisfied the committee who notified him that he could not accept the election, his declination was presented to the house of Bishops, but no other choice was made for Japan.

The wealth of the Church of England as ascertained by a recent revenue report to Parliament may be thus summarized: The income of the Ecclesiastical commissioners is about $5,750,000, nearly one fourth of which is derived from tithes. The Welsh tithes yield about $20,000. The gross annual values of benefices for 21 countries is $10,000,000, which is distributed among 6,600 clergymen, giving them an average of a little over $1,500 a year.

We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tuckor, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

Letters from the Laity.

John W. Butler, St. Paul M. E. Church, Shreveport, La.

Our fourth quarterly conference was held December 10, 1890, with Rev. T. G. Montgomery, Presiding Elder, in the chair. The officers were all in their places with written reports. The session attracted quite a large congregation, who manifested great interest in the proceedings, especially in the financial reports, which showed that $4,176.02 had been raised since the date by the church: Gross receipts from excursion August 22, 1890, $2,118.76; disbursement of same as follows, to train hire Aug. 22, 1890, $975; to Commercial National Bank of Shreveport, $250; John R. Jones, on account of building material, $200; Enders & Son, on account of church furniture, $100; Board of Trustees, on account of borrowed money, $100; brass band and incidental expenses, $82; A. Kahn, for hardware, paid in full, $40; Buckelew & Presents, for hardware, paid in full, $33.40; J. D. Welch, for account of excursion, $50; J. S. Fellers, for account of excursion, $10; Wm. Harper, for account of excursion, $10; J. E. Traisclair, for account of excursion, $15; A. J. Smith, for account of excursion, $10; C. W. Hardy, for account of printing, $27; Pierre Landry, for account of excursion, $25; Shreveport Times, for account of printing, $21.35; to attorney-at-law, for account of excursion, $50; rent of Cole's Park, Dallas, Aug. 23, 1890, $20; superintendent and building St. Paul Church, $10; total, $2,118.76. Receipts outside of excursion from all other sources and disbursements of same, $980.56; paid J. H. Prescott, insurance on church, $56; paid John R. Jones, building material on parsonage, $26; paid D. Callahan, carpet and glazing, $73.39; paid P. H. L. Hargrave, lumber for parsonage, $70.77; John H. Cook, tin work (on account), $10.40; paid Commercial National Bank, $600; paid W. J. Walker, brickwork, $13; paid H. B. Jones, carpenter, $45; paid Jos. Pleasance, painter, $8; paid Major Lloyd, painter, $35; paid building outhouse and repairing fence, $20; paid Farman & Hamilton, hardware, $2.50; paid Buckelew & Present, hardware, $7.50; paid Wm. Harper, return of borrowed money, $50; total, $980.56; money collected by stewards to date, $1,076.70; grand total to date, Dec 10, 1890, $4,176.02.

The officers, members and friends of St. Paul Church are now engaged in raising the balance due on the pastor's salary, and with good weather we will send down our full assessment for benevolent purposes.

Complimentary resolutions to ex-Senator Wm. Harper, to whom St. Paul Church is so deeply indebted for valuable service during its great struggle for reconstruction and money raising, were adopted; to Dr. D. A. Smith and Mr. Isaac Johnson, both of Shreveport, for special favors; to the Rev. T. G. Montgomery, Presiding Elder, for his uniform kindness, as president, were also adopted. The administration of the Rev. P. Landry was endorsed and resolutions passed looking to his return to St. Paul Church, as pastor for 1891, were adopted in the midst of the best of feelings.

N. R. Clay, Aberdeen, Miss.

The fourth quarterly conference was held here Nov. 29, with Rev. J. O. Eckles, Presiding Elder, in the chair. Reports show the church on the forward move. The steward's reports showed that we had raised for all purposes seven hundred and sixty-six dollars and fifty cents, of which the pastor had received four hundred and eighty dollars ($480), the Presiding Elder sixty-six dollars ($66), and other expenses the balance.

The Elder preached another of his heart felt sermons. Text: "There is a river that maketh glad the city of God." During his sermon our hearts were made to burn within us. After preaching the two hundred and twenty-six souls partook of the Lord's Supper. The Elder was assisted by Revs. M. O. McEwin, M. Proctor and the pastor. Collection $22.

We are preparing to celebrate Emancipation Day as never before. Our people are just now beginning to appreciate that eventful day as they should. They have been sleeping upon its importance until awakened by your valuable paper, which is a great educator among our people. May your paper live long and continue its work as our best wish.

The South Carolina Legislature is discussing the adoption of the Jim Crow car system. The colored people have held a convention and several other meetings to protest against the proposed law.

Rev. and Mrs. O. D. Shallowhorne, of Shreveport, will please accept many thanks for a fat Christmas turkey. This reminds us that to-day is January 1st, and another fat turkey would not be out of place for such an occasion.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

HAVE you read Dr. Haygood's Colored Man in the M. E. Church? If you have not, you can have no true idea of the history of the colored man in the M. E. Church. Send for a copy from this office. Price only $1.25.

The presiding elders of the Louisville Conference unite in requesting every member of the conference to be sure and reach this city to take part in the grand quarter-centennial celebration of the conference which takes place at Washington Artillery Hall, Jan. 13. The exercises begin at 10 a. m., and close at 11 p. m. Let the day be observed as a general Methodist holiday.

A CORRESPONDENT of Zion's Herald, Rev. Geo. S. Butters, relates the following incident as having taken place in the classroom of Rev. Dr. J. W. Lindsay, of Boston University: "In the midst of that afternoon's work a brother's translation had made the teacher smile because of its familiarity, and the young man defended himself by saying, 'I'm not much of a Hebrew scholar anyway.' That statement is more exact than your translation, my brother," was the ready response of the professor."

The holy Sabbath is the special day for worship. The best time to worship God is in the morning. It is a sad mistake that some preachers and some people make of making the Sunday night service the most important. All of Sunday ought to be given up to the sacred purposes of this consecrated time. The old-time Methodists, following the example of John Wesley, were accustomed to meet together before daylight for divine worship. If we do not observe that custom we ought to hear a morning prayer-meeting and a morning sermon in every one of our churches. There ought not to be a single exception to this in all Methodism. Any fairly healthy minister can preach three times on Sunday and he will not be hurt. Short, hot, gospel sermons—one of them in the forenoon, and at least two of them every Sunday, should be the universal rule.

Happy New Year.

We greet our readers, one and all with the best wishes for a happy, happy New Year! The year of our Lord 1890 has passed into unchangeable history; the chapters of its closely written volume have finally closed, and for weal or woe, it is gone to keep company with the centuries of the past. Its record is not lost, however. For God will certainly bring everything to face us in the judgment, whether it be good or whether it is evil. No doubt the pages of the year that has just closed are disfigured by the shapeless wrecks of many wholesome resolutions made at its beginning, and which we have often broken to our shame and sorrow. We resolved to be better men, better women, and better children on the first of January, 1890. Too many of us find that, depending upon our own strength, we failed most disastrously. Shall we now give up in despair? No, a thousand times never. But, rather let us gird up the loins of our minds, resolve anew; take up the implements of our warfare and fight the good fight of faith, in the strength of Him who is the Captain of the Lord's host, the Author and Finisher of our faith. As we recall the visitations of Providence toward us during the past year, we recall many sorrows and joys, many hours of darkness as well as of sunshine. Those varied experiences, like the former and the latter rains, while not always welcome or understood by our feeble humanity, will, if we trust submissively in the goodness and wisdom of our Heavenly Father, yield for us a rich harvest of the purest bliss. Now then, facing the great unknown before us, let us venture out upon the year that to-day opens to us with resolutions to be better and to live nearer to God. All who started out with us on the march of the year that has just closed were not permitted to see its close, neither will all those who start out with us on the journey which 1891 now opens be permitted to see its close; but if we are true to God, to ourselves and to each other, it will be well with our souls. Again we greet you with a happy, happy new year. May all your days be bright, may your churches be crowded, your Sunday schools alive, and every house become a house of prayer; may your life be full of joy, and your end peace.

Political Review.

The past and present week being holiday weeks, very little of a political nature has really culminated. Dispatches from Washington are to the effect that the Senate will adjourn from day to day, if there is a quorum on both sides of the chamber. The debate on the election bill will continue, and one of the features of the discussion will be a speech by Senator Hoar. Should there be a quorum of Republican senators during the week then may be expected a transformation of the light skirmishing which has been in progress for a month into a heavy engagement of the political forces, for it is the intention to take up the new cloture rule introduced by Senator Aldrich as soon as a safe Republican majority can be assured.

It is not expected that any business will be transacted in the House during the coming week. There is a possibility, however, though not a probability of a quorum being in attendance either Friday or Saturday, and should the unexpected happen, the appropriations committee is prepared to take advantage of the circumstances and take up one of the regular annual appropriation bills.

RAM Chander Bose, who has twice represented India in the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, seems to be growing out of harmony with Methodism by accepting high church principles. He is of the cast of mind that would lead him in that direction, and besides he has not realized his ambitions in connection with our church. But we must expect just such incidents in our India and China missions. In a measure we will pass through the experience of the Apostolic Church when it came in contact with Greek Culture.

Emancipation, January 1.

The Faith Cadets of this city will celebrate Emancipation Day, to-night, at Morris Brown Chapel. J. F. Barrow is captain and founder. Rose Scott is daughter of the company, and Rev. I. H. Hall, father. Geo. H. Nelson, and E. H. Phillips are first and second lieutenants. We thank them for the beautiful complimentary ticket. The following are expected to speak on the occasion: Rev. L. G. Adkinson, D.D., President New Orleans University; Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D.D., editor SOUTHWESTERN; Hon. T. B. Stamps, editor Standard-Pelican; Hon. E. S. Swan, William Porter, and others. Also, during the day there will be a grand New Year dinner for the benefit of the Old Folks' Home.

The New Orleans University students and their teachers will celebrate the day with the people at First Street Church. President Adkinson, Pastor J. W. Hilton, and Dr. Albert will be among the speakers.

Personal.

—Bro. C. F. Simmons, of Mississippi, is teaching at Washington, Texas, and is saving all he can so as to enter Gammon Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., next fall. We hope him much success in his holy purpose.

—Rev. W. E. Hutcherson requests his correspondents to address him hereafter at Wiley University, Marshall, Texas, until further notice.

—Prof. R. C. Barrow, Jr., who is teaching at Abbeville, La., spent the Christmas and New Year's holidays in this city. He paid us an appreciated call.

—Revs. J. F. Marshall of La-Teche, Stephen Priestley of Monroe, Emperor Williams of North New Orleans, S. Duncan of South New Orleans, J. W. Hudson of Baton Rouge District, have all completed their fourth rounds, and are now ready for conference. They report splendid advances in many directions.

—Everybody that has ever met him, will be pained to learn that Rev. R. H. Harbert, until recently presiding elder of the Houston District, Texas Conference, has been sentenced to the Texas Penitentiary for two years. He has taken an appeal, in which his many friends extend the most fervent hope that he may finally be acquitted. This is the outcome of the unpleasant altercation which took place at Houston between Bro. Harbert and O. C. Minnegan some weeks ago when Bro. Harbert fired several shots at Brother Minnegan. Brother Harbert claims that he was acting in self defense, as he thought Bro. Minnegan was about to do him physical injury. Without pretending to say aught in the premises, we certainly deplore this most unfortunate affair, and sincerely hope that our dear Bro. Harbert will be acquitted. To his family we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

—Bro. Geo. Washington and Sister Mary E. Coleman, old members of Union Chapel, New Orleans, were buried last week. They died well.

—Miss Martha Bibolet, daughter of Mr. L. Bibolet, died in this city last Friday morning, after a long illness. We extend our condolence to bereaved ones.

City Church Notes.

[Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or lay men.]

A grand entertainment was given by the trustees of Malden Chapel, on Washington Avenue and Tonti streets, Saturday, Nov. 22, for the benefit of the church.

Rev. F. Walker and family were with us, and his wife played some very nice music on the organ. We had a good time. Isaiah Brown steward.

Bishop Mallalien preached a very edifying sermon at First Street Church last Sunday night to a large and appreciative congregation. Revs. S. Priestley, T. G. Montgomery, J. F. Marshall and A. E. P. Albert were among the visitors. Pastor Hilton is closing a good year.

Bishop Newman.

He Will Come to New Orleans to Take Part in the Quarter Centennial Jubilee of the Methodist Conference.

Bishop John P. Newman, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who has been spending a few weeks in this city, will go to Washington after Christmas, and early in January he will proceed to New Orleans, where he will take a prominent part in the quarter centennial jubilee of the Methodist Conference. It was in 1864 that Dr. Newman was sent to New Orleans by Bishop Scott, at the request of President Lincoln, to take charge of the Methodist churches in Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana, which had been abandoned by their Confederate pastors. Dr. Newman organized the first Methodist Conference in that section of the country twenty-five years ago.

The celebration will be held in the largest hall in New Orleans, and Bishop Newman will be the orator of the day. He will speak on "The Future of the Negro Race." The festivities will include a banquet. Starting from New Orleans, Bishop Newman will enter upon his duly assigned visitations through about nine conferences in the West and Southwest. He will go to Texarkana and Fort Smith in Arkansas, thence to Omaha, Neb., and through Nebraska and Iowa.

He will preach, lecture and make appointments for the local ministers for another year. He will visit colleges, attend missionary conventions, ministerial associations, and will dedicate churches. All this will fill his time until next May, when the Bishops meet again and arrange for another year's work. Bishop Newman is one of sixteen general bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church who hold semi-annual meetings and apportion among themselves the work of widely scattered conferences. Each bishop usually has about 1,500 clergymen to look after in the conferences assigned to him.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

AN APPEAL.

To The People:

The adoption by the Legislature of Louisiana, at its last session, of act No 115, entitled "An act to provide for the comfort of passengers," &c., and better known as the separate car law, is a matter of public notoriety.

While the bill was pending before the General Assembly, the American Citizens' Equal Rights Associations earnestly protested and exerted its influence against its passage.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the reasons adduced then why this law should not have been enacted. All are familiar with them, and feel the degradation the law imposes on American citizenship.

To this end the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association will institute a suit to test the constitutionality of the infamous law and maintain the right of American citizens to travel on railroads and public conveyances.

For the successful prosecution of the suit money is needed.

Therefore, to secure the sinews of legal warfare, we appeal to the people generally for aid and assistance.

We appeal specially to ministers of the gospel. We request these emissaries of harmony and good-will among men to read this address from their pulpits and make its subject-matter a text for their sermons, in order to arouse the people to the sense of their patriotic duty in the premises.

We appeal to the presidents, officers and members of the associations, benevolent and charitable, educational, labor and others, in New Orleans and elsewhere, to introduce the matter into their assemblies and make it a subject of their deliberations, to the end that their organizations may, collectively, tender us their help.

We appeal to the leaders of men to propagate the idea among their followers, to enlist their interest and support in the cause.

Realizing the influence of the gentle sex and their zeal and earnestness in and devotion to the cause of right and justice, we appeal to the loyal women of the country to give us their invaluable aid. Let them talk the subject to the men in their social assemblies, church meetings, and other gatherings, and thus induce the latter to send their contributions singly; or, still better, organize circles to raise funds for the end proposed by entertainments, festivals, &c.

We appeal to those moulders of public opinion, the newspapers of the United States—the loyal press—to publish this appeal and make its object the subject of their approving comments and criticisms in order to create and maintain a public sentiment, from which the needed aid will readily flow. We request all newspapers in sympathy with the cause to act as agents of this Association to receive contributions from the good people of their localities, to be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

Finally as the favorable issue of the suit will redound to the everlasting benefit of all, we appeal to the lovers of fair play and justice throughout this broad land for their encouragement, material aid and assistance.

We will employ the very best legal talent that the country affords. We know that the amount required will be large, but it can be easily raised by dime and nickel contributions.

Let all send in their mite. As soon as the necessary amount will have been secured, we will inform the people and cease the collection.

Conscious of the justice of our cause, and supported by a loyal people, we will not desist from our course until this infamous law which is a continual menace to the peace of society, a standing insult to us, our wives, mothers and sisters, and which threatens to be a badge of inferiority to our posterity, is nullified, and we have created such a sentiment that will hereafter prevent any attempt to enforce a similar law or regulation anywhere in this free country of ours.

A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., President American Citizens' Equal Rights Association of Louisiana.

JOHN L. MINOR, Secretary.
N. B.—Send all contributions to J. T. Newman, M. D., Treasurer of the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association, corner Canal, and Marais streets, New Orleans, La.

The names of all contributors will be published in the SOUTHWESTERN Christian Advocate, the Standard Pelican and the Crusader, unless otherwise directed.

The dedication of the Mechanical School at Central Tennessee College, Nashville, Tenn., takes place Jan. 7. Dr. J. C. Hartzell and other educational lights will take part. It promises to be a grand affair. Everybody is invited.

The Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier of Dec. 5, 1890, devoted six columns of its space for representation of the noble work of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Education Society, that is being carried on at Claflin University, Orangeburg, S. C. The Courier lauds the work to the highest, and is profuse in its appreciation of Dr. L. M. Duntun, the wise, devoted, and consecrated head of that great institution. May it, and the noble men in charge of that great work, be long-lived to bless this race and the unborn multitude who are to be influenced in right lines from this perennial spring of living waters.

J. W. Butler, Shreveport, La., St. Paul M. E. Church: "An educational meeting was held at the St. Paul Church, Nov. 21. It was called to order by Rev. J. H. Hod pastor of St. Matthew A. M. E. Church.

The following officers were elected: Rev. C. D. Shallowhorne, president; J. Cleveland, vice-president; A. J. Samuels, Hartwell Swanson, and John Clark, secretaries; D. W. Boatner, G. F. Huntley, and John W. Butler, assistant secretaries. H. Yaney, and C. D. Shallowhorne spoke very feelingly upon the subject of christian education, setting forth the morality and social elevation of the peculiar work of schools established by the M. E. Church. Mr. Moses Stewart gave the history of efforts to establish a school in the past. He insisted that education was the chief importance in the attainments of the qualification of a lady or gentleman.

Rev. J. H. Ford said that history has no record of a people so ignorant that ever succeeded. That every evil we now complain of is due to ignorance; and that the only future for the Negro is wealth and education; and that no race of people ever succeeded in ignorance. Prof. Boatner spoke at length upon education. He advocated the claims of education for the elevation of the Negro.

Prof. A. P. Grigsby gave an outline of the work intended to be carried on in the Shreveport Academy, and the good that would be accomplished with the necessary support.

Rev. Geo. W. Lady, Presiding Elder of Pine Bluff District, Arkansas Conference, was introduced and made a very encouraging speech. On motion of Rev. P. Landry, pastor of St. Paul Church, it was decided to publish the proceedings of this meeting in our city paper and in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Rev. P. Landry promised a larger congregation at our next meeting.

Free Choice.

REV. JOSEPH COURTNEY.

After speaking of the great work accomplished by the Methodist Episcopal Church in the South, The Southern Christian Recorder, Edited by Dr. Bryant, says: "This great church has increased by surrendering one of the great principles which God teaches, and the discipline of the church sanctions; 'of one blood God made all nations.'" She will never enroll as her members the greatest and truest men and women of the Negro race. No true man or woman will ever willingly submit to his own degradation." The above was quoted by the SOUTHWESTERN, December 4, 1890.

Joshua, the successful leader of the Israelites into the promised land, in his valedictory urged upon them to choose whom they would serve. "Choose you this day whom ye will serve." That eloquent persuasive minister of the Gospel of Christ, Paul, says—"Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind."

Man is a moral free agent. If not, then he is not accountable neither is he responsible to a greater than himself. From the Scripture quotations above, it is perfectly clear to all rational minds, that man is free to choose for himself, and to be persuaded in his own mind. In the first Scripture quoted—it seems to me, that as free men, the liberty of choice was granted to the Israelites in order, perhaps, that they might not have it to say afterwards that they were compelled. The Israelites were called upon by Joshua, to decide for themselves what God they would serve. In the second—"Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind." Let every man in harmony with the light and truth which he receives from the Gospel, act from the conviction of his own mind in reaching conclusions for himself. If he has conscientious convictions, then let his conscience be obeyed. He who would change or decree it otherwise, would wholly disqualify man for conscientious spiritual worship, or as a proper subject of civil government. We admit that intelligence is necessary to conversion and for acceptable worship, but how much? How little is enough? To my mind, a clear conception of divine things, correct views, and proper acknowledgments of the one true and living God is sufficient. A man possessed of sufficient mental ability to accept God as his savior, and then obey and consistently worship him in spirit and in truth, is a rational level headed man. He has in deed and in truth complied with the essential requirement—"Fear God and keep his commandments." Any one who is capable of choosing God as his Savior, is capable also of making free choice of what church to unite with. Should he not unite with the particular branch of the church to which I belong, would it be christian-like on my part to cast unholly reflections upon him and his church, because he exercised his own choice in selecting a church home? Would he not be acting for himself, and also be fully persuaded in his own mind in doing so?

All the Negro men and women of brains in this country, are not in any one specified denominational church. No not even in the African Methodist Church. But from what Dr. Bryant of The Southern Christian Recorder says; That church has all the "greatest and truest men and women," in Methodism, "of the Negro race." Poor Dr. Bryant, he has had the sympathy of all good people for quite a while, and he is now to be pitied. Is it possible that the sixteenth annual conference in the Methodist Episcopal Church, composed of colored ministers and members, who number up into the hundreds of thousands, are not true men and women? Why of course, they would be considered the "greatest and truest men and women of the Negro race." Why? Simply because they are in the Methodist Episcopal Church. "The Methodist Episcopal Church has increased by surrendering one of the great principles which God teaches, and the discipline of the church sanctions; 'of one blood God made all nations.'" The Methodist Episcopal Church is not a distinctive class church, like that of the African M. E. Church, she has fully demonstrated to the world that her fold is the fold of God's love embracing all nations and races of people. Where is the church which has shown, on Christian principle, a fuller recognition of all the nations as fit for its membership, than the Methodist Episcopal Church? "Of one blood God made all nations," and of all nations God's Church—The Methodist Episcopal is composed.

The Methodist Episcopal Church has some as great and as true men and women of the Negro race in it, as the country affords. They have proven though the many years to be strictly true to themselves, to God, and to the M. E. Church. If they did not unite with the church willingly, how did they? or by what law were they forced to unite with it?

Books and Current Literature.

One of the most remarkable lists of famous contributors ever brought together in a single number of a magazine is presented in the January issue of The Ladies' Home Journal, of Philadelphia. The authors in that number include, Henry M. Stanley, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Ex-President Hayes, Hon. John Wannamaker, Joseph Jefferson, Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, Gen. Lew Wallace, George W. Childs, Dr. T. De Witt Talmage, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, Robert J. Burdette, Edward Bellamy, Will Carleton, Charles A. Dana, Sarah Orne Jewett, George W. Cable, Julian Hawthorne, Mrs. Lyman Abbott, Mrs. Margaret Bottoms, and nearly twenty others.

Messrs. A. S. Barnes & Co., New York, have just issued an edition deluxe of Goodyear's History of Art, which work is considered by most critics to be the best of the smaller Histories of Art published. The book is bound in rich red cloth, white and gold sides and back, ornamented with designs selected from art subjects, gilt top, uncut edges, and put up in a neat box. It contains 314 illustrations in color, is replete with numerous text-cuts, is printed from the clearest of type, and in this form makes one of the most beautiful and valuable gift books of the year. Send for specimen pages to the publishers. This firm has also just published a new Atlas by the famous Geographer, James Monteith. It is entitled "A School and Family Atlas," and contains all the latest maps and statistics, and is illustrated with numerous engravings showing the physical outlines of the different countries and the various characteristics of the industrial centers all over the world.

George William Curtis, in the Editor's Easy Chair in Harper's Magazine for January, reverting briefly to the question of co-education, says: "The secret and deepest source of the distrust of a change in the educational opportunities of women was apprehension of loss of womanly charm. But it has now long been seen that an intellectually accomplished man is not for that reason unmanly. Why, then, should such a woman be unwomanly? The question now is, how shall she obtain her accomplishment? It is now agreed that Juliet may study, but shall she study with Romeo? That question makes even Boston pause."

In the Editor's Drawer in Harper's Magazine for January Charles Dudley Warner writes about the popular tendency to make good resolutions at the beginning of the year. The first of January is the time, he says, for reforming the world; and yet reform at any time would be easy enough if we knew, or could agree, where to begin. But one of the perplexing questions is whether we should begin with the men or with the women.

One reason given for the existence of A Washington Bible class, by Gail Hamilton, which will be published shortly by D. Appleton & Co., is the desire of mothers to have some reasonable system of faith to teach to their active-minded children. Although this is not primarily a book for young people, thoughtful mothers will find in its suggestions that cannot fail to be helpful to them in presenting Bible stories to their children without taxing their credulity and reason. It is a book of hints rather than systems, but the hints are in the direction of Nature and common sense. It shows the kind of theology that people talk after they get home from church.

In preparation, new work by the Nun of Kenmare. "The Story of My Life." Price, $1.50. 450 pp. Cloth. This will give the story of Miss Cusack's whole life, and will truly be a romance of real life—the history of one who has suffered the loss of all things for conscience sake. Address Miss M. F. Cusack Hotel Bradford, 65 East 11th street New York.

The most important issue of The Popular Science Monthly in many months is the December number. It contains the first of a series of carefully written and generously illustrated articles on The Development of American Industries since Columbus. The manufacture of iron and steel is to be described by Mr. W. E. Durfee, and the opening paper deals with our First Steps in Iron-making. In the same issue Mr. Appleton Morgan asks the question, What Shall we do with the "Dago"? and points out in a style both witty and serious the evils that attend Italian immigration. Many other choice articles make this an exceptionally strong number.

New York: D. Appleton & Co. Fifty cents a number; $5 a year.

The Century magazine is running a fast press day and night in order to print the first instalment of the delayed "Talleyrand Memoirs" in the January number.

We have received Lee's map of the Valley of Virginia, showing the location of all the industrial towns, battle fields, mountain passes, and Luray Caverns. Send ten cents in stamps for a copy. Alex. Y. Lee, C. E., Top Engineer V. L. & I. Co., Luray, Va.

From Babel to Comparative Philology is the title of a chapter in Dr. Andrew D. White's Warfare of Science, which opens the January Popular Science Monthly.

Prof. Huxley has attacked the idea that the people who spoke Aryan were one distinct race. His discussion of the point is printed in the Popular Science Monthly for January and February, under the title The Aryan Question and Prehistoric Man.

The Storage of Electricity will be explained in a fully illustrated article by Prof. Samuel Sheldon in the January number.

Seven Dreamers is the title of a collection of short stories and dialect sketches by Annie Trumbull Slosson, which Harper & Brothers have just published.

Harper & Brothers have just published the seventh number of the Franklin Square Song Collection, compiled by Professor J. P. McCaskey. The collection now includes fourteen hundred popular songs, hymns and melodies, besides a large amount of reading matter on musical subjects.

"Every walk is a sort of crusade preached by some Peter the Hermit within us, to go forth and reconquer this Holy Land from the hands of the infidels." Such is the brief preface to William Hamilton Gibson's new book, Strolls by Starlight and Sunshine, just issued by Harper and Bros.

The Christmas number of Harper's Bazar was fairly redolent with the spirit of the age.

The Forum, the foremost periodical for thoughtful readers. Its range is fairly indicated by the following table of contents of the December number: The Government of American Cities. Andrew D. White; wherein European cities are better governed than ours; the danger-place in our political system and the remedy. City Growth and Party Politics; William M. Springer.—The increase of urban over rural population as shown by the census; how this increase is advantageous to Democrats. The Stability of the French Republic; Jules Simon of the French Senate.—A review of domestic and foreign influences favorable and unfavorable to the Republic; a hopeful outlook. Family stocks in a Democracy; President W. C. Elliot, of Harvard.—Democratic society favorable to the perpetuation of families; a study of American conditions therefor. Does China Menace the World? President W. A. P. Martin, of the Imperial Tung Weng College, China.—Why the tendency of Chinese life forbids fear of competition. The Humanities; Major J. W. Powell.—The first of a series of articles to show that the theory of biographical evolution fails when applied to sociology. Formative Influences; Archdeacon F. W. Farrar.—An autobiographical essay, following similar ones by Prof. John Tyndall, W. E. H. Lecky, Frederic Harrison and other noted men. Speed in Railway Travel; Prof. R. H. Thurston.—The possibility of 200 miles an hour with steam; why electricity is likely to supersede steam. Armor for War Ships; Commander F. M. Barber, of the U. S. Navy. Notes on Ghosts; Andrew Lang. Pity, Genuine and Spurious; Frances Power Cobbe. Among the features of the Forum for 1891 will be:

Results of the Census; a series of articles by Gen. Frances A. Walker. Results of the latest research and of the most recent achievements in all important lines of work, in science and industry, by specialists. Political discussions, by the leaders of opinions in the United States, and by foreign statesmen. Shibboleths of the Time, a critical examination of popular opinions, by W. S. Lilly, the British essayist. Autobiographical essays, a series of the most noted men of the time, American and British, have contributed. Discussions of social and religious problems; Literary articles, discussing the tendencies of literary work along all directions of activity, by the foremost critical writers. The Forum, New York, 50c a copy, $5 a year. Subscriptions taken in club with this paper. Special inducements to new subscribers.

The New Year number of the Methodist Review calls for special notice. During 1890 this periodical has given full attention to fundamental Old Testament questions; during 1891 it proposes the discussion of various New Testament problems that are of vital importance. In addition, the Review will also undertake the discussion of the moral and sociological questions which are now at the front. The opening article in the January-February number, on "The Gospel of John," is by Professor G. R. Crooks, of Drew Theological Seminary; it is an unanswerable argument for the early origin of the fourth gospel. G. M. Steele, D.D., writes ably on "Industrial Reconstruction." A vigorous symposium on the "Temperance Movement" is contributed by G. P. Mains, D.D., Henry Graham, D.D., and T. P. Marsh, D.D. "The Holy Spirit as a Factor in our Intellectual Life" is from the pen of that sturdy thinker, J. A. Roche, D.D. An appeal to the benevolent sentiments is made by the Rev. J. S. Breckenridge in "Hospitals—Ancient and Modern." J. E. Price, Ph.D., writes thoughtfully of the Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

"Modern Sunday school," while the Rev. Henry Mansell sends from the far missionary field an instructive article on "The New Mohammedan School of Thought." The editorial departments combine carefulness, vigor, and adaptation to the times. Much will thus be found in "Progress of Civilization," "The Arena," "The Itinerants' Club," "Foreign Resume," "Spirit of the Reviews and Magazines," and "Critiques and Notices" of books, to please the varying tastes of the many readers of the Review. The leading editorials, on "Is the New Testament Safe?" "The Demand of Socialism for the Reconstruction of Society," and "The Human Element in the Missionary Movement," are most timely, scholarly and convincing. Altogether, the Review is indispensable. There is no other periodical in its grade that is so well equipped with departments adapted to the needs of the Christian ministry.

We have received His ory, Prophecy, and Gospel, edited by E. Benjamin Andrews, D.D., LL.D., president of Brown University; a volume of nearly 500 pages, English quarto size, elegant in print, paper and binding, and sold at the low price of $1.75 a copy. These expositions of the International Sunday School Lessons for 1891, forty-eight in number, will cover each lesson of the year, and will prove especially helpful to Sunday school superintendents, teachers of adult classes, and all Bible students. They have been prepared by men eminent for their ability, active in Christian work, and in full sympathy with President Andrews in his effort to elevate the character of Sunday school instruction. This volume differs somewhat from those heretofore in use. Less attention is devoted to textual explanations and details, and more to the presentation and enforcement of the "lessons" which should be garnered and treasured, thus making a departure toward a broader and more definite study of the truths of the Word of God. The critical scholarship which has been brought to this work by these able and devout men, is a sufficient guaranty that the book is one of rare excellence and value—a volume of well considered studies which will appeal strongly to thoughtful Sunday school workers everywhere. Price, single copies, $1.75; club rates: 3 copies $4.50, 5 copies $6.25. Address Silver, Burdett & Co., 6 Hancock Avenue, Boston, Mass.

Among other things, the Chautauquan for January, 1891, presents the following: The Intellectual Development of the English People, by Edward A. Freeman; the English Constitution, IV, by Professor George P. Fisher; England after the Norman Conquest, Part I, by Sarah Orne Jewett; Sunday Readings, selected by Bishop Vincent; Training Boys and Girls in Housework, by Harriet Carter; Tenement House Visiting, by Helen Iselin; Housekeeping for Two, by Rose Lattimore Alling.

Ready January 1, 1891, The Calvary Hymnal, for Sunday school, prayer meeting, and church service, by Robert Stuart McArthur, D.D., and Kate S. Chittenden. Silver, Burdett & Co., publishers, 6 Hancock avenue, Boston.

We have received the Journal of Proceedings and Addresses delivered at the National Educational Association, session of 1890, held at St. Paul, Minn. It is one of the most valuable volumes that we have received for many months. Every phase of education is there in discussed.

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile up in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1.50, cash; otherwise, $2. tf.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my relations that I left in Newton county, N. C., about three years after the war. My mother's name was Muen Pitt. Brothers were Harry Bennett, Jay Bennett, and Ben. Pitts, and my name is Jacob Pitts. Sisters names were Lucy Wheeler, Amy Aven, July Taylor, Venus Polk, and Caroline Jones. My sisters were married when I left for Mississippi. Any information of their whereabouts will be thankfully received.

Mr. Editor: I wish to find my mother and one sister. Mother's name was Sophie Dabbs; sister's name was Mary Dabbs, and step-father, Stephen Dabbs. They all belonged to Joe W. Dabbs, Davison co., five miles from Nashville, on Old Mill Creek, Tenn. Joe W. Dabbs moved to Sardis, Miss., during the war. Thence to Morehouse parish, on Buff river, La. There the Yankees come to us and we followed them to Goodridge on the Mississippi river, and then W. H. Dabbs joined the Union army, and took marching orders to Vicksburg, and I have never seen my mother since. I would be glad to receive any information of her whereabouts.

W. H. DABBS.

Graball, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my grandma, sisters and aunt. They used to belong to one S. G. Lane, in Troup county, Ga. Their names were Winnie, and Catherine. Aunt Winnie belonged to Miss Jane Lane, who married a Mr. Crawford, and moved to Bainbridge, Fla. Aunt Catherine used to belong to a Mrs. Shealey in Alabama. She had one son named Reuben. Mr. Shealey sold her to a Negro trader, who carried her to Louisiana. My grandma was named Rhoda Klemm. She belonged Miss Lanie Lane, who married a man named Henry Klemm. This man Klemm sold grandma Rhoda to a man named Finley in Lafayette, Ala., Chambers county. My great-grandma was named Katie Lane, and her husband was Dick Lane. All the family once belonged to the Lane family, of Troup county, Ga. I know where Aunt Matilda lives, and I wish to hear from the others if possible. Address ELLEN SHEPHERD, Wedowee, Ala.

The Slave Mother's Story.

BY REV. WALTER H. BROOKS.

"Twas as we sat one evening
Beside the cabin door,
Forgetting quite the sorrows
Which all our lives we bore.

And talked of bliss of heaven
With rapture and in tears,
And golden streets and angels
Far, far beyond the spheres.

Old master came with fetters,
And bound my daughter tight,
For he that day had sold her
And she must go that night.

I saw the traders take her,
I heard their jests profane;
As from the dear old cabin
She went in galling chain.

I saw them treat her rudely—
Insult her to her face,
For they had bought my daughter
For barter and disgrace.

But she had pledged her master,
Who dwells and reigns on high,
To lead a life of virtue
Or, in the effort die.

So weeping for her mother,
And hot with rage she went,
She knew not, asked not whether Till days and nights were spent.

She went to lose, not honor,
But life itself instead,
For news came shortly to us,
"Thy daughter, now, is dead."

Sleep on, my child, till judgment
Thy sacred dust shall rise,
And thou shalt judge thy masters
From thrones within the skies.

Thus spoke a mother to me,
As through the south I went,
To find out why the Negroes,
When slaves were not content.

And I heard her story,
And saw her furrowed face;
And had the proof from many,
The thing had taken place.

I felt the blood coursing,
Through all my manly frame
Ah! felt as they who fought,
To free our land from shame.

But I should not grow angry,
The slave is free to-day,
The horrors of his bondage
With it must pass away.

Yet, like some field of battle,
All strewn with wounded men,
When cannons cease their thunder,
And peace has come again.

The south is covered over
With maddened and battered forms,
Who, in their state of serfdom,
Brook'd fierce and bitter storm.

Their minds and hearts and bodies
Have each alike been crushed,
"Ours to help these weak ones,
So shall their cries be hushed."

Then let us help the freedmen—
Help make their lot secure,
Help educate their children,
And make them wise and pure.

Help make their homes a comfort,
Their rights let's help maintain,
Help them when truly worthy,
Distinction proudly attain.

And when the late oppressor,
Lifts his hand and smite's
The ignorant and helpless,
Because they plead their rights.

O! let us one and many,
Take up the Negro's part,
And tell the pseudo-master
Just all that's in our hearts.

Ay! tell him by our protests,
From pulpit, stump and press,
Till this our Christian nation
Shall each vile wrong redress.

FIG PUDDING.—Chop half a pound of figs fine, mix with a tea-cup of grated bread-crumbs, half a pound of sugar, a tea-cup of melted butter, five ounces of candied orange peel and citron, one grated nutmeg, and five well beaten eggs. Steam four hours and serve with sauce.—Ladies Home Journal.

SPANISH ONIONS.—Put them in a dripping-pan in the oven without removing peel or stalk. Bake at least four hours in a moderate oven. They will burn and blacken outside, which is of no consequence. Keep them turned so that the darkening may not go deeper on one side than the other. When quite tender (but do not try them until they begin to shrink, or you will let out the juices), so that a knitting-needle will run through them, take from the oven, strip off three or four skins, remove root and stalk, and place the onions without breaking them on a dish; put for each one a piece of butter as large as an egg, with a salt-spoonful of salt, and a quarter one of pepper, on each onion; cover them and put in the oven till the butter melts, and serve very hot.—Chico's Cookery.

Our Symposium.

While there is a great amount of wickedness in the world, there is vastly more righteousness; it sin abounds, goodness much more abounds. For one Judas they were eleven incorruptible in that old day, and we believe the proportion of the true has greatly increased from that day to this.

Funeral pomp is the worst form of human vanity. The "trappings and the suits of woe" affected by Congress when a member dies, its matter of course adjournments, and its stilted set eulogies are essentially hypocritical.—Chicago Times.

A woman who died lately at St. Martin, near Montreal, at the age of ninety-two, was married when thirteen years old, and had 17 children, 145 grand children, and 286 great-grandchildren. Her living descendants number 303.

The American Citizens' Equal Rights Association appeal to our people, churches and societies, for help in order to contest the infamous law passed by the State Legislature, relating to the separate car system. We hope that our people will contribute liberally to help in this good work against caste and oppression. Give the Association, in its noble effort to protect us in our civil rights, a loyal support. Not only of your means, but of your moral encouragement also.

When our people will have understood their true position in the body politic of this country, and the means employed by our enemy to degrade us through partisan legislation, and appreciate the effort of their true friends to ameliorate their condition, they will readily contribute to the good cause. May they see the necessity quickly.—Standard Pelican.

The gossip about Governor Hill and the Senatorship recalls a familiar passage in Julius Caesar, "I saw Mark Anthony offer him a crown; yet 'twas not a crown neither; 'twas one of these coronets, and, as I told you, he put it by once; but, for all that, to my thinking, he would fain have had it." The doubt that perplexes the Democratic Caesar of the moment is whether to take the coronet is to risk the crown; whether to accept the Senatorship is to hazard the Presidency; and again, whether to put aside the Senatorship is to lose both the Presidency and the Governorship.

A baby is a wee little thing, but a constable was once a baby. A serpent's fang is a little thing, but death is its victory.

PUBLIC SAFETY DEMANDS

That only honest and reliable medicine should be placed upon the market. It cannot, therefore, be stated too emphatically, nor repeated too often, that all who are in need of a genuine Blood-purifier should be sure and ask for

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that of some one near and dear to you, may depend on the use of this well-approved remedy in preference to any other preparation of similar name. It is compounded of Honduras sarsaparilla (the variety most rich in curative properties), stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, and the iodides. The process of manufacture is original, skillful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a compound extract, obtained by a method exclusively our own, of the best and most powerful alteratives, tonics, and diuretics known to pharmacy. For the last forty years, Ayer's has been the standard blood-purifier of the world—no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its formula is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly concentrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Lowell, Mass.

In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sarsaparilla is proved to be the best remedy for all diseases of the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity in the city of its manufacture.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS.

BOUNTIES. PENSIONS.

Nearly every soldier who served in the late war is entitled to arrears of pay, clothing or bounty, under the various Acts of Congress.

We give special attention to bounty claims of soldiers who served in the colored troops. Under the recent law every soldier who is totally or partially unable to earn his living is entitled to pension, whether the disability was contracted in the service or not.

Every widow of a soldier is entitled to a pension under the same law.

Send us a statement of your case immediately as the pension begins from date of filing.

Remember, we charge no fee unless successful, and soldiers will never receive what is justly due them unless they make application for it.

Information regarding Government claims free. W. A. REDMOND & Co., Claim and Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall. Prov. 16. 18.

LESSON HYMN, C. P. M.

Be it my will wisdom here,
To serve the Lord with filial fear,
With loving gratitude;
Superior sense may I display,
By shunning every evil way,
And walking in the good.

O may I still from sin depart;
A wise and understanding heart,
Jesus, to me be given;
And let me through thy spirit know
To glorify my God below,
And find my way to heaven.

Time.—B. C. 975.
Place.—Shechem, in Central Palestine.

Rulers.—Rehoboam, son of Solomon, king, by hereditary claim, on all Israel, King of Judah (975-957 B.C.); Shishak, or Sesonchis, King of Egypt; Rezon, King of Syrian, at Damascus.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

The Old Men's Counsel, v. 1-7. Of what gathering does the lesson tell, and what was its purpose? What fugitive in Egypt heard of this gathering? Why had Jeroboam fled to Egypt? See chap. 11. 40. What request did Jeroboam make of the King? What was the king's answer? Of whom did the king seek advice? What was the old men's counsel? 2. The Young Men's Counsel, v. 8-11. How did the king treat the old men's advice? Of whom did he then take counsel? What question did he ask the young men? How did they advise the king to answer? 3. The King's Decision, v. 12-15. Who came to the king as he had requested? In what spirit did the king answer the people? What wise saying of his father did he then disregard? Prov. 15. Whose counsel did he reject? What answer did he make? Why did he not hearken to the people? By whom had the Lord made a promise, and to whom? What was that promise? see chap. 11. 31.

4. The consequence, v. 16-17. What reply did the people make to the king? Where did they then go? Over whom did Rehoboam reign? What warning have we against a haughty spirit? Golden Text.

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught: 1. To be careful of whom we take advice?

2. That kindness will win friends?

3. That harsh words stir up strife?

Obituary.

Dilsy Van Buren Justice, wife of Jim Landers, who was born five miles south of Lebanon, Tenn., Jan. 3, 1841, and was married to Jim Landers April 7, 1861, died at Lebanon, Tenn., Nov. 1, 1890. The name of Dilsy Landers will long be remembered in this community. As a daughter she was obedient, thoughtful and kind. As a wife, she "looked well to the ways of her household" and ate not the bread of idleness. As a mother, "she opened her mouth with wisdom" and "in her tongue was the laws of kindness." She was a life-long Christian. She joined the church at Macedonia, in August, 1856. In 1866 she transferred her membership to Lebanon, being one of the first members of the M. E. Church at that place. She was devoted to her church. There was never a day too cold, nor a night too dark, for her to attend services. Only sickness kept her away. She was the mother of six sons and three daughters. Four of the sons have gone to their reward. So recently as the 17th of last February was Nathan called to give up his membership in the visible church for the church triumphant. Much of her life was spent in caring for the sick. As a nurse she was unexcelled. She was vigilant, thoughtful and kind. She was a member of the "Benevolent Order" from its organization, and for several years was its efficient president. She was taken sick in Murfreesboro, but recovered sufficiently to enable her to return home. Here she lingered for five weeks, ripening for the change. Repeatedly she expressed herself as not afraid to die. When she felt the end approaching, she called her husband and children around her and gave them her final counsel and blessing. Though taken from the earth, her work in the world does not cease. She being dead, yet speaketh, and the memory of her good works will often encourage her loved ones to lead better lives. If she could now speak, she would no doubt bid husband, children and friends not to mourn for her, but to run with patience the race set before them, and when they are called to follow her. She will be at the gate waiting and watching for them. Drew A. Hibbert.

Rev. E. Harris, late pastor of the M. E. Church at Fayette, Miss., was a native of Alabama, but moved to Mississippi about 30 years ago. He professed religion when quite young and joined the Baptist Church, where he became a preacher of the Gospel. In 1886 he joined the M. E. Church under Rev. W. McDonald, who was then Presiding Elder of the Brookhaven District. During the years of his ministry in our church, he served very acceptably the following charges: Vernel circuit, China Grove circuit, and then Fayette, where he closed his ministry. He was loved by both white and colored. On the morning of the 11th of December the weary wheel of life stood still and the pulse that once beat so strong and flourishing gave way. He was satisfied that the end was near and desired to come home to die. His home was about seven miles west of Brookhaven. He arrived at Brookhaven ten days before he died, and stopped with Mr. and Mrs. Blunt, relatives of his. They gave him all the attention they could, with the help of the doctor. The last thing he said to them was, "You all have done all you can for me. I thank you. The angels have come for me. Good-bye." Mrs. Blunt asked him where he was going. He said he was going to heaven. He leaves a wife and two adopted children to mourn his loss, but their loss is heaven's gain. He was buried by the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows of the Brookhaven Lodge, but he was a member of the Fayette Lodge. B. L. Crump.

Victoria, Texas.—Mr. Jerry Silar, one of the oldest citizens of this city, departed this life Dec. 3. He was born in the year 1835; in Chilton county, N. C. He lived a quiet citizen up to his death. The week before his death he professed a hope in the Lord Jesus Christ. He leaves a wife and ten children to mourn his departure. Three of his daughters and two of his sons belong to our church. Their loss is his gain.

Moses Smith, P. C. Brother Calvin Hyde departed this life Dec. 14, aged 74. He lived a faithful member of the M. E. Church for 25 years, and left a wife and many friends to mourn his loss.

A. M. Randolph, Tennessee. Lake Como Circuit, Miss.—Sister Augustus Gavin departed this life Dec. 14. She leaves a husband, eight children, four brothers and a host of friends to mourn her loss. She was a member of Wesley Chapel M. E. Church for 12 years. Age, 35 years. L. Tate, P. C.

Shubuta, Miss.—Sister Caroline Yates, after a week's illness, departed this life Dec. 16. She was a faithful member of the M. E. Church. When she was first stricken to her bed, she told her children good-bye; that she was going to heaven. She leaves five children and many friends to mourn.

A. J. McNair, P. C. Luling, Tex.—Sister Mary H. Bryant departed this life Nov. 8. Sister Bryant lived and died a Christian, and a good worker in the church and Sunday school. She asked her mother and father not to grieve after her, but to meet her in heaven. She was just 20 years of age. She leaves a mother, father, several sisters and brothers, and a large circle of relatives to mourn her departure. She was the favorite with them all. Elder H. Swan and I will attend to the funeral service, the fourth Sunday in January, 1891, the last quarter.

J. H. Brawley, P. C. Griffin, Ga.—We mourn the loss of Sister Irene Hunter, the wife of Rev. W. C. Hunter, pastor of the Whitesville circuit. Sister Hunter and Bro. W. C. Hunter were married in 1871. She was a devoted wife and a faithful Christian mother. Wherever her husband was sent by the bishops she was perfectly willing to go. At times the field to which they went was hard, but she cheered her husband in his work, and would always say, "It is the Lord's work and he will pay us by and by." She was a true woman in every respect and was loved by all who knew her. She was sick only four weeks. She died in the full triumph of faith, leaving a loving husband and seven children to mourn their loss. She was conscious of her approaching death and talked freely to friends until the last. She died Nov. 26, at her post in Whitesville, Ga. The whole Griffin district, sympathize with our dear brother worker in the Master's vineyard. Sister Hunter was twenty years a member of the M. E. Church. E. L. Hammett, P. E.

Whooping cough, croup, sore throat, sudden colds, and the lung troubles peculiar to children, are easily controlled by promptly administering Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy is safe to take, certain in its action, and adapted to all constitutions.

WE make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

WHY CONTINUE the use of irritating powders, snuffs or liquids. Ely's Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for catarrh and cold in head, can be had for 30c. It is easily applied into the nostrils, is safe and pleasant, and is curing the most obstinate cases. It gives relief at once.

OUR purpose is to send the paper to every pastor in the conferences of which we are the official organ. So if you fail to get the paper, please send us correct post office address and we will send you the paper. You must always state at what post office you received it before.

THE biographical sketch of Rev. A. A. Johnson, A. M., D. D., given in a recent number of the Fort Worth (Texas) University Argus, furnishes a sufficient inspiration for the most unfortunate young man. Dr. Johnson will long and favorably be remembered as at one time president of New Orleans University, and the founder of the Ft. Worth University. The Doctor is now pastor of the M. E. Church at Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Presiding Elder J. W. Hudson, of the Baton Rouge District, has kindly remembered us with a copy of the minutes of his last District Conference. "It's a thing of beauty and a joy forever."

Conference Notices.

Notice.

The Mason, Tenn., District Conference will convene at Ganeville, New Pleasant Grove, Jan. 8. All the members, pastors and visiting friends are required to come on the 6th and 8th of January. We will meet them at the train at Mason which arrives at 11:55, and on the next train, which comes at 1:23, all in the day time, on the Louisville & Nashville road. We will meet them those two days only, and those that come after then may expect to walk. We hope they will be on time.

NO DEATH.

There comes no death to those we love,
They only fall asleep
In slumber hushed and deep,
Translated to their home above,
No more to wake and weep—
No more to wake and weep.

THE SOUTHWESTERN reaches

In the name of every christian sentiment known to our civilization, we demand that the World's Fair to be held at Chicago, be not open on the Sabbath day.

A VERY pleasant note from Rev.
P. R. Woodson, Spencer circuit, Tenn., says: "I have not failed to represent your very interesting and well-edited paper to my people. I want to put a copy in every family."

We hope none of our readers will be led into buying one of the cheap editions of Webster's Dictionary. They are really "no account." They are simply an "outdated" edition of forty years ago, and made by the photo-engraving process. When you buy get a new one, and "get the best."

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop M. I.
Lalian, is worth the price of the book.

A VERY sensible and business-like calendar comes to us from N.
W. Ayer & Son, Newspaper Advertising Agents, Philadelphia. It is so large and clear that its dates can be easily distinguished across an office, and is printed in a manner to reconcile the most fastidious to its company for a year. It is sent to any address, postpaid, on receipt of 25c.

The Southern Congregationalist gives the following hopeful statement: "One of the most distinguished representatives of our Baptist brethren, whose name is a household word in that communion throughout the South expressed a common view among us when he said, not long since: 'We once thought that Negroes were incapable of education, but we have found ourselves mistaken, and now favor the education of the race, trusting that with better education better ideas will come.'"

Rev. J. H. Cook, of the Bowerton circuit, Miss., writes a very strong letter in favor of the division of the Brookhaven district.

Rev. Geo. Johnson, Grand Cane, La., reports his quarterly conference held by Rev. T. G. Montgomery Nov. 21, a grand success. Paid presiding elder, $2 40. Raised all the benevolent collections.

Rev. Dewitt Frierson, Freehope, Texas, rejoices over the close of a good year. Presiding Elder P.
Morgan held his last conference there Nov. 1, 2, and preached a great power. The church and Sunday school are prospering.
Conversions, 22; reclamations, 4;
received from the Baptist church,
4; from the A. M. E. Church, 2; received in full connection, 9; collected for benevolent purposes, $28; paid for building and improvements, $52.

Rev. Stephen Tillman Olivier, La., rejoices over the fact that after much hard work, his new church at that point will soon be a reality. He expects to occupy it during the month. The church is known as the Mt. Zion M. E.
Church.

N. Cannon, Crystal Springs, La.

My fourth quarterly conference was held Nov. 15, 16, by Rev. B.
L. Crump, presiding elder. Reports showed the circuit in good condition. The elder preached a glorious sermon and administered the Lord's Supper. Paid elder in full. My revival commenced on the 15th of November and lasted two weeks and four nights. Conversions, 61; backsliders reclaimed, 6; and the church greatly revived.
Bro. S. H. Nevils was present, and was a great help, too. Sister C. I.
Peck, a woman preacher, was also present, and preached some good sermons. We have had 104 conversions this year on Crystal Springs this year, and have painted the church inside. The young people gave an entertainment and raised $25; and bought a carpet for the pulpit and aisles. Miss Julie Vaughns, Miss Dinah Ford and a great many more of the young people helped.

A. Moore, Booneville, La.

We are closing our second year at Booneville. Elder Marshall was with us Nov. 8, 9, and held our fourth quarter. The elder was very pleasantly entertained, and we had a grand time. The elder found the pastor and people in peace and harmony. We promised the elder fifteen dollars a quarter; and have raised the full amount promised. He left us with a smile and looking as J. F. Marshall always looks—sweet and pleasant.
We commenced to raise our benevolent money in March, and have raised to date: for missions, $26; Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education, $30; Church Extension, $4; Tract and Sunday school Union, $2; for education, $3; total, $65. These moneys are all in the hands of the different secretaries and treasurers. I always send off my benevolent money as I raise it, even if it is but a dollar, as it is not a safe plan to keep it. More money was raised here last year than has been raised in the history of this church. A benevolent rally was held Dec. 20th. We had a pig which we called a benevolent pig;
it cost us $2 50; but we netted from it $18 20. The church and parsonage and graveyard fence are being repaired and whitewashed. Converts, 43; backsliders, 12;
total, 60. We have bought a circuit horse and saddle and bridle costing $40.

C. W. Kershaw, Bastrop, La.

I am closing the year's work very satisfactorily. There has not been much increase spiritually, but, with a small membership, we have managed to build a church here. The Lord has blessed us in our efforts, and our people are rejoicing. Dec. 1, 2, 3, Rev. S.
Priestley was present, and held our fourth quarter. The reports were good. The people of Bastrop promise to send their preachers to the annual conference all right.

H. Dickson, Huntsville, Tex.

Presiding Elder Parker was with us and held our third quarter Sept.
13, 14. He made an interesting lecture, and preached twice. Our receipts for the quarter were as follows:

Pastor, $62; elder, $25 55; missions, $5; tracts, $2; Sunday school Union, $2.

Conference claimants, $2; Church Extension, $6; Woman's Foreign Mission, $1.

We had a grand time at Mt.
Prairie Church, where this conference was held. It is alive and doing a successful work. They are building a new church 24x37 ft. after our Church Extension plans.
The church will be finished just like the plan selected. I have some cash subscribers to the grand old SOUTHWESTERN, and will send them in soon.

R. Sewell, Grenada, Miss.

Rev. A. G. Houston, my faithful and energetic predecessor, started a fine church building; but, owing to his removal to Oxford, Miss., he was unable to finish it. We received from the Church Extension Society a donation of $200, and a loan of $300; which greatly aided us in our work. With this amount and $600 raised among members and friends of the church we finished it. The total cost, being about $3000. By the 14th of June we had the church completed and ready for the district conference. This surprised the members and friends very much, as it had been said by members that it could not be done owing to their financial embarrassment. I can say without fear of contradiction that we have the most hospitable people in the Holly Springs District. My family arrived here in April, and had not been in our new home three days when we were pleasantly surprised by Sister Dudley, who came in and took possession of our house, and soon had our table loaded with many good things. The evening before dedication the sisters again surprised us with the same hospitality.

Vincent Chapel was dedicated
Oct. 12, 1890. Owing to the liberal contribution of that generous and noble-hearted christian gentleman, Bishop John H. Vincent, of Buffalo, N. Y., the brethren saw fit to remember him by giving the church its present name. The dedication sermon was preached by Rev. O. E. Libby, S. T. D., president of Rust University. Rev. B.
H. S. Ferguson, of Holly Springs was present, and preached at 11 a. m., and at 7:30 p. m. The dedication proved a grand success. Collection, $168 86. Many of our best white citizens were present, and among them were Revs. J. E.
Thomas, the M. E. Church, South, and J. C. Carothers, of the Presbyterian Church.

C. D. Shallowhorne, Shreveport, La.

I take this means of thanking the public for the liberal appreciation shown me in the patronage of the concert given in my honor by Prof. Boatner's School. I desire, also, to extend to Prof. D. W.
Boatner my heartfelt gratitude for the interest he has taken in me;
and to thank those noble little boys and girls for rendering their parts so well, thereby causing the concert to be a grand success.

The amount realized was $69 05.

M. F. Fairfax, Lake End, La.

Our fourth quarterly conference was held by Presiding Elder T. G.
Montgomery Nov. 29, 30. The elder was pleased with the work.
The church, which has been repaired, has had ten feet added to it, and has been ceiled inside. The elder preached two sermons. Collection, $22 75. Paid elder in full. We will come up to conference with all our missionary money. (Rev. T. G. Montgomery is a sympathizing brother.)

B. F. Williams, Mincola, La.

Rev. Dr. I. B. Scott held our third quarterly conference. The work is progressing. Converts this year, 25. This is a hard work.
We have a very good Sunday School.

Wm. Campbell, Starkville, Miss.

Webster circuit is alive. My third quarterly conference was held Oct. 20. Elder J. C. Eckles was not able to be with us. Rev.
F. O. Crowder filled the chair and preached a good sermon. Reports showed the work to be going upward. Built a new church 30x40, worth $700. Improvements on new Prospect church to the amount of $40; added to the church, 50; paid pastor, $61.50; since last quarter, $10 50; paid on building and improvements, $300.

D. P. Shaw, Vaiden, Miss.

My fourth quarterly conference was held in Midway Church by Rev. H. R. Revels. Reports showed the work in good condition. The elder preached an able sermon, which made many souls happy.
The Vaiden circuit is alive. 109 souls have been added to the church this quarter. Rev. B. Riley rendered valuable service in my revival. Collection for elder, $9; pastor, $96. We are working for the SOUTHWESTERN.

Rev. and Mrs. N. H. Williams, of Greenville, Miss., were very agreeably surprised by quite a number of ladies Monday night, Dec. 22d. Each one brought a present as a token of welcome to Mrs. Williams in their city and societies. Such surprises are always welcome. They say "call again."

A very successful complimentary exhibition and concert was given for the benefit of Rev. C. D. Shal-lowhorne, by Prof. D. W. Boatner and the members and friends of St. James Church, Shreveport, La.
Monday, Dec. 15, as a compliment to Rev. C. D. Shallowhorne, who is on the eve of the completion of his third year's work at the St.
James M. E. Church, where he has served so faithfully. The entertainment consisted of some choice literary selections, good music and new tableau scenes.

Division of Louisiana Conference.

Rev. M. R. Butler, Baton Rouge, La.:
Dear Brother: Referring to your letter of the 10th in which you called my attention to the importance of the division of the La. Conference, in favor of which you declared yourself and asked that I "speak out in an open letter defining my present position on the subject:—To yours, and all such letters, and inquiries allow me to say, that I am now where I was when we brought the matter to the notice of the Annual Conference in 1888, which by resolution instructed its delegates to the Gen'l Conference at New York, to secure the passage of an act to enable the La. Conference to divide (see discipline of 1888, part vi, chapter iv., under the head of enabling acts.)

I believed then and believe now that the Conference ought to divide.
I was in favor of division, and we ought to have divided at the Don-aldsonville Annual Conference in 1889. Failing there we ought to have divided at the Conference here in 1890, we will yet divide;

and for the following reasons:

That after twenty-five years of growth, we have reached that proportion as a body which cannot be accommodated without much inconvenience to the people outside of the large cities. This will account for the fact that the Conforence session has been held in all these years, in only seven different places in the state, whereas a smaller body could easily be entertained at every parish seat, even in the remotest parish in the state; to the end that a more intelligent conception of the composition of our Conference could be had by all people, and the great mission of the church better understood and appreciated. What we need is a more equitable Episcopal supervision, and the presence of our Conference in all of its parts which would afford a better opportunity to the head of the church, to learn the real condition and need of the people, and at the same time give the people a chance to learn for themselves to a greater degree the usefulness of the church and their need of the same.

Divide! and the people white and black in every part of Louisiana will see and become acquainted with our system of government, and hear the inspiring utterances of our Bishops, in their dealing with men and things. Let the people hear for themselves the able presentation, and eloquent appeals of such sweet messengers as Drs.
C. C. McCabe, J. O. Peck; A. B.
Leonard, of the Missionary Society;
J. L. Hugburt, of the Sunday-school Union and Tract Society;
A. J. Kynett, W. A. Spencer,
Board of Church Extension; J. O.
Hartzell, Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education; Charles A.
Payne, Board of Education; A. E.
P. Albert, Editor of the SOUTHWESTERN. Let them see the Christian deportment of our preachers, at the seat of conference, and the parliamentary decorum maintained during the session of the same compared with that of other like assemblies, and we will set at rest those wicked fabrications, that caste is the predominant element of our church, and that her colored preachers are the hirelings of white men, and are therefore to be treated as interlopers.

Divide! and we will have a more equitable division of our educational advantages and at the same time awaken a greater educational impetus among the colored people of North Louisiana, who are now establishing comfortable homes upon the high and fertile lands of the state, where our Methodism is so adapted to the want of the people, and in this way take the entire state for God and humanity.

Divide! and verify the twenty-five years' promise by our preachers and presiding elders to the people that the Conference and Bishops would come to them. Divide!
and in twenty-five years more we will have two strong and healthy conferences occupying the state of Louisiana, easy of entertainment and of access and thus avoid individual preachers traveling from one extreme end of the state to the other to reach the seat of conference.
The reasons why we should divide could greatly be multiplied if time and Dr. Albert's space would allow, but what I have said are the results of years of experience and reflection, and I cheerfully submit them for the consideration of all concerned.

Soon will all the leaders of our great church meet in annual council, and whether we should divide this year or wait while will be the question which will be more a matter of good policy than of differences of opinions, on the necessity or division I am willing to rest the case upon its merits.

PIERRE LANDRY.

Shreveport, La. Dec., 25, 1890.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

What They Say.

Dear Dr. Albert:

I write to congratulate you upon the wholesome manner that you handled Prof. B. T. Washington of Ala., and Bishop Payne of the A.
M. E. Church, on their denouncing three-fourths of the Baptist and two-thirds of the Methodist ministry as morally and otherwise unfit for the ministry. Your exposition of the matter is the most sensible and truthful that we have ever seen. There are thousands of witnesses who in this and other states back your assertion that the A. M.
E. Church, "transfers the corruption of one conference into another," thus encouraging and preserving it. We have thought that the immoral example set by this church did the race more harm than the saloons, for the reason that there is nothing expected from saloons but corruption, but if the world cannot get a pure example from the church, where will they get it? We think that the Bishop reflected considerably on the honesty and piety of his administration when he, knowingly continued men in the ministry two-thirds of whom were "morally and otherwise unfit."

Justice to his high official station, to his church and the common cause of Christianity, required his refusal to appoint them. Did not the Bishop's refusal to punish this immorality in the face of his knowledge of the fact (for he says he knows whereof he speaks), make him a party to the sin which he so loudly complains? Yes Doctor, we were glad to hear you speak.

Bro. D. B. Watkins, Meridian, Miss., has sent us very flattering resolutions, adopted by the Official Board of that church, toward the popular pastorate of their pastor —Rev. A. D. Payne—and which were presented to him and his devoted wife on Bro. Payne's recent birthday. A fine birthday dinner was given on the occasion at the parsonage, in which the following took part among others:

Church Polity.

Dear Dr. Albert:

I see in a recent issue of the SOUTHWESTERN, the name of W.
Pretzman, as the delegate of the Central Alabama Conference, to the Ecumenical Conference. The fact is Pretzman and H. W. Smith, were both elected, you omitted the name of Mr. Smith.

Yours fraternally,
A. W. MCKINNEY.

You don't seem to understand the plan under which the Ecumenical Conference is to be constituted. The Annual Conference elected no one to the Ecumenical Conference. They only nominated, each, two ministers and two laymen.
The Commission appointed by our last General Conference were instructed to select out of those nominated, one denominational proportion (127 members), who should be members of this Ecumenical Conference. That's the reason they only appointed Dr.
Pretzman. He was selected by the Commission.

Letters from the Districts.

LaTache District.

J. F. MARSHALL, P. E.

In closing up the conference year on this district we find much over which to rejoice.

Through embarrassments and difficulties, even dangers on every hand, the Lord has led His servants, the ministers of the gospel, who have been braving every danger to stand at their posts and make full of their ministry, and to carry the word of life to the perishing multitudes.

The brethren have done well upon the whole, and will come up to conference with good reports.

Five new sites have been secured for churches and two churches built, while repairs and improvements have been made on a number of others.

The spiritual work of the district has been good. Over 800 conversions were reported at the last district conference, and it has been our hope to make it 1000 by the annual conference. Whether we fully realize this or not, we rejoice greatly in what the Lord has wrought through us.

Rev. S. Duncan, of the South New Orleans District, reports over $1400 of new property purchased, and over $4000 of old church debts paid on his district during the past year, and over 200 conversions.

Paris, Tex., District Conference.

W. L. DUNCAN.

Conference convened in Mt. Zion M. E. Church, Nov. 12, 1889, Rev. P. Morgan, Presiding Elder, in the chair.

W. L. Duncan was elected secretary; S. H. Grant, assistant; F. Gilmore and W. B. Perry, statistical secretaries.

Revs. C. B. Martin, of the Baptist Church; E. E. Makiel, of the A. M. E. Church; Dr. I. B. Scott and Rev. W. H. Logan, Presiding Elders of the Marshall and Navasota districts, were introduced.

Report from the Presiding Elder showed a great improvement of the district, and new fields that have been opened for Methodism. Also some of the finest churches in the Texas Conference.

All the pastors were present with good reports, except a few. All reports were sent in from those that did not come. Each pastor's report showed that much good had been done during the year in conversions, building churches, raising benevolent money, establishing new fields and spreading the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mrs. O. D. Lane and C. B. Corner, of the Paris City school, were introduced.

Dr. I. B. Scott spoke very highly of Rev. L. M. Hagood's book. A good many subscribed for it. Rev. W. H. Logan, Presiding Elder of the Navasota District, spoke of its intrinsic value, not only to Methodists, but to any man that wants to know the colored man's standing in the M. E. Church.

Rev. F. Gilmore preached the introductory sermon. The house was crowded.

The reports of local preachers, superintendents, district stewards, class leaders and exhorters, were all encouraging. Methodism is finding a deeper root on the district.

Mrs. E. B. Long, one of the Paris City teachers, was introduced.

Dr. I. B. Scott spoke to a crowded house. His lecture was on The Preaching Demanded for the Times. We cannot forget some of the things which he said. Our hearts burned while he poured the truth upon us.

All of the papers were very good. Dr. Scott and Rev. W. H. Logan think that some of the papers could not be bettered.

Brother M. Littlejohn offered a resolution asking the pastors to raise money to get the Presiding Elder a conference suit of clothes. He was appointed to collect the same.

Revs. Dr. W. D. F. Pyles,

Presiding Elder of the A. M. E. Church; C. B. Marlin, of the Baptist Church; W. H. Logan, Presiding Elder of the Navasota District; J. D. Pettigrew of the Congregational Church, and Rev. Hillison were present and heard Dr. Scott's sermon. The sermon will not soon be forgotten.

Revs. Paul Pruitt and Ned Graham were received from the Baptist Church.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society was well represented. Sister Reid, an earnest worker for its cause, made a strong appeal to the young ladies, through their parents, to crowd Willy University.

The Sunday school met at 9 a. m., on Sunday, with a full force of model teachers. Prof. J. B. McCullough, of Clarksville, acted superintendent.

At 3 p. m., Elder Logan preached to a crowded house. He stirred things generally.

At 8:30 p. m., Rev. P. Morgan, Presiding Elder, preached with power. After the sermon, 115 partook of the Lord's Supper.

The wife and relatives of our dear father, Brother P. Douglass, have the heartfelt sympathy of this district conference.

The conference honored father Daniel Battle, one among the oldest Methodist "war horses."

The following was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The SOUTHWESTERN is doing so much for our people in lifting them to where they can see the beauty of the great Church;

Be it resolved, That each pastor give himself no rest until he has put it into every family on his work.

Meridian District, Mississippi Conference

J. M. SHUMPERT.

Conference met in a second session for 1890 at Newton, Miss., Nov. 20. All the pastors except three were present, and there were also a full attendance of local preachers, exhorters, class leaders and stewards. After a most impressive address by the Presiding Elder, G. W. Smith was elected secretary and A. J. McNair assistant.

The Presiding Elder read a lively report, which showed that great work had been done for Christ and Methodism throughout the entire district. More than 1100 precious souls had been happily converted during the year. Accessions, 1425. The reports from the pastors showed that their efforts to build up Zion, both spiritually and temporally, had been crowned with much success, and that they had been diligent in the circulation of our church periodicals and books. Most all the benevolent collections had been taken and sent off. The reports of the local preachers and exhorters showed that they had been diligent in the work assigned them by the Church.

There was preaching each day at 11 o'clock, which proved to be a great blessing to all present. Sunday, at 11 o'clock, Rev. B. L. Crump, Presiding Elder of the Brookhaven District, preached one of his best sermons. At 2 o'clock, Rev. G. W. Smith; and N. Tooles at 4 o'clock. There was a general outpouring of the Spirit of God upon the people at each service.

Rev. P. Blne and his people, aided by his good and untiring Baptist friends, made the session pleasant. Too much cannot be said in praise of Rev. P. Blne and his people at Newton. Collection, $71.

Yazoo River District, Upper Mississippi Conference.

E. C. COLE.

The conference met in John Wesley M. E. Church, Durant, Miss., Wednesday, Nov. 12, 1889, at 9 a. m., Rev. W. McDonald, Presiding Elder, in the chair, who presided with his usual dignity.

The following officers were elected: E. C. Cole, secretary; J. W. Winbush, assistant; S. H. Nevils, statistical secretary; S. R. Gipson, assistant.

P. O. Jamison, S. H. Nevils and S. R. Gipson were elected conference stewards.

The address of welcome was delivered by Prof. R. W. Jackson, principal of the Durant public school, who acquitted himself creditably. The following visitors were introduced: Fred H. Banton, of Winona, Holly Springs District; Rev. J. C. Hibler, of Natchez, Brookhaven District; Rev. A. D. Geren, of the Presbyterian Church; Rev. S. P. Martin of the Durant Baptist Church.

During the week Revs. L. L. Shumpert, S. R. Gipson, F. H. Banton and D. A. Bragg, preached soul stirring sermons to a crowded house each night.

On Sunday, at 11 o'clock a. m., Rev. W. McDonald preached to an overflowing congregation, which will long be remembered. At 2 o'clock p. m., Rev. J. C. Hibler, of Natchez, preached the dedicatory sermon of our new church at Durant. I could not say too much in praise of Bro. Hibler's sermon, but I feel safe in saying that Bro. Hibler is one among the ablest pulpits orators of Mississippi.

Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cholera, Flux. Maguire's Remedy for nearly 50 years the infallible cure. Thousands of testimonials; endorsed by the Western Sanitary Commission, U. S. Army, officers, hospital physicians, steamboat officers, etc. Taken in time a sure preventive for Asiatic Cholera. 1

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All letters will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my mother. She left Northport, Ala., about fifteen years ago and went to Yellow Bush County, Miss. She had two boys—Mack and Willie. She left me with a lady named Mrs. McCoy. Since I married my name is Jennie Comuk. Please send any information to Rev. A. G. Glenn, pastor of the M. E. Church, in Gadsden, Ala.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my father. His first owner was Bill Brooks; second was Eli Grdett. He was then sold to a man named Ware. My father's name is Daniel Brooks; mother's name is Sophie Perry, by her last husband. Mother died October 1889. Father had a daughter named Annie Brooks; my name is William Brooks. Any information will be gladly received. Address WILLIAM BROOKS, Clarksville, Tenn.

Mr. Editor: I want to find my people. I want to find Mr. Turner Mason and his two sons Luke and Garry. Luke is blind. They left Barnwell Courthouse, S. C., last January for Garland City, Ark. They were hindered by the high water, and failed to get there. The last I heard of them they were in Vicksburg, Miss. His wife's name is Mary Mason, who is now in Garland City, Ark. I desire also to find my son Henry Rogers. The last time I saw him he was at Texarkana, Ark., August, 1889. Any information will be gladly received. Address REV. CHARLIE BROWN, Garland City, Ark.

Mr. Editor: I wish to find my mother. Her name was Hattie Herm; and lived at Holly Springs, Miss. She was taken from me when I was six years old. My name was Henry Herm. I have not seen her all those years. She was sold to a speculator named Godman. Now my name is Allen Curle. Any information will be Allen Curle. Address ALLEN CURLE, Elkhorn, Miss.

A. W. Wright, Shuqualak, Miss.

We have just closed a revival at Scooba. It was a grand success.

Accessions to the church, twenty-three. Rev. H. T. Hampton, of DeKalb circuit, was present and preached three able sermons.

Bro. Davis, pastor of the Baptist Church, also helped us. At St. Peter we were at work building a new church. The contract had been let to two of the brethren of the church—Bros. Bowen and Davis—but to the great misfortune of Bro. Bowen he was at a gin a few days ago and somehow or other, I am unable to say, he got his right arm cut off within about six inches of his shoulder; so this leaves all of the work to be done by Bro. Davis with the aid of the brethren. At Brownsville we have a new church on hand. Our third quarterly conference was held by Rev. H. York. Rev. W. McDonald, the presiding elder, could not get there. Bro. York preached an able sermon, and greatly pleased the people. At Shuqualak we have a grand church.

The presiding elder, Rev. W. McDonald, was present Nov. 22, 23, and held our fourth quarterly conference. He preached a soul-stirring sermon, and administered the Sacrament.

A. D. Payne, Meridian, Miss.

I am glad to be able to report a year of prosperity on my charge. We have labored incessantly this year, and the Lord has blessed our labors. There have been forty converts, and seventy added to the church. The different meetings of the church are as well attended as any place in the State. The spiritual condition of the church was never better than now—the proof of which was manifested on the 30th of November, at the fourth quarterly conference when Presiding Elder Rev. J. M. Shumpert was present and preached with his usual power, and administered the Lord's Supper to 248 persons, the largest number, I am told, that ever partook of the same at this place. We are now completing a nice parsonage that will equal, if not surpass, any in the State. The most of the money realized was raised by a committee of earnest working sisters. The parsonage is situated corner of 26th Avenue and 12th street, opposite the church. And they both add much to the beauty of that city, and of them the people generally and rightfully feel proud.

The presiding elder's salary—$75—was paid in full at his last visit. The pastor's salary is not yet all paid, but the people are trying and doubtless will pay all before conference. There might have been more done, but of our work we do not feel ashamed.

G. B. Abbott, Columbia, Miss.

Thanksgiving was a day of financial success to the Methodist churches in this town. The A. M. E. Church raised $90 with their 300 members; and the M. E. Church $117 with only 75 members. I am closing my three years pastorate in this place, and the Lord has blessed us. The membership has increased from thirty to seventy-five. I started the Sunday-school. We had no building at all, but now we have the nicest colored church in town, valued at $2,200. By the help of God the bottom rail is on the top. Thanks be to God that giveth the victory.

Geo. J. Rogers, Rosedale, La.

I am now closing my fourth year's labor at this place. When I first came here I found a debt of $277 on the church. We paid it. Finding no church at Shiloh on Bayou Mariganin, about 3 miles from Bayou Gros Tete, in my second year on this charge, I built a new church on Bayou Mariganin at a cost of $325, and every dollar paid. I ceiled this church and fit it out with new pews, costing $475. This year we were overtaken by the great overflow which has set this country back two years. The cotton farmers failed to make corn on account of the high water; but, thank God, there is one thing that pleases me, and that is the white and colored people stand together here, and so there is no chance of bulldozing in this part of the State.

B. H. S. Ferguson, Holly Springs, Miss.

We are on the forward march. Our people will do all they can towards taking care of the Upper Mississippi Conference in its first session. My people are treating us very nicely in our second year's labor. We have collected more than $500 for building a new church, which would have been started already had it not been that we feared it would not have been finished by conference for want of lumber, etc. Rust University is getting along better than at any other period of its history. It is nobly managed by Dr. C. E. Libby and his able corps of teachers; and, everything considered, the work will show great progress.

Thanksgiving Day was observed in good old style. The writer preached at 9 a. m. to the faculty and students of Rust University in McDonald Hall, and quite an interest was manifested, after which Presiding Elder H. R. Revells preached at Asbury Chapel to a very appreciative congregation. God has wonderfully blessed this year in many respects, for which we give him thanks. Very recently a crowd of young ladies, led by a sinner young man, came to the parsonage with many good things for the pastor, and thence to the class-meeting. God blessed us with a grand old Methodist meeting in the old way, after which a collection of $10 was taken up. The pastor was the beneficiary.

C. D. Shallowhorne, Shreveport, La.

Friday, Nov. 28th I visited my wife, who is attending the Wiley University, Marshall, Tex. Mrs. Shallowhorne was comfortably situated at the residence of Prof. G. W. Wells, and being carefully provided for by the Professor and his loving family. In company with Prof. Wells, I called on the Rev. I. D. Scott, D.D., who received us very cordially and made our visit very agreeable. During our conversation the Doctor held a paper in his hand. Seeing that it was the SOUTHWESTERN, I remarked that the editor, Rev. A. E. P. Albert, was married. He was so surprised at this news that the paper unconsciously fell to the floor. In company with the Doctor we visited the University, and there met President Geo. Whitaker, D.D., who led the way into the chapel where the devotional services were being conducted. I made a few remarks to the school. We then visited the president at his office, and there learned that during the present session 210 students were enrolled. We were taken over to the Industrial Home building now in course of construction. The workmen are industrially engaged, and look to an early completion. When completed, this structure will compare favorably with any other of its kind. We next visited the boys' dormitory and found many improvements. The hour for dinner having arrived, we proceeded to the residence of Prof. Wells, where a sumptuous repast had been prepared. After doing justice to the occasion, Dr. Scott bade us goodbye, and proceeded to Jefferson, Tex., on his district. On parting from the Doctor I visited the different departments of the University, all of which were doing nicely. I desire here to make special mention of Prof. Wells' department: On entering this department a recitation was going on. The manner in which the minds of the youth under his care are being trained, make one feel that he is one of the many of which the New Orleans University (his Alma Mater) has reason to be proud.

If you are really a friend to the SOUTHWESTERN, you will pay up every cent of your account at conference.

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile up in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1.50, cash; otherwise, $2. tf.

OUR purpose is to send the paper to every pastor in the conferences of which we are the official organ. So if you fail to get the paper, please send us correct post-office address and we will send you the paper. You must always state at what post office you received it before.

Consumption Surely Cured. To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for consumption. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. Address. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St. N. Y.

Special to Teachers.

Young men with good English education at present engaged in teaching in the public schools, any where in the South, will learn of matters greatly to their advantage by writing to the editor of this paper, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans, La.

Will presiding elders and preachers call attention to this notice!

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

Secretary J. S. Hill, of the East Tennessee Conference, has favored us with a copy of the last minutes of his conference. They are creditable to all concerned. Thanks.

The Minutes of the California Conference are out in fine shape.

What Shall Church Extension Do?

A crisis has come in the Church Extension work in the Central South and in the Gulf States. Year by year the General Committee of Church Extension has been increasing the amounts to be given to needy churches in the Central South and in the Gulf States. These, with the shrinkage of collection in the Eastern Spring Conferences and the special calamities in Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas have brought the Church Extension Treasury into great straits.

An appeal now comes for all of these Conferences to help us to their utmost. The Louisiana Conference last year was asked to raise $500 and made a remarkable advance of $439. On the first of November there was $500 to the credit of the Conference, but $1,100 had been additionally granted which would overdraw the credit of the Conference $600. This year the Conference is asked to raise $600, and our Board is allowed to donate $3,000 to needy cases in the Conference. In addition to this Bishop Mallie and myself have been seeking to obtain special donations to the Mountain Fund to be used within this Conference and those immediately adjoining. What will the response be upon the part of the Louisiana Conference?

The Mississippi Conference last year was asked to raise $400 and was allowed $1,600 or four dollars for one dollar. The same ratio is preserved this year, the two new conferences being asked for $300 each and to be allowed $1,200 making an advance in the donations to the territory of $800 for the year to come. Will these Conferences raise their apportionment and make it possible that the Board of Church Extension shall help them?

The Texas and West Texas Conference are asked this year to raise $900 as against $800 last year but they are allowed $3,600 in place of the $3,000 last year. Will these Conferences push the collection to raise their apportionment? They did so splendidly last year that I have great hopes that they will reach their whole apportionment this year. In their magnificent work in their increasingly important field, they will need every dollar that the Board of Church Extension can spare them, but we must ask their immediate attention, and their utmost endeavor in raising this money for our cause.

The Little Rock Conference was asked last year for $300 and allowed $1,500. The same asking and authorization is to be made this year. Unfortunately the Conference only raised one third of the amount asked last year and they did receive in excess of the amount they were entitled to. Shall we have a forward movement on the part of the Conference this year?

The Savannah Conference was asked last year for $300 and allowed $1,200 or four dollars for one. This year the same proportion is preserved and they are asked for $400 and allowed $1,600, so that a much larger amount of money might be spent in the Conference for needy churches. Will the Conference do its best?

The Florida Conference grandly exceeded the amount asked last year and a larger amount is allowed this year so as to stimulate the Conference to do its best.

The Central Alabama Conference last year was asked for $200 and on condition of raising it was to receive $2,600 or thirteen dollars for one. Perhaps no other Conference in the connection had such a generous offer from the General Board of Church Extension. The Conference did actually raise $101, a little more than one half of the amount asked. There ought to be a general rally and determined push to raise the whole amount this year.

The new lines of the Missouri Pacific pressing down into Louisiana will develop large portions of that state. The new developments of the Piedmont Air-Line in the Georgia Pacific Division makes the work in Alabama and Mississippi much more important than heretofore. These two great Systems are pressing through the entire South and with their related lines are striving to develop the latent wealth of that great region. Much emigration from North Carolina and the Eastern Coast is going on over the lines of the Georgia Pacific and the remainder of the Piedmont Air-Line system. At the same time new markets are developing and new communities are crystallizing along the extension of the Missouri Pacific in its Southward sweep from St. Louis to New Orleans, which will soon greatly change the character of the work in two or three of the Conferences that contribute to the prosperity and are blessed by the labors of the SOUTHWESTERN.

The present is a time of emergency. With the Treasury practically overdrawn seventy or eighty thousand dollars, with financial shrinkage in the Eastern Conferences, where the great wealth of the Church lies, so that these rich Conferences are likely to retreat on their Church Extension collection, we stand where every Conference must be asked to do its utmost and the smallest possible allowance made for any Conference that seems to be indifferent or laggard in the race. Will the Conferences that patronize the SOUTHWESTERN come up to the help of the Church and to their own deliverance during this month and at the Annual Conferences that meet the first of the year?

General Church News.

We commend to our readers that The Cross Bearers' Missionary Reading Circle which has been recently inaugurated.

There is a confessed need of greater intelligence among our people upon missionary matters. In increase in consecration and in liberality will come when the membership of the churches are better informed upon missionary operations. Appreciating this, the Columbia Summer Assembly at its late annual meeting at Columbia, Missouri, inaugurated a movement, to be called "The Cross Bearers' Missionary Reading Circle," to secure, by means of a systematic course of reading, a greater intelligence and more wide-spread enthusiasm upon the subject of missions. The plan contemplated will be similar to that followed in the Chautauqua movement—it is the Chautauqua idea applied to the specific subject of missions. A course of daily reading to be comprised in three years will be indicated, examinations will be held, and certificates of graduation will be issued upon the completion of the course.

"The Crisis of Missions," by Rev. A. T. Pierson, D. D., price, $1.

"Our Country," by Rev. Josiah Strong, D. D., price, 50c.

"Life of Livingston," by Annie M. Barnes, price, $1.

"Life of Judson," by Rev. Wayland, D. D., price, $1.

The Missionary Review, (monthly Magazine) price, $2.

Names and admission fee should be sent to the Secretary, to whom also orders for the course of reading, if accompanied by the cash, may be sent.

Heartily endorsement of the plan of the Cross Bearers has come from many sources. Dr. W. Pope Yeaman of the Baptist church, Dr. J. H. Foy of the Christian church, Dr. A. P. Parker, Missionary to China, Bishop A. G. Haygood, and Dr. H. C. Morrison, Missionary Secretary, have expressed their pleasure at its inauguration. Rev. T. J. Scott D. D., in a recent article in "The Gospel of All Lands," says: "Why not missionary societies take up the 'Reading Circle' idea more fully? There is a grand thing in it. Look at Chautauqua. Tens of thousands of persons are getting real culture from an easy, systematic course of reading. The 'National Home Reading Circle,' recently organized in England, is based on the same fertile idea. This is an age of reading circles and clubs.

Let the idea be applied more definitely to missions. Foreign missions are not supported simply because the church does not know about the work in order to feel about it. Set the church to reading on missions, history, biography, peoples, religions, state and need of the work, duty, etc. All this can be done best by method. Form circles in the churches, organize something, give certificates or seals. With the reading will come light and interest and giving. The thought is perfectly practicable, and should be taken up at once."

Pastors, Woman's Missionary Societies, Editors, are all invited to give their support to the movement. Address the Secretary.

Letters from the Laity.

Minnie S. Rippey, Bramwell, Tex.
A club of gentlemen gave a grand entertainment to the young ladies in Bramwell, Nov. 20th; and it was enjoyed by all. The SOUTHWESTERN is grand. I would be lost without it. I like it so much for its Bible readings.

Wm. Wright, Greenhill, Miss.
Your most valuable paper is the paper for the Negro to read, because it tells what the Negro is doing all over the South. I love the SOUTHWESTERN, and the more I read it the more I love it. I have not been a member of the church very long, but ever since I have been in the church I have been reading the SOUTHWESTERN; and now I am bound to keep on reading it, because I love it. I was converted to Christ in 1887 under Rev. J. W. Washington, and was received into full connection under our present pastor, Rev. D. D. Goodwin, one whom we love. This is Bro. Goodwin's third year here; and we are sorry that the year is so near out, and that conference is so near at hand, when the time will be that he will have to leave us. Brother Goodwin is a good man; and he has done a great work on this circuit. He is a Christian, and a man that feels the care of his people; and has the church of God at heart. The first year he found no circuit here; but we soon got a house, costing $140. The second year he started a fine church on the work; and now we have the finest church on Silver Creek. We hope and trust that conference will send him back again; and if they do not send him, send us a man that will feel the care of the Methodist Episcopal Church as Brother Goodwin does. I heard so much talk about Rev. D. D. Goodwin before he came here because he wins by his ways; he wins by his preaching; he wins by his conversation, and he wins by his walking circumspection before the world. Now, my dear brethren of the Mississippi Conference, and Bishop, likewise, we ask you, as Joseph did the butler when he interpreted his dream, make mention of me unto Pharaoh; so we say, think on us when you all meet at the conference; and send us Bro. Goodwin or a man like him.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the one here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tucker, One Foot Ruffer, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

The New Orleans Picayune is one of the newest and most reliable papers published. Its Editorials are judicious and timely; it gives all the news without fear or favor; its Associated Press and Special Southern Telegrams cover all important Foreign and Domestic News; its Commercial and Market Reports are complete and are accepted standards; its Letters from New York and Paris, and the Special Contributions of Pearl River, Catherine Cole, Mollie Moore Davis, Jennie Jone, Marie Points and others are unfailing sources of interest and information and are of a high order of literary merit. The Picayune is printed in clear, new type, of size sufficient to be read without straining the eye.

To keep abreast of the times and know all worth knowing that a newspaper should tell, send Three Dollars for three months' subscription to the Daily Picayune, or subscribe for its splendid Weekly Edition at One Dollar a year. The Weekly is sixteen pages, and is issued every Thursday morning to reach all subscribers before Sunday.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption. When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Crutcher & Co., 1023 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

What People Say about Specific Oxygen. ROME, GA., Oct. 28, 1889. Gentlemen: I feel it my duty to give expression to my honest convictions as to the curative properties or powers of Specific Oxygen. I believe there is no other remedy in use that will compare with it.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Sept. 4, 1890. Gentlemen: I had a severe attack of bronchitis last winter. Mr. George Grier of my church, told me about the Specific Oxygen treatment, how it had relieved him of a distressing bronchitis, a chronic case of fifteen years' standing. I began to use it myself, and in a few weeks was entirely cured.

REV. LEWIS POWELL, Pastor McFerrin Memorial Church, ARBOVILLE, NEX., July 18, 1890. Gentlemen: Your treatment has certainly done wonders for me. The Nasal Spray Bulb and Catarrh Specific are just grand for curing catarrh.

REV. T. D. DEBOISE, HILLSBORO, O., Oct. 25, 1887. We have used Specific Oxygen in our family and find it a most excellent remedy for colds and chronic throat trouble.

REV. MRS. W. J. MCSTRELY, GALLATIN, TENN., April 16, 1890. I am highly pleased with the remedy. It has done me more good than anything I have ever tried. I feel that I will be cured.

Yours truly, T. P. DUNN, AGT. L. & N. R. R. HILLSBORO, TEX., March 24, 1890. Sir: Herewith I send you symptom blank for my wife filled out, and we would be most gratefully improved since she began your treatment in January last.

Wm. REAVIN, BERLIN, TENN., Feb. 21, 1890. Gentlemen: I trust that my bronchitis has been entirely cured. How much I owe to Specific Oxygen I can never estimate.

Very truly, REV. WM. H. JOHNSTON, OXFORD, MASS., Dec. 16, 1887. Gentlemen: Many thanks for your kindness in sending the Oxygen for Mary. We think the Oxygen treatment has been a great thing for her. Yours gratefully, ELIZA A. CHILD.

THE South Carolina Jim Crow car bill has been overwhelmingly defeated by a vote of 81 to 33. Good for the old palmetto State! She is ahead of Mississippi and Louisiana.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallalien, is worth the price of the book.

THE following note from Rev. Dr. J. O. Peck, of the Missionary Society, New York, explains itself: It is not true that I have been "seriously ill." I have been at my office daily, and preaching missionary sermons every Sunday. Please correct. Accept congratulations on your rebuilt domestic altar. Yours as ever, J. O. PECK.

REMEMBER Jan. 13 is quarter centennial day at Washington Artillery Hall. The celebration is in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Mission Conference, out of which has grown all of our work in this great Southwestern country. Let everybody observe it. Let the children, as well as the old people, turn out in overwhelming numbers to celebrate the glorious event.

THE Wesleyan General Conference, of Australia, adopted a resolution that, "while believing it to be desirable that some restrictive measure should be adopted by the various Australian colonies to check the migration of Chinese into Australia, it regrets the extreme measures which have been adopted by some of the colonial Governments." Speaking in support of the resolution, the Rev. Dr. J. Berry said that he "had always felt humiliated that the Wesleyan Church of America had not felt itself called upon to protest against slavery until circumstances compelled them."

Gov. Fitzhugh Lee, who fought with the South to keep the Negro in slavery, in a recent interview, said that the more he saw of the North, the more he was convinced that "the Southern people are the best friends the Negroes have." The Negro has an idea of the relation of values. That idea does not teach him that slavery is better than freedom, nor that the slave is a better friend than the deliverer. The Negro knows his friends. They are certainly not those who fought for the foundation of a government whose cornerstone should be Negro slavery and who have resisted every provision brought forward for his advancement ever since Richmond fell. This is the testimony of reason and common sense.

The Constitutional Commission.

The Constitutional Commission met in the Robert's Park Methodist Episcopal Church, Indianapolis, on the tenth of December.

In the absence of Bishop Merrill, the chairman Bishop Foss, was called to the chair the first day. Bishop Merrill arrived early on the second day, and presided during the remaining sessions. Bishop Ninde was also present and rendered efficient service.

On the evening of the first day the Methodist Social Union of Indianapolis, gave the Commission a reception and banquet which was an exceedingly delightful affair. After the banquet Mrs. J. C. Shaffer, the president delivered an address and introduced Mr. Daniel Stewart who delivered an address of welcome to the members of the Commission, and the response for the Commission was made by the Rev. T. B. Neely, D. D., of Philadelphia. Dr. H. A. Cleveland, of the Meridian street church, then acted as toast-master and called out Bishop Foss, Bishop Ninde, Judge Sibley, Dr. J. Todd, Professor Wiley, of Drew Seminary, and president John, of De Pauw University.

A committee which had convened prior to the meeting of the commission submitted a report which became the basis of action. This report formulated conclusions reached by the Commission at its Chautauqua meeting and to them added their suggestions. The report was considered with great care, modifications of various kinds were made, but final action was not reached on anything, and it was agreed that the results should not be made public until the work had been perfected. Before adjourning the Commission passed votes of thanks for many courtesies received in Indianapolis, and also a vote of thanks to the Rev. Dr. Neely, for the service rendered and the marked ability displayed as Secretary of the Commission. The Commission adjourned to meet next summer, the time and place to be fixed by a committee of which Bishop Foss is the chairman.

Answers to Freedom's Call.

Dr. J. T. Newman, Treasurer of the Louisiana branch of the American Citizens Equal Rights Association, has received the following amounts from friends at Bay St. Louis, Miss., to test the constitutionality of the separate car law passed at the last session of our State Legislature, viz: L. J. Preinas, $5; P. Predeaux, $1; C. Rochon, 20c; J. B. Piernas, 25c; E. Rosenberg, 25c; A. Rochon, 25c; H. S. Piernas, $1.50; Jas. Bennett, 75c; S. Bennett, $1; Paul Benoit, 25c; R. Bennett, 25c; J. Clarke, 40c; L. O. Piernas, $1; O. Rochon, 25c; R. Smith, 50c; G. Price, 25c; J. C. Cartwright, 50c; Baptist Church, $1.45; Jno. Rochon, $1; M. Ray, 25c; E. Ray, $2; E. Anderson, 25c; Rose Ladner, 10c; M. Piernas, 15c; L. Barabino, 50c. Total, $19.30.

Let others, especially patriotic citizens of Louisiana, send their contributions to Dr. J. T. Newman, corner Canal and Marais street, New Orleans, don't let citizens of other states continue to show greater interest in this matter than our own home folks.

Echoes From Emancipation Day, Jan. 1.

Our Baptist brethren in this city observed the day in a very becoming manner at the Old Baptist Church, Rev. J. L. Burrell, pastor.

At Morris Brown Church, Rev. I. H. Hall, pastor, the interesting feature was the beautiful parade of the Faith Cadets, in connection with the celebration. Besides these nearly every colored church in this city observed the day in some special service or other.

Letters from all over the South tend to show how universally the day is being recognized and appropriately observed. This is as it should be. Not only every Negro, but every patriotic American should observe this day, made sacred to liberty by President Lincoln's immortal Proclamation of Freedom, issued Jan. 1, 1863.

The celebration at First Street Church, this city, was a perfect success. The addresses by President Adkins, D. D., of New Orleans University; Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D. D., of the SOUTHWESTERN; and Hon. E. S. Swann, were patriotic, able and interesting. Rev. Albert Ellis, of Boston, Mass., conducted the devotional exercises; Wm. Porter, Esq., read the Emancipation Proclamation, and Presiding Elder T. G. Montgomery presided for the pastor, Rev. J. W. Hilton. Several solos and duettes were beautifully rendered by different members of the choir. The exercises were witnessed by a very fine and appreciative audience. Revs. J. L. Burrell and John Marks, of the Baptist Church, were among the visiting ministers.

Political Review.

The past week or two being holiday weeks, very little of a political character has taken place.

It is expected however that the present week will witness the passage of the Federal Election Bill, and of several other important measures especially of an economic character.

The Indian war, in progress in Dakota and Nebraska is proving quite destructive. It is greatly to be hoped that justice may be meted out to those people and that peace may soon be restored. This great nation cannot afford to allow those feeble people to be robbed and wronged as they perpetually are, and then butcher them when they resent it.

The killing of Postmaster Matthews of Hazlehurst, Miss., by McBride is about to be investigated by the U. S. Post-office department, notwithstanding local partisan reports to the contrary it is said to be a fact, that the murder of Matthews is in keeping with the determination not to submit to the appointment of a Republican postmaster there.

We regret very much our inability to give in full the program for our grand jubilee celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Louisiana Conference in this issue. It is certainly a grand one. Rev. Ernest Lyon responds to Bishop Newman; Dr. Albert will give an historical sketch of the original conference; Rev. Emperor Williams presides; Bishop Mallalien, Revs. F. T. Chinn, Wm. Marrell, W. P. Forest, A. Ross, T. J. Johnson, J. C. Hartzell, D. D.; L. G. Adkinson, D. D. and all the presiding elders and others will bear prominent part in the exercises. Every Methodist Sunday school will be out in flying colors. Let everybody attend.

The opening of the mechanical engineering shop at the Central Tenn. College, takes place on Wednesday, Jan. 7th 1891 at 2 p. m. Addresses by Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D. D., Bishop Walden, and others. The exercises will begin in College Chapel, and will close at the shop where the machinery will be put in motion and work exhibited.

Personal.

—Mrs. A. A. Crayton, of this city, presented her husband with a bonning boy on New Year's eve. Mother and child are doing well. We extend congratulations.

—Bishop Mallalien inspired our people around Chattanooga, Tenn. with his presence on Christmas.

—Revs. A. M. Trotter, I. W. Davis, and R. P. Threlkield, of the Mississippi Conference, called last Monday, on their way to their conference at Moss Point.

—Father Anthony Ross was among our callers last Monday. The old patriarch is burdened with the weight of years, but is as hardy as ever.

—Owing to an attack of illness, Bishop Foster has concluded to give up his contemplated trip to Japan, Corea and China. Bishop Goodsell will go in his place via San Francisco, on the 22d inst. Dr. Baldwin will not go.

—Rev. W. I. Graham, who has retired from the presidency of the Fort Worth University, was presented a short time ago with a gold-headed cane by students of that institution. He is succeeded in the management of the University by Prof. F. W. Martin, who was for four years professor of the natural sciences in Chaddock College, and was vice-president of that institution from 1888 to 1890.

—Dr. John Davis, of Cincinnati, who died last week, was a citizen who did honor to that city. His eminence as a physician, his interest in the public welfare, his integrity in all the relations of life, made him the center of a large circle of friends. He was president of the Union Central Insurance Co., and first president of the Law and Order League of Cincinnati. Dr. Davis and wife were among the most intimate friends of President and Mrs. Hayes. They were the truest friends of our Southern work.

—Prof. A. T. Gribbsby, principal of the St. Paul Preparatory Academy, Shreveport, was in the city during the holidays. He reports very flattering prospects for his school.

—Rev. T. G. Montgomery has closed a very successful year on the Shreveport District, and is now here in full trim for conference.

—Rev. J. F. Marshall, of La Teche District, left for Jeannerette and other points on his work, last week. He will be out till a day or two before conference.

—Rev. Charles Monroe, of Pleasant Plains Church, who has been very sick during the past few weeks, we are glad to say, is now much better. Bro. Monroe is one of our most devoted and successful pastors, and we regret that he has had such a hard spell in the midst of his preparations for conference. He has a good people, however, and they will do all they can to have the record of the year close in as good shape as possible.

—Bishop Mallalien, accompanied by Rev. Wm. P. McLaughlin, left for points on LaTeche and Lake Charles districts last Monday. Their visit will doubtless prove a source of great help and encouragement to our people in that section.

—Prof. J. O. Richards, of Gilbert Seminary, Winsted, La., was in the city during the holidays, and gave us a call. He reports the school in good condition.

—Rev. Prince King, of the A. M. E. Church, at Greensborough, spent some days in the city, last week, and called on us. We were pleased to meet him.

—Rev. J. J. Billingsley, formerly of the Louisiana Conference, now stationed at Damascus, Ohio, is doing good work, and is especially interested in instructing his people in the needs of our Southern work. Bro. Billingsley will be remembered as the author of "The Methodist Steward," recently published by our Book Concern. It is the best thing ever published on the subject. Send for a copy from this office. Price, 75c.

—Rev. Dr. Albert and Mrs. Albert left this morning to attend the Mississippi Conference at Moss Point. The Doctor will collect SOUTHWESTERN accounts. Let every pastor see to it that he makes a full settlement. We need the money. Resolutions of good will are cheering, but they do not pay the expenses. Let us have the "one thing needful," the cash.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallalien, is worth the price of the book.

City Church Notes.

LaHarpe street church has again agreeably surprised its pastor with many valuable and appreciated presents. Among the party, were Misses Virginia Grant, Lizzie Moore, Polly Mitchell, Bro. C. O. Pardo, and others. The pastor Rev. A. J. Pickett and family are happy. They say, "call again."

Watch meetings were held in all of our churches on Christmas and New Year's eve; and many valuable presents made, to their several pastors. Among others Rev. J. W. Hilton, of First street church received a fine gold watch, valued at over $50.

The inmates of the Old Folks Home were kindly remembered by the members and friends of First street church with a fine and abundant New Year's day dinner. We don't wonder that the old folks were happy.

Why don't you remember the old folks in your monthly collections? They are dependent upon the few dimes contributed in those monthly collections, besides the managers are burdened with a note which they must soon meet, for the building which they have purchased for the Old Folks Home.

Thomson Chapel has had its fourth quarterly conference. It was held by presiding elder E. Williams, all reports showed a marked success spiritually and financially. Presiding elder Williams commented the reports of leaders, stewards, and trustees—Rev. Johnson closes up with creditable success—Rev. A. A. Lacy, acted as secretary.

Death has reaped a rich harvest out of Union chapel, during the past week or two. During that time he has taken to their rewards, Sisters Mary E. Coleman, Louisa Turner, Father George Washington, Sisters Anderson and Hawkins and Sister Lucy Boker. They are not dead but sleeping in Christ.

A grand old folks concert will be given at Haven Chapel by a committee of ladies and gentlemen, Saturday night January 10, 1891. M. J. Dwyer, pastor; Bro. Thomas English, chairman; Paul Carbon, secretary.

The Christian Advocate gives returns from 337 districts which show the following results:—For, 182,281; against, 109,033; total vote, 291,314; total members, 1,531,624. The districts not having reported are chiefly in mission and foreign conferences, and in the South. Thus we have before us the vote which represents nearly three-fourths of our membership.

"HOUSE OF BONDAGE," now ready. Send 75 cents and get one postage prepaid, or call at the office.

Ignorant and Immoral.

Quite a contention has been going on in the Christian Union, growing out of a statement by Prof. B. T. Washington, that a large proportion of the colored preachers in the South are ignorant and immoral. The protests and denials have been numerous and earnest. But now comes Bishop Payne, senior bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, in a personal letter to Prof. Booker:

In regard to the moral qualifications of the Methodist and Baptist ministers, so far as I have seen and known them by personal contact, I believe that you have not overstated, but rather understated the facts. I say, emphatically, in the presence of the great Head of the Church, that not more than one-third of the ministers, Baptist and Methodist, in the South, are morally and intellectually qualified. I will stand by this statement, and can demonstrate the truthfulness by painful facts in regard to names times and places. Doubtless I shall be assailed like yourself for speaking truth and recording facts. Denominational bias and influence will not cause me to suppress the truth nor to hide facts when it is necessary to speak out with the spirit of Christian reform. I am a Methodist of the Methodists, head, heart, and soul; and while I love Methodism sincerely, I love Christianity better. Therefore, in behalf of Christianity, I speak what I believe and know to be true with reference to our people South. I commenced forty-seven years ago to labor for a well educated and thoroughly Christian ministry. The apostles and prophets were all condemned for speaking out against the corruption of the chief priests and the churches. But a power from above compelled them to so cry out.

This is a straight and startling confirmation, so far as his experience goes. The Christian Union accepts it as conclusive, and suggests, as one means of relief: "A short course in the ethical teachings and the fundamental theological principles contained in the Bible—teaching founded upon the English Bible, and unaccompanied with any attempt at instruction in original tongues, or in dogmatic or historical theology; in short, a Dwight L. Moody Bible school, rather than a theological seminary. Both are needed in the South, but the former, in our judgment, more than the latter."

But neither the professor nor the bishop has authority to speak for the Methodist Episcopal Church. So far as our colored ministry are concerned, we challenge the assertion. That many of our colored men is unlearned and ignorant is true. What else could be expected from a race not a generation out of slavery? But we have many colored ministers thoroughly well educated, and the number of such rapidly growing.

Besides under our Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, our educated and consecrated ministers, both white and colored, in the South, are working to the very end the Christian Union recommends. Institutes and itinerants' clubs are being held, and the colored men themselves are most earnest in insisting upon "a religion of obedience and practical righteousness" in place of one of "a wholly immoral emotionalism."

The other count—that two-thirds of our colored ministers in the South are not morally qualified—we deny outright. The discipline of our Church, exercised by our white bishops, is too searching and exacting to admit of any such possibility. Bishop Payne may confess judgment for the African Methodist Episcopal Church, but only one of our own bishops can do so for us.—Western Christian Advocate.

The late Frances Ridley Havergal was without doubt the most popular devotional writer of this century. Her works have been translated into almost every European tongue; but it remained for the United States alone to issue this talented lady's work without permission or remuneration. At this late day a new edition is being issued by Fleming H. Revell, publisher of New York and Chicago, in which the heirs of Miss Havergal are interested, and on which they will receive royalty.

Schools and Colleges.

Richly Merited.

Dr. L. M. Dutton, who for many years has so excellently presided over the affairs of Claflin University (Orangeburg, S. C.) was surprised with a most attractive Christmas present, the gift of the faculty and students of that institution. It is a pendant (made to order) of gold, a maltese cross, upon one side of which is a red enameled Italian cross, surrounded by a gold crown, the points of the crown holding respectively, a ruby, a diamond, an emerald, a sapphire, a topaz, and a garnet. On the obverse side are the words "L. M. D., from C. U., Christmas 1890." The speaker on presenting it, said his initials were indexes of his character, "love of God and mankind; magnanimity towards all; devotion to the cause of Christian education." A list of names several yards long were presented with the charm.

At the head of the list is the following:—"We, the subscribed members of the faculty and students of Claflin University and State Agricultural College, recognizing the extraordinary merits of Dr. L. M. Dutton, our most worthy president, and fully appreciating the unparalleled success which has crowned his untiring efforts for the weal of our institution, do take this opportunity of manifesting our admiration of his noble work, and our love for the man himself.

May gracious Heaven grant him long years of continued prosperity here below, and when the summons must needs come, a well-earned crown above."

A revolving book-case was given Mrs. Dutton by the same persons.

A note from president L. M. Dutton, of Claflin University, Orangeburg, S. C., says: "This is our very best year. All things seem to be working together for good."

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Sight-Seeing.—VI.

L. M. HAGOOD.

The American Falls include Center Fall, which are a quarter of a mile wide, and have a perpendicular height of 164 feet. It will surprise you, doubtless to be told that not far from one hundred and fifty million cubic feet of water flows over these two falls every minute. I know it seems incredible, and yet, if you could go and stand at its base or where the water strikes below, you would be able to understand this. You stand there looking up 164 feet, while the water comes rushing, whirling, rumbling, tumbling and foaming; while the spray that rises covers you like a gentle April shower. It is a majestic and awe-inspiring sight. From the Canadian shore, a distance of some 2,376 feet to Goat Island, the Horse-shoe Falls extend. Its height is 158 feet. As you stand looking, if a close observer, you will see it forms an almost perfect horse-shoe in form. As the water comes whizzing over to fall helplessly upon the rocks below, its deep green color is deceptive in that it appears shallow but is actually twenty feet thick.

A singular story is told concerning this Fall. It is said the Detroit, a condemned ship, on board of which was put a live buffalo, deer, bear, and many smaller animals was sent over this place and not a sign of life nor much of the vessel, though she drew eighteen feet of water, was ever seen after ward. Over this, falls, and has been for many, many years, thirteen hundred and fifty million feet of water per minute. No one who has ever stood looking upon it while the sun was behind a cloud, and then all at once have the sun burst forth from behind the clouds upon it, can possibly forget it. It is just the most magnificently dazzling sight human eyes ever beheld. It comes nearer John's "sea of glass mingled with fire" as we get his conception, than any thing else.

At first, when the sun breaks forth you feel like shouting. Then with bated breath you murmur "how transcendently grand!" But for a moment you stand gazing when behold a beautiful rainbow—sometimes two, parallel—stretching from the American over to this Fall.

That little office you see to the right of you is where you find dressing rooms and guides to conduct you therefrom down a winding stair case that leads beneath this Falls, where you have an awful sight. Looking up, the mad waters seem anxious to engulf you, as it appears, passing over tottering rocks that must soon crush you to earth; you seemingly can almost touch with your hand the mighty, glassy sheet of water between which you stand, as it comes thundering over your head, and the "rocks of ages" near which you stand. He who can stand beneath those mighty billows and not acknowledge that of Niagara "the half has never been told" is certainly obtuse to the point of stupidity. Goat Island is heavily timbered and is some-what more than a mile in circumference, containing about sixty-two acres of ground. It was used by a Mr. Stedman as a goat pasture in 1770. Many persons used to visit this Island by wading where the water was shallow, but it was hazardous before the bridges were built. Now you cross to it on a finely constructed foot bridge. To the right of this Island, a few minutes walk will bring you to Lunan Island: Between these two is a little thin, foamy sheet of water 100 feet wide. It receives its name from the fact you can see a lunar rainbow when moonshiny night from here. From this point one has—in my humble opinion—the finest view of all. You can easily see the Incline Railway, the two suspension bridges, the Cave of the Winds and the American and Center Falls in the distance. While standing here one almost shudders as he feels "the earth rings hollow from below" for it actually shakes as you stand upon it, from the steady and persistent jarring of the raging waters. Not far from Goat Island are to be found stairs erected by a Mr. Bidle of Philadelphia, which enables persons to descend into the cave of the winds twenty feet below. There are 132 steps downward. Going down these steps we find a cave beneath the huge rocks 100 feet wide, sixty feet in diameter, while the ceiling above you is 100 feet high. The mouth of this cave is artistically covered by a spray composed of all the rainbow colors. We enter. The atmospheric pressure is so great in here that perpetual storms ensue; thunder and lightning and roaring, falling rain, while your head is encircled by the misty clouds until you feel as if the "Great Day" had come and you were now "amid the wreck of matter and the crush of worlds," one single, isolated but nevertheless potent thought pervades your mind, aye! seizes your very frame and shakes it, as shakes the aspen leaf in the winds, and that is "I want to get out of here." If there is no other time or scene in this world "that will harrow up your soul, make your two eyes start from their sockets, and each particular hair (if you have any) stand on end, like the hair of the fretful porcupine" and your "thoughts on awful subjects roll, damnation and the dead" going into this cave once will do it. We could not avoid soliloquizing if this place was not a very fair idea or presentation of that department of hades where "devil with devil donned, fierce concord holds." Why, man alive when one has been down there and came back again to earth he feels, I can easily imagine, as if this is the fairest, grandest world; that he, having been already dead "has risen" again. Indeed I believe it would be an excellent place to hold "a protracted meeting," for some of our people.

My wife had been a sufferer for some time with pain in the back; Salvation Oil was freely used and I am glad to say my wife to-day suffers no pain.

Books and Current Literature.

It seems strange that Matthew Henry's commentaries, with all their popularity during the more than seven score years they have been issued in this country in any other style than the cumbersome tones with which the Bible students are so familiar. The new edition in six volumes recently published by Fleming H. Revell is a most successful attempt to put this much prized commentary into easily handled volumes. A not less striking feature is the fact that this has not been done by a reprint in small type; on the contrary, the type is larger than in any former edition.

The Sabbath of the Bible, by S. H. Nesbit, D. D., is the name of one of the best compendiums on the Sabbath question that has ever fallen under our observation. It is worthy of a place in every Christian library; and would really fill a long felt need in our ministerial course of study. Dr. Nesbit is one of the first ministers in our church. His book is published by Meyers, Shriekle & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.

Among the most noteworthy productions of the year in the entire field of periodical literature has been the series of articles on "The Impregnable Rock of Holy Scripture" which Mr. Gladstone has written for The Sunday School Times. The entire series, with important emendations and additions by their eminent author, is now issued in book form by a special arrangement with Mr. Gladstone by the Publisher of The Sunday School Times. A word from Mr. Gladstone, on any subject that is of interest to him, is sure of a welcome from Americans generally. But when Mr. Gladstone writes concerning the Book of books, an added interest attaches to his words in the minds of all. Bible lovers will be grateful for the service he has rendered to the cause of truth, in this series of important papers in the exhibit of the majestic grandeur of the "Impregnable Rock of Holy Scripture." This book issued November 21, contains over 350 pages, (size 7x5 1/2 inches). It is handsomely bound in cloth, gilt top, with portrait and facsimile letter of Mr. Gladstone. Price, $1.00. For sale by booksellers, or mailed, postpaid, by the publisher, John D. Wattles, Publisher, 1031 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Is there a man, woman or child living on this continent who has not heard of The New York Ledger? Possibly there may be, but it is safe to say that they are very few in numbers. The New York Ledger of to-day, is not by any manner of means The New York Ledger of a few years since, so that it any of our readers say: Oh yes! I know The New York Ledger, we beg to assure them that they do not know The New York Ledger of to-day, unless they have had it brought to their recent attention. The Christmas number of the Ledger lies before us, and its cover, printed in several colors, is so dainty, so beautiful and attractive in every way, that we hesitated a long time before opening the paper. The first article that caught our eye was a story, The Beads of Tasmer, by Mrs. Amelia E. Barr; and when we say that it has been hunted to us that Mrs. Barr received five thousand dollars for her story, Friend Olivia, which has just been completed in the Century Magazine, our readers will understand that The New York Ledger of to-day, by securing the most popular writers, is a literary journal of very high character. On turning the page, we find that the Hon. George Bancroft, and there are few persons in the United States so honored and respected as he, has a beautifully illustrated article giving a description of the Battle of Lake Erie. These two attractions might suffice for an ordinary number of a literary weekly, but in addition we find a magnificently illustrated poem by James Russell Lowell. This poem was written expressly for the Ledger and it is a very beautiful one indeed. One of the remarkable things about The New York Ledger is that it is furnished for two dollars a year, and the publishers, Messrs. Robert Bonner's Sons, 376 William street, N. Y., offer to furnish the paper three weeks for ten cents. This, of course, is done simply that people who do not know The New York Ledger of to-day may learn something of it, the probabilities being, of course, that they will become regular subscribers.—The Independent.

Cardinal Gibbons, Dr. Mary Jacob, Dr. Osler (physician in chief of John Hopkins hospital), Miss Thomas (Dean of Bryn Mawr), and Dr. Folsom, of Boston, all take part in a series of Open Letters to be published in the February Century, on the opening of the John Hopkins Medical School to women.

The New York Ledger. Christmas number. New York: Robert Bonner's Sons. The Christmas issue of The New York Ledger is a souvenir worthy of the source from which it emanates. It contains a choice selection of articles by George Bancroft, Margaret Deland, James Russell Lowell, and others, who would certainly wear the palm-embroidered coat we have there an American academy of immortals. Amelia E. Barr, author of several much-admired stories, begins in this number The Beads of Tasmer, a novel of prime interest, whose scene is laid on the shores of West Ross, off the coast of Scotland.

Rudyard Kipling contributes the complete novel, "The Light that Failed," to the January number of Lippincott's Magazine. Kipling is attracting more attention at present than any other living writer. This is the author's first novel, and fully justifies the expectations he has raised by his remarkable short stories. A charming Christmas story, entitled Christmas Gifts, dealing with old plantation life, is contributed by Ruth McEnery Stuart. "The State of Washington," an article by Major Moses P. Handy, will surprise the many who know little of this wonderful section of the country. J. B. Lippincott, Philadelphia. $3 per year.

The second installment of the Talleyrand Memoirs in The Century for February will deal almost entirely with Talleyrand's relations with Napoleon Bonaparte, and will include a number of highly interesting anecdotes of Napoleon; namely, the scene when they first met; Napoleon's snubbing of a foreign minister; his strange attack of epilepsy, etc. Talleyrand does not hesitate to tell how he thwarted Napoleon even while he pretended to be serving him. He describes his plotting with Napoleon early in the latter's career, and then his plotting against him. This installment will also give Talleyrand's reason for his rupture with Bonaparte.

Octave Thanet, the novelist, will tell in the January Century a true story of the great Irish famine of 1847-48, from documents never published before. The narrative is a thrilling one, and particularly timely.

The Christmas number of The New York Ledger comes with a cheerful exterior, in keeping with the festive season. The cover displays a New York girl, with her arms full of parcels (Christmas shopping), hastening forward to greet the subscribers and wish them a Happy Christmas.—Philadelphia Ledger.

We have received a copy of the 1891 edition of Topics for Prayer Meetings and Bible Classes, by the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., a little book which has proved of good service in the past to many pastors and other Christian workers in furnishing suitable subjects for prayer and gospel meetings for young men and others. This pamphlet may be obtained from the Committee at cost of publication, viz.—five cent, per copy. Richard C. Morse, General Secretary, 40 East 23rd street, New York.

A Tale of the Worlds Fair, published by F. T. Neely, Chicago, is a sensation. It is a fanciful picture of that great event, and the work rises to the magnitude of possibilities of the great occasion. From the work of such uniform excellence it is difficult to select any particular features; yet we would mention the peroration of Mr. Depew's opening address, Soldiers Day, at the Fair, and the fire scene. The last is a picture of terror and desolation unsurpassed in the English language. Mr. T. R. Burch, purchased 50,000 of the first edition for gratuitous distribution among friends, co-laborers, and policy holders, thus manifesting an appreciation for the book that has never been given any other publication.

Mr. Krebhiel, the musical critic of the "Tribune," has written a paper on Chinese music for the January Century. The composer, Henry Holden Huss, has supplied grotesque harmonies to some old Chinese marches, and these accompany the article.

Harpers Bazar published December 26th contains a story by Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford entitled At the Symphony. The pictorial attractiveness of the number, is unusually fine.

Sophie Sweet contributed to Harper's Young People for December 23d a story entitled The Boy from North Jericho.

What They Say About the Machine.

I write to let you know that I received the premium sewing machine. My wife has used it two weeks. The more she uses it the better satisfaction it gives. I find all the fault in the one trying to use it. Now she is sewing right along. She has made several garments. All who do not get this machine will miss a good chance. All the families of colored people who have no machine ought to have one in their house. The agents seem to look mighty serious now because there are so many getting machines without their assistance. Yours respectfully, A. L. GREENE.

COMMENTING upon the call recently made in Boston for a meeting of British-Americans to take action in regard to local politics, Harper's Weekly says: "Whatever tends to emphasize the differences of native nationality among American citizens is hostile to American nationality, and should be rigorously discountenanced. There is no fear that any citizen will forget his native land, or cease to cherish a certain loyalty to it. That is natural and inevitable, but the disposition is not to be indulged beyond the gratification of sentiment. Political organization under the old national name fosters a feeling which is inimical to our national welfare."

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

AN APPEAL.

To The People:

The adoption by the Legislature of Louisiana, at its last session, of act No 115, entitled "An act to provide for the comfort of passengers," &c., and better known as the separate car law, is a matter of public notoriety.

While the bill was pending before the General Assembly, the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association earnestly protested and exerted its influence against its passage.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the reasons adduced then why this law should not have been enacted. All are familiar with them, and feel the degradation the law imposes on American citizenship.

The duty that remains to us to perform is to defeat or render nugatory the operations of this unjust and oppressive law.

To this end the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association will institute a suit to test the constitutionality of the infamous law and maintain the right of American citizens to travel on railroads and public conveyances.

For the successful prosecution of the suit money is needed.

Therefore, to secure the sinews of legal warfare, we appeal to the people generally for aid and assistance.

We appeal specially to ministers of the gospel. We request these emissaries of harmony and good-will among men to read this address from their pulpits and make its subject-matter a text for their sermons, in order to arouse the people to the sense of their patriotic duty in the premises.

We appeal to the presidents, officers and members of the associations, benevolent and charitable, educational, labor and others, in New Orleans and elsewhere, to introduce the matter into their assemblies and make it a subject of their deliberations, to the end that their organizations may, collectively, tender us their help.

We appeal to the leaders of men to propagate the idea among their followers, to enlist their interest and support in the cause.

Realizing the influence of the gentle sex and their zeal and earnestness in and devotion to the cause of right and justice, we appeal to the loyal women of the country to give us their invaluable aid. Let them talk the subject to the men in their social assemblies, church meetings, and other gatherings, and thus induce the latter to send their contributions singly; or, still better, organize circles to raise funds for the end proposed by euterlaments, festivals, &c.

We appeal to those moulders of public opinion, the newspapers of the United States—the loyal press—to publish this appeal and make its object the subject of their approving comments and criticisms in order to create and maintain a public sentiment, from which the needed aid will readily flow. We request all newspapers in sympathy with the cause to act as agents of this Association to receive contributions from the good people of their localities, to be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

Finally as the favorable issue of the suit will redound to the everlasting benefit of all, we appeal to the lovers of fair play and justice throughout this broad land for their encouragement, material aid and assistance.

We will employ the very best legal talent that the country affords. We know that the amount required will be large, but it can be easily raised by dime and nickel contributions.

Let all send in their mite. As soon as the necessary amount will have been secured, we will inform the people and cease the collection.

Conscious of the justice of our cause, and supported by a loyal people, we will not desist from our course until this infamous law which is a continual menace to the peace of society, a standing insult to us, our wives, mothers and sisters, and which threatens to be a badge of inferiority to our posterity, is nullified, and we have created such a sentiment that will hereafter prevent any attempt to enforce a similar law or regulation anywhere in this free country of ours.

A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., President American Citizens' Equal Rights Association of Louisiana.

JOHN L. MINOR, Secretary.

N. B.—Send all contributions to J. T. Newman, M. D., Treasurer of the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association, corner Canal, and Marais streets, New Orleans, La.

The names of all contributors will be published in the SOUTHWESTERN Christian Advocate, the Standard-Pelican and the Crusader, unless otherwise directed.

NEW YEAR HYMN.

F. R. HAVERGAL.

Standing at the portal
Of the opening year,
Words of comfort meet us,
Hushing every fear;
Spoken through the silence
By our Father's voice,
Tender, strong and faithful,
Making us rejoice.
Onward, then, and fear not,
Children of the day;
For His Word shall never,
Never pass away.

I, the Lord, am with thee,
Be thou not afraid;
I will help and strengthen,
Be thou not dismayed.
Yea, I will uphold thee
With my own right hand;
Thou art called and chosen
In my sight to stand.
Onward, then, and fear not,
Children of the day;
For His Word shall never,
Never pass away.

For the year before us,
Oh, what rich supplies!
For the poor and needy,
Living streams shall rise;
For the sad and sinful,
Shall His grace abound;
For the faint and feeble,
Perfect strength be found;
Onward, then, and fear not,
Children of the day;
For His Word can never,
Never pass away.

He will never fail us,
He will not forsake;
His eternal covenant
He will never break;
Resting on his promise,
What have we to fear?
God is all-sufficient
For the coming year.
Onward, then, and fear not,
Children of the day;
For His Word can never,
Never pass away.

The Household.

Cure for Scandal.

A Terrible Disorder of the Mouth.

Take of good nature one ounce, and of an herb called by the Indians mind your own business, one ounce. Mix this with a little charity for others and two or three sprigs of keep your tongue between your teeth. Simmer them together in a vessel called circumspection for a short time, and it will be fit for use.

Application.—The symptoms are a violent itching in the tongue and roof of the mouth, which invariably takes place when you are in company with a species of animals called gossips. When you feel a fit of the disorder coming on, take a teaspoonful of the mixture; hold it in your mouth, which you will keep closely shut until you get home, and you will find a complete cure. Should you apprehend a relapse, keep a small bottle full about you, and on the slightest symptom repeat the dose. Wm. L. Davis, of Edwards, Miss., sends us this selection.

KITCHEN APRONS.—One of the most convenient kitchen aprons is made large enough to cover the front of the waist and the entire skirt. The bib and lower portion are cut in one piece and gored to fit the figure by cutting the front with a fold in the center, and fitting it by side-front seams which curve gracefully the bust. The bib top is cut up in front, but left high enough to protect the dress, the shoulder edges are short and join narrow extensions which reach to the belt in the back, and are kept in place by a little strap which fastens with button and button hole at the centre of the back, and serves to keep the shoulder straps from slipping down over the arms. The breadths which join each side of the skirt front are fitted to the figure by two hip darts and sewed to a belt which passes underneath the bib. —Ladies' Home Journal.

SCOTCH MARMALADE.—Take equal quantities of bitter oranges and granulated sugar; cut the oranges into halves, take out the pulp, and put the rinds into cold water; boil them till tender, changing the water once or twice, and when cold remove the white from the peel; wash the orange pulps and squeeze them through a cloth, adding a little water the second time, or squeezing; then shred the peel fine, add the juice and sugar, and boil twenty minutes over a slow fire.

Our Symposium.

The Western Advocate says: "Dr. Wheatley writes of Dr. Longking: 'Neither hospital, nor surgeon, nor physician, nor tenderest care will long avail to protract the sunny, protuberant life of the most familiar figure at the Methodist Book Concern—the figure of a man whose name in former years, more, perhaps, than in these Berean days, was familiar as household words' in the domicile of Methodist families—a man whose ninety years of happy toil as author, preacher, editor, printer, have been distinguished by simple faith, radiant benignity, and uneffected lowliness, and whose ripest years rejoice in the prospect of 'Harvest Home.' That man is Rev. J. Longking, D. D. His desk in the office of the Methodist Review misses its habitual occupant. Drs. Mendenhall and Sanford speak of him with loving, pleasant sadness. So do his host of friends—who is not his friend? Disease does not fasten upon him. The physical organism is simply worn out, breaking down. 'Blessings upon the good, white head!' is the invocation of all who know him. It is a 'crown of glory;' for it is found in the 'way of righteousness.'"

The tongue of knowledge is admirable, the tongue of wisdom still better, the tongue of fire best of all. The learned tongue may enlighten and edify; the tongue of fire alone is able to touch the soul to higher purposes and a better life. The cultured tongue furnishes cogent reasons and eloquently puts truth to the understanding; the tongue tipped with flame insures conviction and a yielding of the life to the service of Jesus Christ. The tongues of fire is the accompaniment of all our Pentecosts. Much as we value learning, in all departments of the Church, we believe the imperative demand of this time, as of all times, is the fiery tongue, the human talent consecrated to God and imbued with the Holy Spirit. The word is then pungent and quick, and without it our preaching is like sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.—Zion's Herald.

Our daily life should be sanctified by doing common things in a religious way. There is no action so slight or so humble but it may be done to a great purpose and ennobled thereby.—George MacDonald.

If Christ had not died then the world would have had no sweet vision of a love unto death. His love was unto death that life might come to all.—Selected.

BRONCHITIS

Is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes—the air-passages leading into the lungs. Either chronic or acute, it is a common complaint, and is often the result of colds, or of exposure to draft, or of a general debility. It is characterized by a cough, which may be dry or productive of mucus, and by a feeling of constriction in the throat. It is often accompanied by a fever, and may lead to pneumonia if not properly treated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a most effective remedy for this complaint, and is sold by all druggists.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

C. O. Lepper, Druggist, Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "My little sister, four years of age, was seized with bronchitis, and we had almost given up hope of her recovery. Our family physician, a skillful man and of large experience, pronounced it useless to give her any more medicine, saying he had done all it was possible to do, and we must prepare for the worst. As a last resort, we determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and I can truly say, with most happy results. After taking a few doses she seemed to breathe easier, and, within a week, was out of danger. We continued giving the Pectoral until satisfied she was entirely well. This indisputable evidence of the great merit of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has given me unbounded confidence in the preparation, and I recommend it to my customers, knowing it cannot disappoint them."

so that the medicine is known among them as 'the consoler of the afflicted.'—Julius Rufus Vidal, San Cristobal, San Domingo. "A short time ago, I was taken with a severe attack of bronchitis. The remedies ordinarily used in such cases failed to give me relief. Almost in despair of ever finding anything to cure me, I bought a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was helped from the first dose. I had not finished one bottle before the disease left me, and my throat and lungs were as sound as ever."—Geo. B. Hunter, Altoona, Pa.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 64 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

Our Children's Legion For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl seven years old. I go to Sunday school every Sunday. Miss S. A. Hubbard is my teacher. I have four sisters and three brothers. My father is Rev. Thomas Ward. I study first reader and spelling book. My mother and father belong to the M. E. Church my oldest brother is also a member; my oldest sister is my Sunday school teacher. I go to meeting every Sunday.

Your Niece,
LULU WARD.
Nolensville, Tenn.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little boy eleven years old. I go to Sunday and day school. Our day school teacher is Miss Zenobia Carigan; and our superintendent is Miss Sennie Holmes; our pastor is Rev. W. O. Emory. We also have a nice Sunday school. I have several brothers and sisters. I am the oldest. Sister is now going to school.

Your Nephew,
CHARLES WESTBROOKS.
Hot Springs, Ark.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl seven years old. I go to Sunday and day school. I take great pleasure in reading your paper; and I like it very much. I am studying third reader, geography, arithmetic and spelling. I am trying to get an education.

ALBERTIE B. PERRY.
Bonham, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I want to let you and my cousins know that I am in favor of the admission of women to the General Conference. I believe in women having their rights, and do away with woman subjection, and teach men that they have no rights that women should not have. This day needs something else; it demands that women shall not be mere servants as they have been. Let women vote and go to Congress, if they want to. I am pleading for their admission. I will now answer the questions that one of my cousins asked: The word Lord occurs 1835 times; the word reverend occurs but once, and that in the 9th verse of the 11th chapter of Psalms; the 21st verse of the 7th chapter of Ezra contains all the letters of the alphabet except the letter j.

Your Niece,
P. E. WATKINS.
Galveston, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: We have a nice Sunday school. I love to read the dear old SOUTHWESTERN. There was a question asked in our Sunday school, Why did the angels climb Jacob's ladder when they had wings to fly? I will be glad to have that question answered. I am not a member of the church, but I hope to be soon.

Your Nephew,
JOHN TAMMON.
Clarksville, Tenn.

General News Items.

A bill has been introduced in the South Carolina Legislature providing for a constitutional convention. That there is no necessity for such a call no sane man thoroughly informed will dare affirm.

The Negroes of South Carolina pay in round numbers $275,000 in taxes. Of this amount they get back $130,000 which is appropriated for educational purposes. Yet there is a disposition on the part of both the Governor and Legislature to cut down the $5000 appropriation to Claffin. South Carolina is already sufficiently disgraced. Will she not stop to consider ere going further?

Hon. J. T. Downing is lecturing in Virginia.

Colored men are nshers at the Philadelphia theaters.

A large exodus of Mississippi Negroes to Oklahoma is expected. Sheriff G. A. Reed, of Beaufort, S. C., is the only colored sheriff in the South.

There are two Negro members of the Atchinson, Kan., Board of Education.

Rev. W. H. Weaver, D. D., has been appointed assistant custodian of the new postoffice building at Baltimore. Salary, $1,200 per annum.

Harry S. Cumming, a talented young lawyer, was elected a member of the Baltimore Common Council, being the first of his race chosen to that position.

Hon. B. K. Bruce has just contracted to build at his own expense a free church on one of his plantations in Mississippi. It is to be used alternately by the Methodists and Baptists, the two largest denominations in that section. It will also be used as a schoolhouse.

Fred. Douglass, U. S. Minister to Hayti, has returned to his post of duty.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

WE ARE ordering for our people brand new Singer Sewing Machines, direct from the factory every day, on the plan fully explained in another column. They are giving perfect satisfaction, and words of praise are being showered upon them everywhere. Send us $14, and we will send you the SOUTHWESTERN for a whole year, and one of these machines to your nearest right office.

DONALD KENNEDY

Of Roxbury, Mass., says

I have kept a Scrap Book for a good many years of letters received from patients; some are long, too long to publish, some are short, short and good. Rainy days I sit down and read them, and have learned a good deal about the human body from some poor, sickly woman or overstrained man. Here is one of them. I call it a good letter:

TRENTON, Tex., Sept. 23, 1886.
"To Kennedy of the Medical Discovery, Roxbury, Mass. I am so proud of my recovery as to express my feelings in thanks to you. The RHEUMATISM has made me four-legged for six years. At last I have traded off four bottles of Kennedy's Discovery. I am yours, gratefully and unsolicited, J. B. IVY."

FIRST QUARTER.—LESSON II. Idolatry in Israel. 1. Kings 12. 25-33. Commit to memory verses 28-30. Jan. 11, 1891. 970, B. C.

HOME READINGS.

M. 1. Kings 12. 25-33. Th. 1 Kings 13 1-10. W. Exod. 32. 1-10. Th. Deut. 4. 14-24. F. 2 Chron. 13. 4-12. S. 2 Chron. 13. 13-20. S. Psa. 115. 1-11.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image. Exod. 20. 4.

LESSON HYMN, C. M.

O God, our strength, to thee our song
With grateful hearts we raise;
To thee, and thee alone, belong
All worship, love, and praise.

And thou, O ever gracious Lord,
Will keep thy promise still,
Thy meekly hearkening to thy word,
We seek to do thy will.

Led by the light thy grace imparts,
Ne'er may we bow the knee,
To idols, which our wayward hearts
Set up instead of thee.

Time.—B. C. about 970.
Place.—Shechem, in Central Palestine; 2. Pennel on the brooks in eastern Palestine; 3. Dan, at the south of Jordan; 4. Bethel, in the tribe of Benjamin.

Rulers.—1. Jeroboam, son of Nebat, King of Israel; Rehoboam, son of Solomon, King of Judah.

Connecting Links.—The tribe of Judah, under Rehoboam, undertook to make war upon Israel, but was forbidden by the prophet Shemaiah. 1 Kings 12. 21-24.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY.

1. Policy, v. 25-27.
- What two cities did Jeroboam build?
- What had before destroyed Shechem? Judg. 9. 45.
- What did Jeroboam say in his heart?
- For what reason did he fear this?
- What command had God given about a place of sacrifice?
- Dent. 12. 5. 7.
2. Deceit, v. 28.
- What objects of worship did Jeroboam make?
- What did he say was too much for the people to do?
- What about the images he had made?
- Who before him had made objects of similar worship? Exod. 32. 4, 8.
3. Idolatry, v. 29-33.
- Where were the golden calves set up?
- Into what sin were the people led?
- What commandment did they violate? Golden Text.
- Whom did Jeroboam make priests?
- For what month and day did he order a feast?
- Where was this feast observed?
- Of what feast in Jerusalem was this an imitation? See Lev. 23. 33, 34.
- Where did he place his priests?

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

1. The duty of religious service?
2. That idolatry is a sin?
3. That one sin leads to another?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

1. Find in the Bible allusions to the worship of God under the similitude of a young bull.
2. Note in Jeroboam's conduct how one sin leads to another.
3. Find accounts of the earlier institution of worship in Dan and in Bethel.
4. Read the account of the curse pronounced on the altar at Bethel.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]
What did Jeroboam fear if the people continued to go up to sacrifice at Jerusalem? They would return to Rehoboam.

2. What did Jeroboam do to prevent this? Made two golden calves to worship.

3. When he had done this, what did he say to the people? "Behold thy gods, O Israel."

4. Where did he set these golden calves? One in Bethel and one Dan.

5. What did the people do? They worshipped them.

EXPLANATIONS.

Built—Beautified and fortified. Dwelt therein—Made it one of the royal residences. Said in his heart—Deeply considered. Go up—Every year the people flocked to the feasts at Jerusalem. Jeroboam was afraid of the great political advantage this would give his rival. Kill me—Revolutions in the East are sudden and bloody. Their lord—Even yet thousands might regard the son of Solomon as their monarch. Two calves—young bulls—a familiar symbol of creative power. It occurred repeatedly in the architecture of Solomon's Temple. Too much—to go up—"You have gone up long enough." Behold thy gods—Rather, thy God. Helped by this symbol, worship the true God. Became a sin—It violated the second commandment at the outset; and, although it was not at first worship of false gods, it led straight to the grossest idolatry. House of high places—A temple. Of the lowest—rather, of all sorts. He did not limit himself to the tribe of Levi as God had directed. A feast—To imitate the feast of tabernacles.

Doctrinal Suggestion.—God a spirit.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

1. Where is God? God is everywhere.

5. What does God know? God is all-wise; he knoweth all things, even the thoughts of our hearts. 1. John 3. 20.

6. What can God do? God is almighty; he doeth whatever he will.

Mildness conquers—and hence the gentle influence of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup overcomes so quickly the disorders of babyhood.

A. Butler, P. C.

Eola, La.—Sister Nancy Williams departed this life Dec. 27. She was a member of the M. E. Church for many years. She was in class meeting Sunday night, and Friday she died. She was a faithful member. She leaves five children to mourn her loss.

Emanuel Waddy departed this life Dec. 29. Brother Waddy was a faithful member 23 years of age, and everybody that knew him, white and black, knew him to love him. He was buried in the M. E. graveyard at Eola. Over two hundred persons attended his funeral.

Bonchrest circuit, La.—At sunrise Saturday morning, Dec. 20, 1890, Sister Eliza Johnson, a member of the Bonchrest M. E. Church, fell asleep in Jesus. She had been sick about three years. She told the writer that she was waiting on the Lord. She went home in triumph. Age, about 42 years. She leaves a mother, five brothers and five children to mourn.

Brother Dohn Acklin fell asleep in Jesus, August, 1890. He joined the church before the war, preached the gospel, and was the cause of many souls being saved. He died in full triumph of faith. He told his daughter and family to meet him in heaven, for he was going home. His funeral was preached December 21, by the pastor and two visiting brethren. Age, 75 years. He leaves a wife, daughter and many friends to mourn his loss. He was loved by everybody that knew him.

A. B. Venable, P. C.

Crystal Springs, Miss.—Brother Edward McCateny, a member of New Zion M. E. Church, departed this life Dec. 3. He died in the triumph of faith. He was ready and waiting on the Lord. He wanted the whole church to meet him in heaven. He was a member of our church about 25 years. Age, 75 or 80 years. He leaves children and grandchildren to mourn.

P. Canuon, P. C.

Sister Carrie Brown, a native of South Carolina, departed this life Dec. 7, in full triumph of faith. She was a member of Malden Chapel. She died as she lived. Age, 44 years. The church has lost a great worker. The church mourns with her bereaved husband, Brother Isaac Brown. The following ministers attended her funeral: Revs. Henry Taylor, H. Wilson and Frank Walker, P. C.

PERHAPS no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing and disgusting of the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

Oh, land of lands! to thee we give
Our love our trust our service free;
For thee thy sons shall nobly live,
And at thy need shall die for thee.

GUARD well thy thoughts. Our thoughts are heard in heaven.

FERVENT literally means "boiling hot." A fervent prayer is not a mere vocal utterance. It is a heart-cry.

A NOTE from Dr. J. W. Mendenhall of the Methodist Review says: "You are making an excellent paper. I read it every week."

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallalien, is worth the price of the book.

No one can read Christianity in Earnest, the bi-monthly published by the Board of Church Extension of the M. E. Church, without a thrill of religious enthusiasm for the great work that the Board has and is accomplishing for the spread of the kingdom of God among men.

We hope none of our readers will be led into buying one of the cheap editions of Webster's Dictionary. They are really "no account." They are simply an "out-lawed" edition of forty years ago, and made by the photo-engraving process. When you buy get a new one, and "get the best."

WE ARE ordering for our people brand new Singer Sewing Machines, direct from the factory every day, on the plan fully explained in another column. They are giving perfect satisfaction, and words of praise are being showered upon them everywhere. Send us $14, and we will send you the SOUTHWESTERN for a whole year, and one of these machines to your nearest freight office.

THE Methodists of Germany are almost unanimous in their opposition to the proposal to admit women to the General Conference. A correspondent of the Zion's Herald, writing from Berlin, says that when the vote was taken, in the first Methodist Church in that city, it was found to be forty-four against to one in favor of the women. Whereupon the pastor cried out: "Oh, children! I am ashamed." Many of them regard the woman movement as one led by atheists and anarchists.

Letters from the Districts.

Baton Rouge District.

J. W. HUDSON.

Hartzell Chapel is valued at $3,500. It is in good condition. Bro. T. G. Rogers has served this people acceptably. Rogers' success is due largely to his official membership in Rosedale.

The white people are friendly to our church here.

At Mnsion, we have a very good church and parsonage valued at $2,000, and at Lavonia we have a very good church and many good people. Bro. J. H. Rylander has put in two years of good work.

West Melville is supplied by W. E. Hill, with some degree of success. We have bought land in Central place, and hope to build soon.

Plaquemine is growing. It has a population of 3500. Hurst Chapel stands second to none of the churches in this town. Its youngest of them all, too, having such men as J. L. Jones, a very successful lawyer. Bros. Randall and Geo. Taylor to lead. Bro. Z. T. Gayden has served here three years, two of which he has been sick.

In East Baton Rouge Wesley Chapel, valued at $7,000. The structure is one of the prides of Methodism, and is centrally located. Rev. W. R. Butler succeeds by having the people follow him as he follows Christ. The church going people on watching the old year out and the new one in, proved that they intend to stand again in the great day of the Lord. The people will be very much disappointed if Bro. Butler is not returned. $140 for benevolent purposes are on hand.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

What Are the Black People Going to do About It?

FRANK J. WEBB, JR.

It does not require a Nestor to see that nearly one-fourth of the inhabitants of this great country will be entirely unrecognized by the management of the coming stupendous Columbian Exposition in 1892, unless those of sable hue assert the inalienable right we possess in this land of the blessed and home of the free—that of calling attention to our righteous claims.

Daily we can read of twelve ten, and five thousand dollar positions of trust and honor and responsibility being given to French, German, Irish, and Anglo-Americans, but I have yet to see where one Afro-American, out of the many thousands of competent ones has been offered a single position by the Hon. M. Davis and his Republican Board of Directors. Can it be possible that not one out of the many hundreds of business men, lawyers, editors, teachers and clerks, belonging to our race, are esteemed capable of properly performing the duties of a responsible position? Surely enlightened Illinois, the home of Grant, and Logan, does not still cling to prejudice.

In 1876 such an answer to our claims might have been justified, but in 1890 after fifteen years of constant improvement education, and advancement, such as no race in so short a period has ever experienced, it is preposterous to even hint at such a reply. Situated as the enterprise will be, far from the peculiar social environments of the Southern States—there need be no plea on that score; besides which this gigantic Exposition celebrates the discovering of a land devoted to equality and freedom. In the Senate of the U. S., there is not a black man employed in other than a menial capacity 'tis true, but that is no valid reason why such a policy should be pursued by the management of the Columbian Exposition; in fact they could rapidly demonstrate to the whole world the evils of social prejudices and class distinctions, which are so rapidly growing in this country, and patriotically affirm that they do not countenance nor are accessories to such refined barbarism. In 1876 perhaps Afro-Americans aspired no farther than they went, but in 1890 we claim the right to assist in governing as well as to be governed.

It is useless to urge that our interests at the Columbian Exposition will not suffer, if we black people of the South are not more alert in asserting those inalienable rights given us as American Citizens; and which those not worthy should not possess. That Exposition will be as much ours, as is our country. It will not be ours to crush, not ours to destroy, but rather ours to help build, ours to cherish, and ours to defend its failure, or glorify in its success.

Representing as we do nearly half the population of this fair and beautiful Southland, the principal element of its agricultural strength and growth—we should exert our selves to the utmost in presenting to the world the emblems of our progress, our prosperous condition, and the unexcelled resources of our common country. There will never come a similar opportunity to us; and consequently it behoves us to bestir ourselves now, and not delay for the future the necessities of the present. The Southern States Conventions can—even if they would do but little for us as a race; what is to be done can best be done by ourselves.

For us to lie snarply at our ease, allowing these brilliant opportunities to depart, unwelcome and unembraced, is the height of folly on our part—we must welcome and embrace them, rise to the sublimity of the occasion, or else forever take our position alongside the heathen Chinese as far as participation in the events which make history are concerned.

The magnitude of the benefits of such a course may at present be unnoticed; but after '92, if we are not up and doing now, our people will witness this grand chance in the glimmering distance gone down the ages unwelcomed and unimproved.

The present peculiar conditions of our social system renders it absolutely and imperatively necessary that our rights in this vast enterprise be well watched and guarded by those of our race; not because the whites cannot look after ours, but mainly by reason that in attending to their own, ours will be neglected. It has always been so; it is now so, and the future, in my humble opinion, holds forth no more flattering prospect.

Not for one instant do I impugn the motives or intentions of the Southern whites; we are their neighbors. They should be and generally are our best friends; but all thinking blacks can easily see how our exhibits at the Columbian Exposition will be ludicrously small and inaccurate unless the masses of our people become interested and arise to the importance of the occasion.

Allow me at this juncture to say that it is not the idea, or desire that our exhibits be regarded in the light of a side show alongside of the circus in an adjacent 60x100 frame shed; we claim the right to exhibit just as does the German, French, Irish, and Anglo-Americans—seeking no especial privileges and willingly granting none of our rights.

I hope my black fellow countrymen will read, ponder over, and act on these sentiments so feebly and inaccurately expressed.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

That "Model Steward."

REV. D. W. HAYS, D. D.

The letters from the laity, that appear each week in the SOUTHWESTERN, are usually well written and deserve more than passing notice. Seldom do we find in them statements of any kind challenging adverse criticism. H. R. Johnson, Bellwood, Tenn., contributes one, in a recent issue, which affords interesting reading. The church, concerning which he writes, exhibits a very encouraging state of affairs. It is especially fortunate in having a "model steward." No wonder it thrives. Would that all the churches, on the Chattanooga district at least, were favored in like manner! There is one feature, however, said to distinguish this particular model steward, which I regard as a blemish.

Brother Johnson, says: "He comes before the people with tears in his eyes." It appears to me that eyes so moistened might be a fit expression of sorrow, and, therefore, becoming in a street beggar or a mourner at a funeral, but when a collection is being taken in the church, the show of such lachrymation in the solicitor, is entirely out of place. The true model steward does not evince his earnestness by wearing a sad countenance. He does not come before the people whining, as though he were driven to the performance of a painful task. Always rejoicing in the faithful discharge of his duties, he finds no occasion for making his eyes a fountain of tears. His look is rather suggestive of a morning without clouds; clear and radiant. With eyes, brimful of joy, he surveys the audience and, immediately, a corresponding feeling is awakened, preparing the way for the successful presentation of his claim. His sunny presence is inspiring to both old and young. He is like a breeze in summer. I have sometimes observed stewards whose manner, when raising a collection, leaned towards dissipating levity; a practice I am far from commending. Frivolity on the one hand and a repulsive, lugubrious bearing on the other, are to be avoided as hindrances to the stewards' work. Be of good cheer, brother stewards! Present a manly front. Yours is a grand work. God bless you and keep you on toward the perfect model.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

The West Texas Conference Not Yet Occupied as It Should be.

A. M. MASON.

This is a very important matter to consider. We know that the West Texas Conference is very large; but when we look back at the record seventeen or eighteen years ago, we at once see that more could be done, if we had the men and the money. The following are the places on that district that have no church edifices of any kind:

Taylor; population, 2500. This fast growing town belongs to Georgetown; but what have we there? A church lot, only. After we leave the county seat (Georgetown) of Williamson, the old church is hard to be found in the county elsewhere. We leave here for Rockdale, William county, Cameron the county seat. Rockdale has a population of 2,000. This is a flourishing little town; but we have nothing here. We next go to Calvert, Robertson county. Population, 3,500; we have three churches here, while the Baptists have eight. Next place we come to is Bell, Belton the county seat. Population, 6,000. Here we have no church. After you leave Belton, Methodists are very scarce. At Lampasas we have a nice church. Lampasas is the headquarters, in this county, of Methodism. Now, when Presiding Elder Mack Henson leaves the city of Hills, going to the sandy city of Calvert, a distance of one hundred miles, he does not hold one quarterly meeting until he reaches Calvert. We have fourteen men on Austin district. But what about Cameron, the county seat of Milan? Nothing there. Cameron is a splendid town, too. Brownwood City, Coleman City, Rockdale, Taylor, Temple are good towns. There are others equally as good that need ministers.

This district needs more men and money. We spoke about fourteen men on the district. Some of the disadvantages that these men have here is that a pastor that has four preaching places. At White Pine is a membership of fifty or a hundred. Do they not need a pastor twice a month? This is one of the great hindrances of this place. One man has too much work, therefore the church and Sunday school must suffer. Too much work will kill any one. You know even in farming if a man takes too much land he cannot work it well; but if he takes just what he can work he will make more. So it is in God's vineyard. If we take just what we can do, and do it well, we can please the Master. These men are doing what they can, but they would accomplish more if they had just what they could do.

The Sunday schools and churches would be better in many places with our worthy presiding elder at the head of these ministers.

On the Waco District, Presiding Elder A. Foster says he needs twelve or fourteen more men. The ministers of the Waco District Conference show that the presiding elder worked up the district and doubled the appointments, which will give twenty-eight men for another year. We have noticed that the Missionary Society has appropriated to the West Texas Conference for 1891, $3,968. This amount will help this conference greatly, though the appropriation is not large as last year. Have you noticed that we are working right beside other denominations that get nothing but what the people give them, and some of them are doing more than we are? You have also noticed that some of the circuits have more members than some of our town charges. We know we have growing towns in this conference where we have absolutely nothing, and some of the ministers set up a cry that they "had not the men nor the money." It is about time to stop this crying. The best way to get money is to make it. Send those local preachers. They will go and do as much good as their other brethren have done. Our young men in the West Texas Conference are just as well prepared to take charge of a circuit as any others—we mean our local preachers. It's a settled fact that if we do not extend our lines somebody else will. Let everyone that is crying about money before we can do more in this conference, stop and think more. I remember some years ago when this conference received $5000 a year. That was when we could not help ourselves. Now we are converted. Let us go out and strengthen the West Texas Conference. We will take the Austin and Waco districts as eye-glasses to see the other districts that make up the West Texas Conference. Some of the brethren have an idea that a division of the West Texas Conference would be to its betterment; but I cannot see that clearly. Pour in more oil and turn the wick up. I think the best thing to do is to extend our line.

Intelligence and Power of Woman.

MISS A. L. THOMAS.

I am satisfied that education gives power to the mind, but the religion of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, gives wisdom to the heart and soul. Though woman may not be as fully educated as man, the education that God has given to her overrules that of man. "The hand that rocks the cradle moves the world," and that is woman. It is said that woman has no right in the work of the Master equal to man, but I am prepared to say with my weak mind and judgment that woman stands side by side because God gave his only begotten son for the salvation of woman as well as man. Read the Chap. iv. of Galatians from the third to the seventh verses, "But when the fullness of time had come, God sent forth his son, made of woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons." Then again turn to Chapt. 1 of Gen., 27, 28, 29, and 30, verses. After the ruin of man and women by the fall, God chose an angel and a woman as his apostles to bring man back from his fallen condition, thus it was that woman was first in the completion of man's salvation. When the Blessed Saviour was to be born God prepared a place in the manger, and through that birth all mankind can be saved. We feel that there is a great power in woman; for God giveth not his spirit by measure, but he pours out his spirit upon all flesh. Woman was last at the Cross and first at the Sepulcher. My brethren, the power of woman is great. Read the 7th Chapt. of St. Luke, how she washed His feet with her tears and wiped them with the hair of her head and anointed Him with precious ointment for his burial. If this world is saved it will be through the executive power of christian women side by side with man. There was a time when woman was veiled, but Christ has seen fit to unveil her, and she did not have the same privilege but all is now opened for her as well as man. The power and wisdom of woman in a few more years shall cry aloud. What would you do without women? Ten centuries ago when our ancestors laid the foundation of state and church, woman was allowed to discuss and preach the gospel and supervise the affairs of the church. What is the matter with woman at this day and time? They are wiser more highly educated. I am an old woman, fifty-eight years of age and will soon be in glory. I never went to school a day in my life, but I have been in the school house of Jesus for thirty eight years, and I thank God that I can read the Bible, the book of books. May God bless you and help you to realize the power of woman through her weakness.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming and wonderful is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallalien, is worth the price of the book.

OUR purpose is to send the paper to every pastor in the conferences of which we are the official organ. So if you fail to get the paper, please send us correct post-office address and we will send you the paper. You must always state at what post office you received it before.

Letters from the Districts.

Institute of Paris District.

W. L. DUNCAN, SEC'Y.

The Texas Annual Conference was held at Mt. Zion M. E. Church, Paris, Tex., Nov. 10, 1890.

The following places were represented: Paris, Mt. Zion M. E. Church; Blossom and Detroit, Bonham, Paris Mission, Cooper Circuit, Clarksville, Clarksville Circuit, Freehope and DeKalb, Gibson, Greensville, Sulphur Springs, Honey Grove, Red River Mission, Texarkana and Wolf City. The Sunday School Institute met with Rev. P. Morgau, P. E., in the chair.

A. L. Patterson was elected secretary; J. C. Smelser assistant.

The roll was called and the following names were responded to: Revs. P. Morgan, W. Hamilton, W. B. Perry, Prof. R. L. Hoffman, T. Moore, Prof. A. F. A. Polk, Revs. S. H. Grant, P. H. Haley, Profs. R. S. Halbert, and R. S. Thweatt, Mrs. M. J. Latimer, L. Moore, Misses Lilly Terry, M. A. Murry and Enola L. Brooks.

Mrs. L. Moore performed at the organ.

The following papers were read: Mrs. L. Moore, General benefit of the Sunday school to both children and adults.

Prof. A. F. A. Polk, What relation does the Sunday school sustain to the Church.

Miss M. A. Murry, The best way to teach an infant class.

A few minutes were given to discuss the papers. Many good things were brought out.

Rev. E. E. Makiel, of the A. M. E. Church, was introduced.

A paper by A. L. Patterson, What characters must teachers and officers have to fulfill such positions?

Prof. R. S. Thweatt, Education. Prof. R. S. Halbert, What qualifications do men and women need to make good workers in the Sunday school?

Hon. H. C. Griffith, one of our prominent young lawyers, was introduced.

The model Sunday school was opened by Mrs. A. F. A. Polk.

We had crowded houses each day. Some of our best men and women were in the Institute.

The Paris District is second to none. After a full explanation and many good things said to us by Dr. I. B. Scott and Rev. W. H. Logan, Presiding Elder of the Marshall and Navasota districts, the Institute closed to give place to the district conference.

Bristol District Conference.

R. T. SMITH.

Conference met in the M. E. Church, Esilville, W. Va., Dec. 11, 1890, Rev. C. Boyd, Presiding Elder, in the chair.

E. A. Marshall came to us from the C. M. E. Church and E. C. Goodman came to us from the A. M. E. Church.

O. Hypsher was elected secretary; P. P. Brooks, assistant.

The reports of the Elder and the traveling preachers showed that the district was moving on grandly.

E. A. Marshall was recommended and was licensed to preach.

The Home Mission work was taken up and the following appointments made:

Kingsport, Tenn.—E. C. Goodman.

Jonesboro, Tenn.—T. W. Jackson.

Yokam, Va.—E. A. Marshall.

Montgomery Switch, Va.—J. H. Butler.

Sunday, at 11 a. m., the Presiding Elder preached a sermon from the 37th chap., 6th v., of Exodus. His sermon will be long remembered.

At 3 p. m., the Rev. O. Hypsher preached a sermon from the 3d chapter of St. Matthew, 15th verse, on Baptism. The people will never forget his sermon.

At 7:30 o'clock the Rev. T. W. Jackson preached. Ten joined the church. The collection was good. This is a good place for our grand old church. We long to see the day when we shall take this world for Christ.

Notice.

The Greenville District, Upper Mississippi Conference, will convene at Jonestown, Saturday, Jan. 31, at 10 a. m. Brethren coming from north and south on the main line will change cars at Lula Junction for Jonestown.

Program: Introductory sermon, Revs. E. Troupe and G. H. Harvey.

Subjects for discussion: "Our Great Commission," "The Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational Society," "The M. E. Church and her relation to other branches," "What is the best method to establish a high school at Greenville?"

Committee: N. H. Williams, E. Troupe, M. Adams.

ELECTRIC BELT FREE.

To introduce it and obtain agents the undersigned firm will give away a few of their $5.00 German Electric Belts, invented by Prof. Van der Veyde, Pres. of the New York Electrical Society (U. S. Pat. 257,647) a positive cure for Nervous Debility, Rheumatism, Loss of Power, &c. Address Electric Agency, P. O. Box 178, Brooklyn, N. Y. Write to them to-day.

THE "House of Boudage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop McAllister, is worth the price of the book.

Letters from the Pastors.

SPECIAL TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Please take notice, 1st. That all anonymous letters go directly to our waste basket; 2d. Letters must be written on only one side of the paper; 3d. No frivolous questions will be noticed; 4th. Abbreviations should not be used; 5th. Notes and items must be condensed so as to insure brevity; 6th. We return no manuscript.

C. A. Jordan, Hollywood, Miss.

My fourth quarterly conference convened Nov. 6. Rev. C. P. Head in the chair. Added to the church, 1; raised for all purposes, $10 90. The elder preached one of his soul-stirring sermons. We are determined to do all we can.

Andrew Owen, Columbus, Miss.

Notwithstanding past obstacles, the church is very flattering for the future. Our property is now worth more than ever. Only a few members are left here. Fourteen are all I found in this great city. This charge will not always be in the rear—some day it must come to the front.

E. W. Johnson, Fordyce, Ark.

I have been in Mississippi since the last of August. When I arrived here Rev. G. W. Lacey, presiding elder, sent me to Fordyce. There is not much here; but we are trying to build up the M. E. Church. We hope to do a good work here, as this city is young, and is growing rapidly.

Elder G. W. Lacey, is doing a good work on the Pine Bluff district. We need good preachers and money to do what can be done in Arkansas.

G. A. Paynes, Lake Providence, La.

Our fourth quarterly conference was held Dec. 20, 21. Presiding Elder S. Priestley was on time as usual. Everything was in good shape. The elder preached two good sermons. Collection, $22. Christmas Eve night we had our Christmas tree laden with many valuable presents. At nine o'clock Miss I. C. Burton took her seat at the organ, and rendered sweet music. Santa Claus did not forget the children or pastor. He gave the pastor a china set, a china shaving mug and a shaving brush, a pair of cuff buttons, a collar button, handkerchiefs, socks and other little necessities, of which he has my heartfelt thanks. On the Baptist Christmas tree was a purse with the goodly inside for the pastor at the M. E. Church.

W. E. Ellison, Farmington, Tenn.

Our quarterly conference convened in Farmington M. E. Church Dec. 13; Presiding Elder J. P. Price presiding. Mary Carlee was elected secretary. Reports showed the circuit in good condition. Rev. J. D. Davison was introduced to the conference and preached Saturday evening. He was followed by Elder Price. Rev. C. E. Alexander of Lewisburg charge, preached Sunday, Dec. 14, at 11 o'clock; at 7:30 p. m. Zach Bowen preached.

Our Sunday school superintendent is doing good work. This place has been neglected for several years; and some of the preachers had thrown it away. When I came here there were no seats in our church; but, thanks to the Lord, we have our church seated neatly, and two other churches that will soon be completed. The elder administered the Sacrament to fifty communicants. * Paid elder, $10; pastor, $13 10; missionary, $3 50; education, 50c; one subscriber to the SOUTHWESTERN. Brethren, let us lead the way for the SOUTHWESTERN this conference year.

B. M. Taylor, Sweet Springs, Miss.

Our third quarterly conference was held Nov. 29, 30. Reports showed that every department of the church is being looked after. Rev. W. G. Colby, presiding elder has the respect of the entire community.

On Sunday we had with us Revs. J. Knapper, of Georgetown; J. W. Jackson, of Sedalia; J. W. Rhodes, of Odessa. The officers of the Sunday school were encouraged by a lecture delivered to the little folks by Rev. J. W. Jackson. Rev. J. T. Knappen preached to a large audience. In the afternoon the church was dedicated free from debt by Rev. W. G. Colby, assisted by all the ministers present. Rev. J. W. Jackson preached the dedication sermon. Over seventy persons communed. At night Rev. W. G. Colby preached. The people have fallen in love with Rev. Jackson, and have invited him to visit Sweet Springs again.

He accepted the invitation. On Dec. 17, he gave us a lecture on "Our Composite Nationality." All who heard the lecture were pleased with it; and many pronounced it the best they had ever heard on the subject. He has made many friends here, and can always find a home in Sweet Springs. We expected the editor of the SOUTHWESTERN to be present at the dedication, but, since he did not come, we hope to meet him at the annual conference. No doubt but the editor would fall in love with Missouri, should he visit the Central Missouri Conference.

A. W. Randolph, Tennessee.

Our first quarterly conference was held Dec. 13, 14. Rev. D. W. Hays was on hand. He preached with much power. He is much beloved by our people. Paid elder, $8 75; pastor, $51 75; accessions to the church, 4. We are still moving along.

A. L. Nelson, Hartsville, Tenn.

The Lord blessed us last year with a glorious revival all over the work; and my on return this year I was gladly received me. This work in the midst of so many strong enemies is making memorable headway. The good sisters of the church at Hartsville and Oldham chapels are taking steps to build a new church. Sisters Nellie R. Bumley, Annie Carr, Emily Hall, Manda Coily, and Rachael Ward are some of our strongest workers.

S. S. Wright, Natchitoches, La.

Our fourth quarter was held by our presiding elder. He is the right man in the right place. All who know him, and love the cause of Jesus, love him. All the leaders made good reports, and the trustees, also. Our Sunday school is in a good condition. The SOUTHWESTERN has not been forgotten. Benevolent money raised, $46 50; paid pastor, $168 65; elder, $12 85.

F. J. Yeargin, Friendship, Tenn.

Our first quarterly conference was held at Friendship, by Elder B. F. Anderson, Nov. 12. The elder left something on the people's mind that will long be remembered. This work has a small membership. We want to build a new church this conference year, by the help of the Lord and the people. Paid elder and pastor, $12 25. I want to raise all my benevolence money. The SOUTHWESTERN has not been forgotten. I am doing all I can to get subscribers.

L. W. Goodson, Brownsville, Ala.

I found fifty-six names on the church record—children and all. Now there are eighty-two; so you can see how the church has grown. Presiding Elder I. Townsend has held all of his quarterly conferences this year. We have made some improvements on the church; and I think I will be able to carry all my benevolent moneys to conference. I cannot say much about my mission work at Avondale.

Our fourth quarter was one of the best held. The elder preached. I am winding up my year's work very successfully.

W. H. Perkins, Radford, Va.

We are getting along nicely in the new church at Radford. I think I will be able to preach in it soon. It has cost us $750, and not half finished yet. My first quarter was held Dec. 6. We had a good time. Rev. Geo. T. Wright was present and preached.

We have lost three old members since conference. One of them was over a hundred years old. They all died in Christ, and have gone home to rest.

S. H. Viel, Blount Springs, Miss.

My fourth quarterly conference was held at Marion, Dec. 20, 21. Presiding Elder I. Townsend in the chair. He preached a stirring sermon. Paid elder, $17 20; pastor, $44; for missions, $7. We have raised and paid out on our new churches this year $931 85; also built a parsonage at a cost of $225. There are six of our church papers taken on our circuit.

L. Tate, Lake Coma circuit, Miss.

My fourth quarter conference was held by Rev. N. Toole, of Heidelberg. Paid elder, $7 50.

P. G. Gaines, Anniston, Ala.

Brethren of the Central Alabama Conference, please bring one dollar each to the conference to be held at Marion, Ala., Jan. 29, to help the church at Anniston.

Brethren, please bring that money.

Wm. Perry, New Bern, Ala.

Our fourth quarterly conference was held Nov. 29, with Rev. H. N. Brown in the chair. It was a successful quarter. Nearly all the brethren were present with written reports. The pastors' report showed that the work was advancing. Paid elder, $52 75; the pastor this quarter, $74 10; bishop, $2; conference claimants, $1; to various benevolent causes, $28 15.

Rev. A. Jackson, Dallas, Texas, was agreeably surprised by quite a company of his people, on the night of Dec. 17, with many nice presents. The party was led by Bro. L. Kimble, Misses Virginia Dickerson and Julia Claypool.

Rev. H. Adams, Talladega, Ala., is closing a very successful year at that place. Two years ago, when Bro. Adams was appointed to Talladega, our church was scarcely known in the place. Now we own one of the nicest frame buildings in town, ceiled and plastered. They are poor, however, and greatly in need of help. Help them, brethren.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

WE ARE ordering for our people brand new Singer Sewing Machines, direct from the factory every day, on the plan fully explained in another column. They are giving perfect satisfaction, and words of praise are being showered upon them everywhere. Send us $14, and we will send you the SOUTHWESTERN for a whole year, and one of these machines to your nearest right office.

Letters from the Laity.

Isabelle Hannah, of Conover, N. C., is delighted with Rev. G. W. Rackliffe and wife at Hickory, N. C. She speaks especially high of the work of Sister Rackliffe in the Sunday school.

Mother Collins, Starke, Fla., speaks in high terms of her pastor, Rev. J. Kellar, and of the recent visit of Presiding Elder R. H. Debose. She is a warm friend of the SOUTHWESTERN.

Miss Mary A. Ragsdale, Jacksonville, Texas, deplors the lack or decrease in religious interests in her section of the country. She finds that church services, Sunday school, and even funeral services do not have the solemnizing effect on the young people that they used to. The people do not talk about religion when they meet on the streets, and in their homes from house to house, as they used to do. God, give us a revival of religious interest and devotion.

Rome, Ga.

The past three months have recorded quite important advances in the history of our church at this place, under the pastorate of Rev. S. C. Upshaw. There have been a great amount of time, labor and money expended on the church property. The church lot, which was several feet below the roadway, has been elevated, by filling in, to the level of the street. Its monetary value has been enhanced by several thousand dollars. There has been purchased a large organ worth $400, of superior value, excellent tone, and possessing many attractive qualities. Its power and sweetness were tested recently. Last week a grand musical concert was given by the choir in which a very beautiful program was rendered by the following:

Misses Fannie L. Taylor, Enla Ray, Minnie Hodges, Mattie McArver, Annie Upshaw, Chlorella L. White, Hattie E. Franklin, A. S. Cane, and Lillie Daniels; Messrs. Franklin, Camp, Leake, McCombs, and J. Kane.

A refined and appreciative audience manifested its enjoyment of the music by hearty applause and several encores.

Thanksgiving day was highly observed here. Dr. W. P. Thirkield, president of Gammon Theological Seminary, was present all day. He preached the annual thanksgiving sermon at 11 o'clock having as his theme "Twenty five Years ago and To-day." He pointed out the educational, financial and moral advancements made by the Negro in that short time, and showed the record unequalled in the world's history. He said that should it be a cause of enjoyment and thanksgiving, because twenty five years ago there was degradation, ignorance and church differences; while to-day there is education, refinement and culture. At night he addressed a large audience on the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society. The collection amounted to fifty dollars and was devoted to missionary purposes. The most important part of the day was the dinner; it was all that could be desired. The pastor spared no pains in making it a feast for all. The invited guests were Dr. Thirkield, the officials of the church, the local preachers, class leaders, exhorters, superintendent and teachers of the Sunday school, and several other friends of the church. Every one satiated himself.

AN OBSERVER.

General Church News.

The pope has finished the draft of his encyclical upon the social question. He expresses himself in favor of intervention by the state in behalf of the poor within certain limits. He condemns capitalism as now organized, and advocates a more equitable and just distribution of riches.

The receipts of the American Board for November were $24,179, against $29,800 for the same month last year.

The receipts of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church for this month ending the first of November, amount to $200,194, a gain of $66,785 over the receipts of the same period of the previous year.

Quarto Centennial Jubilee
OF THE Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society.

The year 1891 will close twenty-five years of successful work in the establishment and maintenance of institutions of Christian learning in the South by the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. This Society had its beginning in the wise counsels of a convention of Methodist ministers and laymen, who met, in response to a public call, in Trinity Church, Cincinnati, Ohio, August 7 and 8, 1866.

Convention for Organization.

There were present on the first day the following: Bishop D. W. Clark, D.D.; Adam Poe, D.D.; J. M. Reid, D.D.; R. S. Rust, D.D.; J. M. Walden, D.D.; Luke Hitchcock, D.D.; B. F. Cray, D.D.; Robert Allyn, D.D.; Rev. J. R. Stillwell, J. F. Larkin, Esq., and Hon. Grant Goodrich. On the second day, T. M. Eddy, D.D., was present. During the meeting letters were received from Bishop T. A. Morris, F. C. Holliday, D.D.; General Clinton B. Fisk, and Walter S. Carter, Esq.

The twelve who participated in that convention were men of conviction, experience, and courage. Clark, Poe, Eddy, and Goodrich—four magnificent men—have passed into the heavens; and are watching with joy the onward movement of the great work they helped to inaugurate. Dr. Walden (now bishop) and Dr. Rust were doing excellent service in official relations to undenominational societies, and have been important factors in the development of the work to the present time. Rev. J. R. Stillwell was also engaged in undenominational work, and for some time was collecting agent for the Society. Hitchcock, Reid, and Larkin were for several years members of the Executive Committee, and rendered most valuable service. Neither the pen nor the voice of Cray the editor, or Allyn the educator, have been to this day wanting in behalf of the cause.

Providential Direction.

Two considerations, either one of which was sufficient to justify the conclusion reached, decided the course pursued by the convention. It was manifest that the undenominational movement for the relief and education of the freedmen had practically accomplished its mission. Already the Congregational, both the United and Old School Presbyterian, the United Brethren, the Baptist, and the Protestant Episcopal Churches, and the Friends, had organized within themselves, or made other special arrangements for work among the freedmen. The New School Presbyterian and our own Church stood alone in undenominational work.

More important still, our own Church at that time was carrying forward a great movement of reorganization and enlargement in the South. The Missionary Society was aiding in pastoral support, the Church Extension Society was aiding in the erection of houses of worship; but there was no organization through which the Church could adequately meet her responsibility in the vast educational problems confronting the Nation in the Southern States at the close of the war, or provide intelligent Christian leadership for the hundreds of thousands who were flocking to her communion.

Constitutional Provisions and Changes. At first the work of the Society, as expressed in its Constitution, was "to labor for the relief and education of the South, in co-operation with the Missionary and Church Extension Societies;" but, as our dedominational work continued to develop among both white and colored people in the Southern States, it became manifest that the general Church should foster the educational work among the poorer white people also, instead of leaving it to struggle on with meager local support. To provide for this exigency by the enlargement of the work, the Constitution was amended in 1870 so as to read "for the relief and education of freedmen and others."

In 1868 the Society was heartily indorsed by the General Conference, and in 1872, two years after the change of the Constitution so as to include work among both races, it was given a place among the connectional agencies of the Church.

Twenty-five Years of Victory.

About three million dollars have been received and expended in the work of Christian education in the South. About five-sixths, or $2,500,000, have been expended among the colored people. The largest proportion of the expenditures among white people have been made since 1880.

The present school property, in lands, buildings, furniture, and libraries, the title to most of which is in the Society, is estimated to be worth $1,500,000. In addition, endowments have been secured for different schools, amounting to over $300,000.

The first financial transaction of the Society, in beginning its work in the fall of 1866, was to authorize the treasurer to borrow $1,500, to send twenty-five teachers into the field. To Dr. Rust, as field secretary, was committed the work of locating the schools and employing the teachers; and, at a meeting held in November, he reported the twenty-five teachers at work in primary schools in thirteen different places in the South. God honored the faith reposed in the Church, and the first year's work ended without debt.

From that beginning the work has grown, until the Society has under its direction forty institutions of collegiate or academic grade, with 315 teachers and 8,336 students. These institutions educate, in their professional and special schools, ministers, teachers, physicians, lawyers, dentists, and pharmacists, and teach more than a score of different trades in industrial schools. The great body of the students are in the English and College Preparatory course of study.

From the comparatively small income of the first years the receipts have steadily grown, until, for the year ending June 30, 1890, the income from all sources was $264,684.00.

Jubilee Celebration.

In view of the providential beginning and development of this work, and of the great and growing responsibilities which confront the Society in its prosecution in so large a section of our country, it is proposed to celebrate the quarter-centennial of its organization during 1891.

Action of Board of Directors and Executive Committee. The Board of Directors of the Society have taken the following action:

"Whereas, 1891 will mark the completion of a period of twenty-five years since the organization of this Society; and

"Whereas, The great success which has attended its work since its organization has been such as to call for devout thanksgiving to God from the whole Church; and

"Whereas, special addresses and services, calling attention to and emphasizing the inception, development, and widening work of this Society, would be of great value to the whole Church, by showing the blessed results accomplished with the money already expended, in directing the thought of the ministry and members of the Church to the necessity of enlarged contributions by annual collections to the cause of Christian education in the South, and also in directing the minds of the individuals contemplating special gifts to the cause of God to the opportunity afforded in the South of aiding in the endowment of struggling institutions of learning; be it

"Resolved, That the year 1891 be observed by this Society as Quarter-Centennial Jubilee Year, and that our ministers and people throughout the Church be, and are hereby, strongly and affectionately invited to join in a suitable celebration of the gracious work accomplished through the instrumentality of this Society during the first twenty-five years of its history."

The Executive Committee has placed the responsibility of planning the celebration upon the corresponding secretaries.

Plan of Celebration.

The plan is very simple. It is to ask every pastor in the Methodist Episcopal Church, in taking his collection for this cause in 1891, to give it a full day. In the morning let there be a sermon or an address setting forth the providential development of this work, and a presentation of the work yet to be done by the Methodist Episcopal Church in helping to give Christian leadership to the illiterate and poor millions of white and colored people in the South.

At night let there be a service by the young people, and a thank-offering from them. The Society appeals to the young people of the Church for $25,000 as a thank-offering to God, that the benefits of Christian Education have been extended to multitudes of the young people of our Nation during the last quarter of a century.

Special Jubilee services for both morning and evening have been prepared, and will be furnished without expense to all pastors or representatives of young people's organizations asking for them.

It is hoped that presiding elders will see that some one is appointed to discuss the duty of the Church to this cause at the first district meeting of the year.

The second Sunday in May, 1891, has been fixed upon by the Society as our Quarter-Centennial Jubilee day, and the hope that all our Churches will observe the day indicated.

If any of our pastors finds it impracticable to observe our Jubilee day the second Sunday in May, we earnestly hope that some other time will be fixed, and our Jubilee program followed morning and evening; so that some time during 1891 every Church in the connection will join in the Jubilee celebration.

Series of Conventions.

To aid the pastors in creating public sentiment for the cause, a series of conventions, holding over Sunday, will be held in the principal cities. The pastors in these cities and adjacent country will be asked to observe the Sabbath upon which the convention is held as Quarter-Centennial Jubilee-day, instead of the second Sunday of May.

We will correspond with every presiding elder and pastor in the Church, give more specific information concerning the Jubilee.

And now praising God for the work already accomplished in the permanent founding of centers of Christian education amongst the poor and needy of our land during the past twenty-five years, and feeling the enormous responsibility of the work yet to be done, we plead for the co-operation of ministers and laymen throughout our Zion. May our Jubilee Year be the occasion of increased intelligence among the people concerning our work, and enlarged contributions with which to carry it forward!

J. C. Martzell, Corresponding Secretary; Geo. W. Gray, Ass't Corresponding Secretary; J. S. Chadwick, Ass't Corresponding Secretary.

Cincinnati, O., January 1, 1891.

We have received a copy of the catalogue of the Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., containing descriptions and prices of church, school and fire alarm bells, and over twenty-two hundred testimonials from purchasers in the United States and Canada. These testimonials are from every state and territory, and a large proportion of them from ministers, and speak in the highest terms of the bells. The prices are comparatively low, and in reach of even feeble communities. Churches needing bells (and none should be without) will do well to write for the catalogue, which is offered free to all who may apply.

General News Items.

Indianapolis has been flooded with $2 counterfeit silver certificates of the issue of 1888. Treasury Agent Carter has notified the public to refuse all $2 bills of the series mentioned.

President Harrison has nominated Judge Henry B. Brown, of Detroit, to succeed the late Justice Miller in the United States Supreme Court. The nomination has been confirmed.

President Harrison has issued his proclamation announcing that the Columbian exposition will open May 1, 1893, and continue six months, and inviting "all the nations of the earth" to appoint representatives and send exhibits.

The air-ship company has purchased 1,000 acres of land near Yankton, N. D., it containing large deposits of aluminum, which they need in the manufacture of their ships.

The census office has published during the week a bulletin containing a summary of the results of a special inquiry concerning the Jews in this country, for the purpose of determining the extent of certain known or alleged characteristics of this people in the United States, accompanying the result with similar statistics prepared abroad. It is found that the number of marriages per 1,000 of the Hebrews here is only one-third as great as in the total population of the country, and the average age at marriage is greater than among the Christian inhabitants. The birth rate is decreasing and the death rate increasing with more prolonged residence in this country; but the general results indicate that the Jews here retain many of the peculiarities which have been noted among them in Europe.

The death of Dr. Henry Schliemann, the archaeologist, is announced at Berlin.

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile on in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1.50, cash; otherwise, $2.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I wish to find my aunt. Her name is Emily Ewing. Her husband's name is Joshua Ewing. Her sister was named Martha. My mother's name was Marguerite. My name is Phelix; I don't know my sir-name; but I go by the name of Phelix Walker. My aunt Martha's son was Tom. He lives on Chas. Coke's plantation, where my aunt left me and went to Oak Ridge, La., on Jas. Spencer's plantation. Send information in care of Robt. F. Long, or Mrs. M. T. Layton, Monroe, La.

Mr. Editor: I want to enquire for my fellow servants Emily Rhoda, and Martha. I left them near Greenville, Ala., several years before the war. Martha belonged to Milton Palmer, who lived in Greonville. Emily's husband was Jack Henderson; Rhoda's husband belonged to Mr. Harrison; and Martha was a young girl. Emily, Rhoda, and I belonged to Jack Wright. I was parted from them before the war, and brought to Scott county, where I am now living—six or seven miles southwest of Forest Station, Miss. I am now blind; but my children read the SOUTHWESTERN to me. If anyone who reads this letter know of the whereabouts of any of the above named persons, please address me at Forest, Miss.

JACK WRIGHT.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my father. His name was Ben Smiley. He used to belonged to a man named Smiley, who lived about five miles northwest of Terry and near Spring Ridge, Hinds Co., Miss. My mother's name was Lucinda King. She died when I was a child. I have two sisters and two brothers—Arab, Hada, Henry and Jack Moore. We all used to belong to a man named Perry King who lived two miles north of Terry. The last I saw of him and his brother John and his wife's brother they went out at the back door on their way to the Yankees during the war. I am now married. I have three children dead and two living. Any information concerning him will be gratefully received. Address me at Honey Grove, Texas.

VIOLETTE BROWN.

Mr. Editor: I want to find sisters, brothers, and father. We were born at Lou county, Miss. Father's name was Jackson Fletcher. Sister's names were Elvira, Frances, and Elizabeth. Brother's name was Perry Fletcher. They all belonged to Asa Fletcher. I belonged to Jeremiah Fields. I am now living at Westville, Miss. My name is now Mariah Burton.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my brother and two sisters. I was parted from them during slavery. My sister Melvina was about six years old when sold by Jack Thornton to Guy Harrison. Her mother was named Agness; brother's Horace, Paul and Henry; father's was Fielding. Brother Paul and Sister Agness were taken away from Jackson to Howard county, near North Missouri River. Mother and children belonged to Ervin McClelland, and their father to Capt. Hallway, of Jackson Co. If found, please address Horace Miller, 237 Patten Alley, Springfield, Mo.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for consumption. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. Address. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St. N. Y.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Malan, is worth the price of the book.

REV. W. J. Holland, Wolf City, Texas, believes in solid work. He says: "Talk will do pretty well as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough to keep the lights of our grand old church burning. So quit blowing, brethren. God bless our editor; may God crown him with success. Brethren, we live in an age of electricity, and it becomes us to keep step with the music of progress. Considering this, don't forget to bring up the money for the SOUTHWESTERN."

GREAT preparations are being made for the first triennial meeting of Women's Council of the United States, to be convened in Albany's Opera House, Washington, D. C., Feb. 21, 22. Mrs. May Wright Sewall, Indianapolis, Ind., corresponding secretary, is working up the meeting, and the most distinguished women of the nation. Each national society in the Republic is invited to elect one member to serve on the executive committee of the council, and to represent the society on the program. Mrs. Mary T. Lathrop has been chosen to represent the national W. O. T. U. Besides this, all national societies of women are invited to send fraternal delegates—one or two each—who will be warmly welcomed.

Echoes From Emancipation Day, Jan. 1.

At Pleasant Hill, La., Emancipation Day was one of the grandest with our people. The church was nicely decorated, and everything went along nicely. The Farmers' Alliance joined in with a Thanksgiving dinner. At night we had a grand time at Prairie Bayou, singing and speaking and ringing our new church bell, given to the church by Bro. Dock Bloodsey, one of our exhorters. The pastor gave a talk on the good old SOUTHWESTERN, and got two cash subscribers, and two ladies each sending fourteen dollars for sewing machines.—F. M. Lashington.

The emancipation proclamation was commemorated with a grand success at Silver Branch. The following speakers were present:

Prof. T. H. Brown, Mrs. Narcissa, first assistant in the Falsom High School; Miss Dollie Newsome, Revs. J. E. Wetherby, Green Bryant, and others.

East Baton Rouge celebrated in grand style. Preaching, singing, and speaking were the order of the day. Rev. P. W. Clarke and Rev. W. R. Butler preached in the afternoon. In the evening, J. W. Hudson, presiding elder, was chosen president, and F. A. Rylander, secretary. Hon. J. J. Williams, John Reed, and Dr. T. A. Walker made addresses, urging race confidence and unity.

Rev. A. J. McNair, of Shubuta, Miss., writes: "Emancipation Day was observed in Mt. Zion M. E. Church. Songs of praises were sung. The speakers were W. Hyde, T. Brooks, Bro. Gillespie, T. Eskridge, A. Allen, and Revs. M. Due, Jenkins and O. Hawkins, of the Baptist Church. Also Revs. M. Martin, pastor of Decatur circuit, A. Howze, V. Trotter, and W. H. H. Smith, made grand speeches. A. J. McNair closed the services with an eloquent address touching the observance of the 1st day of January as general emancipation day. The order of H. H. turned out in a fine procession with their brass band of sweet music."

Nolensville, Tenn., celebrated the day for the first time. The hearts of the mothers and fathers were made glad, and the young people got new aspirations. It will long be remembered. Rev. T. C. Harden and others made addresses.

F. C. Robinson, Pickens, Miss., says:

We celebrated Emancipation in an appropriate style. We had a good time. The most solemn part of the services was to hear the old people express their sentiments in regard to slavery. We had several addresses delivered. Our pastor, Rev. S. R. Gibson, delivered an address which touched principally on morals, and it would have been good for the whole Negro race to have heard it. I hope that the pen, press and the lips of all Christendom will unite in raising the standard of our people morally and intellectually.

In Okolona, Miss., the exercises were held in the M. E. Church. Judge C. Brown was the orator of the day. He pointedly reviewed the various stages and plans of the black American, citing instances from the Caucasians and Indians in throwing off the yoke of slavery. Hon. M. M. Carter responded to unanimous call in a powerful and magic speech. Rev. L. W. Washington addressed the audience in an interesting speech. The near approach of his leave for Oklahoma Territory, and the church losing its untiring pastor added new features to the occasion. Nice refreshments were served.

The celebration of the twenty-eighth anniversary of our emancipation took place at Durant, Miss. The program was so arranged as to consume the whole of the day in its execution. Mrs. E. S. Spriggs furnished us with music and songs suited to the occasion. Prayer was offered by the venerable Carter Sproull, senior deacon of the Baptist Church. The Emancipation Proclamation was read by Mrs. Spriggs. Prof. R. W. Jackson delivered the opening, which was followed by an address by Rev. S. P. Martin, pastor of the Baptist Church. In the afternoon Prof. R. A. Simmons, of Richland, delivered an address. He was followed by Rev. H. Hislop. The closing features of the program were the literary exercises by the young folks. The occasion was perfectly grand. The people generally gained strength and encouragement from the meeting.

Rev. E. E. H. Morant, Franklin, La., says: "Emancipation day has come and gone. It will long be remembered and never forgotten. We did not carry out the program as issued, owing to circumstances over which we had no control. We were compelled to render only a part of it. We did not parade, 1, because it rained in the morning, and the roads were very muddy and sloppy; 2, because our people raised a big wind among themselves, and created quite a storm in a tea-pot, and made it appear that if Abe Lincoln's statue was paraded in the street, the white folks would all turn to sparks and devour us in short order. The result was, not one of the societies that were invited put in their appearance, nor any of the speakers, except a good number of our own people. We had a good time both in the evening and at night. Speeches were delivered by Rev. Allen Hamilton, Hon. B. W. Smith, Revs. A. J. Hal, Sam. Rogers, and E. E. H. Morant. The speakers acquitted themselves very well, and each received encore after encore. The good Lord was with us."

The Rev. Dr. McNeillough, of the Philadelphia Methodist, commenting upon our efforts to get the American people to appropriately celebrate Jan. 1, or National Emancipation Day, says: "Emancipation Day, Jan. 1, will be celebrated this year by our colored friends, both North and South, with greater eclat than ever before. The colored churches all over the land will be open, and with sermons, orations, music and thanksgiving they will commemorate the day of their deliverance from the most cruel bondage known to modern times. This is as it should be, and we trust that in the years to come Emancipation Day will continue to be observed by our African citizens with all the religious enthusiasm with which the Jews celebrated the Passover in the best days of their history."

Political Review.

Last week the Senate laid aside the Election bill and took up the finance bill. This was done by the aid of eight Western senators who favor free coinage of silver, combining with the Democrats. It was then feared that this action would kill the election bill, whereat there was great Democratic rejoicing. It is said, however, that the election bill will soon again be taken up and passed—the eight senators strongly favoring it, but they desire to secure votes for the silver bill by making sure of some doubtful Republican votes for the measure. It is promised that the bill shall pass.

Several State legislatures have organized this month. New Hampshire legislature elected a Republican governor, notwithstanding the peculiar make up of the body, and Democratic threats. The Republicans will also re-elect Senator Blair, much to the gratification of our people.

In several of the States combinations with Alliance members are being made in order for either party to elect candidates.

Personal.

—Rev. G. W. Lacy, of Pine Bluff, Ark., is in trouble on account of the illness of his wife, who has been sick over a month and a half. This hinders his work of the closing year.

—We were pleased to have Mrs. and Rev. C. H. Brown, Rev. J. H. Cook, J. I. Garrett, J. C. Beaman, J. D. Knox, J. C. Honston, and L. J. S. Bell, of Yazoo City and circuit, to call on us last week when they passed through on their way to the Mississippi Conference at Moss Point.

—Mrs. M. A. Walker, formerly of Shreveport, La., and now of Honey Grove, Texas, is reported to be very sick. Bro. Nathan L. Walker, her husband is also quite sick. He is suffering with his eyes.

—A. J. Pickett was elected president; V. Joichim, secretary; and Phillip Gray, vice-president, Lutheran Society No. 2, for the year '91.

—Rev. D. C. Wilson, pastor at Gretna, met with a serious loss by fire, last Saturday night. Their house was burned while the family were away at church. The clothes they had on only were saved. The fire was an incendiary one, as a lot of oil had been emptied in the premises. Several adjacent houses were burned.

—Homer Eaton, D.D., of New York, one of the agents of the Book Concern, is attending the conference. He spent some time with the Mississippi Conference, and will go to Texas and visit conferences there.

—Rev. Wm. Henry, who came to this city to help organize our work with Bishop Newman, is in the city renewing old acquaintances and visiting the scenes of his arduous labors. He was one of the men who started the SOUTHWESTERN. We cordially welcome him to our jubilee, and rejoice to see him looking so well. Did our space this week permit, we would give some of his many interesting reminiscences; but we hope to have him write them up for us to be used in a future issue.

—C. H. Anderson, M.D., and wife, from Alburgh, Vt., en route to Winsted, called on Monday. They are on a prospecting tour, and will settle in this State if they find a place to suit them. We hope the fertile soil of the La Teche will induce them to remain, for such people add materially to our general good and prosperity.

—Several of our pastors from the country made pleasant calls on Monday.

—Rev. R. L. Crawford, pastor of St. Charles Avenue Church, is somewhat indisposed, and was not able to preach Sunday night. La Grippe is interfering with the work of a number of our city pastors.

Church Polity.

Q. Is it right to receive a person to full membership in our Church who has been divorced for less than a New Testament reason?

A. It is not right to receive a person to membership in our Church who is by the pastor and leaders and stewards believed to be voluntary living in a state of sin by reason of an unchristian divorce, but no question relating to divorce can be answered without more facts than this question communicates.

Q. Are any but members in full connection eligible to appointment as class-leaders in the Methodist Episcopal Church?

A. They are not. Not being members of the church, they can hold no office therein; though probationers might be employed under the direction of a pastor to do special service in the way of instructing others.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

AN APPEAL.

To The People: The adoption by the Legislature of Louisiana, at its last session, of act No. 115, entitled "An act to provide for the comfort of passengers," &c., and better known as the separate car law, is a matter of public notoriety.

While the bill was pending before the General Assembly, the American Citizens' Equal Rights Associations earnestly protested and exerted its influence against its passage.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the reasons adduced then why this law should not have been enacted. All are familiar with them, and feel the degradation the law imposes on American citizenship.

The duty that remains to us to perform is to defeat or render nugatory the operations of this unjust and oppressive law.

To this end the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association will institute a suit to test the constitutionality of the infamous law and maintain the right of American citizens to travel on railroads and public conveyances.

For the successful prosecution of the suit money is needed.

Therefore, to secure the sinews of legal warfare, we appeal to the people generally for aid and assistance.

We appeal specially to ministers of the gospel. We request these emissaries of harmony and good-will among men to read this address from their pulpits and make its subject-matter a text for their sermons, in order to arouse the people to the sense of their patriotic duty in the premises.

We appeal to the presidents, officers and members of the associations, benevolent and charitable, educational, labor and others, in New Orleans and elsewhere, to introduce the matter into their assemblies and make it a subject of their deliberations, to the end that their organizations may, collectively, tender us their help.

We appeal to the leaders of men to propagate the idea among their followers, to enlist their interest and support in the cause.

Realizing the influence of the gentle sex and their zeal and earnestness in and devotion to the cause of right and justice, we appeal to the loyal women of the country to give us their invaluable aid. Let them talk the subject to the men in their social assemblies, church meetings, and other gatherings, and thus induce the latter to send their contributions singly; or, still better, organize circles to raise funds for the end proposed by entertainments, festivals, &c.

We appeal to those moulders of public opinion, the newspapers of the United States—the loyal press—to publish this appeal and make its object the subject of their approving comments and criticisms in order to create and maintain a public sentiment, from which the needed aid will readily flow. We request all newspapers in sympathy with the cause to act as agents of this Association to receive contributions from the good people of their localities, to be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

Finally as the favorable issue of the suit will redound to the everlasting benefit of all, we appeal to the lovers of fair play and justice throughout this broad land for their encouragement, material aid and assistance.

We will employ the very best legal talent that the country affords. We know that the amount required will be large, but it can be easily raised by dime and nickel contributions.

Let all send in their mite. As soon as the necessary amount will have been secured, we will inform the people and cease the collection.

Conscious of the justice of our cause, and supported by a loyal people, we will not desist from our course until this infamous law which is a continual menace to the peace of society, a standing insult to us, our wives, mothers and sisters, and which threatens to be a badge of inferiority to our posterity, is nullified, and we have created such a sentiment that will hereafter prevent any attempt to enforce a similar law or regulation anywhere in this free country of ours.

A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., President American Citizens' Equal Rights Association of Louisiana.

JOHN L. MINOR, Secretary.

N. B.—Send all contributions to J. T. Newman, M. D., Treasurer of the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association, corner Canal and Marais streets, New Orleans, La.

The names of all contributors will be published in the SOUTHWESTERN Christian Advocate, the Standard-Pelican and the Crusader, unless otherwise directed.

Books and Current Literature.

The modern magazine may be taken as embodying the best literature of the world, as the magazine editor pays the highest prices to novelists, scientists, statesmen, soldiers, and even kings and princes, for the best they can furnish in the literary line. The well edited magazine becomes an educating influence in the family circle, whose importance cannot be overestimated. The children, as they grow up, are attracted by its illustrations, and so come in time to have a taste for reading. There is always something that is new, something that is interesting; and we consider that we are doing our readers a positive benefit if we are instrumental in placing such a publication within their reach. The special arrangement which we have made with the Cosmopolitan presents very unusual inducements. That magazine is already recognized as one of the most interesting publications of the day. It is seeking subscribers everywhere and obtaining them. The proprietors believe that the Cosmopolitan has only to be examined to secure a permanent subscriber. That is why we are enabled to make, if the offer is accepted before January next, such a very low rate, by which our readers can obtain the Cosmopolitan for little more than the cost of the journal alone. Just think of what the combination means! You obtain your own home journal at about the regular price, and have thrown in a magazine which gives you in a year, 1,637 pages of reading matter by the ablest writers of the world, including over 1,300 pages of illustrations that are unsurpassed in point of interest and execution. Will it not pay you to send a subscription to this office for the SOUTHWESTERN and the Cosmopolitan immediately? Remember, only $3.00 for the two.

The author of The Christian's Secret of a Happy Life, Mrs. Hannah W. Smith, is a quaker lady formerly of Philadelphia but who has made London her home for several years past. Her remarkably little volume which has been translated and printed in a number of different foreign countries has been issued in Swedish and Norwegian, and is now being prepared in German by the publisher of the English edition, Fleming H. Revell, of New York and Chicago. The circulation in English has passed one hundred thousand and the little work has evidently become an accepted devotional classic.

Schools and Colleges

Clark University Atlanta, Ga.

1891 is at hand—a time of memory to some, and a time of tears to others. But to Clark University it is a time of joy. Looking backward we rejoice over the great progress made in these sixteen years, and the scores of noble young men and women who have gone forth from this school to help bring the world to God.

As we look around us we rejoice over the many good things of today; and looking towards the coming centuries, our prospects are glorious.

The college year is nearly half gone, and we take pleasure in reporting to our friends some of the blessings that have come to us, and some of the factors of strength that have been added to us.

We have enrolled about 375 students. If we include the Gammon Seminary students, we have enrolled on these grounds, in all schools, about 440. This is a greater number than ever before at this season of the year.

These students come from fourteen different States, and a better class of young men and young women is not gathered in any school in the South.

With but few exceptions, good health, good order, and a disposition to study have pervaded our classes all the year. Our government has rules; but we put our students on their honor and self respect. Upon some things our government is firm and unyielding, but we always appeal to the students' sense of justice and responsibility. We think this the better way to build character. The departments of the school were never better organized, and surely never better controlled or better taught.

At the opening of the year our Aid Society set off to us a certain sum of money, and said: "Not another dollar this year." This was necessary on the part of the Society, but makes it a hardship on us.

In order to meet our demands we have had to use great frugality and tax every source of revenue. We are compelled to charge all students alike. Much as we desire to favor indigent students and children of our struggling preachers, yet we have not been able to do so except in a very limited degree. We will not have one dollar of student aid money this year. Our students help themselves. They will work out for their board on the farm, in shops and other wise this year not less than $1,200. There is nothing too hard or too difficult but what willing hands can be found to do it. If any one doubts the earnest desire for an education by these boys and girls, let him come and see them at work and and the doubt will vanish.

PROTECTION.

This property has greatly needed better protection from trespassers and from fire. All these years we have been exposed to a lawless class who were constantly stealing off the grounds and destroying property, especially in the vacation. We kept three policemen last summer, and yet the rowdies were so insolent at times that Prof. Crogman said he would not spend another summer on the grounds if we did not get better protection. A resolution passed the Executive Board at Cincinnati, and also the Board of Trustees of the University, appointing W. P. Thirkield, W. H. Crogman, and W. H. Hickman, to secure from the Georgia Legislature police privileges, so that our Trustees could have a police appointed to protect our property. This bill was taken before the Legislature and passed, so we can protect all this property as other colleges in the city are protected.

WATER SUPPLY.

For years we have been embarrassed for water. At times we could not get a bucket of water on the grounds, except in a distant well or spring. We have $125,000 worth of property with no protection whatever from fire. We went to the city to know what it would cost to put in a water system fully equal to our demands. We were told it would cost $5,000.

We took the matter into our own hands. The students opened the ditches. We hired a man to help us lay down the pipe. We now have a standard system with splendid pressure, bringing all the buildings under protection, at a cost of $2,500. In a few days we will have 450 feet of hose, and a fire company organized out of students. We will then feel that we have done our duty.

ELECTRIC RAILROAD.

An Electric Street Railroad will be completed soon, which cuts off our south-east land about fifty acres. This road will add not less than $100,000 to the value of our lands, and more than this if wisely handled.

OUR NEEDS.

1. We need three more houses for professors to live in. This is but a question of time till we must have them.

2. We need a machine shop. We now have a foundry and all other shops necessary to fit us for making engines and other work that makes skilled workmen and pays well. But we lack this one shop. We now have about seventy-five boys in the shops. Some of them would make very fine workmen if we had the range of work to take them through. The machine shop would give us this.

3. Our greatest need is a college building. We ought to have one large "Haven Memorial Hall" for these schools. We are now crowded for room.

If many of our boys were not going out to teach, we could not make room for half the young men that will come in the next thirty days. We take out ten class rooms and a Chapel from Christmas Hall, where every foot of room is needed for the boys' dormitory. Clark University is one of the best schools in the land. It is well founded, well organized and well started on a glorious future for Christian education and the brotherhood of all men. Who will help us?

Will not some one who reads these lines help us to secure some one of these great needs? A Happy New Year to all. Yours very truly, W. H. HICKMAN.

Founder's day was observed at Gammon Theological Seminary on Dec. 23rd. A helpful and inspiring address on "The Founder's Aim" was delivered by the Rev. H. N. Brown of the class of '86 now presiding elder of the Marion District Central Alabama Conference. Dr. Bennett of Garrett Biblical Institute was also present and followed with some strong and eloquent words on "The High Calling to the Ministry." Dr. Parks then read a large number of letters received from the Alumni bearing witness to their gratitude to the Seminary for the profound influence it had exercised upon their intellectual and spiritual life. About forty graduates from the three year's course have been sent forth, and their great influence for good is receiving grateful recognition in the various states and conferences where they now labor. Recent addresses have been delivered by Bishop Joyce and the Rev. Dr. Barrett of the Protestant Episcopal Church this city.

Gilbert Seminary and Agricultural College —Report of the Visiting and Examining Committee.

The closing exercises of the fall term of this school at Winsted, Ga. Dec. 18, and 19, 1890, were very encouraging. The students satisfied us of the fact that they are making wonderful progress in their studies. The following classes were examined Thursday Dec. 18th. First year: Arithmetic, History, Primary Spelling, Civil Government, Reading. Second year: Algebra, Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography and Reading. Those were good classes which understood their studies well, the days work wound up with a grand concert at night. The Chapel was crowded with both white and colored to witness the occasion, which showed how highly the school is esteemed by those who are best acquainted with its management. After the concert, refreshments of the rarest kind were served. The following classes were examined on Friday. First division: Latin, Arithmetic, History, Grammar, and Geography. They showed a thorough knowledge of their studies so far as they had gone, especially the classes in Latin, History, and Grammar. This was a great day with the students at Gilbert College. The climax of these exercises was reached at night, which wound up with a temperance contest between eight of the students. The speeches delivered by the contestants would reflect credit upon any student or school in the country. As Mr. James Johnson, of New Iberia, was adjudged to have delivered the best speech the medal was awarded to him, after the concert everybody present participated in enjoying the refreshments the good ladies had on hand, which was served in grand style. Thus closes the satisfactory fall term of Gilbert Seminary and Agricultural College.

NOTES.

Rev. W. D. Godman, D.D., president, is deeply seated in the hearts of everybody, who declare his presence as president of the school indispensable.

Miss Inez A. Godman, has the superintendence of the temperance work. She is giving king alcohol a bold fight, and from present indications she will roll up quite an army for temperance. She is the second Miss Willard.

Miss M. L. Kirchner, the music teacher, is second to none in the South.

Prof. J. E. L. Hoskins, J. O. Richards, Miss Williams, and Azelia Richard, are the colored teachers who are acceptable with the students, as they are efficient instructors.

Prof. Countryman, of New York, is a very competent instructor in the languages, and is beloved by the whole school.

Obituary.

Tate Prairie, Tex.—Sister Esther R. Collins, superintendent of St. Peter's Chapel, departed this life Oct. 9. Her death was sudden, but our loss is her gain. Sister Collins was born Sept. 25, 1865, and was converted Oct. 18, 1880. Ever since that time Sister Esther has been working for the Lord in day and Sunday school. She was married Dec. 25, 1889. She leaves a husband, a host of relatives and many friends to mourn her loss. Sunday school committee: L. Franklin, H. Burke, M. Patterson.

Alexandria, Tenn.—Bro. Richard Woods, a member of Richmond M. E. Church, Mt. Zion circuit, departed this life Nov. 13, aged 74 years. He had been a member of the church 40 years. Rev. A. Phillips, P. E., and Rev. M. Williams, P. C., of Alexandria; Rev. W. M. Goodner, of Sney and Leeville circuit, participated in the funeral.

Thomas Belcher, P. C.

Sneyr Murphree died January 3, aged 18. She joined the M. E. Church in 1890 and was a good member. She leaves a husband and many friends to mourn.

Blountsville, Ala. Rev. G. W. Rievers, P. C.

Sister Minnie G. Wall fell asleep in Jesus Jan. 6. She was converted in August, 1889, under the pastorate of S. D. Troup, joined the M. E. Church and lived a faithful member, being always at her post. She was sick about 7 months. Her pastor asked her the evening before she died if she was trusting in God, and she said, "Oh, yes, He is too powerful not to trust in Him." She leaves a mother, father, brother, sister and one little boy to mourn her loss.

Batesville, Miss. S. D. Troup, P. C. Helm, Miss—The son of Mr. James Mack and Sister Mack were killed by a steam engine Dec. 31.

Aberdeen, Miss.—Sister Rose Anderson died after 15 months illness. She leaves a husband and five children.

Darrowville, La.—On the 30th of December, 1890, Brother James Washington died, aged about 24 years. He suffered for one month and six days, from an injury he received at the Hermitage sugar house. He leaves a mother, wife, one child, sister and a host of relatives and friends to mourn after him. He was buried in the Darrowville Cemetery December 31, by the pastor, assisted by Rev. B. J. Reddix, of Lafayette.

E. H. Clark, P. C.

Grandmother Phillie Chitmon, of Talladega, Ala., was born on Christmas evening, 1772, and died January 5, 1891. She lived to be a hundred years old before she professed to know Christ in the pardon of her sins. She lived a faithful member of the M. E. Church, and just before she died she said she was waiting on the good Lord. She would say, "O praise the Lord, praise the Lord." Her age was 119 years.

Sister Silvia Isaiah, mother of Bro. Derry Isaiah, departed this life Dec. 29. She was burned very bad about a week before, which was the cause of her death. She died as she lived, a consistent christian. She was 102 years old. She leaves one son, ten grandchildren and a host of friends to mourn her loss. Burial services were conducted by the writer.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Bass of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

World-wide Missions.

The Board of Managers appointed the Secretaries and Treasurer S. Hunt a committee to consider the advisability of raising the club rate price of World-wide missions from ten cents a year to fifteen cents a year. After a careful examination of expenses and receipts for the last two years, it was unanimously decided by the committee that the advance must be made. From Jan. 1 this new rate takes effect. They are now 100,000 subscribers, which of course, will be allowed to run at the old rate till they expire.

Two pages of reading matter will be added, and the paper will be kept up to its present grade as to illustrations and typographical appearance.

Sixty days of grace will be given on all new subscriptions. If at the close of that time a subscription is not paid it will be suspended until it is paid. This regulation is absolutely necessary to prevent embarrassing debt. It will be strictly enforced without respect of persons. Now let us all go in to make World-wide Missions the most widely circulated and thoroughly self supporting Missionary periodical in the world.

Missionary Secretaries.

Among greetings for the New Year the heartiest and happiest come from the January number of the Ladies Home Journal. Oliver Wendell Holmes, George William Curtis, James Whitcomb Riley, George W. Childs, and Will Carleton join with Henry M. Stanley, John W. Wainwright, Rutherford B. Hayes, Joseph Jefferson, Lawrence Barrett, Dr. Talmage, Bishop Newman and many other well known men, to weave for the women of America a garland of good wishes for 1891. It is a perfect treasury of kindly words and bright thoughts, and every woman should read what these great men wish for her. If this number is a fair index the present volume of the Journal will be an especially rich one. Besides a clever series of portraits and articles—Unknown Wives of Well-known men—is begun with Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, who is certainly a remarkably pretty woman. Issued at one dollar a year by the Curtis Publishing Company, 435 Arch street, Philadelphia.

With the number bearing date January 3d, Littell's Living Age begins its one hundred and eighty-eighth volume. This standard weekly magazine grows more essential every year to readers who wish to keep abreast with the best current work in literature and science. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

A Weekly feast prepared each week by Marion Harland, and other bright women for the Housekeepers Weekly. "You can't imagine what this paper is like until you try it," says a reader; "it gives you a new sensation. Think of getting such a paper, a weekly, at a dollar a year!" The Housekeepers Weekly quickly comes to be the favorite paper of intelligent women. Coming every week, it supplies a place filled by no other journal. Brief, bright, and practical, its weekly visit is helpful beyond conception to the busy home-maker. It keeps her well improved. It gives her just what she wants, without a great mass of what she has no use for. Above all, women find it intensely interesting. Its exceedingly low price puts it within reach of all. One dollar a year. Three months, twenty-five cents. Office 6th and Arch, Philadelphia. Housekeepers Weekly and the SOUTHWESTERN, both for $2.

A great work for Bible students. Prof. James Strong, the veteran biblical scholar, and editor of McClintock & Strong's Encyclopedia of Biblical, Theological, and Ecclesiastical Literature, the largest work published in this country (larger, even, than Appleton's Encyclopedia), and the largest in its particular field published in the language, has recently announced the publication of a work of really extraordinary magnitude and importance in the field of religious literature; a work upon which he has continually been engaged for over thirty years. It is a new Concordance of the Bible, that is pronounced, by those who are well acquainted with the work, to be as far in advance of any existing Concordance as the latest Webster or Century Dictionary is in advance of Johnson's Dictionary of the last century. It is, to begin with, a complete Concordance, showing every word of the text of the Bible, and every occurrence of each word; no previously published Concordance has more than approximated completeness, as comparison with Strong's Concordance will show. It is a Concordance to both the Old and New Version of the Bible, and also a Comparative Concordance to the two versions, indicating not only all important differences between the two versions, and also the American variations from the English preferred readings, but showing, besides, the reasons for changes made in the new version. It is a perfect Concordance, which places the entire text of the Bible—English, Hebrew, and Greek—completely at the command of every intelligent reader of English, and will be of infinite value to the Christian millions who desire a perfect knowledge of Bible teachings. Specimen pages of the Concordance may be had free by applying to the publisher, John B. Alden, 393 Pearl street, New York.

We have received from Funk & Wagnall, publishers, 18 and 20 Astor Place, New York, advanced sheets of sample pages of The Standard Dictionary of the English Language, which they are about to publish. In some important points it differs widely from the plans of other dictionaries; (1) The "locating" of the verifying quotations; that is, the giving in each instance not only the name of the author, but also the name of the book and the number of the page where the quotation can be found; to thus "locate" 50,000 quotations is of itself a herculean task. (2) The use, in the pronunciation of words, of The Scientific Alphabet, adopted by The American Philological Association. (3) The placing of the etymology after the definition. (4) The placing of the most important current definition first, and the obsolete and obsolete meaning last, that is, the substitution of the order of usage for the Historic Order usually followed in dictionaries. (5) In the case of disputed pronunciation the giving of the pronunciations preferred by other dictionaries, as well as the pronunciation which they prefer. (6) The giving of 50,000 vocabulary words more than are to be found in any other single volume dictionary in England or America. The attention of the reader is called to the care that is being taken in the admission of new words; no new word is admitted to a vocabulary place, unless it has been passed upon by the able men in charge of this department, namely: Julius H. Seelye, of Amherst College, Edward S. Sheldon, of Harvard University, Edward Everett Hale, Charles A. Dana, and Howard Crosby. In some of the departments the work is far advanced towards completion. The array of scholarship employed in the production of this great work gives ample assurance that it will be the greatest work of the kind in any language.

Sister Rose Gertrude, the young woman about whose work among the lepers of Molokai so much has been written, has been induced to reply to the charges made against her for renouncing her work. Her article, the first from her pen, is to be published in the Ladies Home Journal for February, and will contain a full explanation of what she has accomplished among the lepers, and why she was obliged to forsake her work.

What matter, though you scarce can count
Your piles of golden ore,
While he can hardly strive to keep Gaunt famine from the door.

Of willing hands and honest hearts
Alone should men be proud:
Then give him all the room he needs,
And never try to crowd.

Don't crowd, proud miss! Your dainty silk
Will glisten none the less Because it comes in contact with
A beggar's tattered dress.
This lovely world was never made
For you and me alone;
A pauper has a right to tread
The pathway to a throne.

Don't crowd the good from out your heart
By fostering all that's bad.
But give to every virtue room—
The best that may be had;
Be each day such a one
That you may well be proud:
Give each his right, give each his room,
And never try to crowd.

—Alice Cary.

The Household.

Fourteen Ways to Help a Doctor.

1. When it is necessary to send for medical service do so, if possible, before the physician goes out for his morning round of visits. Do not delay until he has come in tired, having possibly been in the very street in which you live.

2. If possible, send a note stating which member of the family is ill, and briefly detailing the symptoms, and giving the doctor an idea with regard to the case.

3. If unable, for any cause, to send a note, at least try to send some intelligent messenger who can write out the call in full on the doctor's slate.

4. In case of poisoning be sure to send word, if known, what poison has been taken, as the doctor may then be able to bring with him an antidote in time to save life.

5. When the doctor comes let some one person who is familiar with the case give him the details with regard to it; too many informants create confusion.

6. Do not discuss the case before the patient.

7. Have a pencil and slip of paper, and write down at once the instructions received.

8. Try to be exactly accurate in statements.

9. Do not have children or dogs in the sick room during the doctor's visit, as the children and dogs will divert his attention.

10. Carry out faithfully and exactly the orders given by the medical man.

11. "Trust me not at all or all in all," should be the doctor's motto.

12. When consulting a medical man in his own house do so during his office hours. Do not go just at the time he takes his meals.

13. Finish the professional interview with him in his consulting room, and do not continue detailing symptoms in the hall when being shown out.

14. Bear in mind the comfort of the doctor, and when the conditions suggest do not forget to give him a cup of cold water, or of hot coffee, or a plate of soup, as the case may be.

You will give him renewed inspiration for his work.—Good Housekeeping.

SEND in for the Two Ladder and the Ten Commandment cards for your Sunday school, 10 cents per dozen.

PASTORS, The Official Member should be in the hands of every member of your board. If they are not supplied send in and procure them at once, 5 cents each.

EVERY pastor, local preacher, class leader and Sunday school superintendent should have The Methodist Year Book. In fact there should be one in every family for it is full of valuable information. Send in for one at once, only 10 cents each.

Our Symposium.

One of the most imposing and agreeable results of the election was that in Pennsylvania. But it was in no sense whatever a Democratic victory; and Pennsylvania, having overthrown Quay, will vote for the protection candidate in 1892 more willingly than ever. In Massachusetts some of the Democratic majorities or pluralities were very small, and the election of a Democratic representative in the Eleventh District of that State was due not to a change of opinion, but to a Republican bolting candidate, who bolted on no political difference, but to revenge his failure to receive the regular nomination. Such facts as these point to the conclusion that the result was largely due to Republican disgust—the dissatisfaction of many voters who will yet greatly prefer to vote for a Republican candidate in 1892. It would be a stupendous blunder for tariff reformers to suppose that their victory in 1892 is already won. The victory will depend upon the candidate and upon Democratic conduct in the mean time.—Harper's Weekly.

If the white and colored people would learn more of each other, and have more to do with each other in business transactions and other ways different to that which is mostly practiced in many places, there would arise a much better understanding and respect for each other. The two races are kept too far apart. They should strive to cultivate a closer mutual relation. As the Negro is given to reading all the literature produced by the whites, the whites should make it a specialty to read all the journals and other literary productions of the Negro, and they would soon learn that the Afro-Americans are striving earnestly to obtain all those things which tend to make a race strong in intellect, morals, wealth and religion.—Christian Index.

Hurried results are worse than none. We must force nothing, but be partakers of the divine patience. If there is one thing evident in the world's history, it is that God hasteneth not. All haste implies weakness. Time is as cheap as space and matter.—George Macdonald.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The Best Blood Medicine

So say Leading Physicians and Druggists, and their opinion is endorsed by thousands cured by it of Scrofula, Eczema, Erysipelas, and other diseases of the blood.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla has won its reputation by years of valuable service to the community. It is the best,"—R. S. Lang, Druggist, 212 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass.
Dr. W. F. Wright, Paw Paw Ford, Tenn., says: "In my practice, I invariably prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla for chronic diseases of the blood."
Dr. R. R. Boyle, Third and Oxford sts., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "For two years I have prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilla in numerous instances, and I find it highly efficacious in the treatment of all disorders of the blood."

L. M. Robinson, Pharmacist, Sabina, O., certifies: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has always been a great seller. My customers think it no blood-purifier equal to it."
"For many years I was afflicted with scrofulous running sores, which, at last, became so bad the doctors advised amputation of my legs to save my life. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla and soon saw an improvement. After using about two dozen bottles the sores were healed. I continue to take a few bottles of this medicine each year, for my blood, and am no longer troubled with sores. I have tried other reputed blood-purifiers, but none does so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—D. A. Robinson, Neal, Kansas.

WINTER HUMORS

Cold, raw winds of winter fan to fury itching, burning, and scaly humors and diseases of the skin, scalp, and blood. No pen can describe their severity, no language can exaggerate the suffering of those afflicted, especially of little babies, whose tender skins are literally on fire. Winter is the best time to effect a permanent cure. Cuticura Remedies are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times, are absolutely pure, and agreeable to the most sensitive, and may be used on the youngest infant and most delicate invalid with gratifying and unflinching success. CUTICURA, the great skin cure, instantly allays the most intense itching, burning, and inflammation, permits rest and sleep, heals raw and irritated surfaces, cleanses the scalp of crusts and scales, and restores the hair. CUTICURA SOAP, the only medicated toilet soap, is indispensable in cleansing diseased surfaces. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood and skin purifier and greatest of humor remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities, and thus removes the cause. Hence, the Cuticura Remedies cure every humor of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, from pimples to scrofula, from infancy to age, when the best physicians fail.

32- "How to Cure Diseases of the Skin and Blood" mailed free to any address, 64 pages, 300 illustrations, 100 testimonials. A book of priceless value to every sufferer. CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA SOAP, 25c.; CUTICURA RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

Pimples, Skin, red, rough hands, painful finger-ends and shapeless nails are prevented and cured by Cuticura Soap, incomparably the greatest of skin purifiers and beautifiers, while rivaling in delicacy and surpassing in purity the most expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. The only medicated toilet soap and the only preventive and cure of inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of pimples, blackheads, rough, red, and oily skin, and simple humors of infants and children. Sale greater than the combined sale of all other skin soaps. Sold everywhere. Price, 25 cents.

LESSON HYMN, C. M.

O for a faith that will not shrink,
Though pressed by every foe;
That will not tremble on the brink,
Of any earthly woe!

A faith that shines more bright and clear
When tempests rage without;
That when in danger knows no fear;
In darkness feels no doubt.

Lord, give us such a faith as this,
And then, whatever may come,
We'll wait, e'en the hallowed bliss
Of an eternal home.

Time.—B. C. 910-917.

Places.—Samaria: the brook Cherith, probably flowing eastward into the Jordan; Zarephath, a Gentile town near Sidon.

Rulers.—1. Ahab, son of Omri, king of Israel; 2. Asa, king of Judah; 3. Ethbaal, father of Jezebel, king of Sidonians.

Connecting Links.—Sixty years have passed since our last lesson. During that time the king of Judah, after a troubled reign, had died, and been succeeded by Abijah, who sought in vain to conquer the seceding tribes, and at his death was succeeded by Asa. Asa was the first really able king of Judah since the early days of Solomon. In the main he was a very good man. Meanwhile the Israelitish kingdom had had a stormy history. Jeroboam had to fight continually to maintain his throne. His wicked son, Nadab, was deposed by a usurper named Baasha, who had risen from the ranks. Baasha destroyed all Jeroboam's descendants. When he died his son Elah was killed by Zimri, one of his generals, and Zimri was killed seven days later by Omri, another of Elah's generals. Omri was a vigilant and powerful monarch, and established his family well on the throne. Ahab, who figures in the present lesson, was his son.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. Before the king, v. 1. What king is here referred to? Who appeared before him? To what country did Elijah belong? What message did he bear to the king? On account of what sin had God threatened to withhold rain? see Dent. 11. 10, 17.

2. By the Brook, v. 2-7.

From whom did Elijah receive a messenger?

Where was he told to go?

What was said about his food and drink?

What did the prophet do?

What service did the ravens render?

Who feeds the ravens? Luke 12, 24.

Who, then, really fed Elijah?

What happened after a while to the brook? Why?

3. In the City, v. 8-16.

Where next was Elijah told to go?

Who would there provide for him?

Whom did he meet near the city?

What request did he make of her?

As she went, what did he further ask?

What did the woman say about her supply?

What was Elijah's answer?

What promise did he give her?

What, then, did the woman do?

When did the meal and oil fail?

What sure promise of supply have we? (Golden Text.)

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. To fear God?

2. To obey God?

3. To trust God?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BEGINNERS.

Find other causes in the Old Testament where beasts or birds were used by God as a means of blessings to his servants.

Find another case in which a servant of God met a woman near a city gate, and asked for a drink of water.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. What did Elijah tell Ahab?

2. What fed Elijah when he hid from Ahab? Ravens.

3. Where did God send him when the brook dried up? To Zarephath.

4. Whom had God commanded to sustain him? A widow woman.

5. What was her entire wealth? A handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oil in a cruse.

6. What wonderful things did God cause? The meal wasted not, and the oil did not fail.

Doctrinal Suggestion.—The providence of God.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

7. How long has God existed? God is eternal; he has lived always, and will live forever.

8. What is the character of God? "God is love." 1 John 4. 8.

9. Is God holy? God is holy; he hateth all workers of iniquity. Psa. 5. 5.

"Oh! woman, in thy hours of ease, uncertain, coy and hard to please," With children hurt, long hours she's spent. Do try Salvation Oil, the timent.

THE vote of the laity on the admission of women to the General Conference, as reported to date, is 205,142 for, 125,693 against; total, 330,835. Louisiana voted, for admission, 1447, against admission, 3399. The conference voted 31 for, 82 against.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Malalien, is worth the price of the book.

OUR purpose is to send the paper to every pastor in the conferences of which we are the official organ. So if you fail to get the paper, please send us correct post-office address and we will send you the paper. You must always state at what post office you received it before.

BISHOP Payne is being roundly criticised by leading ministers and bishops of his church for his unkind and unjust denunciation of the ministry of his people. Our good Bishop Newman, who disagrees with Bishop Payne in this severe denunciation of his own people, charges the Bishop's denunciation to his dotage. He expresses the hope that Bishop Payne may live long enough to experience pain for his cruel imputation.

Rev. C. K. Marshall, D.D., one of the most eloquent and best known ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died at his home in Vicksburg, Miss., Jan. 13. Dr. Marshall was one of the grandest men in his church, and a devoted and faithful friend of the colored people. Southern man as he was, he never failed to defend them against the venomous slanders of their enemies, and the race remembers him with gratitude.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Sight-Seeing.—VII.

L. M. HAGOOD.

We fear our limits have already been exceeded and we simply mention the fact that the Three Sister Islands are a triad of beauty, situated only a four minutes walk from the point where we just left. These are connected to Goat Island by three beautiful and substantial foot bridges. As you come upon the first bridge a magnificent scene is before you. Directly north in front of you is Niagara river coming towards you. As far as your eyes can reach you see shallow steps, terraces rather higher and higher over which the rapidly flowing steamer is passing. Here the water is clear as crystal. A few paces farther it is milky white. Just beyond this it is a pea green. A little farther on it is a dark green until at last there breaks into view a deep blue sea as it appears. East you come to each of the Three Islands a bridge between each—every beach tree, and as high up and low down as one can go, is cut full of peoples names and the dates they were there. When you reach the third one you see the main body of water flowing towards the Falls proper. Leaving the Whirl Pool Rapids for the last, we arrive at

THE RAILWAY SUSPENSION BRIDGE.

This is one of the noblest and most stupendous structures extant combining symmetrical strength, artistic beauty and durability in one and the same thing. The cables holding it aggregate in strength 13,400 tons, while it weighs 800 tons and the spans measure from center to center of the towers nearly nine hundred feet. It forms communication between the United States and Canada, over which runs the Grand Trunk and Erie R. R. It was projected in 1852. The road for vehicles is twenty-eight feet below the car track. There is another bridge, The Cantilever, built by the M. C. R. R., to connect it with the N. Y. C. It is built upon a new principle hence its name. There are but two others of this kind, the one over the Frith of Froth Scotland, The Lay Bridge, and another built by the Canadian Pacific R. R., over the Frazier river in British Columbia. From the tower foundations up it is solid steel, and the vibrations felt when passing over other bridges is absent on this. Its total length is 910 feet, and the aggregate weight resting upon steel columns is 1,600 tons. While crossing this bridge you have a full fair view of the Falls, the Niagara river and the Whirl Pool Rapids.

The New Suspension Bridge, Bath Island, Terrapin Tower, Table Rock, Lundy's Lane Battle ground, The Devil's Hole, Top of Mountain, and Indian Village are all worthy of note if we had space, time and ability to attempt a description and those who have not seen them had patience to follow, but we must not impose upon good nature. We saw Niagara Falls by moonlight. What more can we say, for the scene beggars description. You simply stand there dumbfounded, awe-stricken, pleased, electrified, dazed. You see so much beauty and glory you find yourself starting to laugh, but tears come rushing to your eyes; you feel solemn, good all over, until there swells into your mouth the words of Mrs. Sigourney:

"Flow on forever, in thy glorious robe
Of terror and of beauty—yea, flow on,
Unfathomed and resistless; God hath set

His rainbow on thy forehead, and the clouds Mantled around thy feet; and He doth give

Thy voice of thunder power to speak of Him

Eternally, bidding the lip of man
Keep silence, and upon thine altar pour Incense of awe-struck praise.

"Earth fears to lift
The insect triumph that tells her trifling joys,
Or fleeing triumphs, amid the peal sublime
Of thy tremendous hymn.
But as for us, it seems Scarce lawful with our erring lips to talk Familiarly of thee; methinks, to trace Thine awful features with our pencil's paint,
Were but to press on Sinai.

"Thou dost speak,
Slave of God, who poured thee as a drop
From His right hand—bidding the soul that looks Upon thy fearful majesty be still,
Be humbly wrapped in its own nothingness,
And lose itself in Him."

While thus soliloquizing the sound of the bell informed us that the hour for closing the gates of Prospect Park had arrived. With nearly 2000 others we reluctantly turned toward our boarding and lodging places. As the crowd pushed forward everybody was trying to tell everybody else how grand the scene, how awe-inspiring and how the scene would ever linger with them. With our mouth filled with laughter, our heart with joy, we trudged along, being jostled by first one and another, until Mr. Smith came up and said: "Did you see it? How did you like it? Grand, wasn't it?" Of course we said yes. "Well, now, I'll tell you I like this; I mean everything I see. I'm stopping at the finest house here, the Cataract, and my folks were a little abashed when we went into the dining room and were set down next to a black man. My wife colored considerably and my granddaughter whispered to me and said 'there's a nigger over there at this table.' Of course I was shocked to hear her say this, because I knew it was heard by the head waiter, a fine-looking white man, who happened to be near us. I told her by a frown and whisper to hush. As we came out the door the office clerk said he would like to speak to me privately."

Texas Conference.

This body met in Navasota, on Thursday last, with Bishop Foss presiding. The session was pretty fully attended, and on the whole very harmonious.

On Thursday night, Dr. Whitaker, president of Wily University at Marshall, spoke on behalf of the Freedmen's Aid Society, and at the close of the morning session next day, presented the claims and the prospects of the University.

On Friday night was held the anniversary of the Church Extension Society, at which Dr. Homer Eaton, of the Book Concern, was the principal speaker.

The case of Rev. Harbert, who shot at Minnegan, was tried on Saturday by a select committee. At this writing their report has not been made public, but it is understood that it finds Harbert guilty, and his removal from the church and ministry will doubtless have been effected before this reaches our readers.

Bishop Foss is winning golden opinions and getting a warm place in the hearts of this people for the many good qualities displayed in his administration.

The early hour at which we go to press precludes publishing the list of appointments, and many other matters of interest this week.

AMEN means, So let it be. Many people don't seem to know that, if we are to judge from their ejaculations of amens, when they should cry out God forbid. Pat in your amens at the proper place.

Louisiana Conference Notes.

The Conference voted against the admission of women to the General Conference by a vote of 31 for, and 82 against.

The proposition from the Philadelphia Conference, providing that the lay and ministerial delegates in the General Conference shall always deliberate and vote as one body and never separate, was rejected by a vote of 1 to 87. The one providing for equal representation of laymen and ministers, from the same conference, was also rejected by a vote of 1 to 87.

The vote of the laity on the question of the admission of women in the General Conference was reported. The majority were against their admission.

The presence and addresses of the following visitors to the Louisiana Conference added much enthusiasm and interest to the session: Mrs. Bishop Newman, Sister Amanda Smith, Revs. Homer Eaton, D.D., Book Agent at New York; W. H. W. Rees, Presiding Elder of Des Moines District, Des Moines Conference; C. L. Nye, of the same conference; and W. M. Henry, one of the original organizers of this conference.

The special services during the week, and the services of the Sabbath, including Bishop Newman's great sermon at Simpson Chapel, and the ordination of deacons and elders at Wesley Chapel, and the temperance meeting, by Mrs. Bishop Newman and Sister Amanda Smith, at St. Charles Avenue Church, were seasons of great demonstrations of spiritual power.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

The Rights Divine of Women.

BY ADA HINTON SHERMAN.

In this progressive age, and in this the "Woman's country," it would seem that the subject of woman and her rights had been clearly and conclusively defined. And so it has, by eminent scholars of both sexes, who have written and lectured upon the subject until it is worn almost threadbare; and yet, the earnest, thoughtful observer of passing events cannot but note with serious regret the growing tendency of women to disintegrate from the particular realm of activity which by divine right is exclusively hers. When the agitation first arose as to the ability of women to take the initiative in the domain of business, and government, a hue and cry went up against the monstrous innovation. To-day she stands upon the same plane with man by universal admission in her mental capacity, and ability, to direct and control the administration of affairs. Yet it is strange that her entire lack of adaptability should be so lost sight of. In the mad race for positions in the arena of business, in the new lines of study necessary to fit her for office work, a large majority of women have lost their relish for the duties and cares of domestic life. Ambition for social prominence which compels the accumulation of money, has taken the place of ambition for the highest and best in mental and moral training which cannot be obtained outside the sweet realm of home life. The home and the office can no more mix than can oil and water, say who will to the contrary. It was not so intended to do. In the beginning the two spheres of activity was clearly marked by the Creator in the physical and mental build of our primeval parents. All through the succeeding ages to the present glorious epoch the peculiar subtle beauty of woman's own realm has been finely and perfectly drawn. Influence, ministrations, obedience. Each so full, so complete in every detail, that if either party reach beyond it, they mar the beauty of the whole. For a woman to forsake, (as a matter of preference) the domestic sphere, for the friction and publicity of business life, is to learn to alienate the shaping and moulding of the young life at home. For a mother to renounce for any reason the personal direction of her daughter's inward as well as outward life, is to rear a class of women of whom it will be impossible to expect a race of heroes. Heroes is what we need most impractically just now. Moral heroes, to do, and dare. The effeminacy of the age so often deplored, through the press, and the platform, is not so much the outcome of luxury, as it is the result of the disintegration of woman's activity and interest to other channels than those which God gave her, and for which she is divinely adapted. From the sacred altar fires at home, some of the live coals of truth and love, spread by the ministering hands of the divinely appointed priestess into the widening circles of society, and permeating the broad paths which charity traverses in her mission to the sinful and the sorrowing. Within the home, be it palace or cottage the sweet duties of wife and mother; without the sacred mission of a ministering angel. With all these divinely appointed duties there are rights which are their natural outcome, on which the soul of woman depends and in which her natural confidence reposes. The utter disregard of these rights, (which it is unnecessary to give in detail) with the painful contingencies they reap about the obedience which should spring from love, the sacrifice of her holiest feelings to the requirements of a self-imposed rotine, repress the natural abandonment to loves fruition, and crowd into ugly, narrow groves the spontaneity of happy freedom. This ugly blemish of social realm necessitates the existence of societies for the advancement of "social purity," and the erection of "Magdalene Retreats." But this blot upon the sacred shield of modern manhood must be removed by the aid of deeper forces than these. They must be constrained by the strength of countervailing influences to retreat to the shades from whence they emanate. This however can be accomplished only through the purifying, elevating, enabling influence coming from within the sacred precincts of home. The springs of action in society, should flow from the domestic hearth stone. Its tenets must be grounded on the united strength of a sanctified marriage. Our sons must be brought to realize that pure womanhood requires pure manhood. Our daughters he trained to remember that the vanities and pleasant nothings of social life are merely accessories and side-issues, and not the end and aim of a woman's existence. Mothers must not forget that to offer their girls in marriage to a "rogue" be he young or old, for the sake of an establishment and heavy bank account, is to sacrifice the sweet womanly life upon an altar whose fires are slow death to all the womanly nature. The mistakes and harangues of modern society which are the subject of so much genuine regret on the part of the good and true are not the results of outside elements dragged in for diversion and pastime, so much as they are the outgrowth of the mistakes and neglects, pervading the modern home. The atmosphere of the modern American home is heavy with the ambition for wealth and position. Emulation to excel, kills the desire to cultivate those attributes which in their very possession make themselves felt. In the West where the national pulse is quickened into activity by the pressing needs of the hour, the race for supremacy is felt in every avenue of life. Families take root in the new springing life of the West, and in the pushing, aggressive atmosphere, forget and wholly neglect the solid principles which dwell in the ancestral home. And so the present race of boys and girls are not brought up by the principles of a well ordered home, but just "grow up," as did Topsy, "like weeds." False sentiment turns the gaze of truth from the observance of any false life, and the mantle which charity throws over the subject is glittering with the golden threads drawn from his heavy coffers. A noted writer has said that a woman's intuitive perceptions if obeyed would be her surest safe-guard against wrong to her womanly birthright. Let candid American womanhood reflect, and then say if this be not true. If mothers be true to the sacred duty of moulding the moral bent of the rising generation, the abuses of society would correct themselves. It is perfectly useless to throw stones at glass houses, when we set our sons and daughters within them.

We frequently hear the remark, "when Tennyson is gone who is to take his place? When Booth has crossed the river, who will fill the place left vacant in that line of art? When Patti's voice is hushed who will warble as sweetly as she? This the question, this the feeling suggested, and by what? The universal recognition that in the world of American life, something is found wanting. And this want I dare to assert will never be supplied by granting the right of the ballot to women, or by turning her influence, directly into the arena of business but through her acceptance, and undivided consecration to her divine mission instituted and marked out by her Creator, and obligations belonging thereto. Make the home what it should be, and its true gold will illumine the wider sphere of fashionable social life. Purify the domestic atmosphere from the dress of superficiality, false sentiment, and ignoble aims, enrich it with the strength and dignity of noble resolves, patient persevering effort to have, and to hold the true and the best in life, let ambition have for its aim the attainment of the highest intellectuality, morally and physically, then in American homes heroism will again see the light. Turn the thoughtlessness, the natural impatience at any restraint the entire desire for serious reflection, which is so pronounced a characteristic of our national spirit, turn all this into broader, deeper, more generous channels, and the farces of healthful home life will tone and strengthen the calibre of distinctive American character. To attain and bring about all this is the right divine of our modern American womanhood.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Malalien, is worth the price of the book.

WE make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

For Missions by Collections Only.

Darkest Africa.

What can be done in this generation for the salvation and civilization of the "one hundred and twenty-seven" million, or more, of its dark inhabitants?

My plan of missionary work in Africa may be indicated by three initial "In." The first "In," stands for Industries as an essential part of the education of barbarous heathens.

The second "In," stands for Infant training for God. "Train up a child in the way they should go."

The little children of Africa are not heathens. Heathenism is a thing acquired. Why not have the little children of Africa, as fast and as far as possible, acquire the knowledge of God and salvation instead of heathenism? This "once of prevention" is worth more than a hundred pounds of cure down in the horrible pit of heathenism.

The third "In," stands for Indigenous resources of Africa. In India and China there are hundreds of millions of poor people, who, owing to high rents and heavy taxation, are doomed to perpetual semi-starvation. To send them the gospel and support their missionaries from home is the grandest charity in the world. But the land laws of Africa are so liberal, that if we can graduate from our mission a hundred million of young men and women, we can have every pair of them settled in a house of their own, with all the land they choose to cultivate.

Our mission stations, thirty-five in number now, can with an adequate supply of men and money, be planted at the rate of fifty per year, and each station will, within a period of six years, become not only self supporting, but producing, as founders of new stations. Thus our five stations in Angola have become seven.

Our missions with their industries will furnish the object lesson models for millions of happy native homes. The people owning them will build their own schools and churches and support their teachers and preachers.

The British and European nations are anxious for the development of Africa's indigenous resources. Who are to do it? If we wait for a tide of European nations to dark Africa we shall indefinitely postpone the business. The heathen in their darkness, beyond the gathering of the wild products of Africa, as in the past, won't do it. Where are we to find the mind and muscle adequate to the demands of the case?

Why not look into the scheme, and augment its capital, and see if we can't find a short and sure cut, by training generations of the little children in the way they should go? Above all, I specially make this appeal to the philanthropists of my own nation. America has no land grab plan in her motives in coming to the rescue of the nations of Africa. My method of advance into the interior is by chains of mission stations, starting from the coast.

My chain in Angola comprises seven self-supporting stations, extending through that province over three hundred miles; and one station nearly a thousand miles beyond, in Basholange country, founded by Dr. Summers, one of my missionaries. Our dear Doctor after two years of faithful service there, sickened and died.

My friend, "Lient" now Major Weissmann, had previously informed the people of those far off regions that Bishop Taylor was coming to give them "God-men," who would teach them the right way. They became so excited by the effect of the good news, that, I learned from an eye-witness, large numbers of them threw their war clubs into the river, and waited for the coming of the God-man. I was at that very time on my way, and soon after arrived at Stanley Pool with eight missionaries, six of whom were bound for Basholange and Basoige countries by the first boat going up the Kassai river; but to this day they have not found it possible to get a passage above Stanley Pool. There are now about fifteen trading and Government steamers, and three mission steamers, on the upper Congo, but all of them are used by their owners for their own purposes, and none of them for public passenger accommodation. So that, I and my missionaries have learned from sad experiences of disappointments and delays, that to succeed on this line we must have independent and complete transport facilities of our own, same as the other missions, and the trading companies of the upper Congo.

Our steamer "Annie Taylor," now nearly completed, will serve for the first hundred miles on the lower Congo, but for our share of the "seven thousand miles" of the steamers navigable water ways of the upper Congo, we require there also, a steamer of our own.

We are now getting estimates from a London firm, which have built five of the upper Congo steamers, for a side wheel boat of galvanized steel, ten feet beam, and sixty feet long. The total cost, afloat on Stanley Pool, will be eleven thousand dollars.

All the materials should be carried to Stanley Pool before the beginning of the rainy season, in November. The London builders should have her in hand in March next. We can't go in debt, nor build, till we have the money to pay as we go. I depend on God and his faithful stewards to send in the free will offerings required. Remit any amount "for steamer" to my son, Rev. Ross Taylor, Evanston, Ill. All our funds are now deposited with the Merchant's Loan and Trust Company, one of the strongest banks in the north-west.

Besides this specialty, we shall need for building up our stations and opening new ones, for 1891, fully as much as last year, or forty thousand dollars.

For either purpose, general or special, funds may be sent to our papers, who will kindly acknowledge receipts in their columns, and remit to my son.

Up to this date I have mentioned this steamer negotiation to but one man outside the circle of the contracting parties, and that man was my host—Mr. George Fowler. His short speech was in these words: "I will give you, for the new steamer £500 (twenty four hundred and twenty five dollars). Who will speak next?"

Humbly submitted in the name of the Lord by.

WM. TAYLOR.

General Church News.

There are nine Sioux Indians nobly working in the Sacred ministry! About forty Sioux Indians helping them as licensed catechists! Forty branches of the Woman's Auxiliary among the Sioux Indian women! Seventeen hundred Sioux Indian Communicants! Sioux Indians contributing nearly $3,000 annually for religious purposes!

The ringleaders of the disturbance, which has alarmed the whole Northwest, covered the scene upon their essays of civilization, robbed many of them of their hard-earned possessions and exposed them to personal peril, should not be left at liberty hereafter to repeat the baneful operation. Had several Indians, whom we could name, been consigned to Fort Marion or Fortress Monroe, shortly after the Ouster affair, we should not have the present complication to untangle. In dealing with these evil doers, let there be no mere revenge, much less indiscriminate revenge.

Years ago indiscriminate punishment might be apologized for on the ground that the Indians were not individually well enough known to make discrimination possible, and there was therefore no recourse in military operations but to make a general seizure of all Indian ponies and guns and to otherwise treat the Indians, innocent or guilty, all alike. The names of all Indians are down on agency lists. Indians are known individually to teachers, missionaries and agents. Discrimination is therefore quite practicable. It will be an event in Indian life of vast and far reaching influence for good if, after this outbreak, the Indians discover that the power which bears the sword will do it "for the punishment of evil-doers and for the praise of them that do well. Let good sense and Christian charity arrest the tendency which this outbreak of wild passion will naturally have to dampen interest in Indian missionary and educational work, and to produce the feeling that such work has been vain. It is surely a fact of vast import that, as is said elsewhere; "Settlers have fled, not so much because of real danger as because of their fears, and while they have been fleeing, lone white women teachers in Indian camps have been pursuing their work without molestation and without alarm."

Dysentery, Cholera, Flux, Maguire's Balm. For nearly 50 years the infallible cure. Thousands of testimonials; endorsed by the Western Sanitary Commission, U. S. army officers, hospital physicians, steamboat officers, etc. Taken in time a sure preventive for Asiatic Cholera. 1

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hammer, One Oil Can with Oil,

One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tucker, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

The Southwestern.

A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., - - Editor

Official paper for the following Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church: Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, West Texas, Tennessee, Savannah, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Largest Circulation of any Religious Newspaper in New Orleans.

THURSDAY, JAN. 22, 1891.

Chance for You to Get Your Paper Free for a Whole Year.

To every minister sending us four CASH annual subscriptions at $1.50 each, we will send him his own paper free. To anybody else sending us six such subscribers, we will send him his paper free for one year.

If you are really a friend to the SOUTHWESTERN, you will pay up every cent of your account at conference.

WE are sending out The House of Bondage by every mail throughout the country. Send for a copy. Price, 75c.

HAVE you read Dr. Haygood's Colored Man in the M. E. Church? If you have not, you can have no true idea of the history of the colored man in the M. E. Church. Send for a copy from this office. Price only $1.25.

WE make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

OWING to the crowded state of our columns this week, we are unable to give the proceedings of the Louisiana Conference, but will do so next week. The Conference, which was one of the best ever held, closed last Monday.

WHY do you turn the doxology into an overcoat service? The sacrilegious custom of putting on overcoats while singing the doxology should be forever banished from our churches. A good place to begin to reform this is with the ministers at conference. Shame on the man that does it.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallalieu, is worth the price of the book.

WE hope none of our readers will be led into buying one of the cheap editions of Webster's Dictionary. They are really "no account." They are simply an "outlawed" edition of forty years ago, and made by the photo-engraving process. When you buy get a new one, and "get the best."

AMONG the many orders for the House of Bondage, received last week, was one from the widow of Dr. Wm. M. Daily, for several years one of the greatest giants in the establishment of Methodism in this State, during the dark days of reconstruction and immediately after. Mrs. Dr. Daily is now living at Kirkwood, Mo., and is as much interested in the welfare of our people as ever.

WE ARE ordering for our people brand new Singer Sewing Machines, direct from the factory every day, on the plan fully explained in another column. They are giving perfect satisfaction, and words of praise are being showered upon them everywhere. Send us $14, and we will send you the SOUTHWESTERN for a whole year, and one of these machines to your nearest freight office.

The Great Quarter Jubilee.

The Quarter-Centennial Jubilee of the reorganization of the Mississippi Mission Conference in this city Dec. 23, 1865, which took place in this city Jan. 13, ult., was the grandest ever observed by our Methodism in this section. The whole day was a day of jubilee, and at night the culmination of the grand event resulted in the assembling of about 5000 people in the Washington Artillery Hall to hear the masterly oration of Bishop John P. Newman, D.D., LL.D., on the Negro Problem. The Bishop's address was worthy of the occasion. He appeared in his glory, and was sublimely eloquent. No synopsis that we might give could begin to do justice to it. We hope, however, to give our readers an outline of it in a subsequent issue. The address of welcome by Rev. J. F. Marshall, the introduction by President Emperor Williams, and the response by Rev. Ernest Lyon, were all very creditable. The songs and words of cheer from Sister Amanda Smith were thrilling, and created quite a sensation, so effective were they. The addresses of Rev. Wm. Henry, one of the original organizers of this work, out of which all our work in this State, Mississippi and Texas has developed; of Dr. A. E. P. Albert, Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, and Rev. W. D. Godman, D.D., were received with great enthusiasm.

The following program was carried out:

9:30 A. M.—Gathering of all the Sunday schools in the city at Wesley Chapel, on Liberty near Poydras street. Walter S. Chinn and Gordon Taylor grand marshals, and all the superintendents their aids.

10 A. M.—The line of children marched down Liberty to Canal; down Canal to St. Charles; up St. Charles to Lafayette; down Lafayette to Camp; up Camp to Julia; up Julia to Washington Artillery Hall.

12 M. Noon.—Addresses were delivered, interspersed with select music by the different Sunday school choirs. Prof. B. M. Hubbard, A. B., principal of Alexandria Academy, and Rev. J. W. Hudson, presiding elder of the Baton Rouge District, delivered the chief Sunday school addresses. Mr. J. H. Norwood, general superintendent, called the meeting to order. Addresses and recitations followed from representatives of all the schools. Mrs. Rev. T. J. Johnson represented the Woman's Home Missionary Society. Mrs. Bishop Newman and Rev. W. M. Henry were introduced and delivered excellent addresses.

7 P. M.—Rev. E. Williams called the meeting to order. Rev. S. Priestley read the Scripture lesson and the Rev. W. P. Forrest invoked the Divine favor.

7:30 P. M.—Rev. J. F. Marshall delivered the welcome address, followed by Bishop J. P. Newman, the orator of the night. Rev. E. Lyon, of Simpson Chapel, responded to the orator. Hallelujah, chorus sung by 100 voices. Rev. Dr. A. E. P. Albert, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN spoke on the progress of the work. Dr. W. D. Godman, president of the Western Seminary, delivered the eulogy on Bishop Thomson, the presiding Bishop of the first conference. Dr. J. C. Hartzell, of Cincinnati, was to have represented the Freedmen Aid and Southern Educational Society, but was not feeling sufficiently well.

Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, resident bishop, spoke on what he saw in Louisiana. Bishop Goodsell spoke on what he saw in Texas. Dr. Leonard represented the Missionary Society.

A band of music enlivened the occasion.

Committee: E. Williams, president; E. Lyon, secretary; F. T. Chinn, treasurer; J. W. Hilton, T. J. Johnson, W. P. Forrest, H. O. Wilson, A. E. P. Albert, S. Duncanson, T. G. Montgomery, S. Priestley, W. P. McLaughlin.

In his speech on the progress of the work since the Mississippi Mission Conference organized in this city Dec. 1865—twenty-five years ago—Dr. Albert called attention to the following facts and figures: When we then organized we had in all of the States of Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas only 2,116 members; 476 probationers; 13 local preachers; 5 churches, valued at $47,000; Sunday schools, 9; officers and teachers, 95; scholars, 1,386. Now we have members, and probationers, 73,091; churches, 909, value of churches, $809,116; parsonages, 374, valued at $121,338. Total church property, $920,454. Sunday schools, 1067; officers and teachers, 5,357; schools, 53,073. In these conferences there are about 600 traveling ministers, and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of school property.

The following letter was read from Rev. Dr. Rust, Cincinnati, O., Dec. 23, 1890:

Dear Dr. Albert:

Your kind letter is duly received. Mrs. Rust and I thank you and the friends for an invitation to be present on that grand occasion. We do not at this time make a positive engagement to be present, but we assure you that if our engagement and circumstances permit, we will, without fail, be with you. My love for, and interest in, my old friends in the South knows no abatement. Our hearts were with you in those dark days and they are with you still, as the faint streaks of light gild the tops of the mountains, and if darker days come, with our working strength we will bear on high the touch of freedom kindled afresh at the altar of our common Father.

Yours truly,

R. S. RUST.

Following from Bishop C. H. Payne:

New York, Jan. 8, 1890. Rev. Dr. A. E. P. Albert, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans, La.

Dear Dr. Albert:

In reply to your esteemed favor inviting me to be present and participate in the celebration of the Quarter Centennial of the organization of your conference. I regret to say that a previous arrangement of visiting the conferences will prevent my presence on that auspicious occasion. I fully appreciate the honor of the invitation, and it would give me the greatest pleasure, were it consistent with my other duties, to be present and enjoy the interesting exercises which you will be certain to have.

Few events in the history of our great Church will in the future assume greater or more significant proportions than the inauguration of its work in the South. Our church has expended a large amount of money in that field, but when we mark the results of its missionary and educational work, especially among that people so largely represented in your own conference, I think every thoughtful man must admit that no more profitable investment of labor and money has been made by the church in any field of its wide missionary operations.

I rejoice with you over the splendid success that has crowned the labors of the faithful in the South and of the whole church which they represent. I look with the deepest interest on that entire field, and earnestly desire to see our work carried forward to still greater victories. Great in importance and successful in results as our work has been in the past I cannot but feel that it has a mission yet to fulfill of even greater importance. Unfortunately there are yet some questions to be settled touching the relations of the two races of people in the South and the recognition which shall be accorded to one race by the other. For myself, I can never be satisfied until I see the teachings of the New Testament and of that Gospel of equality which we preach, fully and practically carried out in letter and in spirit, wherever the Methodist Episcopal Church unfurls its banners.

Touching all matters pertaining to the rights and privileges of the colored race I am and must always be a Hebrew of the Hebrews. Born and brought up midway between Bunker Hill and Plymouth Rock. Early breathing the spirit and learning the traditions of both these historic places, educated at the feet of Charles Sumner, Wendell Phillips, William Lloyd Garrison and Gilbert Haven, I can never be anything else than an earnest friend and well wisher of the race for which these reformers made their eloquent pleas.

Nor can I be satisfied until I see that day dawn upon this Republic when everywhere in church and state the one standard by which men shall be judged, the one condition that shall determine their position and their privileges, shall be the stamp of manhood which they bear. So long as the color of a man's skin has anything more to do with determining his rights and relations in civil or in ecclesiastical affairs than does the color of his hair so long is there reformatory work to be done, and in that reformatory work I hope to take some active part until the end of my days.

All honor to the noble men who have thought and toiled so faithfully and successfully in the twenty-five years of your history now closed. All blessing and success be upon those who shall follow in the quarrel of a century upon which you now enter. Trusting your celebration may give new impulse and inspiration to the brave and loyal hearts that represent our cherished Methodist Episcopal Church in the South land, and with congratulations and sentiments of esteem, I am, your brother in the kingdom and service of Christ.

C. H. PAYNE.

In delivering the address of welcome to Bishop Newman, Rev. J. F. Marshall, said:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: We come together on this occasion under circumstances fraught with interests deep and abiding.

The organization of a religious denomination in any quarter of the globe, at any period of time, is a matter of no small concern.

But the return and reorganization of the Methodist Episcopal Church in this South land, after a lapse of twenty-one years, which period it had withdrawn active operations from this immediate field; and its achievements in ecclesiastical and educational work during the last twenty-five years, are matters of great importance to its members and every community in which it operates.

Much was temporarily lost to the old church by the separation from what is known as the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the evacuation of Southern territory during the interval intervening between '44 and '65.

But the memorable Christmas conference of 1865; the anniversary of which we now celebrate, known in history as the Mississippi Mission Conference, out of which has grown seven healthy and vigorous conferences—the Mississippi, Upper Mississippi, Texas, West Texas, Southern German, Austin, and our own Louisiana Conference was the beginning of a new order of things.

And while we can count present at this gathering but four of the original eighteen in this great movement, viz: our venerable then Doctor, now Bishop John P. Newman, whose masterly intellect and guiding spirit played the leading part in this Heaven born work, together with Reas Anthony Ross, Emperor William, William Munrele and W. M. Henry, worthy fathers and promoters in this movement, we might well conceive and be inspired by the thought, that the angelic spirit of Bishop Thompson who presided, and those of all the others, whether in the body or out are with us this evening, breathing into us the consciousness of our duty to carry forward with steady hands and unflinching step the glorious banner of Christ and his cause, unfurled and raised by our church in those days, and which waves to-day, increasing in glory and splendor as the years go by. We look back with joy over a period of 25 years filled with achievements of permanent deeds in the work of church and school building, accompanied by a corresponding work of evangelization, in the breaking of the bread of life to multitudes, and the enlightenment of thousands by the promethean fires that have been lighted broadcast through this land; while we stand in the glorious present pregnant with facilities and opportunities for greater, better work for the master, looking forward to an auspicious future with anticipations beyond description.

And now, after an absence of about twenty years, the pleasant duty devolves upon me, Bishop Newman, to welcome you back to our beautiful Louisiana, with its wonderful resources so marvelously adapted to the wants of mankind, with its picturesque lakes and bayous portrayed so elegantly in Longfellow's Evangeline.

We welcome you to this our Cosmopolitan Crescent City—the metropolis of the Southwest—with its semi tropical climate, where flowers bloom in mid-winter—to verify this assertion—I present you this floral token of our love and esteem, just plucked from our nature gardens—we welcome you to hospitality of our homes to share with us in common all with which Providence has blessed us—we welcome and request you to inspect and pass upon the work we have imperfectly done.

Above all, we welcome you to impart with us your spiritual gifts, and fatherly council, to the end that we may be edified and encouraged to greater conquests in the Master's vineyard.

We welcome, thrice welcome you!

Political Review.

The President has sent to the Senate the following nominations: Henry H. Swan, United States District Judge for the Eastern District of Michigan. Robert E. Hannay, United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Texas.

The Senate has passed the financial bill which provides for the free coinage of silver, and the silver men are happy. The measure is now pending before the House, where it originated for concurrence in the Senate Amendments which have so changed the bill that it can scarcely be recognized as the original measure. The President is said to look upon the bill with disfavor, and its fate can scarcely be predicted.

Now that the financial bill is out of the way the probabilities are that the Senate will not relax its efforts until the Federal Election bill passes that body. It may pass before another issue.

The Arkansas and Texas Legislatures organized last week. A sensation has been created by the report that State Treasurer Woodruff of Arkansas is short in his account $94,000. The South is now practically solid in the defection of its State Treasurer. Nearly every Southern State, under the reign of its "Superior Civilization" has furnished its State Treasury default. The Texas Legislature has only colored member, M. Patton, of Polk and San Jacinto counties.

Present indications point to the triumphant reelection of Senator Ingalls to the U. S. Senate from Kansas.

Senator Mitchell, Republican, has been reelected U. S. Senator from Oregon.

Senator Leland Stanford Republican, has been reelected U. S. Senator from California.

It now seems probable that Gov. D. B. Hill Democrat, will be elected U. S. Senator to succeed Senator Evans from New York.

The Conger Lard Bill, in the interest of hog lard producers and against cotton seed oil products is doomed for this session of Congress.

The political character of the murder of Prince Matthews, postmaster at Carrollton, Miss., is said to be established beyond dispute.

Nebraska has three claimants to its gubernatorial office. Gov. Thayer, (Rep.) present incumbent refuses to vacate because Powers, the Alliance candidate, he claims is not a citizen; and Powers, Democratic candidate, claims the office, as a cloud rests over the citizenship of Powers. The case will be decided by the courts.

The Louisiana State Lottery mandamus suit, to compel the Secretary of State to submit to the popular vote of the people the question whether the Lottery may be rechartered or not came up for a decision last Monday, we go to press too early to give the result.

The Legislature of Indiana has petitioned Congress to make the Commissioner of Labor a cabinet officer.

The persecution which has been inaugurated by certain North Louisiana Democrats against the official character of U. S. Judge Aleck Boorman has failed of its purpose, and the Congressional Committee appointed to investigate the charges are about to make a report thoroughly vindicating the Judge.

The resolution of Mr. Blanchard of Louisiana to investigate the political difficulties in New Hampshire are sufficient cheeky to make a dog laugh. Why the very idea of a Democratic representative of a district, that is overwhelmingly Republican, but that is kept Democratic by the most unblushing fraud, offering such resolutions sublimely ridiculous, if it was not so serious Senator Chandler and the Republicans of New Hampshire challenge and welcome investigation.

Echoes From Emancipation Day, Jan. 1.

We celebrated Emancipation Day, Jan. 1, and had a nice time. Raised for Freedmen's Aid, $3; the SOUTHWESTERN was not forgotten. We are preparing to build a new church. We will have a $2 rally on the first Sunday in June.

Emancipation Day was duly observed at New Haven Chapel by a large congregation, with an interesting program. The Emancipation proclamation was read by W. M. Curtis, of Hensley, Ark.; select reading by L. W. Pennington, of Woodson, Ark.; addresses by Rev. G. T. Ruthford, of the A. M. E. Church, and by the pastor. The young ladies and gentlemen furnished excellent music for the occasion. The SOUTHWESTERN is a welcome visitor.—Mary E. Strong Hensley, Ark.

Emancipation Day was observed at Midgett Chapel Jan. 1. The proclamation was read by Tony W. Sherron. Addresses were made by Mr. W. H. Mitchell, Miss Susie Tweedy, Miss Hattie Mitchell, and by the pastor. Rev. A. O. Williams and Mr. Parker Mitchell gave grand talks on the dark days of slavery, and highly magnified our present condition to that of those days. Eddie Blackmar gave a short address on the progress of the Negro in America. Rev. H. W. White on the duty of the race. The writer gave a talk on the race at large from the early days of slavery up to the present time.—Tony W. Sherron, Alamo, Tenn.

Personal.

—Dr. Albert left last Tuesday for Shreveport, from whence he goes to Texarkana, to attend the Little Rock Conference. Mrs. Dr. Albert accompanies him to Shreveport, where she will remain until February 14, when she will return with the Doctor, on his way from the Book Committee meeting at Cincinnati.

—The editor will visit the Central Alabama Conference at Marion, January 29; Mississippi Conference February 4, at Holly Springs; and the South Carolina Conference at Greenville, Feb. 6.

—Both of our New York Book Agents are in the South at present. Dr. Sanford Hunt, in company with Dr. C. H. Payne, is visiting conferences in Georgia and Florida; while Dr. Homer Eaton is visiting those in Texas.

—Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, of Zion's Herald, is not seriously sick, as reported in some of the daily papers.

—Hos. George Bancroft, the great American historian, died in Washington, D. C., Jan. 17, aged 91 years.

—After spending several days in this city, visiting the Louisiana Conference and examining the accounts of the SOUTHWESTERN, Rev. Homer Eaton, D.D., one of the Book Agents at New York, left for Texas, where he visits the conferences in that State. Too much praise cannot be given to Hunt and Eaton for their successful management of the Eastern Methodist Book Concern. Dr. Eaton expressed himself as very much gratified with the management of the SOUTHWESTERN.

—The brethren attending the conference remembered the SOUTHWESTERN with appreciative calls.

—Our faithful business manager, Mr. C. C. Morse, visited and made our collections at the Texas Conference, at Navasota, last week. He was well received by the presiding Bishop and brethren. He returned yesterday.

—Revs. W. H. W. Rees and C. L. Nye, of the Des Moines Conference, visitors to the Louisiana Conference, called during their stay here. We were glad to meet them.

—Revs. B. L. Crump, Presiding Elder in Mississippi Conference, S. J. Woods of Carey, L. J. S. Bell of Edwards, I. W. Davis of Yazoo City, C. H. Brown and wife, and H. Rounds, delegates from the Mississippi Conference to the great Quarter-Centennial of the Louisiana Conference, made pleasant calls. Rev. W. McDonald, of the Upper Mississippi Conference, was also among our callers.

—Rev. R. A. Howard, pastor of our Rampart Street Mission, was in this office a few days ago, and reported his work in a very flourishing condition.

—Gov. Wm. P. Kellogg is expected here this week. His many friends will be glad to welcome him home. Few public men have so ingratiated themselves in the affections of our people as has the bold and manly ex-Governor.

—Rev. J. W. E. Bowen, Ph.D., of Washington, D. C., has been sick, but is now able to be at his work again.

What They Say About the Washington-Payne Arraignment.

Dear Sir:—I beg space in your most excellent paper for a few remarks in reference to Bishop Payne's arraignment of colored ministers.

Bishop Payne may be authority for the several status of the A. M. E. Church, but when he takes it upon himself the obligation of proving that two-thirds of the ministers of our church are mentally or morally unfit for their calling he will find that he has attempted an impossibility.

I am glad to hear the alarm of danger sounded, that there is from these sources, but if candor compelled the Bishop to make this unqualified statement, he will allow me to be equally candid in pointing out the source of these evils and the remedy. Ignorance is always at a premium in colored Baptist Churches and the only qualification to become an A. M. E. preacher is the ability to tell the old worn out lie of persecution in the M. E. Church, and to be able to exhort the colored people to come out from among white folks. I am not a professional mud-slinger, but I will say this: The Bishop may know by this time that it is not the best thing for the church when men get involved in immoralities to move them around where they are not known, and every time a man falls in some other church hold out inducements for them.

A far-seeing man cannot help seeing that this moving policy will become impossible where vice is so prevalent; i. e. they will soon get around.

I shall state two cases that I think ought to make any church, holding the New Testament as their standard of morals, blush.

Rev. J. W. Summers was expelled from the M. E. Church for immorality, and it was published in the St. Louis Globe Democrat and the Kansas City Sun, but he is still preaching in another church. Rev. G. W. Lead was excluded from the M. E. Church, but he is still preaching in another church. I could give many more instances. "Whosoever carcass is, there also will the eagles gather."

N. E. GILLUM.

Dear Dr. Albert:—Please accept my congratulations for the many way in which you defended the [colored] ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church against the attacks of Bishop Payne and Prof. Washington. It is unfair for the Bishop to charge even the ministers of his own church thus, when he has had forty years in which to make better. He is the senior of his colleagues, and why did he not spend some of his time in showing by example that he has tried faithfully to remedy the evils of which he now complains? It is an established fact that ministers of corrupt morals in the A. M. E. Church are transferred from one conference into another and all their corruption with them. It would be rare news to hear of an A. M. E. minister being cited for immoral conduct of any kind; at least it would be rare news in Tennessee and Ohio, in which places I have lived, and in the latter I now hold a charge. Is such true of the M. E. Church? No. May God's choicest blessings, Mr. Editor, rest upon you in your great work.

Respectfully,

H. W. SIMMONS.

Grains of Gold from Bishop Newman's Conference Lectures.

I know a United States Senator who, during his whole career as a senator, made sixty-four motions in the Senate; and sixty-two of those were for adjournment. Chas. Sumner never moved to adjourn. He was a ceaseless worker. And that is what you must be if you would command success. Work is the great secret of success.

The great works of Bishop Foster are the sweats of Foster's massive brain.

Don't die at the top. Empty heads make empty pews.

Don't be afraid to work. Intellectual work is the greatest health restorer in the universe.

Don't squander your hours of study. They belong to your people. Common honesty demands that you keep them for your people, to whom they belong. They are as sacred as your hours of prayer.

Study six days in the week, as if there was no Holy Ghost to help you; and plead on your knees for the help of the Holy Ghost on Sunday as if you had not studied at all during the week.

Some books are to be read, others to be studied. Only a few books need to be studied.

The first paragraph in any chapter generally contains all there is in it.

A good method to study is to take some great personage or event as a center, and from that point radiate your enquiries in every direction. For instance take Luther as the centre of the Germania Reformation Church, and enquire what was the political, intellectual and religious condition of the world at that time. Have some object in view in study. Study geography, geology, botany, chemistry, astronomy, Greek, Hebrew, sacred history, doctrines, etc.; and thereby be prepared for emergencies. Study what you don't like. Bend your mind and thereby exercise it.

Prepare topical, textual, and expository sermons. Paul was the great topical preacher.

Time is an essential element in sermonizing. Don't expect to waste the time in the week and then to succeed in preparing a sermon in ten minutes on Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Cultivate your voice and use it for Christ. Speak from the chest, and not from your nose and head.

Be natural in your gestures. Do not point toward Heaven when picturing the tortures of the damned, nor toward the earth when picturing the bliss of Heaven.

Practice and learn to read out your hymns and the Scripture lessons, so as to be clearly understood, or so that the meaning can be made manifest. Use the correct tone and emphasis.

The mind is a bundle of forces.

Schools and Colleges.

Bishop Mallalieu's Plea.

"What! have you no medical school in New Orleans?" The answer is: "Yes; we have a large and excellent one, but it is only for white students. No colored man, whatever his merits, is allowed to enter it." Meanwhile within three hundred miles of New Orleans there are probably more than two millions of colored people. The death-rate among them is far in excess of that among the whites. They sadly need medical attendance. The vast majority of them are too poor to pay the prices charged by white physicians, and most of these consider it as inimical to their success and prosperity to have it known that they practice regularly among the colored people. When the colored people were slaves they were not altogether neglected in the matter of suitable care when they were sick. It was for the master's interest to care for his sick slaves. But who cares for them now? The vast majority of the two millions are neglected by the competent physicians. Every compassionate instinct of good men and women, every impulse of humanity, every heart-throb of Christian love, demands that they be no longer neglected. God only knows the suffering of these people, these multitudes of poor little children, these women that must endure all that comes to women, and no hand of mercy and skill to bring relief. How strange that human hearts should fail to pity such weak and weary, such sick and dying thousands!

The best thing for the permanent good of these people is to establish this medical school for which I plead. But why should my pleadings become necessary? These are God's poor, and he pleads for them. It needs two hundred thousand dollars to build up and fairly endow this medical school. Doubtless men and women will read these lines who could give the whole amount, and then have enough left for all needs, comforts and luxuries. Will they not hear God's call? Will they not respond? These suffering ones have neither voice nor pen to reach the people who could help them. These words must lack the pathos of the faint moaning of the sick who might live if they had help; these words can not touch the heart as the despairing but pleading gaze of eyes soon to be closed in death because no succor is at hand. But none the less it is most devoutly hoped that some eyes may rest upon these words until the heart is moved with Christlike love and compassion, and generous help be afforded to this cause, which is at once patriotic, philanthropic, and Christian.

Why not open correspondence with the writer of this? He will help, by personal and direct care and supervision, to utilize to its utmost possibility all you will consecrate and give to the high and holy purpose for which it is asked. It is very important to secure $10,000, in order to hold $15,000 conditionally pledged.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrh disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Bass of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

AN APPEAL.

To The People:

The adoption by the Legislature of Louisiana, at its last session, of act No 115, entitled "An act to provide for the comfort of passengers," &c., and better known as the separate car law, is a matter of public notoriety.

While the bill was pending before the General Assembly, the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association earnestly protested and exerted its influence against its passage.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the reasons adduced then why this law should not have been enacted. All are familiar with them, and feel the degradation the law imposes on American citizenship.

The duty that remains to us to perform is to defeat or render nugatory the operations of this unjust and oppressive law.

To this end the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association will institute a suit to test the constitutionality of the infamous law and maintain the right of American citizens to travel on railroads and public conveyances.

For the successful prosecution of the suit money is needed.

Therefore, to secure the sinews of legal warfare, we appeal to the people generally for aid and assistance.

We appeal specially to ministers of the gospel. We request these emissaries of harmony and good-will among men to read this address from their pulpits and make its subject-matter a text for their sermons, in order to arouse the people to the sense of their patriotic duty in the premises.

We appeal to the presidents, officers and members of the associations, benevolent and charitable, educational, labor and others, in New Orleans and elsewhere, to introduce the matter into their assemblies and make it a subject of their deliberations, to the end that their organizations may, collectively, tender us their help.

We appeal to the leaders of men to propagate the idea among their followers, to enlist their interest and support in the cause.

Realizing the influence of the gentle sex and their zeal and earnestness in and devotion to the cause of right and justice, we appeal to the loyal women of the country to give us their invaluable aid. Let them talk the subject to the men in their social assemblies, church meetings, and other gatherings, and thus induce the latter to send their contributions singly, or, still better, organize circles to raise funds for the end proposed by entertainments, festivals, &c.

We appeal to those moulders of public opinion, the newspapers of the United States—the loyal press—to publish this appeal and make its object the subject of their approving comments and criticisms in order to create and maintain a public sentiment, from which the needed aid will readily flow. We request all newspapers in sympathy with the cause to act as agents of this Association to receive contributions from the good people of their localities, to be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

Finally as the favorable issue of the snit will redound to the everlasting benefit of all, we appeal to the lovers of fair play and justice throughout this broad land for their encouragement, material aid and assistance.

We will employ the very best legal talent that the country affords. We know that the amount required will be large, but it can be easily raised by dime and nickel contributions.

Let all send in their mite. As soon as the necessary amount will have been secured, we will inform the people and cease the collection.

Conscious of the justice of our cause, and supported by a loyal people, we will not desist from our course until this infamous law which is a continual menace to the peace of society, a standing insult to us, our wives, mothers and sisters, and which threatens to be a badge of inferiority to our posterity, is nullified, and we have created such a sentiment that will hereafter prevent any attempt to enforce a similar law or regulation anywhere in this free country of ours.

"Fellow-Citizens of the Saints."

"Fellow citizens of the saints." Think for a moment how much is implied in this. What a vast assemblage, what a glorious companionship is that which you and I, with our frailties, our shortcomings, our self-seeking, our worldliness, our distrust, our faithfulness are fain boldly to claim a place! All those glorious spirits, venerable patriarchs, righteous kings, rapt seers, glorious psalmists, who lived and wrought and suffered in the ancient days in the hope of a better promise; men "who through faith subdued kingdoms; wrought righteousness, . . . of whom the world was not worthy." All those apostles and teachers who, kindling their torches at the sacred fire, the glory of the Eternal Son himself, carried the light of the gospel into all lands, giving up everything for Christ, offering to lose their lives, that by losing them they might find them. All those martyrs and doctors of the later ages who handed down the sacred treasure through successive generations amid the confusion of barbarism and the darkness of idolatry, rejoicing to be devoured by hungry lions and to die at the stake. Polycarp, calm and brave as his flesh quivered in the flame; Chrysostom, with his flowery eloquence; Augustine, with his piercing insight and force—these share, too, in the glorious company whose names live in history. And others, true saints of God, though they appear not in the calendar of any church; men and women from the rigor of whose lives succeeding generations have their inspiration and strength; all whose holiness and purity, whose courage and self-sacrifice, whose gentleness and meekness, whose loving charity, has been a never failing fountain of refreshment to the weary pilgrim in the thirsty wilderness of the world. And others, too, there are, whose memories shall perish not, though they have left no names in history, but whose brows nevertheless, God himself will crown with a halo of glory—poor, despised, unknown artisans and peasants, weak women and feeble children, martyrs in martyrdom of daily life, saints in the saintliness of homely duty, throngs innumerable of every nation and kindred and people and tongue, clothed with white robes and palms in their hand, standing before the throne of God, and serving him day and night in his temple.—Bishop Lightfoot.

DONALD KENNEDY

Of Roxbury, Mass., says

My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because no two people have the same weak spot. Beginning at the stomach it goes searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps it is only a little sediment left on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along, and you find quick happiness from the first bottle. Perhaps it is a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. The Medical Discovery begins the fight, and you think it pretty hard, but soon you thank me for making something that has reached your weak spot. Write me if you want to know more about it.

LESSON HYMN, S. 7.

Only waiting, till the shadows
Are a little longer grown;
Only waiting, till the glimmer
Of the day's last beam is flown;
Till the light of earth is faded
From the hearts once full of day;
Till the stars of heaven are breaking
Through the twilight soft and gray.

Only waiting, till the reapers
Have the last sheaf gathered home;
For the summer time is faded,
And the autumn winds have come.
Quickly, reapers, gather quickly
These last ripe hours of my heart,
For the bloom of life is withered,
And I hasten to depart.

Time.—About B. C. 906. Following closely the last lesson.

Places.—1. Beersheba, a city at the southern end of the kingdom of Judah; 2. Horeb, or Sinai, where the law was given to Moses.

Rulers.—1. Ahab, King of Israel; 2. Jehoshaphat, King of Judah; 3. Benhadad, King of Syria.

Mississippi Conference.

The twenty third session of the Mississippi Annual Conference convened at Moss Point, Miss. Jan. 7, 1891, with Bishop J. P. Newman, D.D., L.L.D., in the chair. The religious exercises were conducted by the Bishop, Rev. L. J. S. Bell, read the scripture lesson and Rev. R. McAlpin led in prayer. The Lord's supper was administered by the Bishop assisted by the presiding elder and the Rev. J. L. Pratt, pastor at Moss Point. J. M. Shumpert, the secretary of the last conference called the roll and nearly all the members were present and answered to their names. J. M. Shumpert, was reelected secretary.

S. A. Cowan and Joseph Campbell were elected assistant secretaries. A. D. Payne was elected statistical secretary, with J. C. Hibbler and J. C. Houston assistants. A. M. Trotter was elected conference treasurer. The secretary was appointed publisher of the minutes. The several standing committees were elected. Bishop Newman presented to the conference a draft of $577 from the Book Concern dividend which was ordered.

Book Concern accounts were placed in the hands of A. J. McNair and J. I. Garrett, for collection. The appointment for the expenses of the next General Conference was ordered to be apportioned to the several abstracts and charges by the presiding elder. J. C. Houston was appointed to secure subscribers for The Gospel, in all lands. The Bishop then addressed the conference in a very able and appropriate manner, dwelling at considerable length upon the organization of the Mississippi mission conference, in which he was the leading character twenty-five years ago, and upon the marvelous development of the same during that wonderful period.

The twentieth question was taken up and the character of Joseph Campbell, presiding elder of the Jackson district was passed and he reported his work, as did also the presiding elder on his district. Rev. Mr. Byers of the Presbyterian Church, and C. A. Powell, of the M. E. Church, South, were introduced.

As Handy and Peter Hill, were absent.

John Erret and S. Jossell were made supernumeraries. J. M. Shumpert, of the Meridian district had his character passed and he reported his work, as did also the elder on his district. H. Henderson, and H. Heslop were absent. The character of B. L. Crump, presiding elder of the Brookhaven district passed, after which he reported his work, as did also the elder on the district. Elias Harris, had died during the year. Wm. Payne was absent. Rev. S. M. Johnson of the A. M. E. Zion Church, was introduced. Benediction by Rev. C. A. Powell.

A statistical session was held in the afternoon, when Rev. J. D. Walden, presided. J. C. Houston, conducted the religious services.

Second Day.—The Bishop delighted the conference with a lecture on ministerial success. G. W. Garrett was elected assistant secretary. Cosmo Stewart and James Drayton were granted supernumerary relations.

A. W. Dorsey was continued as a supernumerary. The vote of the laity on the question of the admission of women to the General Conference, was reported as follows:

	FOR	AGAINST
Brookhaven district.....	183	496
Jackson.....	249	752
Meridian.....	415	1547
Total.....	847	2795

Total vote cast.....3642
The Conference voted on the same question with the following result, for admission 11, against 33. J. C. Hibbler, was continued and passed to the seven years' course of study. Dr. O. E. Libby, president of Rust University, was introduced and addressed the conference in behalf of Rust University. Mr. W. D. Denny, the Bishop's host was introduced. Benediction by Dr. Libby.

Third Day.—S. A. Cowan led in prayer. A draft of $30 from the chartered fund was presented by the Bishop and ordered paid. The presiding elders were directed to apportion the Sunday-school Union and Tract Society apportionments, to the several charges. The following were advanced to the senior class of directors; viz Israel C. Rucker, Melville Cooper, J. S. Thomas, was given a supernumerary relation and continued in the first class of deacons. The proposition from the Philadelphia delegates in the General Conference shall sit as one body and never divide resulted as follows; for concurrence 42, against 2. The proposition from the same in favor of equal lay and ministerial representation was voted upon with following results; for concurrence 1, against 42.

The following second class of deacons were advanced viz. Andrew Reid, Chas. H. Johnson, Andrew J. McNair (1888), I. W. Davis, Peter Hill, and Pleasant Baldwin were continued in the same relation.

Simpson Jossell was taken from supernumerary list and made effective. The following were elected to elder order and ordained on Sunday: Peter F. Robinson, O. H. Flowers, James K. Comfort, James Jordan, and R. P. Thirkield, Wm. McMorris, now at Gammon, was continued in his same course of studies. Quite a discussion now ensued on the practice of ministers engaging in secular pursuits, and while no definite action was taken it was clearly manifest that the conference does not intend to allow its members to thus entangle themselves unless thus driven by necessity. After strict examination and an impressive address by the Bishop the following were admitted into connection, viz. A. B. Logan, A. H. Quinn, (elected deacon and ordained on Sunday), Harris Hampton, Robt. B. Anderson, Richard Roberts, and David Ray were continued on trial, Rev. A. E. P. Albert, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, was introduced and addressed the conference in behalf of the paper. Dr. Harmon, of the M. E. Church South, and Mrs. Dr. A. E. P. Albert were introduced. Dr. Harmon pronounced the benediction. During the afternoon a session was held, when J. C. Houston led in prayer.

The following were elected to deacon's orders; Moses Martin, M. L. Hobson, Lewis Tate, Jerry B. Brooks, James T. Knox, Stephen McDavis, Handy Roundtree, Wm. H. Smith, Dr. Homer Eaton, book agent from New York, was introduced. The following were admitted on trial, J. B. Brooks, Stephen McDavis, J. T. Knox, Handy Roundtree, Geo. Beaman, Moses Martin, Lewis Tate, M. L. Hobson. The conference authorized the presiding elders to employ A. Lacy. The Bishop now delivered a very instructive and interesting lecture on the methods of study, sermonizing and voice culture. Benediction by Dr. Eaton.

Fourth Day.—P. H. Davis led the devotion. The Lieutenant Governor of the State of Mississippi was introduced and delivered a very friendly and appreciated address. Mrs. Bishop Newman, was introduced and invited to address the conference on the subject of temperance. The elder's orders of W. N. G. Lipscomb from the Baptist Church were recognized, and he took the vows of our ministry. The committee on periodicals reported and the conference adopted resolutions strongly endorsing the SOUTHWESTERN, and pledging itself to greater exertions in its behalf than ever. Every day of the 365 days of the year were appointed SOUTHWESTERN day; and especially the first Sunday in February, when a special canvass in every charge was directed to be made. Other committees reported and their reports were adopted. Those in favor of temperance and education were particularly strong. Children of deceased ministers were declared claimants until sixteen years of age unless specially afflicted. Dr. Eaton delivered an able and impressive address in behalf of the book concern and the SOUTHWESTERN.

The work of Mrs. V. A. McNyon as a temperance worker was endorsed. A commission on boundary to meet a similar committee from the upper Mississippi conference was appointed, viz the presiding elders, and A. M. Trotter and J. C. Houston. Their expenses were ordered to be paid by the treasurer. The conference authorized as many of its members as had to pass through New Orleans on their way from conference, to act as a delegation to take part in the great quarter-centennial celebration of Southwestern Methodism, there Jan. 13. Benediction by Jos. Campbell.

During the afternoon a special session was held with J. C. Houston in the chair. The treasurer reported W. H. T. Smith was admitted on trial. Strong and vigorous temperance speeches were delivered by Mrs. V. A. McNyon, Rev. L. J. S. Bell, S. J. Woods, J. I. Garrett, Prof. S. L. Jones, and Dr. A. E. P. Albert. Benediction by S. J. Woods.

Fifth Day.—Conference Sabbath day was a day long to be remembered, at 9 a. m., a private conference was held between the bishop and the preachers, at 9:30 the conference love feast was conducted by Dr. J. C. Hartzell, corresponding secretary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society. Many previous testimonies were given, at 11 a. m. Bishop Newman preached with great power. The spirit accompanied the word and every heart was moved, some to shouts of victory; others to penitential tears.

It was indeed good to be there at 3 p. m., those elected were ordained to deacon's and elders orders. Dr. Hartzell, Rev. C. A. Powell, of the M. E. Church South and Dr. Albert gave short but impressive exhortations. The Bishop then called the congregation a season of special consecration when the altar was crowded with penitent sinners and back-sliders, seeking salvation and with ministers and members pleading for perfect love. Many hearts rejoined and testified of the precious gifts received. At night Dr. Hartzell held his vast congregation spell-bound with the marvelous story of the Cross, and of the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, especially through the society which he represented.

Sixth Day.—The conference resolved to raise $300 to assist in the erection of a church at Natchez. Dr. Hartzell addressed the conference in behalf of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, and the conference pledged to fully co-operate in the grand quarter centennial jubilee of the society next May. A number of reports were adopted, resolution of thanks and appreciation to the Bishop, the pastor and people of Moss Point, the secretaries, rail roads, etc. were adopted.

The following statistics were reported: viz. Probationers, 1,930; Members, 12,930; Local Preachers, 208; Deaths, 224; Children Baptized, 685; Adults Baptized, 1,270; Churches, 176; Value, $110,254; Parsonages, 38; Value, $11,500; Paid for building, etc. $11,533; Debts paid, $1,903; Present indebtedness, $6,037; Current expenses, $1,536; No. of Sunday-schools, 178; Officers and teachers, 893; Scholars, 10,247; Benevolent collections from: Churches, $147.25; Sunday-

Mississippi Conference Notes.

The conference was royally entertained.

Rev. J. D. Walden always sends as many subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN, in proportion to his membership as any man in the conference, but is never indebted to the Concern. We generally owe him. Why not pattern after him? Now, wout you?

Dr. Homer Eaton, Book Agent at New York, plead with great power the duty of absolute loyalty to all the publications of the Methodist Book Concern. But he pleaded especially for a more vigorous canvass and extensive circulation for the SOUTHWESTERN. He expressed the hope that every Methodist family would send to this office for a copy of the "House of Bondage," and "The Colored Man in the M. E. Church." These are publications by colored authors; they are worthy of the largest circulation; and should be in the hands of all people everywhere. House of Bondage, 75c. per copy; The Colored Man in the M. E. Church, $1.25 per copy.

The private conference between the conference and the Bishop and ministers was as effective in its results as its peculiarity and novelty. In answer to the question, "Why are we not perfect in our christian experience?" the following answer was elicited, viz: "My ministry was not subordinated to Christ; I stood before the cross. Temper, and penitence, ambition, vanity, too much self and not enough for Christ; love of ease; vindictiveness; love of applause; lack of faith; family care, impatience; passion and peevishness at carelessness in little things; despondency; egotism; foul imagination; 'I always think myself the biggest fool in any crowd.'"

In his closing address, Bishop Newman took occasion to compliment the conference on the manhood, courage and calmness which they exhibited, and the ability with which they carried on the work of their conference. He was impressed with the good English spoken on all occasions. And he greeted them as a noble body of men. In conclusion, he exhorted them to be true to the church, their vows and ministry, and to Christ.

During the conference session the church was crowded every night to listen to the able and stirring sermons preached by several of the ministers. Among those preaching very effective sermons were: Revs. A. M. Trotter, the missionary sermon; J. C. Hibbler, N. Toole, G. W. Smith, and Dr. A. E. P. Albert.

No company of preachers are more emphatic in their devotion to the SOUTHWESTERN than are the preachers of this conference. They say they propose to double their cash subscription to the paper. All right. Who will be the first to double. All may speak and act at once.

The Conference did a nice thing in its pledges of support to the Meridian Academy; and in its continued loyalty to Rust. The Meridian District will give its Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education collection to the Academy, and the other three districts to Rust. This conference cannot afford to relax an iota in its support to that excellent institution, and its able and devoted faculty. That's right, don't forget Meridian Academy; but don't flinch in your adhesion to Rust.

IT IS TO BE REGRETTED that many mothers do not commence the use of Mellin's Food until their infants are ill. This food, it must be borne in mind, is not a medicine, and is not intended primarily for sick babies; it is the best artificial food for both healthy and feeble infants.

The Bible and the Admission of Women.

Dear friends of the colored conferences: You as ministers in your respective conferences are casting your votes for or against the admission of women to General Conference. It is of the greatest importance to the work of the church that you vote aright. If this thing be of man it will and it should come to naught "but if it be of God ye cannot overthrow it;" but you can hinder even God's work. Christ might have come a thousand years sooner had the chosen people been faithful to their mission; the millennium would be here now had the church of Christ been whole hearted and steadfast in its consecration. Because of this possibility of delaying God's work and because I fully believe that he is in this reform, I ask your thoughtful, candid attention to a discussion in favor of the admission of women from a Bible standpoint. It is a false accusation that those who favor the movement disregard the teachings of the Bible. As learned exegetes as there are declare that the Bible, rightly interpreted, not only is not against but is positively in favor of the change. Mere human authority is not decisive, nevertheless when such men as our lamented Bishops Matthew Simpson and Gilbert Haven, and those still with us like Dr. Pullman, President Ridgway, of Garrett Biblical Institute, President Eashford, of the Ohio Wesleyan University, the editors of nearly all of our church papers and many others of note, doctors of divinity and professors of colleges, advocate the full participation of woman in the affairs of the church, it is time for our opponents to cease their cry that none except those who are determined to wrest it to their own view can doubt that the Bible teaches the subordination of woman. Consider also the vote of the church. The intelligence of the laity of the church is strongly in favor of the admission of women. It is easy enough to say as one of our church papers does in effect, that personal ambition actuates the women who favor this change, but it is worse than unfair; it is worthy only of petty criminal lawyers to strive to arouse prejudice by impugning the motives of those who differ with us. Besides, the vote shows that such an implication includes a large majority of the most intelligent women of the church and it does not accord well with their known devotion and loyalty to the cause of Christ; not to speak of the same paper's discordant statement that the devotion of the women of the church is the balance wheel which preserves the piety of the church during the excitement of the year preceding General Conference, when, according to its vivid picture, pastors and laymen lose their heads or their religion or both.

In the face of these facts; many of the most learned men of the church declaring the admission of women in harmony with the Bible, the intelligence of the laity strongly in favor, the majority of the christian women of the church asking for admission, it behooves everyone who opposes the change to be very sure of his ground, to be ready to admit that he is as liable to be mistaken or prejudiced as his brother or sister, and, in all fairness, to examine the scriptures and see if he has not misunderstood its teachings.

In considering any practical question of this kind it is first to be remembered that the Bible does not attempt to lay down rules to govern man's conduct under all possible circumstances; if it did, the world itself would not be able to contain the books that should be written. It simply gives principles to guide us and the application of those principles must vary according to the civilization in which we are placed. This is seen in the Bible history itself. How does God treat slavery? He does not attempt to abolish it when he first leads an ignorant, degraded, rebellious people to the promised land; he gave laws to mitigate its severity. Are we then to conclude that he approved the system? So argued the Southern slave-holders. How was the fierce code of blood-revenge dealt with? God might have given the Israelites a better criminal legislation than the one which Anglo-Saxons boast as one of the best features of their civil liberty. Instead he gave them the cities of refuge which modified the cruelty of their custom. But the spirit of their religion and institutions as it gradually wrought its work, well-nigh abolished slavery before Christ came and evolved a criminal code which compares favorably with our own. How does the Bible in its history and teachings treat women? Let it be first understood that in the times of Old Testament history, women throughout the world were little better than slaves. In this case as in others, God does not overturn at one sweep the prejudices and customs of generations, but very soon we find that for some reason Hebrew women stand far above the women of all contemporaneous nations. Before the promised land was reached, the daughters of Zelophehad asked that they might have their father's inheritance inasmuch as they had no brothers. Moses did not summarily refuse their request, unprecedented though it was, but brought their cause before the Lord (would that all the Mosesses of the present would do the same). He approved their petition and made it the law for all similar cases. Later Deborah judged Israel and led its forces out to battle. "But," we are told, "these are exceptions and to take exceptional cases for our rule of action would be subversive of all government." That depends upon what the exceptions were based. The first case decided that there was nothing in sex itself that necessarily precluded the inheritance of property, otherwise such a sweeping exception could not be made. The whole transaction shows what our present civilization recognizes that it was prejudice alone which confined the inheritance to the male sex, but with that prejudice God does not see fit directly to interfere except under peculiar circumstances. In Deborah's case sex was no obstacle to her holding the highest position in the nation when superior ability qualified her for it and she was certainly a clear case of what our opponents would now call "woman's usurping authority over the man." But once admit that sex is not an insuperable obstacle to such position and it is admitted for all time. Whenever any woman has the fitness which enables her to serve God and country in such a position, she is eligible to the position and only God and herself can decide the call. The application of the principle which made Deborah judge over Israel would admit the christian women of the nineteenth century to equal participation with men in the administration of church government.

That Christ did not have women among the twelve disciples seems to some decisive of this question. It would not if they would candidly consider the fact that he never wantonly antagonized the prejudices of his times. He did not come to institute specific reforms but to win men back to God—to institute all reform. Yet women occupied an honored place among his followers and were the first to publish the tidings of his resurrection. The references of Paul to the women who were his laborers show that they continued to proclaim the gospel. "Ah, yes, but Paul says 'wives be in subjection to your own husbands and I suffer not a woman to usurp authority over the man,' etc." That we may know how to deal with these utterances let us ask what is the method of interpretation adopted by our church in all other matters? It is that no mere fragmentary passages, severed from their relations, be taken as the teachings of scripture upon any point but that all the utterances of the inspired writers upon the subject in question be considered in their connection, in their bearing upon one another and in their relation to the circumstances under which they were written. It is by this method of interpretation alone that our Arminian church can keep fellowship with Paul, for Paul has uttered ten calvinistic sentiments to every one in favor of the subordination of women. Yet our church boldly claims Paul as an Arminian. "For," say we, "the specific utterances which, taken by themselves, might seem to teach predestination are seen when taken with their context, to be capable of harmonizing entirely with the Arminian view and any other interpretation makes Paul hopelessly inconsistent with himself and contradictory to the spirit of the teachings of the whole of the rest of the scriptures and of Christ himself." Commenting upon this method of interpretation a Presbyterian Sunday-school lesson help exclaims, "Oh, Paul, you were stoned and beaten and beheaded but did you ever expect to be called an Arminian?" I believe Paul to be an Arminian but by the same method of interpretation, I am equally sure he is the champion of "woman's rights." Upon what other ground can you harmonize his forbidding women to teach in one breath with his commendation of his women fellow laborers in the other? How can his command that women keep silence, be in subjection, etc., be anything but absolutely contradictory to his glorious prophecy. "There can be neither Jew nor Greek, there can be neither bond nor free, there can be no male and female, for ye are all one man in Christ Jesus," unless you regard the former as given to a particular church under peculiar conditions. I know that our opponents have sought to weaken this prophecy but it now becomes our turn to say that only willful determination to wrest it can bring in doubt the meaning of this passage. In the light of Christ's gospel, the distinction of bond and free have utterly disappeared from the civilized nations of the globe. The race prejudices of to-day are as nothing to the walls of bitter hatred that then separated nation from nation, and the last vestige of it is sure to pass away. Sex will doubtless remain as long as the race remains upon the planet, but the artificial man-made distinctions based upon it are doomed to destruction if "there can be no male nor female" means anything.

It may be helpful, too, to remember that Paul said repeatedly "servants (which in the original means bond-servants, slaves), obey in all things your masters according to the flesh." He sent the runaway slave back to his master and from those words and that act Southern slave-holders claimed the sanction of God upon the most iniquitous system of slavery the world has ever seen. The very same line of argument which removes Paul from the champions of slavery takes him also from the ranks of those who advocate the subordination of woman.

In the beginning God said, "it is not good for man to be alone." He did not limit the statement to the home and we have no more right to do so than we have to limit it to the school-house or the market place. "But after that came the curse, 'thy desire shall be to thy husband and he shall rule over thee.'" What of that other curse, "cursed be Canaan, a servant of servants shall he be to his brethren"? If Christ removed the one curse be did the other also. If it is our duty to see that one curse is still enforced our duty is the same regarding the other, and we sacrificed in an unrighteous cause how many precious lives, how much treasure?

During the last century woman has been slowly regaining her rightful position by man's side in one place after another. "Now," say our opponents, "see what christianity, especially Methodism christianity has done for woman! We let her speak in prayer meeting, notwithstanding Paul does say she should keep silence and ask her husband at home, we allow her to 'usurp authority over the man,' to the extent of holding various offices in the church and Sunday-school, voting for lay delegates, etc. We admit her to our colleges, we read her articles when she writes for the papers, listen to her when she speaks from the platform, but with this magnanimity you must be satisfied, we draw the line here." But mark you, those who so freely accord woman the above named privileges but refuse to go farther, fought every step of her advance while she was seeking to enter these hard-won fields and with precisely the same argument with which they now seek to shut the doors of General Conference against her. But in every case thus far she has proved these arguments false, her presence has been a blessing in every department of life to which she has been admitted.

And now brothers, we, a great majority of the christian women of the church ask for what we consider our rightful place in the councils of the church. And we ask it not because we desire place or honor for ourselves but because we fully believe that it will promote the best interests of the church and the advancement of Christ's kingdom. Think carefully and prayerfully before you refuse, be not guilty of the fatal error of those who cried out, "this people that knoweth not the law is accursed."

L. M. HAGOOD.

"Well, I'll tell you I felt spotted as a leopard. I knew it was not only a breach of etiquette, as well as an exhibition of ignorance to speak that way of any one, but then I did not blame the girl for she had never been taught that it was wrong. I felt that something would grow out of it for every one that beard her turned red in the face except the black.—Well, now I'd just as well learn common decency while I'm out of the South—the colored gentleman. So after my folks went to their rooms I went to the office. I was surprised to find that it was not the clerk that wanted to see me, but a gentleman in the private parlor, to the right. When I came in I found the finest room into which I had ever gone. A gentleman arose and unceremoniously began by saying "Mr. Smith, I am the manager of this house and find by the register that you are stopping here and that one of your family insulted every person at the table to-day by making a scurrilous remark about one of my guests because of his color. Permit me to say to you that I never brook insults offered my guests though it should come from Queen Vic., and I have only to say"—"Pardon me sir, not knowing your name I can't address you by it, but allow me a word, I said, I saw he was getting excited—"I wish to apologize for my grand-daughter. She was raised in the South. It is true she has visited New Orleans, Nashville, Louisville and Cincinnati, but has never been this far north before and did not know it was wrong. I am sorry to say that some of our women in the South find it wise to act rudely toward people of color to keep down the spirit of jealousy that now and then exhibits itself. Were a lady to sit beside a gentleman of color at any hotel of the cities I have mentioned without complaint, some white man would accuse her at least of having a liking for them." "Now, Mr. Smith, my time is limited, but permit me to say to you that a gentleman is a gentleman wherever you find him; it makes no difference what his color is. And you people of the South must distinctively understand that you owe only what you can pay for and nothing more. That gentleman is educated and refined and there was nothing about him any one could object to except the fact that he was better dressed and understood table etiquette better than any one near him. Did your grand-daughter not notice he was leading in a discussion on recent scientific discovery?" "Yes, yes, that is all true but my folks will know better next time, I assure you. I promise you nothing of the kind will occur again. To mend matters, if you will have him come to the parlor here I shall be glad to introduce my family to him, and"—"Well, Mr. Smith, you will excuse me, but I can tell you unless you have something worthy of his recognition he would not thank me for such a breach of etiquette." "You may tell him I'm Colonel Smith from Ky." "Well I would not advise you to wait, he said, as he passed out the door. I followed him and returned to my room to find my grand-daughter almost in hysterics. My wife had told her her worst fears and they were afraid of being driven from the hotel." We parted—he to go to the hotel and I to my lodging place, but I could not help but think sorely this is "God's country." Early next morning we were at the depot ready to take the train for Lewiston where we were to get a steamer for Toronto, Canada. There were five hundred excursionists aboard the train. A tall but rather fine looking gentleman, with a large "Cowboy-looking" black hat, and wearing a corkscrew diagonal suit of black, came and sat beside me. He was from Birmingham, Ala. He at first looked up and down the car as if looking to see if anybody saw him sit down by me. No one seemed to know he was there and doubtless he felt it, for he interrupted the conversation between myself and a gentleman and wife from Cleveland who had been in conversation concerning the question of the annexation of Canada, to ask "Yon say you are from Kentucky. Well, what's your name? I'm very glad to meet you. I'm from Alabama and my name is"—But the conductor cried out "Lewiston."

This place (Lewiston) is but a short distance from Niagara and is the place where the steamers for Toronto land. After much commotion and pleasant excitement all were aboard and the fine steamer moved gracefully away from the shore and started due North for Lake Ontario. To the left, as we steamed out, was seen, on the Canadian shore, a fine granite monument. This river, Niagara, is the outlet of Lake Erie into Lake Ontario and is thirty-three miles in length, and 4,750 feet wide. It is now and here a placid stream.

That monument is 194 feet high. Inside is a winding stair-case up which one may ascend nearly to its apex. It was erected in memory of the British Gen'l. Isaac Brock, where he fell in battle at Queens-town, Ca., in the war of 1812. It was almost destroyed in 1840, but was moved nearer the American shore afterward and built as you now see it. It stands there amid sunshine and shadow, foul and pleasant weather a silent reminder of the sad conflict of the past. We ascended 303 steps.

THE following note shows how the SOUTHWESTERN is appreciated wherever read.

A. E. P. Albert, D. D.

Dear Sir:

With, and including this number of the SOUTHWESTERN, July 17, 1890, is my third number of your most worthy and interesting paper, and, allow me to say that so far, I am so pleased with it that I would not be without it for five times the amount of subscription asked. I was solicited to subscribe for the SOUTHWESTERN some time ago by your local agent here Prof. G. W. Wells, a member of the Wiley University faculty, and, not knowing the real value of the publication or how interesting it would prove to be to me, I only subscribed of him more as a personal matter between him and I; but as previously stated above I would not be without your paper the (SOUTHWESTERN) for many times its subscription price.

In conclusion I would add that you may rely upon me as a regular subscriber for always. I must have the SOUTHWESTERN.

I remain respectfully,

T. J. FLOWERS.

Church Polity.

What do you think of a preacher who says that it cannot be proved that the dying thief went to Heaven? He says he has Scripture for it. Please explain. H.R.B.

A. Either you misunderstand and erroneously report the preacher, or he does not know what he is talking about. The teachings of the Scripture are clear that the dying thief that begged the Savior to be remembered was saved, and went with him to the same Heaven or Paradise, where all redeemed souls are now at rest.

Letters from the Districts.

Notes from the Austin District.

MACK HENSON.

The people and interested members of our church have rendered their verdict on the question agitating the public mind as to whether women shall be admitted as delegates to the General Conference. The verdict of Austin district is against the women. According to our membership, only one-sixth of the entire members voted upon the question. There were 98 for, and 294 against admission. The minutes show 2,156 members, and only 392 expressed themselves either way, which shows a lack of courage to express a conviction; therefore the canvass for votes on either side was without enthusiasm.

The letter of Bro. A. M. Mason in a recent issue, touching upon matters pertaining to the development of the work on Austin District is full of good suggestions and advice; which we trust will be carefully read, analyzed and digested. A letter in this direction is to the point in the main, which brings me to my feet, and the more so because the personal inspection I am now making of the territory which comprises the Austin District. However, the paragraph which says:

"When Presiding Elder Mack Henson leaves the city of Hills, going to the sandy city of Calvert, a distance of 100 miles, he does not hold one quarterly meeting until he reaches Calvert."

The reason of this obvious Austin, "the city of hills," is not only the headquarters of the district, but is the base from which we plan and act upon every other part of the district. Were it to our convenience in going one way from Austin to Calvert, we might leave on Northwest Narrow Gauge at 6:30 a. m., and arrive at Burnet at 11:30 a. m. Then take the mail back and jolt twenty-five miles over to Lampasas. Here we board the G. C. & S. F. to Millans junction; thence to Hearn via the I. & G. N.; from thence via the H. T. C. railway to the sandy city of Calvert. For convenience we will call this the right hand route.

The left hand route leaving the city of hills, to Georgetown via Round Rock, thirty-six miles across the country brings us to Belton; from here you might hire private conveyance and go thirty-three or thirty-four miles to Davilla. Here you leave the private conveyance and board the mail back to Bartlett, or to Holland; thence we go aboard of the M. K. & T. to Temple. Here change, if we like, and travel via G. C. & S. F.; get off at Cameron, meet a private conveyance, go down to Milan Grove Church; and the following Tuesday or Wednesday go twenty-three miles over to Calvert, the sandy city.

But one would not like to go this right and left hand route. It is very true this territory is not as well developed as it should be, and the fourteen men with the aid of twice as many local, and would be local preachers, could if they only possess that characteristic Methodist zeal and fervor. No one with sufficient knowledge of the ground occupied by our sister denominations but sees clearly that our churches throughout are better organized and our preachers stand head and shoulders above the majority of any other class of ministers in many points which I might name.

It is true there are those to be found among the 14 men referred to who have done but little else this year but to carry on an incessant warfare among the people instead of going about their work like true men. Some of our Sunday schools have almost died out for want of pastoral oversight. Some pastors have sat in their parsonages when they could have been leading on the host of God. The fact is too clear that there are but few of our men who are willing to do circuit work on circuits, and some indeed were very poor.

A part of my experience is of recent date of this unwillingness.

One man left his work and two others said they were given the meaneast work in the whole conference. And, indeed, these two brethren are occupying the same field, and tilling just where the writer succeeded in 1879, and in addition to this large circuit, we had the financial agency of our conference school; besides this, we found it possible to be in school a part of the time, and manage to keep up with the class in all our studies, including Gildersleeve's first lessons in Latin.

Dr. M. A. Major, a graduate of Meharry Medical School, of Central Tennessee College, at that time belonged to my class, or I belonged to his; Prof. G. O. Richardson, and his father Rev. G. O. Richardson, and their loving and useful wives, were our teachers.

Bro. Mason thinks ministers as well as farmers can have too much to do. That may be true, and it may be true also, that some ministers as well as some farmers fail because they do not, or will not do as much as they can, and ought to do. It seems that some preachers entertain an idea that a bishop or presiding elder can decree success to them.

I have just read a letter from a dear brother who, when I held his fourth quarterly conference, all his people seemed to love him dearly, and wanted him back another year. He says now:

"If you have no other work for me than this, I wish to be left without an appointment another year."

I asked him what could have brought about such a great change in so short a while; that a bishop and presiding elder could pray for his success, but could not decree it; that he had twenty-four hours in a day to work, plan, and pray, and seven days in a week to do the same thing; and fifty two weeks in a year to accomplish the end in view.

If our dear brethren would read more carefully the history and doctrines of the M. E. Church their desire would be healed. Week after week the rich news of the triumph of the Redeemer's Kingdom and the grand old M. E. Church which appear in the SOUTHWESTERN columns, if carefully read would help wonderfully.

The members of the West Texas Conference Mutual Aid Association will convene in annual session at 9:30 a. m., Feb. 4, at Waco, Texas. Please act with promptness, as there is important business to come before that body.

West Tennessee District Conference.

J. S. FOSTER.

The first district conference, of the West Tennessee District, met in New Pleasant Grove Church, Gainesville, Tenn., Jan. 8.

The devotional services were conducted by Rev. J. S. Foster. Rev. B. Anderson, presiding elder, presided. J. S. Foster was elected secretary, H. W. Key assistant secretary.

Reports showed that a good work had been done since the annual conference.

The district conference agreed to hold a Sunday school institute in Centenary Church, Memphis, Tenn., in June. Rev. P. Martin, pastor at Martin station, preached on Friday at 7 p. m.

A vote of thanks was tendered the presiding elder for the patient manner in which he conducted the conference; also to Rev. A. Burdett pastor of New Pleasant Grove for working so hard to make everything pleasant for us; and to the good people of that vicinity for opening their doors so kindly and doing so much to entertain the conference.

The next district conference will convene in Mason, Tenn.

The presiding elder stayed over to hold his quarterly meeting, and preached on Sunday. We are glad to say that our presiding elder is a Christian gentleman, and we expect to rally at his command.

Rev. J. A. Moore, former secretary, and Rev. J. B. Booth, are now attending Gammon's Theological Seminary, Atlanta. They were very much missed from the conference. We expect to do a good work on this district this year, and raise all of our benevolent collections, and rally around the SOUTHWESTERN.

Shreveport District, La.

T. G. MONTGOMERY.

Rev. Pierre Landry, at St. Paul Church, Shreveport, has done a good work. He has repaired the parsonage and raised over four thousand dollars and paid out the same. The conference passed resolution asking for his return. The church is yet in debt, and is struggling hard to liquidate it.

Rev. C. D. Shallowhorne, at St. James' Church, has done a good work. The trustees have paid the insurance, and the interest on the six hundred dollars the church owes, the principal unpaid.

Grand Cane, Rev. Geary, Johnson, had a pleasant quarterly conference. He is trying to build a new church at Mt. Zion, eighteen miles from Grand Cane. He has the lumber on the ground.

Rev. J. J. Obee, Shady Grove, has done good work. He built a new church and parsonage, and is trying to build another church at Jackson Grove.

Rev. E. Hutcherson, Mansfield, has added some to the church, and bought two lots on which to build a new church.

Rev. A. B. Venable, Boncheste, has built a new parsonage, and added some to the church.

Rev. D. M. Seals, Marthaville, has done a good work in adding many souls to the church. He has also bought lumber to build a parsonage, and has part of it on the ground.

Rev. M. H. Hunter, Robeline circuit, had a pleasant quarterly conference. He has the better portion of his missionary money raised.

Rev. C. W. Reeves, Fort Jessup, has added some to the church. He bought two acres of land and paid for them, and has built a parsonage and dug a well on it.

Rev. S. S. Wright, Natchitoches, has added to the church. He is now making arrangements to cover the church and parsonage. He has the better portion of his missionary money raised.

Rev. P. B. McDonald, Bedford circuit, added many to, and rebuilt the church. He is loved by both white and colored.

Rev. James Sudds, East Point, has done well.

Rev. M. F. Fairfax, Lake End, has done a good work. He added many to, and repaired the church and added ten feet to it. He has also ceiled the church. He has his conference money on hand.

Rev. J. F. Fisher, Pelican is trying to get a lot in town on which to build a church and parsonage.

Rev. F. M. Lashington, Pleasant Hill, had a pleasant quarterly conference. He has the best part of his money raised.

Rev. P. C. Colton, Boyce circuit, has done a good work. He built a new church at Spring Creek. He is loved by the members and friends of the church. He has his conference money on hand.

Rev. A. McLaughlin has done a grand work this year in building a fine church in the town of Boyce.

Rev. N. Burton left his work, and S. W. Shelby supplied his place, and is doing well. Since he took charge he has added several to the church.

Bro. Aaron Connerly, Leesville, has done a good work in adding some to the church.

J. P. Price, Nashville, Tenn.: My district is moving on nicely.

Letters from the Pastors.

SPECIAL TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Please take notice, 1st, That all anonymous letters go directly to our waste basket; 2d, Letters must be written on only one side of the paper; 3d, No frivolous questions will be noticed; 4th, Abbreviations should not be used; 5th, Notes and items must be condensed so as to insure brevity; 6th, We return no manuscript.

Rev. M. Adams, Fasonia, Miss., writes of the wonderful opportunities offered to our church in the great Delta, if only the men and money can be secured. He has opened several important and promising points, and looks forward for the largest results for the spread of our Methodism in that section.

A. J. Rucker, Pulaski City, Va.

On the night of Dec. 29, 1890, a fire broke out in Mr. Spencer Ruck's house, two doors from our church.

Everybody came to the rescue, but in a few moments, to the sadness of all present, our church was in a blaze, and burned to the ground. On it went to Mr. W. S. McClanahan's house, thence to Mr. J. Johnson's house, in which the pastor lived, which also went down, leaving five residences and our church in ashes.

Two of the houses were owned by Mr. J. R. Johnson; one by Mr. McClanahan, and one by Rev. W. F. Anderson, of Morristown. Our people to-day are in tears. We had no insurance. Some of our people lost all they had, others only part. Bro. Johnson, the great pillar of the church, was the largest loser. The writer was not at home. On his return he found that we were where we started some years ago. But it will start again.

We ask the many readers of the SOUTHWESTERN to help us rebuild our church in this distressing hour. One man was destroyed by the flames. Pray for us in our distress.

N. S. Stirling, Carrollton, Ga.

I have been preaching in the Methodist Church nineteen years, and four hundred and seventy-five persons have acknowledged that I have been instrumental in their conversion. Dec. 23, 1890, I celebrated my silver wedding.

D. W. Wynn, Douglas, Ga.

We have done grandly this year on the Douglas circuit. Built two new churches, and have paid all but $48, which we expect to raise soon. We have added to this circuit a considerable amount of property.

J. H. Swan, Maysfield, Texas.

Our fourth quarterly conference convened at Milan's Grove Dec. 27. Rev. Mack Henson in the chair. Paid pastor, $80. Raised for Sam Houston College, $39 50; benevolent money, $40; paid elder, $16 25. The dear old SOUTHWESTERN was not forgotten. Look for some new cash subscribers in a few days.

D. C. Coburn, Tchula, Miss.

I arrived here Feb. 8, 1890, and found the work in a very bad condition. I am sorry to say I will leave it in about the same. There are too few members on the work for a minister to get support. The whole work has only paid me $23. 95; and the elder, nine dollars and a few cents. There are two churches on the work in part. One is in debt to the amount of $45, with a membership of eight. In regard to the Sunday school. We have a very good one. I have added to the church five members. We hope to do better another year.

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile up in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1 50, cash; otherwise, $2. tf.

Letters from the Laity.

Our people at Donaldsonville, La., have sent us the most flattering resolution touching the high esteem in which their pastor for the past three years, Rev. John Qualls, is held by them. Their report shows that during the past three years $3688.50 have been raised and $3558.50 paid out. This is a splendid showing for St. Peter Church.

E. C. Ward, Cedar Bluff, Miss.

We, the members at Cedar Bluff, are trying to build a Methodist Church. We commenced last June. Bro. H. G. Gladney was our pastor when we commenced, but as he is deceased, we ask you to plead to the Bishop to send us another man just like him. He was an earnest worker for his people in every respect. We ask you for your earnest prayers, that we may be successful in our work here.

Pastors! Are Your Church Records Properly Kept?

In our itinerancy it is important that they should be systematic, complete and correct.

We have church-record books now on hand that will help you. A well bound book with good paper, only $2 25 post paid.

Send in the amount and we will forward at once.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged 5 cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I want to find my mother, Charity Blanford. She used to belong to Richard Long Hancock, Ky. She was living in Lewisport one year, and a Neg trader took her off to Louisville. After she went to Louisville I do not know in what direction she went. She took her little daughter three years old with her, and her oldest daughter behind. Her name was Mary Long. The child that she took along with her was named Ellen. Any information may be directed to Mary Modock, Rockport, Ind.

Mr. Editor: I want to enquire for my father and mother. Father's name was Washington Samsou when he was sold to Judge Perkins, and mother's was Violet Samsou when she left Mississippi. The last account I heard of father he was living with a man named Ralchild in Louisiana. My other relatives were Adam Samsou, Orange Samsou, Syrena Samsou, and Anzo Samsou. Address Alonzo Henry, Cuthbert, Ga.

How They Wrote.

Richard B. Sheridan wrote an execrable hand.

Robert Burns had an autograph worthy of royalty.

Addison wrote a beautifully clear and correct hand.

Charles II wrote a much more pleasing hand when Prince of Wales than after his accession to the throne.

There was no indication of genius in the handwriting of Edmund Burke, which is rather effeminate looking.

Dean Swift wrote a legible but stiff hand, nearly upright, a sufficient indication of his independence of character.

Voltaire wrote a small but legible hand, which seems to indicate that he must have been distinguished by method and precision of character.

The handwriting of Oliver Goldsmith, with all its beauties, is wholly lacking in decision, and seems to curiously reflect his refined but wayward temperament.

The Popular Science Monthly for February will contain the conclusion of Dr. Andrew D. White's paper From Babel to Comparative Philology, also that of Prof. Huxley's discussion of the Aryan question and Prehistoric Man.

The demand for the January Arena has been so great that a second edition was called for in less than ten days after the appearance of this number. Among the leading contributors are Alfred Russell Wallace, Rabbi Solomon Schindler, Felix Oswald, Hamlin Garland, Moncure D. Conway, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Prof. Joseph Rhodes Buchanan, and Wilbur Larrimore.

If you are really a friend to the SOUTHWESTERN, you will pay up every cent of your account at conference.

For Missions by Collections Only.

Miss Clara Spencer, daughter of Dr. W. A. Spencer, of the Board of Church Extension, and now a student in Wellesly College, Massachusetts, has concluded, it is said, to offer her services to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, as a candidate for an appointment in the foreign mission work.

The Freedman's Aid and Southern Education Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will celebrate this year its twenty-fifth anniversary. In these twenty-five years it has received and expended nearly three millions of dollars.

The missionary apportionments for 1891. The table has been published in the Year Book, subject to revision by the Board. Greater care in making out apportionments will be taken this year than ever before. It will be done by districts, and each district apportionment will be submitted to the presiding elder for correction, if any should be needed. The ability of each district as indicated by pastoral support, church and parsonage property, and even more than these, by heart and willingness as expressed by what has been done before, will be fully considered. Each presiding elder will be an actual member of the committee when his district is under consideration. The committee is composed of John F. Goucher, M. Buckley, M. D. C. Crawford, O. S. Harrower, and D. R. Lowrie. The corresponding secretaries will be in consultation with them.

When finished, the table of apportionments on the Million and a Quarter Line will be as near perfect as it can be made in the light of the above mentioned facts. Missionary Secretaries.

General Church News.

Persecution in Peru.

Somebody in Peru is terribly afraid that disaster will come to the cherished institutions of the republic, in case the people at large are allowed to read the word of God and to assemble in an orderly way for the worship of their heavenly Father. This is the sole cause of the persecution and imprisonment of one of the agents of the American Bible Society, an ordained minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who has been kept in prison in Callao for months under charges which impute to him no more grievous offense than that of having told the story of the gospel to a company of Christian believers, and distributed among them the Holy Bible in the Spanish tongue—a book which the ecclesiastical censors denounce as "prohibited and immoral."

What the immediate issue of Mr. Penzotti's imprisonment is to be, time will shortly show; but no one can well doubt that before long Peru must come into the rank of the republics farther south, and allow full liberty of worship and the widest circulation for the word of God. To imprison a man whose grave offense against the public good consists in his pointing out to his fellow-men the way of escape from sin and death, is a desperate step which shows the waning powers of a priesthood whose interest is to keep the people in ignorance. It is a specimen of intolerance which must cause discussion in the public prints and open the eyes of men to the dire effects of spiritual tyranny. The inconsistency of the thing will attract attention. Pagan worship is carried on in the cities of Peru by the Chinese without let or hindrance; why should the worship of Christ be forbidden? For thirty years American and British ministers have been allowed to maintain public worship in Callao in the English language; why should they not be allowed to say "Our Father" in Spanish if they prefer? For more than three centuries the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments have been printed in the beautiful Castilian tongue, and the bishops and priests in affiliation with Rome have shown small desire to have them known and read by their adherents; why should they be allowed to invoke the strong arm of the civil power to restrain the circulation of that Book of books, the genuineness and value which they dare not formally deny? Such attempts at repression belong to another age than the present, and in Peru, as elsewhere, a larger liberty is sure to come. Perhaps Penzotti's imprisonment will hasten the day of freedom. In Argentina and Chili full liberty of worship is guaranteed by the constitution, and yet it is not many years ago that the women of Santiago, at the instigation of the priests, stoned in the public streets the men who were proposing to introduce liberty of worship into the constitution of Chili. Is it worth while to despair of the republic of Peru? If the officials suffer themselves to be used as the tools of the priesthood, so much the worse for the officials. The truth is mighty and must prevail.

Mr. Penzotti, a man of estimable and spotless character, a preacher of rare fervor and power, and a pattern for believers in simple faith, has once before been subjected in Peru to the indignity of confinement in the common jail. That was at Arequipa, somewhat more than a year ago, and after confinement for nineteen days he was set free by order of the national government. He is now nearer the national capital and held in stronger bonds, awaiting trial on charges which we have not seen clearly stated. He was arrested in Callao on the 25th of July, and at the latest date, the 4th of October, the case had not come up for trial. One letter of his was printed in the Record for September, and other extracts from his communications will be read with interest. On the 30th of July he wrote to his associate and friend, Mr. Milne: "Dear Beloved: From the interior of a prison I write you these lines. As it is possible that the news of my imprisonment may reach you from another source, and cause you sorrow, I have thought it prudent to write to you myself, with the object to tranquilize your mind. I can say with all certainty, and without dissimulation, that even in prison, with thieves and murderers, the Lord is with me, and I am happier than I could have expected. I prefer to be in prison with my Saviour than to be at liberty without him. On entering it I asked God to bless my confinement, and he has heard me. To-day is the fourth day that I am under iron bars; but 'the word of God is not bound," as saith St. Paul, and as Dr. Drees preached when you visited us.

As is natural, I am endeavoring to do what I can with the prisoners to make known to them the good news of the gospel, and some of them manifest much interest. I have also managed to dispose of some Bibles and a considerable number of tracts. I rejoice that all the congregation, instead of being discouraged, have taken a deeper interest and shown more zeal for the extension of the kingdom of Christ. On Sunday, the 27th, the chapel was full; and, in the midst of sobs and abundant tears for my imprisonment, they presented at the throne of grace fervent prayers, the effect of which I felt.

The church members to the number of from thirty to fifty visit me daily, and many of them not without tears, while some bring me presents. As is natural with so many visitors and so many manifestations of love, the days pass very happily; and the first part of the evening I occupy myself in the Lord's work among my companions in misfortune. My family pass the greater part of the day with me, and bring me my food and all that I could wish. The governor of the prison has much consideration for me, and does not hinder any one from coming to see me.

It is due to my visit to Bolivia that things reached the extreme of sending me to prison. Before going there I presented a duly-empowered representative to the judge and to my advocate, but he fell sick, and my advocate did not have full knowledge of the condition of affairs, owing to the under-hand procedure carried on against me for the crime of preaching the gospel and distributing prohibited Bibles. The Jesuits' hand appears in their delaying my arrest till Saturday, at 4 p. m., so that there would be no opportunity to do anything for several days, the next day being Sunday, and the three following days a national festival, when all tribunals are closed, and the condition of things is abnormal on account of the election of a new president. As the judge in Callao cannot intervene, it is necessary to appeal to the court of Lima.

All things considered, it appears to me that this will contribute to the good of the work, and hasten the day of toleration, if not of liberty of worship. This is the opinion of several intelligent and influential men, based on the fact that it is moving things in the capital itself. As soon as the days of festivities are over steps will be taken to secure my liberty under a guaranty, in case the court demands it and makes room for my defense to be made.

The thing I ask of you and my brethren is that you will pray for this poor country and its liberty, and that we may triumph over error and the children of darkness. I am very happy and contented, and give thanks to God for having chosen me to labor in this vast and interesting camp, and that our labors in the Lord are not in vain. My prison is for me a temple of the Lord, and my family and brethren are becoming tranquil, knowing that it is the will of God. Yours fraternally,

F. PENZOTTI.

Mr. Penzotti's sanguine expectations of having a speedy decision of his case was not realized. A letter dated August 19th has already been printed in the Record. Some intervening correspondence has not been received, but on the 4th of October, two months after the date of the letter printed above, he was still a prisoner, with no immediate prospect of release. At that time he wrote to the Bible House, saying: "I am still in prison, and a prison very hard also, and very dirty, and I have no hope of coming out yet. I think that in less than a month I may have a sentence of from four months to a year. Many persons of consideration have done what they could to get my liberty, but it is all in vain. The newspapers take sides, both for and against us; and there is a general agitation. Congress is working for liberty of worship, but there is nothing sure."

DONALD KENNEDY
Of Roxbury, Mass., says

My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because no two people have the same weak spot. Beginning at the stomach it goes searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps its only a little sediment left on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along and you find quick happiness from the first bottle. Perhaps its a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. The Medical Discovery begins the fight, and you think it pretty hard, but soon you thank me for making something that has reached your weak spot. Write me if you want to know more about it.

L. O. QUEAL, Secretary.

WHY don't you keep your church insured? It is a crime against common sense to fail to keep your churches and houses insured.

A BROTHER writing of the close observation given to the work in her conference by several presiding Bishops, says:

"Bishop Joyce knocked the barrel over and unhooped it; Bishop Newman took out the head; Bishop Walden inquired whether it contained meal or flour."

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallien, is worth the price of the book.

MR. Bernard Moses, photographer, came up very kindly, by request, to take a picture of the conference, Monday.—There was so much hurry, at the close, however, that he was not given the opportunity. His place of business is 369 Dryades street, near Erato. He has long made a specialty of taking photos for our colored people and all will find him most obliging and reasonable, as well as most skillful in his art.

WE commend to our conferences the following plan of notification to members and visitors to the conferences.

Dear Sir:—This will introduce you to Mr. and Mrs. ————No. ————street, with whom you will stop during the Annual Conference which meets here February 5th, 1891. Present this card on your arrival. Hack fare twenty-five cents to all parts of the city. J. T. Gibbons, pastor, St. James M. E. Church, 704 S. Second street, Waco, Texas.

PROGRESS, progress, what crisis are committed in thy name! Some people, who are always ready to leap before they look, and to embrace every innovation without deliberation, call themselves progressive. They are equally ready to devour everybody that disagrees with them as clowns. Nonsense; only bearded, but brainless goats leap before they look.

A GOOD brother, with more beard than brains, writes us a long string of words, which are perfectly innocent of any ideas. He demands that we publish the whole stack of words without condensation. He says: "Now don't condense it, put it all in. If you don't print it send it back to me at my expense." He even offers to pay us, if necessary, to "put it all in." This we can't do. The General Conference put us here to attend to this very business of condensing ideas closer together, when as fearfully stretched out from each other, as they happen to be in the communication here referred to. No, dear brother, we can't put in all of your letters without condensation, for love nor money.

Bishop Newman and Negro Leagues.

Bishop Newman errs when he says that "the Negroes have blundered in forming leagues to gain their rights. When any one claims certain rights because he is a foreigner or because he is of a particular color he is in the wrong." The Negro does not claim "any rights because he is of a certain color," but because he is an American citizen. That he is denied his rights because the good Bishop who has often lifted both his pen and voice in his behalf, will not deny. The American Citizens' Equal Rights Association has been organized by colored men to arouse the Negroes of this country to utilize every means in their power, by education, thrift and character, to prove their merit and to influence the public mind to see that their rights are accorded them. Nothing more nor less. The society, like the Anti-slavery societies of a generation ago, is open to all who are ready to cooperate in the humane purpose for which it has been inaugurated, viz: to advocate that every citizen, without regard to race or color, shall enjoy every constitutional right, and the equal protection of the law.

The Negroes being the victims of the injustice complained of, it is perfectly reasonable that they should organize the movement.

"Who would be free themselves must strike the blow." Does the good Bishop see the point? We are opposed to race segregation and clannishness, but we favor the segregation of good men in favor of a righteous and just cause, even if it results in the association of one particular race in it. Let Bishop Newman, and all who favor the equal rights of American citizens, join the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association. It is open to all in favor of equal rights, whether white, black, brown or yellow, copper colored or Indians, whether taxed or not taxed.

Echoes From Emancipation Day, Jan. 1.

Emancipation was observed in the Hammett Hill (Miss.) M. E. Church. At 3 p. m. sermon delivered by the pastor, L. C. McLendon. At 3:30 p. m. a grand lecture by Bro. M. Poe, and at 7:30 p. m. Bros. David Boone, Derry Isaiah, and Turner Lott addressed the congregation. A collection was taken for Rust University.

The celebration of Emancipation was held at Fairfield, Texas. The program was so arranged as to consume the whole day. The proclamation was read by Miss E. Foreman. Rev. Jasper Down delivered the opening address, and he was followed by Rev. P. Blair. In the afternoon, Oscola Jones and Rev. Jackson Jones addressed the people.

Emancipation was held in this city at the St. Paul M. E. Church. Mr. A. McClinton, was the orator of the day. Services began at 11:30 a. m. Notwithstanding the rain, the ladies decorated the walls nicely with pictures and a large crowd was out. Mr. McClinton spoke on the subject, "Are we Rising?" He handled the subject manfully. God bless our young men. I wish we had a thousand Mc Clintons.

There were other short and interesting addresses delivered. The writer was prepared to deliver a sermon at night, but rain had much cut off the congregation, and he was requested by the few to publish in the SOUTHWESTERN.—N. H. Speight, Birmingham, Ala.

Political Review.

The Democratic Senators feel the lines tightening gradually around them, and many of them, for the first time this session, express a fear that Election bill will pass. There is a feeling in the Senate, which finds expression on the Republican side, that, if the Democrats had allowed a vote on the election bill early in the session there would have been no question as to the defeat of the bill. Now, however, the Republicans present a nearly solid front, and party lines are likely to become more and more intact as the struggle increases in intensity.

A significant pair was announced in the Senate. Mr. Allison arose and announced that he was paired with Mr. Ingalls on all questions affecting the cloture resolution and the Federal election law. As Mr. Allison is in favor of these projects, of course Mr. Ingalls is against them. It is probable that the cloture resolution will be adopted whenever a vote can be forced.

Personal.

—Rev. J. W. Lewis, may be hereafter addressed at Winsbury, La.

Dr. A. T. Augusta died in Washington, D. C., Dec. 23. Dr. Augusta was probably the first colored physician appointed surgeon in the U. S. Army. His record in Washington has given him great prominence as a physician.

City Church Notes.

(Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.)

Sister Amanda Smith, commenced a series of revival meetings at Wesley Chapel on Liberty street, last Sunday evening, to continue during the week. She gave a practical discourse, founded on the last chapter of Malachi, giving especial emphasis to bringing in "all the tithes," as a preparation for the work. The house was packed. The indications are that a great work of grace will result.

Schools and Colleges.

Central Tennessee College.

The dedication of the mechanical engineering shop took place Jan. 7. The services were held in the chapel at two o'clock p. m. After the devotional services Dr. J. Braden introduced Dr. J. C. Hartzell, who took charge of the services. After a short talk he was followed by Bishop J. M. Walden, Drs. G. E. Ackerman and Dr. S. A. Steele, of the M. E. Church, South, and Bishop A. G. Hagood, after which they all marched to the shop, and there sang, and were led in prayer by both Bishops. The shop was then put in motion, and the day was enjoyed by all.

Several of the leading ministers were present. Among them were Elders J. Phillips, J. Bradford, J. P. Price, and Revs. C. B. Wilson, W. N. White, W. H. Vaughn, J. P. Gregg, H. Prim, E. Tyree and others.

The Christmas holidays at the Central Tennessee College were pleasantly and quietly spent.

On Christmas services were held during the day. During Christmas week, Seays, Clarke and Lunden Hill Chapels had beautiful Christmas trees with regular Christmas programs, which were pleasing to all present. Many of the churches on the district had nice Christmas trees.

On New Year's Day, the services of the celebration of Emancipation were held at this college from 8 to 12 m. After the devotional exercises Dr. Braden led in an appropriate speech for the occasion, after which "My Country 'Tis of Thee" was sung, and the following persons spoke:

Mr. Gwinn, Lynk, M. E. Sykes, Joseph Lyte and Prof. Thomas.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

AN APPEAL.

To The People:

The adoption by the Legislature of Louisiana, at its last session, of act No. 115, entitled "An act to provide for the comfort of passengers," &c., and better known as the separate car law, is a matter of public notoriety.

While the bill was pending before the General Assembly, the American Citizens' Equal Rights Associations earnestly protested and exerted its influence against its passage.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the reasons adduced then why this law should not have been enacted. All are familiar with them, and feel the degradation the law imposes on American citizenship.

The duty that remains to us to perform is to defeat or render nugatory the operations of this unjust and oppressive law.

To this end the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association will institute a suit to test the constitutionality of the infamous law and maintain the right of American citizens to travel on railroads and public conveyances.

For the successful prosecution of the suit money is needed.

Therefore, to secure the sinews of legal warfare, we appeal to the people generally for aid and assistance.

We appeal specially to ministers of the gospel. We request these emissaries of harmony and good-will among men to read this address from their pulpits and make its subject-matter a text for their sermons, in order to arouse the people to the sense of their patriotic duty in the premises.

We appeal to the presidents, officers and members of the associations, benevolent and charitable, educational, labor and others, in New Orleans and elsewhere, to introduce the matter into their assemblies and make it a subject of their deliberations, to the end that their organizations may, collectively, tender us their help.

We appeal to the leaders of men to propagate the idea among their followers, to enlist their interest and support in the cause.

Realizing the influence of the gentle sex and their zeal and earnestness in aid and devotion to the cause of right and justice, we appeal to the loyal women of the country to give us their invaluable aid. Let them talk the subject to the men in their social assemblies, church meetings, and other gatherings, and thus induce the latter to send their contributions singly; or, still better, organize circles to raise funds for the end proposed by entertainments, festivals, &c.

We appeal to those moulders of public opinion, the newspapers of the United States—the loyal press—to publish this appeal and make its object the subject of their approving comments and criticisms in order to create and maintain a public sentiment, from which the needed aid will readily flow. We request all newspapers in sympathy with the cause to act as agents of this Association to receive contributions from the good people of their localities, to be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

Finally as the favorable issue of the suit will redound to the everlasting benefit of all, we appeal to the lovers of fair play and justice throughout this broad land for their encouragement, material aid and assistance.

We will employ the very best legal talent that the country affords. We know that the amount required will be large, but it can be easily raised by dime and nickel contributions.

Let all send in their mite. As soon as the necessary amount will have been secured, we will inform the people and cease the collection.

Conscious of the justice of our cause, and supported by a loyal people, we will not desist from our course until this infamous law which is a continual menace to the peace of society, a standing insult to us, our wives, mothers and sisters, and which threatens to be a badge of inferiority to our posterity, is nullified, and we have created such a sentiment that will hereafter prevent any attempt to enforce a similar law or regulation anywhere in this free country of ours.

A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., President American Citizens' Equal Rights Association of Louisiana.

JOHN L. MINOR, Secretary.

N. B.—Send all contributions to J. T. Newman, M. D., Treasurer of the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association, corner Canal and Marais streets, New Orleans, La.

The names of all contributors will be published in the SOUTHWESTERN Christian Advocate, the Standard-Pelican and the Crusader, unless otherwise directed.

Louisiana Conference.

The twenty-third session of the Louisiana Annual Conference assembled Wednesday Jan. 14, in Simpson chapel, and was called to order by Bishop J. P. Newman, D. D., with a large attendance of members and a numerous congregation. The devotional services were begun by singing after which Bishop W. F. Mallalieu addressed the throne of grace.

The bishop declared the conference in order for the transaction of business, upon which the following officers were elected:

Secretary, A. E. P. Albert, D. D., of New Orleans; assistant secretaries, A. J. Ford, of Alexandria, J. F. Marshall, of New Orleans, George W. Wells, of Marshall, Texas, and A. G. Davis, of LeCompte; statistical secretaries, W. B. Anderson, H. J. Wright, F. T. Chinn, F. D. Bowers and H. Wilson; treasurer, R. Thompson, of New Orleans; assistant treasurer, W. B. Butler, of Baton Rouge, H. Taylor, of New Orleans, and P. B. McDonald, of Conshatta.

The bishop announced the following standing committees:

On Freedman's Aid and Southern Education Society—L. G. Adkinson, J. C. Hartzell, W. D. Godman, E. Lyon, George Wells, F. T. Chinn, P. Laury, F. Goings, A. J. Ford, P. W. Clark, P. J. Robidoux, J. Mongry, C. H. Woodson.

On Sunday-schools and and Tracts—H. James, H. Taylor, W. P. Forrest, A. G. Davis, John Pierre, D. J. Price, R. L. Crawford.

On Bible Cause—R. Anderson, Frank Harvey, Z. T. Gayden, T. Larkin, Wm. Emmett, M. T. Fairfax.

On Church Extension—J. W. Hilton, Emerson Hutchinson, W. B. Butler, George Payne, John Qualls, Wm. Smith, L. F. Abernathy.

Conference Stewards—Officers and managers of the Preacher's Aid Society.

On Temperance—A. Pickett, H. J. Wright, E. P. Harris, C. D. Shallowhorn, H. T. O. Abbott, C. W. Kershaw.

On Woman's Home Missionary Society—T. J. Johnson, Thomas McCary, E. Harrison, M. H. Hunter, Moses Franklin, Austin Jones.

On Missions—The presiding elders.

Bishop Newman delivered an opening address appropriate to the occasion, in an impressive manner.

The following visiting ministers were introduced to the conference and invited to seats within the bar. Rev. Homer Eaton, D. D., of New York City, agent of the Methodist Book Concern; Rev. W. M. Henry, of New York City; Rev. B. L. Crump, presiding elder in the Mississippi conference.

The bishop called attention to the services of W. M. Henry in company with him twenty-five years ago in this city, how they both had the yellow fever at the same time, how the colored nurse waited on the outside of his room for him to die so she could lay him out, but he wouldn't, and how he labored in the organization of the church in this locality.

Having been introduced for a few remarks, Mr. Henry was received with applause.

Mrs. Amanda Smith, the remarkable colored missionary who has just returned from Congo, Africa, was introduced, and spoke in a thrilling manner, which seemed to inspire the conference with her animated feeling.

Her services were complimented by resolutions.

Bishop W. F. Mallalieu was introduced and addressed the conference, congratulating the members on the presence of Bishop Newman, and the progress that has been made.

A resolution complimentary to Bishop Mallalieu was unanimously passed.

Rev. Homer Eaton, D. D., addressed the conference, in which he made a strong appeal to the members to support the literature of the church, and especially to subscribe and for the SOUTHWESTERN.

The conference then passed a resolution, welcoming Dr. Eaton, pledging the members to carry out his desires and purchasing literature from no other house than the Book Concern.

Bishop Newman announced that the sum of $885 had been appropriated by the Book Concern to be distributed among the superannuated preachers.

The reports of the presiding elders coming up under the twentieth question—Were then made—J. W. Hindsou, presiding elder of the Baton Rouge district, reported that the general condition of the church was good and progressive, except the bulldozing portion of the district, some eight miles east of Baton Rouge, where lived Ephraim Harrison and Stephen Green; the former was whipped and the latter driven away. That the better class of whites did not approve of this bulldozing, three of the guilty parties were arrested and condemned to the penitentiary for twenty years. The announcement was received with cheers, and resolutions were presented and passed thanking the authorities for the vindication of the law.

Rev. W. P. McLaughlin, presiding elder of the mission district, embracing the English, French, Scandinavian and Italian missions, reported three missionaries and one lady, under the direction of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, laboring successfully among the English-speaking people; that two French missionaries are operating among the French with hopeful results; that one Italian missionary is working among his people with much success, and that one Scandinavian missionary is engaged among the Swedes and Norwegians with gratifying results.

Rev. Stephen Duncan, presiding elder of the South New Orleans district, reported that the church debts at the beginning of the year were $4672, which have been reduced to $1072; that five new churches have been built, and that the general outlook is encouraging.

J. F. Marshall, presiding elder of the LaTeeche District, Stephen Priestley, of the Monroe District, and Emperor Williams, of the N. New Orleans District, reported that their several charges were in a progressive condition.

THURSDAY.

The second day's session was called to order by Bishop J. P. Newman, who conducted the devotional exercises.

Tennessee P. Jackson, having left Woodlawn, where he was sent was censured. D. Bowers was sent before the committee on conference relations.

The pastors reported their several collections in behalf of benevolent causes. A $120 collection was taken for the work of repairs on Simpson Chapel.

The conference voted not to divide.

The conference voted to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the work of the Freedmen's Aid Society.

On the admission of women to the General Conference, the presiding elders reported the church vote to be 1,445 for, and 3,273 against.

Father Ross was introduced and spoke feelingly. The Bishop complimented him highly and exhorted the conference not to let him suffer in his declining years; that, if necessary, himself would divide his last dollar with him.

In consideration of the question as to whether women should be admitted as delegates to the general conference of the church as members having been made the special order for the action of the conference yesterday morning, attracted a large congregation of both sexes.

Rev. W. D. Godman opened the discussion of the question with a strong argument in favor of the admission.

Several speeches were made for and against.

The vote was thirty-one for and eighty-two against the admission of women.

Charles Crockett was granted a new trial.

L. Morgan Wood was discontinued.

The Conference adjourned to meet at the New Orleans University.

After devotional exercises, Bishop Newman addressed the assembly in an affecting manner, giving the credit of the establishing of the institution to Gen. Howard, Bishop Mallalieu and Dr. J. O. Hartzell. His advice to the students was impressive and practical, and was highly appreciated and much applauded.

Dr. J. O. Hartzell also made an interesting address.

SATURDAY.

The Preachers' Aid Society reported receipts amounting to $436. The various committees then made their report.

The Sunday school and Tract committees recommended Ernest Lyon as a fit representative of the Sunday school Union to work up a greater interest in the work, and to hold conventions and institutes.

The committee on periodicals complimented the Book Concern as being in excellent condition, and abundantly able to supply the congregation and Sunday schools with the church literature; and it also commended the management of the SOUTHWESTERN.

Strong resolutions were passed denouncing the Lottery and the members of the Legislature who voted for its recharter.

MONDAY.

Union Chapel, this city, was chosen as the seat of the next conference.

Absentees when the women ad mission vote was taken, were allowed to vote—1 for, 11 against, making it stand 32 to 92.

Amanda Smith was invited to spend some time holding evangelistic services in the city and State.

The conference steward reported the receipt from the charities fund $30; from the Book Concern dividend, $885; conference collections, $210.

The conference entered its unanimous protest against the law compelling colored and white people to ride in separate cars in this State, and promised to discourage all except necessary excursions over railroads until the law is repealed.

The usual complimentary resolutions were passed.

The Bishop, after devotional exercises, delivered an impressive charge and read the list of Books and Current Literature. Rev. George D. Herron's remarkable paper on The Message of Jesus to Men of Wealth, which recently appeared in The Christian Union, is bringing the author land atory letters from all parts of the country, (from preachers, business men, college professors and others), and requesting its publication in a form suitable for distribution. Mr. Herron has revised the address and it will be issued at once in form somewhat similar to Prof. Drummond's popular booklets by the Fleming H. Revell Company, New York and Chicago.

Mr. Fleming A. Revell, the well known publisher (New York and Chicago), has transferred his entire business to an incorporated company, to be known as the Fleming H. Revell Company, of which Mr. Fleming H. Revell becomes the president.

With ample capital and enlarged facilities the business is to be considerably extended, even beyond its remarkably rapid growth during the past several years.

We have received a special number of The American Reporter. Wool, cotton, and financial, Boston, New York, and Philadelphia. Frank P. Bennett, publisher. It is creditable and valuable.

The January number of the New England Magazine is its Christmas number. Most of the Christmas numbers of the magazines come to us so long before Christmas that by the time Christmas itself really comes we have almost forgotten them. It is pleasant to open this number of the New England Magazine in the Christmas days and hear the bells ringing through its pages. For it may well be called a special Bell number. Its first article is on Bells, and in it Mr. E. H. Goss tells in most interesting manner of the great part bells have played in the social, religious, and sentimental life of peoples, the wide world over, the article being illustrated by a score of pictures of famous bells, enriens bells and big bells. Longfellow's beautiful Christmas Bells is printed, following this article, and besides this is a beautiful illuminated reproduction of Poe's famous poem, The Bells, occupying four pages of the magazine. Other illustrated poems are one on Trinity Church, Boston, with a full-page view of the noble tower of Trinity, and one by Hamlin Garland, Music Land, accompanied by a fine copy of Crawford's statue of Beethoven in Music Hall. New England Magazine, 86 Federal street, Boston, Mass.

A brilliantly told story of travels in the lands were "Ben Hur" lived by the wife of the author of "Ben Hur," is entitled "The Repose in Egypt: An Orient Medley." Mrs. Wallace writes with a peculiar charm. There is a happy abandon and winsome cheerfulness manifest, that gives the narrative a character of its own. The volume is a handsome one, finely illustrated, such a book as commonly sells for $1.00 to $1.50; but like other publications of this house, generally, the price is nominal—only 50 cents, plus 12 cents if by mail. Descriptive Catalogue, 132 pages, of popular and standard books, may be had free, by addressing publisher John B. Alden, 393 Pearl St. New York.

THE portrait of Talleyrand, by the famous French artist Grenze, forms the frontispiece to the forthcoming February Century. The instalment closes with a very interesting report of the meeting between Napoleon, Goethe, and Wieland. The March instalment of the Talleyrand Memoirs will also deal with Bonaparte.

"The Workingman in Australia" is the subject of the first of two articles to appear in the February and March numbers of The Century on "The Anglo Saxon in the Southern Hemisphere." These articles are written by Mr. George R. Parkin, who will be remembered as the author of a striking article on Uppingham, and another on "The Hecoregization of the British Empire," published in The Century in 1888.

Cardinal Gibbons, Mary Putnam Jacobi, Mrs. C. R. Lowell, Dr. Osley of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Dr. Folsom of Boston, and Miss Thomas, Dean of Bryn Mawr, unite in a series of Open Letters, to appear in the February Century, on "The Opening of the John Hopkins Medical School to Women."

WE make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

I was so much troubled with catarrh it seriously affected my voice. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored.—B. F. Liepman, A. M., Pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallalieu, is worth the price of the book.

Strong's Concordance

To the BIBLE. Fabulously cheap, but as far superior to any Concordance previously published as the last "Webster" or "Century" Dictionary is to Johnson's of a century ago. Every Bible reader needs it. Specimen pages free.

DAVID, THE SWEET SINGER OF ISRAEL.

J. S. COTTER.

In every place and every age,
Since the long march of time began,
God has raised up some gifted man
To teach as poet, priest or sage.

So in that far-off day He raised
Up one to lead His race along;
And still men hearken to His Song,
And ever will His name be praised.

Sweeter than modern poets' rhyme,
Sweeter than are the songs of birds,
Are all thy honeyed thoughts and words,
Sweet poet of the ancient time.

Thy numbers cheer the souls of those Who faster gloomy views of life,
And teach them how to shun the strife
That rises in the ranks of foes.

They teach that we should serve the Lord
In meekness and simplicity,
And always labor cheerfully,
Expecting a divine reward.

They also serve to teach us what
Men needed in that far-off day;
And reading them we can but say
That human nature changes not.

How soothing every thought of thine!
How precious to the noble mind!
And earnest seekers there can find
A foretaste of that bliss divine.

Nature at times o'ersteps her bounds,
And working by a new plan,
She gives to us a gifted man,
And with his deeds the world resounds.

Through all the centuries that have Passed
Since men first heard thy melody,
Not one has come to equal thee,
And may not come while time shall last.

May men of every race and clime
Be subject to thy noble sway;
And may the singers of to-day
Weave songs as true and pure as thine.

MASHED POTATOES—The secret of having nice mashed potatoes is that all the ingredients—cream or milk, butter and potatoes, shall be hot when they are mixed together, and that the dish shall be hot when served. The potatoes must be cooked quickly and mashed the moment they are done, drained, and dried out, and served as soon as they are mashed and mixed with the other ingredients.

CREAM CAKE—Three eggs, one cup sugar, one cup flour, one-half teaspoonful baking powder. Beat the whites and yolks separately, stir all together as quickly as possible, and bake in two pans, having the batter three-quarters of an inch thick. For the cream take two and a half cups of sweet milk, four tablespoonfuls sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour, and one egg. Boil this a few moments until it has thickened, flavor with lemon or vanilla. When the cream is cold, split it and put the custard between.

POTATO JELLY—On a tablespoonful of potatoe flour pour half a pint of boiling water, and when perfectly dissolved let it boil a moment. Remove from the fire and flavor with nutmeg; add a little salt and sugar to taste. This is nutritious and easily digested by invalids. Potatoe flour is obtained by grating raw potatoes into cold water. The raspings fall to the bottom like paste. These are rinsed thoroughly, dried, and pulverized. For infants and invalids, potatoe flour may be made into many agreeable forms.

RUBBER CEMENT—Fill a bottle one-tenth full of native India rubber cut in minute shreds; pour in benzole until the bottle is three quarters full; shake every few days until the mixture is as thick as honey. This dries quickly. It is useful to mend rubber shoes or any other rubber goods, as a water and air tight cement for bottles—simply dipping the corks into it, and for a hundred other purposes. Three coats of this will unite leather straps, patches, and rubber soles with firmness. To make a patch invisible shave the edge of the leather quite thin.

Our Symposium.

"By grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God." The priests tell our Roman Catholic brethren that they are saved through sacramental grace, and they alone can administer the sacraments. They say in substance, "No priest, no sacrament; no sacrament, no salvation." Their saying is not true. The salvation of God does not depend on the priests of Rome or what they can do for men: Thanks be unto God, the people are learning this, and even the priests themselves are acknowledging its truth. Many of them are openly confessing it, as our pages show every month.—The Converted Catholic, by Father O'Connor.

This world has all too little joy and gladness, and outside of real, genuine Christian experience there are but few people who know anything of real joy. How strange, then, and how unreasonable, that we should have those who would attempt to show or prove that these blessed experiences of peace, comfort, joy and gladness, are no part of genuine religion, and that there is no difference between the holy triumphs and exulting joys of the believing Christian and the comfort that is taken in the undisturbed digestion of a good dinner. Why not see that the latter is of earth, and something that the beasts of burden can share, while the other is the foretaste of eternal bliss and glory of which the archangels and the blood-washed saints before the throne of God are partakers.—Bishop Mallahan.

I like to hear one pronounce the name of God with subdued awe, and to see the cast of thought overspread the features when eternal things are named. I like to see a delicate and quiet handling of sacred truths, as you speak the name of your mother in heaven. I might say that this is the way a gentleman bears himself toward religion, but I would rather have you feel that it is the treatment due to the majesty of the subject.—T. T. Munger.

A Christian is one in whom the love of God and of man is the ruling principle of action.—Watchman.

Wonders

Are wrought by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, preventing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, silky, and abundant, and the scalp cool, healthy, and free from dandruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this preparation has no equal as a dressing, and is, therefore, indispensable to every well-furnished toilet.

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has worked wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly becoming bald; but since using the Vigor my hair is perfectly clear of dandruff, the hair has ceased coming out, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman. I can heartily recommend any one suffering from dandruff or loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing.—Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East Pittston, Me.

"Some time ago my wife's hair began to come out quite freely."

Ayer's Hair Vigor

not only prevented my wife from becoming bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. I am ready to certify to this statement before a justice of the peace.—H. Hulsebus, Lewisburgh, Iowa.

"Some years ago, after a severe attack of brain fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as my physicians ordered, but failed to produce a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by druggists, and all alike fell short of accomplishing the desired result. The last remedy I applied was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think I used eight bottles in two years; more than was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Ayer's Hair Vigor possesses virtues far above those of any similar preparation now on the market."—Valent Jones, Richmond, Ind.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS.

BOUNTIES. PENSIONS.

Nearly every soldier who served in the late war is entitled to arrears of pay, clothing bounties, under the various Acts of Congress. We give special attention to bounty claims of soldiers who served in the colored troops.

Under the recent law every soldier who is totally or partially unable to earn his living is entitled to pension, whether the disability was contracted in the service or not. Every widow of a soldier is entitled to a pension under the same law.

Send us a statement of your case immediately as the pension begins from date of filing. Remember we charge no fee unless successful, and soldiers will never receive what is justly due them unless they make application for it.

HOW BABIES SUFFER

When their tender SKINS are literally ON FIRE with ITCHING AND BURNING ECZEMAS and other Itching, Scaly, and Blotchy Skin and Scalp Diseases, none but mothers realize.

To know that a single application of the Cuticura Remedies will, in the great majority of cases, afford instant and complete relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because so speedy) cure, and not to use them without a moment's delay, is to be guilty of positive inhumanity. No greater legacy can be bestowed upon a child than a skin without blemish and a body nourished with pure blood.

CUTICURA

Remedies are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies, are absolutely pure, and may be used from infancy to age, from pimples to scrofula, with the most gratifying and unflinching success.

TREATMENT.—CUTICURA, the great skin cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, externally, instantly allay the most intense itching, burning, and inflammation, soothe and heal raw and irritated surfaces, clear the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, and restore the hair, while CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood and skin purifier and greatest of humor remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities and poisonous elements, and thus removes the cause.

"ALL ABOUT THE BLOOD, SKIN, SCALP, AND HAIR" mailed free to any address, 64 pages, 300 Diseases, 50 Illustrations, 100 Testimonials. A book of priceless value to mothers. CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 25c.; CUTICURA SOAP, 25c.; CUTICURA RESOLVENT, 50c. Prepared by CUTICURA DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

Facial Blemishes. pimples, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin and hands, and prevented and cured by that most effective of all Skin Purifiers and Beautifiers, the celebrated Cuticura Soap. Incomparably superior to all other skin and complexion soaps, while rivaling in delicacy and purity the most expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. The only preventive of inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of most facial blemishes. Price, 25c.

FIRST QUARTER.—LESSON V. Elijah at Horeb. 1. Kings 19 1-18. Commit to memory verses 33-39. Feb. 1, 1891. B. C. 906.

HOME READINGS.

M. 1 Kings 19 1-8. Tu. 1 Kings 19 9-18. W. Psal. 1-12. Th. Isa. 40 25-31. F. Isa. 41 8-14. S. Psal. 121. S. Psal. 118 14.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Fear not, for I am with thee, and will bless thee. Gen. 26 24.

LESSON HYMN, S. 7

Only waiting, till the shadows
Are a little longer grown;
Only waiting, till the glimmer
Of the day's last beam is shown;
Till the light of earth is faded
From the hearts once full of day;
Till the stars of heaven are breaking
Through the twilight soft and gray.

Only waiting, till the reapers
Have the last sheaf gathered home;
For the summer-time is faded,
And the autumn winds have come.
Quickly, reapers, gather quickly,
These last ripe hours of my heart,
For the bloom of life is withered,
And I hasten to depart.

Time.—About B. C. 906. Following closely the last lesson.

Places.—1. Beersheba, a city at the southern end of the kingdom of Judah; 2. Horeb, or Sinai, where the law was given to Moses.

Rulers.—1. Ahab, King of Israel; 2. Jehoshaphat, King of Judah; 3. Benhadad, King of Syria.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. The Flight, v. 1-8.
What story did Ahab tell?
Who sent a messenger to Elijah?
What was the queen's message?
What effect had this on the prophet?
Where did he leave his servant?
Where did the prophet then go?
What prayer did he offer?
Who came to him as he slept?
What did the angel say?
What did Elijah see when he arose?
What did the angel say the second time?
How long did this food last Elijah?
To what place did he go?

The Vision, v. 9-14.
Where did the prophet lodge?
What messenger there came to him?

What was Elijah's reply?
What was he bidden to do?
What then occurred?
What came after the wind?
What followed the earthquake?
What came after the fire?
What did Elijah do when he heard the voice?

What question was asked him?
What was his answer?

3. The Command, v. 15-18.

Where did the Lord bid Elijah to go?

What two kings was he told to slay?

Who was to be Elijah's successor?

What did the Lord say these three would do?

How many continued faithful in Israel?

Of what encouragement to the fearful does the Golden Text tell?

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That good men are sometimes discouraged?
2. That God knows and numbers his people?
3. That God's cause is sure of triumph?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

What two other Bible characters fasted forty days and forty nights?

Mention some other instance in the Bible where people were fed by divine power?

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school]

1. From what wicked woman did Elijah flee? Jezebel.
2. When exhausted in the wilderness who comforted him? The angel of the Lord.
3. Where did he fast forty days and forty nights? In Horeb, the Mount of God.
4. By what four means did God manifest his power to Elijah? By strong wind, earthquake, fire, and a still small voice.
5. What question did God ask? "What doest thou here, Elijah?"
6. What is the Golden Text? "Fear not," etc.

Doctrinal Suggestion.—The omniscience of God.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

13. Are there more Gods than one? "There is none other God but one." 1 Cor. 8 4.
14. Are there more persons in the Godhead than one? There are three persons in the Godhead: the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost; and these three are one. 1 John 5 7.
15. Is the Father God? To us there is but one God, the Father. 1 Cor. 8 6.

I suffered most severely from rheumatism during winter. After using Salvation Oil two days the pain entirely subsided, and now I am a well man.

My dear brethren, the gracious Lord in his wise providence has ordered our district work under a new name and management. With his divine guidance I pray that every demand of our work will be met, and the borders of Zion enlarged. We are aiming to put new vigor in our Sunday-schools. Therefore Bro. E. Lyon is in the field. Sister Amanda Smith, the earnest African missionary, is here to inspire us to more earnest efforts for missions. Now, then brethren, there is an open door for us to enter this year; let us enter it and whatever we find presented by the Lord within—be it Bible, hymnal, pen, plough, hoe, or dollar—let us take hold and work with all our might, and victory will be ours.

Sight-Seeing.—IX.

L. M. HAGOOD.

This city Dayton, has a population of 33,677 and is situated at the confluence of the Mad and Miami rivers, and on the Miami canal. Its business interests are manufacturing, mercantile and agricultural. Methodism has a stronghold in this city. It is beautifully situated and a pleasant city in which to live. The C. O. C. & St. L. R. R., upon which we traveled, runs directly into main depot. This, it must not be forgotten, is one of the finest, fastest and pleasantest roads and has as, picturesque scenes upon its route, as any road leading out of Cincinnati, North. The other division of the excursion train was pulling out of the depot as we pulled in. Everybody, and their cousins, wanted either something to eat or to drink (often times water) when we arrived. Anticipating our arrival, ham sandwiches put on metropolitan airs so that they would not go with one unless, as an inducement, ten cents were offered. And then one almost needed a magnifying glass to see the ham as it was snugly encased between the pieces of bread. The sonorous "all aboard" causes a rush from the lunch counter toward the train. As it moved out of the depot our Kentucky friend, from henceforth to be known as Mr. Smith, said "say what you please about the North, but I rather like it. Everybody seems perfectly composed, friendly, communicative and frank. You do not see standing around these depots a class of persons who look at you as if they suspected you all the time." We agreed and the train sped on towards the lakes. The canal on the right of the train, as we pass through Dayton, is the Miami and Erie canal, 291 miles long, reaching from Toledo to Cincinnati, O., and cost, when built, $7,454,729. It has a total rise and fall of 907 feet, 105 locks, eighty seven feet wide, while the canal proper is fifty feet wide. It was on one such the lamented Garfield earned his first wages. The fact that we were now going towards "God's country" so fast, effected the excursionists in two different ways; to the Southern white people it had a tendency to make them open their valises and store away their caste prejudice, because it became to them, from the social intercourse between the passengers, without regard to nationality, that it would be exceedingly unpleasant to manifest anything of the kind there; to us it caused our hitherto crushed manhood to rise in the scale that we could almost hear the eagle, upon the silver dollar in our pocket, cry "liberty now and forever, one and inseparable with certain inalienable rights." To keep in our minds the fact that ours was a different color from the other passengers, kept us continually before the looking glass in the side of the car. While we had been looking anon upon the fields to right and left of us filled with the white blossoms of buckwheat, Mr. Smith had been scrutinizing the good looking "yellow gal," as he put it, on the opposite side of the car. Directly tapping us on the shoulder he said: "What is your name? After introducing ourselves he continued, "I've been looking at that young man and good looking colored girl over there. The white people of the North do not know how much the Southerners love the blacks of the South." We said, you do not mean the blacks in general but you mean, doubtless, the "yellow girls" in particular. He laughed so loud that several persons near smiled as they saw us, and his wife frowned at his hilarity. "Well, I'll tell you, my friend, some strange things are occurring in the South. John Sherman, Reed, and old Foraker try to keep the 'bloody shirt' aloft because they say we are killing all the niggers for political reasons, but they miss it often. Nearly all the niggers that are now being hung by mobs are charged with an attempted rape upon some white woman. Now the truth is the light. Though born and raised in the South and have been to the legislature three times from my district, I know more about this nigger killing business than I am willing to tell or to have the North know. Now you will understand that I mean neither disrespect to you nor my family by what I am going to tell you about this nigger killing business in the South. Our women have always been bragged on and by this we have left the impression that ours is the only pretty woman. But each of these is about like other women, they will be infatuated by a good looking, smart and well dressed and polite man whenever they see them. Before and since the war our butlers, hostlers and house servants were and are selected from among the blacks that are good looking, genteel and smart. I've read in books a great deal of nonsense, for instance when such take up the lowest type of the blacks and compare them with the most cultured white man and then, with the air of a philosopher ask "do you see how inferior he is?" But I know what I am talking about when I tell you that some of the finest and prettiest people are among the blacks. Our boys are good judges as well as their fathers. You live in Louisville, and I am there once a week the year round, and you can witness as truth what I'm going to tell you—"Springfield" cried the conductor and everybody stopped talking to look out.

Ministers Ought to be Careful how they receive Members.

WM. PERRY.

There are a great many members of the church, that are not law-abiding and when they are called up before the church, for their sinful conduct, they say, "There are many churches; I will join another. Now ministers ought to watch the door of the church, and see who comes in.

There are members who leave our church to join other Methodist churches, and the preacher in order to get them, receives them without any letter, and while they have left their own church under bad reports.

I don't believe that it is right for any minister to receive a member from any church without a letter, unless that member can be well recommended by one you know. We had better have a few members, that are loyal to the church; we would be able to do more. But the great trouble is we have so many members in our church, that are not loyal to it. All ministers ought to keep out these wolves, in sheep clothing. Some members run from the church because they are called upon to pay their just dues, some, because they love whiskey, and the preacher gets after them about it. Now brethren—we don't want members in our church who are shunning their duty, and we don't want members in the church who get drunk, and I don't believe that any other church ought to receive them,—how in the world can we have a good church when there are drunkards, and seducers of all kind in there; now we must keep them out by giving them a thorough examination before we admit them in the church. I mean all ministers.

New Berne, Ala.

Central Tennessee College.

January 16, 1891, at 2:30 o'clock at the Spruce Street, Baptist Church, Nashville, Tenn., Dr. Price, president of the Afro-American League, lectured before the Inter Collegiate Association. Long before the hour had arrived the house was crowded, all anxious to see and hear the renowned J. C. Price, D. D. The house was called to order by Mr. Proctor. The Mozarts of Fisk sang the hallelujah chorus, Dr. Braden, read Psalm xix, after which Dr. Owen led in prayer and the choir of Roger Williams, sang the hunter's chorus. The speaker was introduced by Mr. Proctor, who gave an eloquent account of his honorable career. The orator then said, "I am certainly glad to be here to-day, not for what I shall say but for being here. I find myself laboring under some embarrassment. During the eloquent introductions I was blushing all the time although you did not see it. I can not hope to meet your expectations this evening.
The air is full of the race problem. What shall we ever do with the Negro? The future of the Negro is a broad subject and every man has his own outline of it." He outlined the future heritage as being intelligence, and refinement, "and" he said "is there such a future for the Negro in this country?" Some of them have little confidence in themselves, some keep their heads down, they look at the past and say it was dark and they do not hope for anything brighter to come. I believe and I have some reasons for the belief that is within me, that the Negro is dependent on the same essential elements that have entered into the make up of other races. Then if the Negro has the same elements as other races, he may hope for a similar future. Mind power rules all inanimate things and makes them animate.

The Negro has a marvelous interest in everything electrifying. The white winged messengers with the hum of industry, on all sides our country, sweep on with the Negro. What is the influence that propels the flashing lightning? What the force that moves the gigantic mountains? What is it that is controlling everything? Why, it is the mind power. Then does the mind enter into the best civilization of a nation? But here is a question, has the Negro a mind? Mr. Craft, an escaped slave answered this question many years ago before an association in England. A further demonstration may be seen in these institutions as teachers, they are being examined before medical boards, showing that they have minds equal in every respect to their Caucasian brothers.

The Negro must do as a man.

These are the things that will answer the race question, and snatch from slander her forked tongue, from sarcasm her unbridled sway, all over the land.

Has the Negro industry? By the tickling of the soil to make burst and bloom, grow yellow with the grain, and grow white with cotton, comes the answer.

Has he any intellectual force? Twenty-five years have proved that he has. His professions, his position in business and trade, the recognition given him by newspapers, the dependence placed upon him in public enterprise, the schools and colleges of the land, are proving that the Negro has a mind like other men, and he is impressing the country with this fact.

The proper utterance of manhood is, give me nothing because I am black, deny me nothing because I am black. If the Negro can not stand up like a man let him fall. If you want something done that requires skill the Negro has that quality, if you want industry they are industrious, if you want strength, his brawny arms possess it. His literary power is shown in the works of The Underground Railroad, Rising Sun, etc. I might go on and on naming the long list of books forming the literature of the colored race.

There are those who question his industry and say that he is lazy, that he can not amass wealth, and one of the arguments presented to Mr. Lincoln to defer emancipation was that he could not long exist if left to depend upon his own energies.

The Negro denied these charges. It is wonderful to see the homes which have been bought and paid for since the war, and boards and brick and sand and $263,000,000 worth of property developed, bear testimony of his civilization. The South is a monument to the Negro. Twice as much has been accomplished under the free labor system. The legacy of the Negro is iron muscle and indomitable will. He can do anything any other race can. He is entirely an American. I was referred to once as being one-eighth Mohawk and seven-eighths African. Whether this be true or not I care not I am eight-eighths an American and the interests of this country are mine. Will there be any Negroes in the future? The white population doubles every thirty-five years, the Negroes every twenty, without emigration. It is claimed he will disappear by assimilation, amalgamation, absorption, or turn white, but this is a mistake, there will be Negroes here when Gabriel blows his trumpet, or at least it will take many years to absorb some of us. The theory is wrong that the Negro is despised because he is black, why black is a favorite color and only loses its qualifying nature when applied to mah. If it is not color it must be condition. When education takes the place of ignorance, morality of immorality, virtue of vice, temperance of intemperance, wealth of poverty, then will prejudice fade before the nation like dew drops before the morning sun, and he is gathering strength through which will place him just where he deserves. No race has done more, let him do everything that will make him akin to God, let the race follow Jesus Christ and it will endure for ever. These students have much to do in lifting our fallen brother, the millions yet in darkness and in sin whether they stop at the 7,000,000 in America or pass on to the 260,000,000 in Africa, the work is grand. Robed in the spirit of the master, never mind toils, tears, and storms, think of the hand that leads you, and what you may do for God and the race. Such is your position to-day young, buoyant and strong, and not encompassed by the clouds that kept your father back. This is grand work and where the spirit of God sheds its light. The future of the Negro becomes one of the sublime prospects of human destiny, the future is crowned with a possibility whose sparkling gems shed a light upon these neglected pilgrims we shall lead."

Miss Olivia L. Poole, of Central Tennessee College, presented the speaker with a harp of flowers in behalf of the ladies of the three universities. She concluded by saying; though these flowers may wither as the days go by, it is our deepest hope that you in your divine eloquence may not wither, but may ever retain your divine position in the literary world, as a bright star whose halo of brightness shows well the grandeur of the vaulted sky. Mr. Price responded. Mr. Tallifero of Roger Williams University, offered resolutions of appreciation which was unanimously adopted, the pilgrims chorus by choir of Central Tennessee College. Benediction by Dr. Cravath, closed a very interesting meeting.

Church Polity.

Q. Please tell me, can a man fall from grace? D. B.

A. Yes; any one that is in grace can fall from grace. Of course, he cannot fall from it unless he is first in it. The whole scope of Scripture on this point is to the effect that after conversion one may so fall away as to finally be a cast away. "Let him that stand take heed, lest he fall. St. Paul.

Q. Our benevolent society composed almost exclusively of members of our church desire to build a hall on the church ground. In consideration of the privilege of being permitted to build on the church ground, we offer the trustees of the church the right to have the use of the hall whenever they desire. Some people think the trustees can grant us the privilege, and others think not. What do you think of it?

TENNESSEE.

A. In our opinion, according to the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the trustees of the church have no such authority. Again, the complications and evils that might follow, in course of time, under such arrangements, make it highly desirable that they should have no such authority. Better let the society buy and build on its own ground; even if all the members of the church were members of the society. They may be the same people, but entirely different corporations. Follow the letter and spirit of the Discipline, and discuss your pet notions, and thereby keep clear of all future trouble.

Q. 1. Can the trustees demand of the stewards the money they raise for the preachers' salary to pay off debts which they (the trustees) incurred for the preacher?

2. Why is it that some of our young men can enjoy our Freedmen's Aid schools, and others cannot, although we all work equally hard to bring up our benevolent collections?

A. 1. The trustees have no business incurring debts for the preacher. Everything pertaining to the support and comfort of the preacher in charge, outside of items involving building and improvements of church and parsonage, devolve upon the stewards of the church. That is to say, the stewards are to look to the pastors support, and the trustees to the real estate and debts, etc., involving church property. If each board attends strictly to its own business, there will never be any complications. If, however, through ignorance or unavoidable circumstances the one board took upon itself burdens belonging to the other, it is clearly the duty of that board to shoulder its own responsibility whenever the opportunity presents itself.

Q. When the bishop at annual conference removes a pastor from a charge, and stations him at another, is it right for him to send willing worker cards back to members on his old charge, and have them collect benevolent money, when there is a preacher in charge on the work. ENQUIRER.

A. It is wrong in law and morals; and the preacher that does such a thing is guilty of the most unblushing wrong to his successor; and is devoid of all ministerial courtesies. If such a case were brought to the attention of the annual conference the guilty party would certainly receive the scornful contempt of his brethren and the censure of the bishop. The man that is guilty of such an act violates the Methodist Discipline, and deserves to be handled for it.

Q. What course would you pursue should one or two of your female members desire you as pastor to change their names on the church book from that of their husbands, or the man they are living with, to that of the men they had during the war, as they are trying to get pensions under their former names?

2. If I change their names, would it not appear that they are living in adultery?

We could not, and would not if we could, thus become a particeps criminis, or accessory, to their fraudulent intentions against the Government. Break open the thin glass that covers their request and you will find the most hideous fraud. You cannot become a party to a crime for which those people deserve to be expelled from the church, and for which the government would hastily land them in the States prison if this criminal request and intentions were made public. Your question surprises us, when you say some of those people are such prominent members in the church. What do you mean when you say "men they are living with"? Do you mean to say you have members in your church that bear the names of men that they are living with in concubinage, and that such persons are members of the church? Do you to say you have public adulterers on your church roll and in your steward branch. If so, it is time that you either clean out the unclean stable or that you step down and out, if inadequate to the task. "My house shall be called a house of prayer," but not a house of thieves or prostitution.

Savannah Conference.

The session at Macon, Ga., last week was one of the best ever held. Great gains have been made on all the districts. On one the benevolence had increased one hundred and fifty per cent. In another over seven hundred souls had been converted. Many new churches had been built, and peace and harmony had prevailed. Bishop Warren presided. Dr. Spencer treated the conference to a good address on Thursday as did also Dr. Hunt of the Book Concern. They left the same day to go to the Alabama Conference at Marion. The conference is still in session as we go to press, so the appointments can not be published till next week.

PASTOR'S throughout our territory will confer a great favor if they send us their present and former addresses so we can send their papers to their present addresses and not to their former.

Now is the time for revivals in all the churches. Begin the new year with new faith in Christ, and with new fervor from on high. "To your tents, O Israel!" Pray mightily, constantly, for the pentecostal baptism, and there will be added to the church daily, such as are being saved.

Letters from the Pastors.

SPECIAL TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Please take notice, 1st. That all anonymous letters go directly to our waste basket; 2d. Letters must be written on only one side of the paper; 3d. No frivolous questions will be noticed; 4th. Abbreviations should not be used; 5th. Notes and items must be condensed so as to insure brevity; 6th. We return no manuscript.

J. W. Kenscer, Tullahoma, Tenn.

My first quarterly conference was held Jan. 18. Elder Price is the right man in the right place. The weather was so bad we could not do very much, but the elder preached a heartfelt sermon, after which he administered the Lord's Supper to about sixteen members. I held a protracted meeting, which resulted in five conversions and six additions to the church. It is very dark here, but we are making things bright.

C. E. Alexander, Lewisburg, Tenn.

Lewisburg is the county site of Marshall, sixty-seven miles south of Nashville. I landed here Oct. 31, 1890. This circuit has two churches. I have found about fifteen live members here, and about that many have been meeting and aiding the church from time to time. The pastor, with one faithful hero—Bro. Giles Ewing—with saw and hammer, have raised, wainscot, and built an altar unto the Lord, with lamp and Bible stands; all at a cost of $40; and the house looks a hundred dollars better. It is still very uncomfortable, having a bad floor and no ceiling, which causes a small congregation of fifteen or twenty members. At the other point there is nothing worth mention. A hall with neither doors, windows or congregation, and so that place is abandoned until spring.

W. F. Anderson, Morristown, Tenn.

The Lord is blessing us with a glorious revival. It has been going on for eight days and nights. The church members have been greatly revived and sinners converted and found Christ.

Haven Memorial Dedicated.

Commencing Dec. 4, Rev. James Jackson, of Waynesboro, Ga., has dedicated one of the prettiest and most perfectly finished churches in the Savannah Conference. The exercises consisted of preaching, on Thursday evening; Love-feast on Friday evening; and a beautiful illustrated show by Dr. Thirkield, of Gammon Theological Seminary, showing the Holy Land, on Saturday evening.

On Sunday morning about 400 people listened to Bishop I. W. Joyce preach the dedication sermon. At 3 p. m. Rev. J. Watts, Presiding Elder, preached, after which the Sacrament was administered by the Bishop.

At 7 p. m. Dr. Thirkield preached. The collection amounted to $200, which nearly cleared the church of its debt. The church cost $2,100, and it is a credit to the pastor and people of Waynesboro.

G. A. Sanford, Alamo, Tenn.

My first quarterly conference was held by Rev. B. F. Anderson Nov. 23, 24. The people were pleased with the elder, who preached twice. We had a good time in our meeting, and a good many souls were made happy. Paid elder, $11.25; raised for benevolence $2.80; paid pastor, $35.25.

J. L. Williams, Mason, Tenn.

Our first quarterly conference was held Dec. 27, 28. Rev. B. F. Anderson was with us, and preached two grand sermons. Our new pastor is doing a good work, and loved by all. Our ex pastor was also with us, and gave a good talk on church debt and college. The Lord's Supper was administered to forty-two persons. Paid pastor, $16.60; elder, $8.30; paid on church debt, $52.65.

Leroy Diggs, Clinton, Tenn.

I arrived at this charge Oct. 18, and was cordially received by the members of our church. I preached on Sunday, Oct. 19. The collection was $7.57. From thence I went to Clinton, where I was received in like manner. I preached here on the Sabbath after the meeting of the Sunday school, Oct. 26. Collection, $3.

The work is in a growing, and prosperous condition all along the line. Old church debts are being paid off; Sabbath schools, prayer and class meetings are looked after.

I held my first quarterly conference at Coal Creek Dec. 21. Rev. E. Province, Presiding Elder, was present, and seemed well pleased with the work. The elder preached a good sermon on Sunday. Methodism gained honor. Collection, $26; five persons joined the church on probation.

Briceville, Tenn., is a town two miles from Coal Creek, with about five hundred inhabitants. I preach here every third Sunday in each month.

We have no church here, but one of our trustees has given us a lot to build on, and we are now raising money to build a church this spring; and I shall use the SOUTHWESTERN to help me out.

Emancipation was celebrated by our people here. Rev. N. Johnson of Coal Creek, was appointed president of the meeting. Although it was a rainy day, we had a time long to be remembered. Collection for Freedmen's Aid Society, in $5.80; subscription, $3.90.

I was so much troubled with catarrh it seriously affected my voice. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored.—B. F. Liepman, A. M., Pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it aloft. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile up in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1.50, cash; otherwise, $2. tf.

FOR DYSPEPSIA
Use Brown's Iron Bitters.

Send us $14, and we will send you the SOUTHWESTERN for a whole year, and one of these machines to your nearest freight office.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I want to enquire for my brother-in-law, Manser Powells. He left his mother the year of surrender. Her name was Phillis Powells. There were three children—Patience, Martha, and Mary Powells. They used to belong to Simker Powells. We heard he was in New Orleans. Address BOSS TAYLOR, Kingston, La.

Mr. Editor: I want to find my mother and father. They were brought to Jasper county in the spring of 1857. Mother was sold to a planter named Calhoun. Father was named Harry Williams, and mother, Caroline.

HARRICH GANT, Paulding, Jasper county, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I wish to find my daughter. Her name was Hannah Slakum. She belonged to John Slakum, in Fairfield county, Va., when I was sold to a speculator called "Straight Finger Jones." He brought me to Texas. Mother named me Winnie, but now I go by the name of Jane Bass. She is my only child. Please address Winnie or Jane Bass, M. E. Church Navasota, Texas.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my sister, Flora, who was owned by Dr. Brantley. The doctor was killed in 1860 by Wm. Baltzell. Mrs. Brantley moved to Mississippi with Bluford and Flora in 1860 or 1861. Flora was the oldest daughter of Nelson and Diana Hutchinson owned by Charlie and Jennie Hutchinson, of Gonzales county, Texas. There were four sisters of us—Agnes, Minna, Ailse and Flora—all owned by Hutchinson. Any information will be gladly received by their old mother, Dinah Hutchinson, or their sister, Ailse Green. Address all letters to Mr. Geo. A. Green, Gonzales, Texas.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my mother, three brothers, and three sisters. I left them in Franklin county, Va. My mother's name was Silvia Gairrens, when I left her. My brothers' names were: Stephen, Henry and Amen Achor. Sister's Mary, Hannah, and Lucy Cliff. My name is Charlie. I belonged to a man named Warfield Price. Any information of their whereabouts will be thankfully received.

"Chimney Sweep" Finds a Brother Whom he had not seen Since Made Free by the Rebellion.

Joe Mechell, who has been a citizen of Newport since the war, earning an honest livelihood by odd jobs, such as sweeping chimneys, etc., made a startling discovery the other day.

He and his neighbor, a man who had occupied the same house with all summer, were having a friendly talk, and wandering from one subject to another, they finally related some of the startling experiences of their lives, when it came out that they were both owned by the same master in Virginia, when the war broke out. The discovery led to more minute explanations as to their origin, and finally each was forced to conclude that he had found in the other his long lost brother.

To make sure there was no mistake, Joe, whose wide acquaintance with the world has made him a little suspicious, decided to test the case by relating the story of falling into the well when a very small boy, knowing that the long-missing brother, if living, would remember the incident. His companion said that he remembered the incident, and removed all doubt from Joe's mind as to their relationship by saying: "Yes; I remember. Mother and master came to the rescue—mother with a tub and rope, and master with a yardstick—and while mother was bailing you out, master broke the yardstick over my head, saying that I had pushed you into the well."—New Port (R. I.) Mercury.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Cheek Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One-Tucker, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

Letters from the Laity.

R. H. Johnson, Bellwood, Tenn.

As strange as it may seem country people scarcely take their seats in a railroad car before they begin to eat.

These are the words of Rev. L. M. Hagood, a man of great repute, who has made himself famous by the mastery of his pen—a preacher who has been styled "the greatest Negro preacher, east, west, north or south. The man who a few years ago upset 'tamers apology for African Methodism,' and has lately sent forth the "Colored Man in the M. E. Church," all of which learned men have pronounced grand undisputable. But even in the face of all this, I am led to believe that even the wisest men make mistakes. For all country people are not like Dr. Hagood describes them in his "Sight-Seeing." The fact that one lives in the country is no proof against his sociability.

"It is not the house; 't is not the dress That makes the saint or sinner."

Many of the city folks say 'taters and 'lasses, just like we common country people; and many of them spell "God" with a small "g" and "cabbage" with a "k" just like us common country folks. It is not where one lives that makes one refined. Worth makes the man, and not his dwelling place.

"It is not in beauty, nor in rank; 'T is not in wealth, like London's bank That makes us truly blessed."

The world will not inquire who you are and where you live. It will ask: "What can you do?"

Why man! all the country is not a humdrum place. Our country churches are moving upon the city churches. At our last district conference (North Lebanon) lacked only one dollar of being the banner on the Cumberland District, the city and town churches on the district notwithstanding.

Our worthy pastor, Rev. B. F. Whitley, will compare favorably with any of the preachers in the Tennessee Conference next fall, in all the claims of the church. Mark that.

The House of Bondage.

Among many scores of letters written in praise of "The House of Bondage" written by the late Mrs. Albert, and published in the SOUTHWESTERN, we give below one from the pen of the most polished and scholarly ladies among our people, which we know will interest. She writes under a nom de plume, but it will be appreciated, notwithstanding.

"Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D. D., Editor SOUTHWESTERN, New Orleans:—

"Sir: I have read with the deepest interest and profit the posthumous article 'The House of Bondage,' written by your late dear wife, printed in the SOUTHWESTERN and just completed in the issue of the 8th inst. Believing as I do that the interest which I am forced to feel and made to realize in the publication of these sketches of slave life in our section was common to thousands of people in our entire country, I must confess that I regret exceedingly that the end of the manuscript has been reached and announced by you. I trust that it may not be received or considered in the least spirit of criticism of the article or presumption on my part to suggest that you in some way continue the article in your weekly publication. In my opinion and suggestion, 'The House of Bondage' should cover in its range and breadth the entire variety of slavery and slave hardships, as they existed not only locally and in Louisiana, but the entire South. It should, methinks, begin and include the terrible sufferings of little children, the youth and early manhood and womanhood of the slave. The character should be made to exhibit to the world the hundreds of human souls of both sexes, chained together marching the stock pens of Virginia to those of the far South to be sold and bartered. The bravery and heroism of Negro slaves, both men and women, as it cropped out ever and anon, amid the darkest days of slavery, should be especially brought out. Thousands of Negro men died before they would willingly submit to the cruel tongue of the lash, and women before they would yield up their virtue at the bidding of the master.

"The House of Bondage" should I think, include the life and struggle of its characters up to and through the first years of emancipation, and the advent of the Yankee teachers among them, for indeed after the master had lost his property in the slave, he was more ready and willing in many cases to kill him than when a slave. I think it must be apparent to any one that the admirable style in which "The House of Bondage" is written contains and will furnish much to history of the terrible period of slavery, that would otherwise be lost; hence my suggestion and concern that it be continued with the utmost system and care of compilation. When completed in the columns of your valuable paper, it should be converted into book form and sold, and the first receipts after payment of expenses expended for a magnificent monument to mark the resting place of the dear woman who first conceived and penned the work for the benefit of mankind.

"Trusting, dear sir, that these lines which I have assumed the boldness to write, may be received in the proper light, and that the suggestions I make may prove feasible, and in some way 'House of Bondage' be continued. I beg to subscribe. Yours respectfully,

MARY MUGGINS.

We hope to do the very things herein suggested by Mary Muggins.

What People Say About Specific Oxygen.

Gentlemen: I feel it my duty to give expression to my honest convictions as to the curative properties of the Specific Oxygen. I believe there is no other remedy in use that will compare with it.

Gentlemen: I had a severe attack of bronchitis last winter. Mr. George (son) of my church, told me about the Specific Oxygen treatment—how it had relieved him of a distressing bronchitis, a chronic case of many years' standing. I began to use it myself, and in a few weeks was entirely cured.

Gentlemen: Your treatment has certainly done wonders for me. The Nasal Spray Bulb and Catarrh Specific are just grand for curing catarrh.

We have used Specific Oxygen in our family, and find it a most excellent remedy for colds and chronic throat trouble.

I am highly pleased with the remedy. It has done me more good than anything I have ever tried. I feel that I will be cured.

Sirs: Herewith I hand you symptom blank for my wife filled out, as you see. She is wonderfully improved since she began your treatment in January last.

Dear Dr. Overman: I trust that my bronchitis has been entirely cured. How much I owe to Specific Oxygen I can never estimate.

Gentlemen: Many thanks for your kindness in sending the Oxygen for Mary. We think the Oxygen treatment has been a great thing for her. Yours gratefully, ELIZA A. CHILDS.

ON last Thursday Rev. H. C. Wilson and family, while in this city, at 445 Constance and Third streets, were wonderfully surprised by a company of many friends with many handsome presents.

REV. J. H. Rylander sends a congratulatory note expressing his gratification on the re-appointment of Rev. J. F. Marshall to the presiding eldership. We coincide with the brother's opinion, heartily.

OUR purpose is to send the paper to every pastor in the conferences of which we are the official organ. So if you fail to get the paper, please send us correct post-office address and we will send you the paper. You must always state at what post office you received it before.

IN THE welcome address of Rev. J. F. Marshall to Bishop Newman at the anniversary celebration, Jan. 13, which we published, some errors occurred that marred it not a little. The phrase "nature gardens" should have read "native gardens," and the word "council" was written counsel. It should have also been stated that at the proper time a nice bunch of fresh buds and flowers was presented to the Bishop.

E. THOMPSON, of Aberdeen, Miss., who has one of the sewing machines we offer, says that is the best in the settlement; that it makes the sewing machine agents in his locality "look down in the month" at the prospect of losing their former fat profits out of the people. He says it fulfills the representations in every respect, and that full confidence can be placed in whatever the SOUTHWESTERN says. That is true. The SOUTHWESTERN is very careful in its statements, and the manager informed himself in regard to the machine before it was offered as a premium. Why it is so cheap is because we give the profit to the subscriber who purchases it.

THE trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor have issued a letter to the religious press in which they refute some statements that have been made prejudicial to the society. They say "the societies are found in specific churches, doing the work of those churches as best they can. They are pastor's aid societies, solely under his control and direction. There is no board of control or authority outside of the local church. The sole mission of the United Society is to furnish information and to arrange for an annual convention. The society is, and has been from the beginning, on a strictly evangelical basis." While all this may be true, and we wish the society great success, we have found that our Epworth League surpasses all other organizations for young Methodists to prosecute aggression and successful evangelistic work.

"Lo, the Poor Indian."

Never was this old time phrase more applicable than at the present time. Much discussion is had regarding the cause of the late trouble. It appears to us that the views of W. H. Hare, a missionary bishop, express a fair statement of the case:

The evidence compels the conclusion that, among the Pine Ridge Indians at least, hunger has been an important element in the causes of discontent and insubordination.

In the farming season of 1889, the Indians were all called into the Agency and kept there for a month by the Sioux Commission. During their absence their cattle broke into their fields and trod down, or ate up, their crops. The Indians reaped practically nothing.

In the year 1890, drought, the worst known for many years, afflicted the western part of South Dakota; and the Indian crops were a total failure.

There is ample evidence that, during this period, the rations is sued lasted, even when carefully used, for only two thirds of the time for which they were intended.

To add to their distress, this period, 1889 and 1890 was marked by extraordinary misfortunes. The measles prevailed with great virulence in 1889; The grippe in 1890. Whooping cough also attacked the children. The sick died from want. In this statement Inspector Gardiner, Dr. McGillicuddy late Agent, Miss Blaine Goodale, who has been in the camps a good deal, the missionary force, and many others whose testimony is of the highest value because of their character and their knowledge of the situation, all agree.

In addition to the above, Herbert Walsh, secretary of the Indian Rights Association, says:

The spoils system, which removes competent and experienced officials and puts in their places men who are inexperienced, frequently incompetent, and sometimes positively bad. The evil results of this system are apparent under Republican and Democratic administrations alike. Had the merit system been in vogue, it is evident that the growing discontent among the Sioux, arising from other causes, would have been promptly ascertained and reported upon, so that a remedy might have been applied. It is also evident that authority and control at Pine Ridge broke down under incapable management.

Hunger and suffering, from a diminished food supply, and failure on the part of the Government to promptly fulfill the full terms of the agreement recently made with the Sioux by which eleven million acres of land were ceded to white settlement.

The influence of evil disposed Indians, such as Sitting Bull, Red Cloud, and others, who took advantage of all these conditions and of the excitement incident to the Messiah Craze to foment discontent until it had reached the point of armed resistance, robbery and bloodshed.

Our only hope for better things, it seems, lies in a persistent agitation, for an Indian service under a single competent, experienced head, and complete divorce of the service from partisan politics.

It would be an admirable thing if many competent and experienced officers in the army who thoroughly understand the Indian, were detailed to serve as Indian Agents.

DR. MOORE, in the Western put enough holes through Dr. Spence's article on "The Great Southern Problem" in the Methodist Quarterly to make it look like a sieve. It deserves to be riddled, for it is the most misrepresentative of Methodism of all the articles on the subject we have seen from the pens of preachers of our church. It practically denies manhood to the Negro.—Baltimore Methodist.

The article in question is the most treasonable and inhuman of any on the subject, that we have ever read from the pen of a Methodist preacher. Dr. Moore as well as

Dr. Frysinger, of the Baltimore Methodist, deserve our lasting gratitude for the riddling which they have given the article. Only the pressure of the conference matters have prevented us from paying our respects to Dr. Spence and his miserable solution of the race problem in his article to the Review. Recognize the Negro's manhood, and treat him as a brother in Christ, and a fellow-citizen of the republic, and there's no problem. Any other subterfuge is the rankest treason to God and man.

Personal.

—The friends of W. L. Duncan, may address him at Huntsville, Texas, Box 279.

—The Octogenial Celebration of Bishop Daniel A. Payne, D.D., LL. D., of the A. M. E. Church, will take place at Jacksonville, Fla. Feb., 24, 1891. A nicely printed and interesting program is out, announcing the occasion.

—Rev. J. H. Pierre, appointed for Marthaville, was detained in the city for a few few days by the grippe.

—Dr. Godman is seriously sick with a combination of la grippe and malaria fever—was prostrated on his coming from the conference.

—Mrs. Rev. G. W. Marsh, Cumberland Furnace, Tenn., has been very sick, but is now better.

—Rev. M. S. Goings, desires his correspondents to address him at Bastrop, La.

—Rev. C. W. Kershaw, may be addressed at Bastrop, La.

—Rev. Ernest Lyon is in the field as Sunday school agent for the conference. Support him; rally around him; pray for him, and make '91 the grandest year of our Sunday school work.

Little Rock Conference.

The Thirteenth Session of the Little Rock Conference convened at Texarkana Ark. Jan., 22, at 9 a. m., with Bishop John P. Newman, D. D., LL. D., in the chair. The Rev. G. E. Cunningham, Presiding Elder in the Arkansas Conference read the Scripture lesson, and Rev. W. R. Duncan, led in prayer. There were thirty-four members present. A. L. Tate had died during the year and had gone to his reward. Thos. Mason was elected secretary, with W. O. Emory and W. H. Morris as assistants. J. W. Jackson was elected statistical secretary, with J. E. Toombs and J. P. Franklin assistants. A. J. Fletcher, was elected treasurer and J. F. Richmond, and B. J. Griffin assistants. W. R. R. Duncan, Presiding Elder of the Forest city, Geo. W. Lacey, of the Pine Bluff, G. N. Johnson, of the Texarkana, and W. H. Crawford of the Little Rock District, reported their works, as did also the preachers on their district and their characters passed. The character of W. M. Fuller and Eliza Roberts passed and they were continued respectively in their supernumary and supernumary relations. The following visitors were introduced; Rev. A. W. Culver of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. W. H. Williams, and G. E. Cunningham, of the Arkansas Conference. The following classes of deacons reported their work and their character passed viz. First class of deacons, J. J. Hulet, H. P. Conlton, and W. M. Fuller; second class, John F. Richmond, H. W. Wolton, H. M. Renfro, Alex Harde-man, and S. M. Stokes, a draft of $30, was ordered on the Chartered Fund and one of $153, on the Book Concern dividend.

The following local preachers were elected to deacon's order viz. Thomas R. Wambles, Monroe N. Langston, David B. Horston, Henry P. Strong, Henry R. Roseman, T. J. Thompson, and Waters McIntosh.

SECOND DAY.—The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. W. H. Williams, the case of J. L. Massey, was referred to the Presiding Elder for investigation. Foster Wallace was permitted to withdraw under charges. Thos. H. Hanna was given a supernumary relation and requested to locate. The following remain on trial: T. R. Wambles, M. N. Langston, H. P. Strong, H. R. Roseman, J. G. Walker, John H. Cox, Phillip Owens and John A. Henry were discontinued.

The Philadelphia proposition, providing for an equal proportion of lay and ministerial delegates in the General Conference, and also for the two sets of delegates to deliberate and vote as one body and never separate, was non concurred in, by a vote of twenty-six for non-concurrence and none for concurrence. The conference voted on the admission of women as delegates to the Lay Electoral and General Conference, sixteen for and sixteen against admission. The vote of the laity was 326 for and 725 against admission. The following were admitted into full connection after the bishops able and impressive address to the class, viz. Joseph C. Sherrill, J. Lemon, and Silas McDonald. The following were continued on trial, Geo. W. Thompson, W. B. Clark, and J. C. Crowley. The following were admitted on trial: Water McIntosh, D. H. Harris, D. W. Nelson, D. B. Horston, J. W. Burns, Chas. G. Brooks, and Thos. J. Thompson. VanBuren was selected for the seat of next conference. The following transfers to the conference were announced and they were introduced viz. B. H. Johnson, from East Tennessee, and Geo. A. Payne, John Qualls, P. B. McDonald, and Elijah Clark, also the following who were absent, Ephraim Harrison, Washington Brook, C. W. Reeves, and Alex. Spears, all from the Louisiana Conference. Rev. W. S. Cornwell, and Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D. D., editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, were introduced.

THIRD DAY.—Revs. J. B. Scott, D. D., and W. H. Logan, Presiding Elders in the Texas Conference were introduced, and by invitation of the bishop addressed the conference, with great acceptability. Dr. Albert, addressed the conference in behalf of the SOUTHWESTERN, following which the conference passed strong resolutions pledging the greatest diligence in circulating the paper in all their charges, and confirming the paper as its official organ. The course of the editor was approved and his presence welcomed on any and all occasions; for all of which we return many thanks, and the promise that we will do all in our power to continue to merit the favors of our brethren in Arkansas.

Bishop Newman here took occasion to impress upon the mind of the conference the duty that they owed to the paper. Enlarging therefrom he delivered a masterly address upon the growth of Methodism in the South among our people, and he complimented them very highly for the evidences of progress on all good and legitimate lines which he saw everywhere. The several committees reported, and their reports were adopted. The report on temperance was specially pointed and emphatic. The conference unanimously invited in a petition to the National Government praying for the suppression of the liquor traffic in Africa. President Mason came in for a large share of commendation in the educational report, which showed the Philander-Smith College, Little Rock, Ark., to be enjoying unusual prosperity. The College has an enrollment of 277 students representing nine states. Very touching resolutions were adopted in memory of Rev. Samuel Johnson, who was for many years a member of this conference, but who died last year in the Texas Conference.

CONFERENCE SABBATH.—Was a day long to be remembered among our people in Texarkana. The private conference between the bishop and ministers at 9 a. m., and the love feast which followed were seasons of great manifestations. At 11 a. m., the bishop preached a very able and effective sermon, followed by ordination of deacons in the afternoon, nearly all the colored churches of the city had their pulpits filled by ministers from the Conference. The statistical reports showed remarkable increases in nearly every item.

Publishers' Department.

(Pastors are requested to read this department each week.)

Special To Correspondents.

Correspondents will please bear in mind that no weekly newspaper in the world is large enough to keep up all its varied departments and publish all the matter that contributors may see fit to write. All we can do is to exercise our best judgment in condensation and delay in the matter of publishing many of the communications while others of necessity must find their way to the waste basket. We cannot promise to return any matter sent us. You had better keep a copy yourself. We are always glad to receive short, crisp news items, and we publish such as soon as possible; but long letters which are very often badly written, in unintelligible hieroglyphics, written on both sides of a sheet of paper, must take their chances.

Communications taken bodily out of some books, or treating upon some subjects which have been exhausted, and others presenting such objections, which, even if we had the space, we could not admit, must be rejected. We shall continue to do the best we can to retain the present support and cooperation of all our correspondents and friends, but our friends must remember that the editor, and the editor alone, is the sole and best judge in every such case. Keep cool. Send us more subscribers; more cash and less gush; more facts and less words; and we will send you an interesting, spicy and entertaining newspaper every week.

THE Western Advocate has done the figuring which shows these results: In the United States alone, about two sinners repent every minute, 114 every hour, 2740 every day, over a million every year.

WE make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

Advice to Young Ministers.

1. Let me say to every young brother if you expect to have an active church you must be wide awake, industrious man yourself. An idle pastor makes an idle church.

2. It is vitally important for you in the next place, to develop the activity of your members and to direct them into fields of usefulness. There is a vast amount of latent power in most of our congregations; and in large churches there is a tendency to say: "O, you have enough to do the work without me." As small farms are usually the best tilled, so small churches are often the best worked.

3. Keep your eyes on all the operations of the church, not to do the elder's work, or the Sunday School superintendent's work, but to see that they do it. A meddling minister may be as mischievous as an idle one, yet oversight and wise perogative.

4. Drive every wheel in your machinery to its utmost power, but don't have more wheels than power. Widen your activities as fast as you have men and money to propel them.

Finally, keep Christ in the foreground. Come to your flock every Sabbath with Jesus in your heart and Jesus on your tongue. The only permanent power that can propel any church is the power from on high, and that church which is mighty in prayer is the one that is always mighty in work. Dr. T. L. Onyler.

WE ARE ordering for our people brand new Singer Sewing Machines, direct from the factory every day, on the plan fully explained in another column. They are giving perfect satisfaction, and words of praise are being showered upon them everywhere. Send us $14, and we will send you the SOUTHWESTERN for a whole year, and one of these machines to your nearest freight office.

First Annual Report

OF

The National League for the Protection of American Institutions.

The Rev. Dr. J. M. King, the general secretary of The National League for the Protection of American Institutions, New York, has favored us with a copy of his first annual report.

This report shows that the League was incorporated December 24th, 1890, pursuant to an Act of the Legislature of the State of New York.

After the preliminary work of organization and incorporation, by the voluntary services of busy men extending through many months, "The National League for the Protection of American Institutions" fairly entered upon its systematic work in the month of May, by opening its offices in the Morse Building, 140 Nassau Street, and by preparing and issuing its Document No. One.

This Document contained a statement of principles and purposes, and the text of the proposed form of the XVI Amendment to the Constitution of the United States; also the autograph letter of the Law Committee, and the autograph letter of the Executive Officers of the League soliciting expressions of opinion on the Amendment.

Fifteen thousand copies of this Document No. One, with its accompanying autograph letters, have been sent to a carefully selected list of Statesmen, Jurists, Lawyers, Publicists, Divines, College Presidents, Superintendents of Public Instruction and others engaged in educational work in all the States of the Union, and interested and encouraging responses are being daily received, the number already having passed four thousand from individuals, aside from the approving action of many religious and secular bodies and patriotic organizations. Only few opposing criticisms have come to the office.

Through the secular and religious press, and by the services of the Associated Press, the fact of organization and the principles of the League have received extended, and in most instances favorable notice. Through a single monthly periodical, the substance of Document No. One has been sent to fourteen thousand clergymen.

The American Baptist Home Mission Society at its meeting in Chicago on May 23rd, by unanimous action, endorsed The National League by name, and approved its principles and its proposed form of the Amendment.

The President and General Secretary of the League, in the month of May, spent some days in Washington, and brought the work of the League to the attention of the President of the United States and of prominent Senators and Representatives, who promised careful consideration of the subject.

The General Secretary attended a Conference of different American Orders held at Philadelphia in May, and one in Chicago in June, and secured the adoption by these Conferences of the principles of the League, and of the form of the XVI Amendment, and action was also taken for their submission for endorsement to sixty-five different American Orders, representing a constituency of over one million active members.

Favorable returns are almost daily received from these orders, and documents are being sent to them.

In these various conferences it was distinctly understood that The National League commits itself only to the principles and purposes expressed in its official documents. Steps have been taken for the formation of a National Council representing these scores of patriotic American Orders, through which The National League can, at its discretion, send its documents for educational purposes.

The Constitutional Amendment by order of the Board of Managers, is soon to be presented to the President of the United States, with the request that he recommend its passage by Congress.

The General Secretary, by direction of the Executive Committee, has delivered many addresses on the work of the League before assemblies and Conferences.

The League secured the passage by the Assembly of the State of New York, of resolutions of that most searching inquiry into the condition of all the institutions of the State in the receipt of public moneys, and which have charge of juvenile delinquents or other indigent or committed children.

The League took an active and efficient part in promoting the confirmation by the United States Senate of General Morgan as Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and of Dr. Dorchester as Superintendent of Instruction in Indian School. These officers represented the American policy of introducing and extending the Common School system among the Indian children and youth, as a preparation for citizenship; and their confirmation was opposed by those who are publicly committed to the policy of governmental appropriations to denominational schools, and who openly denounce the American Common School system.

The present Board of Managers is constituted and classified as follows:

For one year, term expiring 1890—John Jay, James M. King, Churchill H. Cutting, James M. Montgomery, Wm. Fellows Morgan, F. P. Bellamy, James McGee. For two years, term expiring 1890.—George S. Baker, Peter Donald, John D. Slayback, Manuel A. Kirscheidt, Charles E. Whitehead, Alexander E. Orr, George D. Mackay.

For three years, terms expiring 1892—Warner Van Norden, Wm. H. Parsons, Peter A. Welch, James McKeen, R. H. Boyesen, A. J. Wedemeyer.

The law committee is constituted as follows—Wm. Allen Butler, Dorman B. Eaton, Cephas Brainard, Henry E. Howland, Stephen A. Walker.

The news from the seat of war is constantly contradictory; but not so from Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; every report concerning it proves it to be the best Cough Syrup known. Only 25 cents a bottle.

REV. BISHOP JOHN F. HURST.

Almost immediately after the purchase of the ninety-one acres on the Northwestern Heights of Washington, D. C., for the site of the National University, Bishop Hurst called on Mr. George Bancroft, the celebrated historian, and consulted with him concerning the Institution and explained the plans. Mr. Bancroft received him very cordially, addressed him in German, and referred to a former acquaintance in Berlin. After the visit Mr. Bancroft sent to him a check for fifty dollars towards the payment of the land as a token of his approval, and accompanying it the following letter:

1623 H. Street, N. W. Washington, D. C. April 14, 1890.

My Dear Bishop:

I thank you for giving me an opportunity of showing how highly I esteem the importance of the great design upon which you have entered of establishing a University in the capital of our country to be thoroughly complete in every branch of science and human learning. The importance of the object at which you aim cannot be too forcibly stated, and I hope that the result may be a university equal to any in the world.

Yours most truly,
GEORGE BANCROFT.

Books and Current Literature.

Mr. E. L. Godkin, in the February number of The Forum, undertakes to prove that the expedition to relieve Enim was clearly a piratical undertaking, since it had the sanction of no government and its leader was responsible to no power. Other articles that will appear in the February Forum are: The vanishing surplus, by Senator Carlisle; The Farmer's Changed Condition, by Professor Rodney Welsh; The Government and the Indians, by Hiram Price; a biographical essay by Professor Gilderleeve, of John Hopkins University, and half a dozen other essays.

Harper's Magazine for February excels in the variety and value of its illustrated articles. The frontispiece is a portrait of Edwin Booth, engraved from Sargent's painting at the Player's Club, New York City. A novel and entertaining feature of the Number is the collection of twelve original drawings (now published for the first time) by W. M. Thackeray, illustrating the Heroic Adventures of M. Bonin, with comment by Anne Thackeray Ritchie.

Frederic Remington's illustrations in Harper's Weekly of scenes and incidences connected with the late Indian disturbances have attracted wide attention on account of their spirited character and the fidelity of their representations.

The first part of a new story by Hjalmar Hojorth Boyesen, entitled The Wonder Child, has appeared in Harper's Young People January 27.

The vigorous, intellectual and practical character of The Popular Science Monthly is well shown in the contents of the February issue. In the opening article, entitled From Babel to Comparative Philology, Dr. Andrew D. White tells how science has compelled the gradual abandonment of the belief that Hebrew was the first language of man. New York: D. Appleton & Company. Fifty cents a number, $5 a year.

Musio loving girls, and those with vocal aspirations, will find a rich treat in The Ladies Home Journal for February, in which Emma O. Thursby, Campanini, Madame Albani, Clara Louise Kellogg, Mand Powell and Albert Parsons have crisp and practical articles on voice-training, piano-playing and musics and vocalics generally. There is many a help and hint in the words of these great artists, who make room further on in the number for Sister Rose Gertrude's first printed article on My Work Among the Lepers. Published at ten cents per copy, or one dollar a year, at 433 435 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Eggleston's new novel, The Faith Doctor, will open with a generous installment in the February Century. The novel is said not only to take a firm hold on current events in relation to faith healing, Christian Science, etc., but to deal with the social struggle always going on in a great city like New York. The first sub-title of The Faith Doctor is The Origin of a Man of Fashion, and the second The Evolution of a Society Man.

Wilbur B. Ketcham, Publisher, New York, announces for early publication Aleph' the Chaldean, or The Messiah as seen from Alexandria, by E. F. Burr, D. D. LL. D., the famous author of Ecce Caelum; also a new work by Charles F. Deems, D. D. LL. D., entitled The Gospel of Spiritual Insight, being a companion volume to The Gospel of Common Sense, which is now in its third edition. The work will take up the Gospel of St. John and treat it in the author's fervent style. The second edition of A Study in Pedagogy, a book for non-professional teachers by Bishop John H. Vincent, although only issued a few days ago is now in its second edition and the sale is unabated. Undesigned Coincidences in the Old and New Testament, by Rev. John J. Blunt, with an introduction by Joseph Sanderson, D. D., LL. D., will also be published at an early date together with a new illustrated edition of Nature and the Bible, by J. D. Dawson, D. D., LL. D.

The Pulpit, which has heretofore been published monthly will commence Jan. 1st to be issued weekly. It will be, we think, the first venture of the kind in this country and judging from its past standard and the results of similar publications across the water it cannot fail of success. It will be sixteen large pages, giving five or six sermons in full each week and be published at the price of $2 a year. Address, The Lakeside Publishing Co., 41 Franklin street, N. Y., for a sample copy.

A tribute to the fourteenth is paid in the February St. Nicholas, with the poem An Old-Time Valentine, by Helen Gray Cone, with the frontispiece illustration by Edwards, and then Max Bennett describes How the Mails are Carried, in an account of the Railway Post-Office, with illustrations by C. T. Hill. Malcolm Douglas contributes a jingle which may make The Family Drum Corps almost as much of a delightful nuisance in reality as it is in the poem itself. The verse of the number includes poems by Louise Chandler Moulton, Mary E. Wilkins, and a most amusing one by Oliver Herford, whose verse and pictures strive equally for superiority. Besides, there are unnumbered riches in the pictures and departments, enough to rank the number with its predecessors.

The date of February 16 has been definitely fixed for the publication of Edwin Arnold's new poem: The Light of the World; or, The Great Consummation. It will be published simultaneously in America and England, the American publishers being Funk & Wagnalls of New York. As before announced, there has been in different portions of the poem collaboration between Mr. Arnold and an American poet, the results of this collaboration, of course, being incorporated in both the English and American editions. The American edition will contain also an Introduction by R. H. Stoddard, and a reproduction of the celebrated paintings on the life of Christ, by the German artist Hoffman, by arrangement with the German publishers, Funk & Wagnalls, Publishers, 18 and 20 Astor Place, New York.

In a nursery wherein all is life and laugh instead of crying and fretting, there is sure to be found Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. Price only 35 cts.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

AN APPEAL.

To The People:

The adoption by the Legislature of Louisiana, at its last session, of act No 115, entitled "An act to provide for the comfort of passengers," &c., and better known as the separate car law, is a matter of public notoriety.

While the bill was pending before the General Assembly, the American Citizens' Equal Rights Associations earnestly protested and exerted its influence against its passage.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the reasons adduced then why this law should not have been enacted. All are familiar with them, and feel the degradation the law imposes on American citizenship.

The duty that remains to us to perform is to defeat or render nugatory the operations of this unjust and oppressive law.

To this end the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association will institute a suit to test the constitutionality of the infamous law and maintain the right of American citizens to travel on railroads and public conveyances.

For the successful prosecution of the suit money is needed.

Therefore, to secure the sinews of legal warfare, we appeal to the people generally for aid and assistance.

We appeal specially to ministers of the gospel. We request these emissaries of harmony and good-will among men to read this address from their pulpits and make its subject-matter a text for their sermons, in order to arouse the people to the sense of their patriotic duty in the premises.

We appeal to the presidents, officers and members of the associations, benevolent and charitable, educational, labor and others, in New Orleans and elsewhere, to introduce the matter into their assemblies and make it a subject of their deliberations, to the end that their organizations may, collectively, tender us their help.

We appeal to the leaders of men to propagate the idea among their followers, to enlist their interest and support in the cause.

Realizing the influence of the gentle sex and their zeal and earnestness in and devotion to the cause of right and justice, we appeal to the loyal women of the country to give us their invaluable aid. Let them talk the subject to the men in their social assemblies, church meetings, and other gatherings, and thus induce the latter to send their contributions singly; or, still better, organize circles to raise funds for the end proposed by entertainments, festivals, &c.

We appeal to those moulders of public opinion, the newspapers of the United States—the loyal press—to publish this appeal and make its object the subject of their approving comments and criticisms in order to create and maintain a public sentiment, from which the needed aid will readily flow. We request all newspapers in sympathy with the cause to act as agents of this Association to receive contributions from the good people of their localities, to be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

Finally as the favorable issue of the suit will redound to the everlasting benefit of all, we appeal to the lovers of fair play and justice throughout this broad land for their encouragement, material aid and assistance.

We will employ the very best legal talent that the country affords.

We know that the amount required will be large, but it can be easily raised by dime and nickel contributions.

Let all send in their mite. As soon as the necessary amount will have been secured, we will inform the people and cease the collection.

Conscious of the justice of our cause, and supported by a loyal people, we will not desist from our course until this infamous law which is a continual menace to the peace of society, a standing insult to us, our wives, mothers and sisters, and which threatens to be a badge of inferiority to our posterity, is nullified, and we have created such a sentiment that will hereafter prevent any attempt to enforce a similar law or regulation anywhere in this free country of ours.

The Nashville Christian Advocate has this note:

To Correspondents.—Let them be patient. Some will have to be forgiving. We would please every one if we could, but we cannot always do that, nor even please ourselves in every case. Articles may fail to appear, not because they are not from good men and well written, but because they do not happen to fit just at the time, or for other reasons that imply no disrespect toward the writers.

Write when you have something to say. Take time do your best, both in thought and chirography, for your audience is large, and printers have equities that no good man ought to disregard.

Our Children's Legion.

For Our Boys and Girls.
BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a boy 20 years of age. I go to Sunday school every Sunday. I am not a member of the Church, but I hope to be soon. My mother, father and sister belong to the M. E. Church. Rev. F. J. Yeargin our pastor. I am not going to day school now, as we have no school during the winter. My studies are United States History, grammar, arithmetic, geography and spelling. My mother takes the SOUTHWESTERN. The word "and" appears 46,277 times in the Bible. The longest verse is found in the book of Esther. The shortest verse is in the 35th chapter of St. John.

Your Nephew,
WILLIE MCKEEVES.
Friendship, Tenn.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I love to read the letters from the little boys and girls. We had Emancipation day January 1, and had a nice time. Some of my little friends inquired where in the Bible the word "gold" is first found. It is in Genesis, xli, 42. I wish some of my little friends would tell me what was the first of the ten plagues of Egypt?
Your Niece,
DOUGHT SHEPPARD.
Wedowee, Ala.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my second letter to you. I want to tell you of my studies in arithmetic, fourth reader, grammar, geography, and spelling book. I am a little girl 11 years old. My mother takes the SOUTHWESTERN, and I love to read the children's letters. I am a member of the M. E. Church.
Your Niece,
PEARLIE G. HOLMAN.
Perkinsville, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I must write and tell you that the dear old SOUTHWESTERN is a welcome visitor every week to my house. I love it more and more every time it comes. Our Presiding Elder, Rev. B. L. Crump, was with us recently and preached a soul-stirring sermon. Our pastor is Rev. J. K. Comfort. He has gone to conference.
Your Niece,
JOSEPHINE BURTON.
Ocean Springs, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my second letter to you, and I hope it will not reach the waste basket. I have been reading the letters from my little cousins, and they encourage me to write also. We have a nice Sunday school. I go every Sunday. We have a missionary band and we are all soliciting money for the missionary cause. We hope to be successful. I will ask my cousin a question: Where is the word "plane" found in the Bible? Cousin M. Davis asked a question, What cities were more wicked than Tyre and Sodom? and it is not mistaken the answer is Sodom and Gomorrah.
Your Nephew,
WELBORN V. JENKINS.
Hogansville, Ga.

FIRST QUARTER.—LESSON VI. Ahab's Covetousness. 1 Kings 21. 1-16. Commit to memory verses 15-16. Feb. 8, 1891. B. C. 899 or 900.

HOME READINGS.

M. 1 Kings 21:1-7. Tu. 1 Kings 21:7-16. W. Lev. 25: 23-28. Th. Mic. 2:1-6. F. Isa. 3: 10-15. S. Psa. 94: 14-33. S. Luke 12: 13-21.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Take heed, and beware of covetousness. Luke 12:15.

LESSON HEYM, C. M.

How vain are all things here below!
How false, and yet how fair!
Each pleasure hath its poison, too,
And every sweet a snare.

The brightest things below the sky
Give but a flattering light;
We should suspect some danger nigh,
Where we possess delight.

My Saviour, let thy beauties be
My soul's eternal food;
And grace command my heart away
From all created good.

B. C. 899 or 900.

Places.—Ahab's palace in the city of Samaria, the ancient city of Jezreel, and Naboth's vineyard outside of its eastern wall.

Rulers.—Same as before.

Connecting Links.—Elijah returned from Mount Horeb and found Elisha, whom God had selected to be his successor, working at the plow. A great struggle took place between the Assyrian king, Benhadad and King Ahab, resulting in Benhadad's defeat. Ahab displeased God by only partially following the divine direction.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. Covetous Ahab, v. 1-4.

Of what was Ahab covetous?

What commandment did he thereby break? Exod. 20:17.

To whom did the vineyard belong?

For what purpose did Ahab want it?

What did he offer to Naboth for it?

What was Naboth's reply?

How did the answer affect the king?

How did he show his displeasure?

2. Wicked Jezebel, v. 5-10.

What question did Jezebel ask the king?

What was Ahab's reply?

What did Jezebel then ask?

What did she promise to do?

To whom did she send letters?

In whose name did she send them?

How did she command them to honor Naboth?

What wicked plot was then carried out?

What is the ninth commandment?

Exod. 20:16.

3. Murdered Naboth, v. 11-16.

What did the elders and nobles do?

What message was sent to Jezebel?

What did Jezebel then say to Ahab?

What did Ahab at once do?

What is the sixth commandment?

Exod. 20:13.

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That selfishness leads to sin?

2. That one sin leads to another?

3. That one sinner can do great harm?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BELIEVERS.

What peculiar Jewish law prohibited the sale of a man's inherited real estate?

What was the Hebrew law for the punishment of blasphemy?

How did this false accusation of Naboth resemble that of our Lord?

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. What property of Naboth did Ahab covet? A vineyard.

2. Why did Naboth refuse to sell it? It was against God's law to do so.

3. What did Queen Jezebel do? She ordered Naboth's death.

3. Of what crime was he accused? Of blasphemy.

5. By what means was he found guilty? By false witnesses.

6. What is the Golden Text? "Take heed," etc.

Doctrinal Suggestion.—Human depravity.

THE CHUBSON CATECHISM.

16. Is the Son God? Christ "is over all, God blessed forever." He is the true God. Rom. 9:5; 1 John 5:20.

17. Is the Holy Ghost God? The Holy Ghost is "the Eternal Spirit."

Heb. 9:14.

12. In what name are Christians baptized? In the name of the Holy Trinity—the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost. Matt. 28:19.

A characteristic advertisement in its straightforward business talk is that of J. J. H. Gregory, the veteran seedman of Marblehead, Mass. Mr. Gregory's reputation for fair dealing and exact fulfillment of promises is a hardy annual, and has never failed to justify the entire confidence of his customers. All who want reliable seeds should be sure to send for his 1891 catalogue.

Sight-Seeing.—X.

L. M. HAGOOD.

Springfield is the county seat of Clarke Co. O., and is situated on the Mad river, at the mouth of Lagonda creek. Population 20,729. Its business interests consists of manufacturing agricultural implements, turbine wheels, etc. It has four principal hotels viz: Lagonda, St. James, Arcade, and Central. No difference is made at any of these hotels provided one is respectable and has the money to pay his way. The schools, as they are in most of the towns of this state are mixed. Here they employ one or more colored teachers. Most of our people here own their own homes and are prosperous and happy. As at Dayton, we have one church here in a flourishing condition under the careful pastorate of Rev. W. S. Simmons—Wiley Chapel. Some of the wealthiest colored people of this city are members of our church. In point of intelligence they are the equal if not the superior of any church of color in the city, our church sways the sceptre here.

Several of the other passengers including Mr. Smith have just come back into the car from the platform. Turning to me Mr. Smith observed "Did you see that black man out there dressed in uniform? He is a township constable. He is fine looking ain't he? And I'll tell you his look is so fine and martial I should certainly not refuse to go with him if I should happen to be in this town and he commanded me." By this time our train was again under headway. At last Mr. Smith left his boy to keep his seat for him and after whispering to his wife he came and sat down in the seat with me. "When we were disturbed by the voice of the conductor, back there I was talking to you about the so-called nigger killing for political spite in the South. Now you will excuse me for using the word as I do, for I have always been used to it and it comes handy. Now I've been trying to study just what kind of construction you would put on what I said to you about good looking yellow girls. Understand me, my father owned nearly a hundred blacks. I am not and never shall be in favor of amalgamation or miscegenation or whatever it may be called that will allow whites and blacks to marry." But my dear sir, will you deny the fact that in the South a great many of your race becomes suspiciously color-blind after sunset? "Well, well that is the best painting of a delicate question I've yet heard. I tell you I've just read a book called "The Plantation Negro as a Citizen" in which the author says: "There was little improper intercourse between the white men and negroes of the original type in the period before emancipation, after the creation of the mulatto class. The white man who indulges now in such illicit pleasures understands that he puts himself on a plane of equality with the object of his secret passion. The prospect of having to support his illegitimate offspring causes many white men now, who would not shrink from the disgrace of the exposure, to be cautious in their advances to such women. The white women who have given birth to mulattoes have always been regarded as monsters." Now while I acknowledge that I have that book here with me and in my satchel there, I cannot for the life of me see the object in writing that book unless it was to make Southern white men take their own medicine. Again in the passage you have just quoted a glaring falsehood appears. How under the heavens came there to be mulattoes if the original Africans brought over here were all black unless there had been much miscegenation? "O well you see I just called up that passage to help me out. I don't believe half he says. Just think of it, some of the most illustrious white men of the South have been known to admire mulatto women." Well, if we would keep up the divine and christian sanctity of the home, make the atmosphere in which we are to raise our family pure, would it not be better to allow every man and every woman to make his and her own choice of color as to partner for life, than to allow this dispiritedly flagrant violation of the seventh commandment to go on? Well, now you wait a minute and let me tell you something. I know, well, I'll tell you what it is, I've always thought it a burning shame that when a poor nigger is caught in a compromising position with a female of the opposite race he is mobbed, while white men do the same with impunity. I've had opportunity more than once to find out that instead of it being as charged against poor niggers it was a mutual agreement. Many instances of mob violence along this line have been purely the outgrowth of suspicious jealousy. I've always argued that what was law for one set of criminals was law for the other. But can you tell me why it is that colored men in the South who were gallant and brave soldiers allow numbers of our people to be thus butchered without trying to defend themselves? Not only so, but if they attempt to defend themselves an attack is made they are usually either repulsed or slain. "Columbus" the conductor cried out.

Little Things.

BY REV. H. N. BROWN.

Some things in this world are so very small until it is hard to tell whether they be animate or inanimate. And yet those same little things which appear lifeless, are busy moving creatures; and full of life. The creature is so small that the life within must needs correspond with the little and almost invisible body. To illustrate, take a sugar coated fig and put it under your eye, and by the help of your magnifying glass you will find that, that which appeared to be the natural eye to be a small grain of sugar is a large bug, and so full of life until it is almost impossible for it to keep still.

Again, take a glass of clear drinking water and subject it to the same inspection and you will find that where there appeared to be nothing but a glass of pure drinking water, little live creatures are moving in every direction as if they were so many fish in a lake. Go to a spring of clear water and get down on your knees and drink, and you will chance to drink a small creature which you will find afterwards to be a tape worm.

I remember a gentleman who did that once; and a few months after he found it impossible to get enough to eat. He got to the point that he was always hungry and could eat so much until he was ashamed to eat enough. He became alarmed at his condition and sought the wisdom of his Doctor. And to his surprise, that which he had swallowed unnoticed had turned up to be a tape-worm sixteen yards long. In that case the little creature had too much life in it for the big creature; for the little creature was about to take the life of the big creature. And he was forced to cry for outside help. Why friends, there is a moral in that lesson. Do you see it?

At first, the little creature passed on unnoticed; but when he was noticed, he held his victim as a vice; and there was no way of escape without outside help. So are the little unbecoming acts of life that shape themselves into habits that hold their victim with a firm grasp. So that outside help must be called and often too late to save them from ruin.

The drunkard's first drink was a little thing. Mother gave it to him on Christmas morning, when a boy. It created a longing for drink, and as little as it was it made him a drunkard, broke his mother's heart, and sent souls to hell.

The gamblers first step, was a little thing. When a boy, his father called him into the parlor one day for a game of smut; that was all—just a little pastime for fun you know: A little snuffing. Yes like Elijah's cloud rising out of the sea—a little cloud like unto a man's hand, large and larger until it spanned the sun, wrapped the earth in a coat of darkness, and sent out thunder and lightning. Wisdom may be gained by stopping to consider little things.

The aut is a little creature and yet the wise man Solomon, said, "Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise." She has "no guide, overseer or ruler" and yet she prepares in summer for winter.

Here we learn that all little things are not mean, neither foolish but are capable of teaching lessons of economy and industry. The aut can not carry a very big load at a time, and yet little by little she stores her winter food.

Abraham and Sarah alone made a small nation at the time they were called into Palestine, and built an altar to God, in Shechem.

That was 1921 B. C., and in 1491 B. C. Abraham and Sarah had developed into a nation that marched out of Egypt three hundred thousand strong. And that little nation developed until it became the power in the earth that shook kingdoms. It is the wonder of the world to-day. It has sent a ray of light into every home on earth, where the gospel has been preached and believed, "In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed my voice." A few years ago a little tribe of helpless Negroes, were brought from Africa to this country, and enslaved. They passed through hell, and were made to see the blackness of hell in its rage; and yet that same despised and rejected little Negro tribe has developed into a company eight million strong. Blessed promise, Ethiopia shall soon stretch out her hands unto God. "They that dwell in the wilderness shall bow before him; and his enemies shall lick the dust." Psal. 72:9.

Yes, the "spirit" will again say to Phillip, "go near, and join thyself to this chariot." And Phillip, will be too glad for the chance to say, I am a Jew or canaanian; but will run to join himself to the Ethiopian chariot. For it was "His chariot."

This Ethiopian chariot running by love, stirred by wisdom and guided by Providence has been the wonder of wonder's. The wheels of this Negro chariot caused an earthquake that shook the world. When his ankles and wrists got too large for the bands that bound him, like Samson, he stretched himself and the nation moved. He prayed, he fought, he conquered. What is the matter with the world to-day? What is all this stir about? The Negro problem? No! It is the Negro chariot. Take away the thought of this Negro chariot and the stir will cease. It was Mordecai's standing at the royal gate that troubled Haman.

Ah! they have heard the moving in the tops of the mulberry trees—Jehovah is going on before and the Negro has bestirred himself.

"Behold, I dreamed a dream, and lo, a cake of barley-bread tumbled into the host of Median and came into a tent, and smote it that it fell; and overturned it, that the tent lay along." A cake of barley-bread was not very palatable neither very large but in tumbling into the tent of Median it smote it that it fell, and overturned it.

The Negro in passing through the fire and afflictions of slavery was not a very large cake but tumbling and stumbling along in his prayers he smote the tent of slavery "that it fell, and lay along."

The sound of Gideon's trumpets have been heard by every nation and the dash and rays of the lamps of Negro wisdom have awe stricken the world. And the little light that glimmered in the darkness of Africa and American bondage has become to be the bright morning star of the nineteenth century. And like the appearance of a new comet in the starry world with a blazing tail, the world has come out with their spy glasses to view it. Could you blame the world for looking at such a sight? Why no! I have been using my own glasses, and I am glad to report to you today that Ethiopia "is a burning and a shining light." I ask again, why is all this stir about the Negro problem? Why, it is the little star changing to a sun in the blaze of day. It is something to see a worm change to a beautiful butterfly; and how much more wonderful is it for a little star to change to a blazing sun that gives out his light to all the nations of earth. Of course you did not allow the Negro to learn, but then he would make the most of his chances. Read the work of "Master Hugh," in the life of Mr. Douglas, p. 94, to his wife for teaching Fred to read: "To do so was unlawful as it was also unsafe," "for," said he, "if you give a nigger an inch he will take an ell. Learning will spoil the best nigger in the world. If he learns to read the Bible it will forever unfit him to be a slave."

"Very well, thought I," said Mr. Douglas, "knowledge unfits a child to be a slave." So from that day Mr. Douglas, rubbed away at his little star without the help of a teacher until now, if "Master Hugh" is alive his little light might be hid by the rays of Mr. D's intellectual sun. Indeed Mr. D. got both the inch and the "ell" And what is said of Mr. D. may be said of many of the once unnoticed Negro sons of America.

Little David slew the bear, conquered the lion, mastered giant Goliath and ascended the throne of honor without a rival. The Negro has slain his bear of slavery, chained the lion of ignorance, and is at work on the giant of prejudice while in his march to the throne. March on my little and despised one, The nations now confess, "That man is not in color, In fashion nor in dress."

Notes From Nashville.

The attendance this school year, thus far, has been the largest of any year in the history of the college, every room has been filled in the dormitories and every seat filled in the school rooms. We need additional accommodations for the students who desire to attend. We have had to refuse numbers on the account of lack of accommodations. The opening of the mechanical shop was a matter of great interest. It is one of the finest of its kind in the Southern country, and the work that will be done in the future will be characterized by great skill and fine knowledge of mechanical art. We were favored by the presence of Bishops Walden and Hagood, and Dr. Steele, pastor of the leading Southern Methodist Church in Nashville; each of these made remarks upon the occasion which were both appropriate and profitable. The young men take great interest in their work and a few of them show a very decided ability for the work. The medical department has been largely attended and the promise is that the future classes will be very much larger than any that have been graduated heretofore. There is a demand for pharmacists which we have not been able to meet. Quite a number of young ladies began this study but owing to the pressure of other duties were compelled to quit. The field of pharmacy is undoubtedly very inviting for our young women, and they will find it a very lucrative as well as very useful one in preparing themselves for this important business for which they are so well adapted. The churches in Nashville are enjoying a state of quietude. There is very little of revival influence at work. There is a movement here to improve the condition of the laboring class by discussion on the subject of the "wage question," in which some of the leading ministers and laymen of the city have taken part.

We have a new governor in Tennessee and his utterance is good in his inauguration address in which he makes the statement that all men are equal, gives our colored friends hope at least that there will be no discrimination against them. There is an effort to pass a bill in the legislature to provide separate cars for the colored people; but the colored citizens and the rail road companies have both sent in their protests. From present indications it is hardly expected that the bill will become a law. Such discrimination is simply calculated to perpetuate the race strife, and give occasion for renewing it where it is dying out as it is, in this part of Tennessee. Should such a bill pass we should feel it was going back twenty years to the days of the klu klux and their barbarous practices.

City Church Notes.

[Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.]

They have been having grand times at the University for a few days. Dr. D. W. Davidson of the Sunday school Union has been present to assist in the work. The revival fire is burning brightly.

Sister Amanda Smith left the city for California at the conclusion of her work at Wesley Chapel being much worn out and in need of rest. It is earnestly hoped that she will return this way and labor with the other churches.

Letters from the Districts.

Knoxville District, East Tennessee Conference.

ELI PROVINCE, P. E.

This district was formed at the last session of our conference, out of portions of the Chattanooga and Morristown districts. We rejoice in a very encouraging beginning for the new district.

Gray and Edgewood, Rev. Geo. W. Hamilton, pastor, is preparing to build a new church, five miles from Knoxville, on the Knoxville and Ohio railroad. We have good prospects for an organization in Northwest Knoxville.

New Port circuit, Rev. Alex. Clark, pastor, reports several revivals and many accessions.

Russellville circuit, Rev. T. A. Hatcher, pastor, notwithstanding some difficulties, reports a revival and some additions to the church. Rev. Elijah Knott, at Oliver Springs, is preparing to complete his church, and reports a growing spiritual interest.

Rev. Geo. W. Branner, on the Tazewell circuit, has had sickness in his family, but is now able to begin to push forward his work, and the future brightens.

Rev. F. A. Donahoe, at Knoxville, is meeting with success in revival work, and in paying the debt on the church.

Rev. Aaron Martin is about to begin work on a new church at Sun Rise, on the Knoxville circuit. He has had a revival in East Knoxville, which resulted in several conversions and additions.

Rev. W. T. Anderson, at the Morristown charge has had some accessions, and has bought a fine and splendidly located lot upon which to build a new church.

The Morristown Academy is doing most excellent work, and is crowded to its utmost capacity. The cry of Prof. Hill and his able corps of teachers is "More room." We are doing all we can to raise our apportionment for the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, as a new building is now absolutely necessary.

Rev. A. A. Porter is doing a good work on the Morristown circuit, and has had several accessions.

Rev. J. W. Woods has had two profitable revivals on the Moss Point circuit. He hopes to build at White Pine this year.

Rev. F. W. Morton is doing a grand work on the Ebenezer circuit.

The Clinton and Coal Creek circuit, under the pastorate of Rev. Leroy Diggs, is prospering financially as well as spiritually.

Our district conference held Nov. 27 was well attended, and was highly profitable and interesting. Rev. Drs. Carroll and Gillett, of Cincinnati, Ohio were present in the interest of the Epworth League and accomplished much good. We look forward for fruitful results all over the district from their visit.

General Church News.

To Temperance Women.

Dear Sisters:

There is just before you a splendid opportunity to do temperance work at the county and state fairs that will be held in almost every part of our country in the next two months. Thousands of men and women will be in attendance, many of whom live at places remote from centers of temperance effort, and some of whom, no doubt, would be quite averse to attending a temperance meeting. They will go to the fairs desiring to see everything, and will be much more easily approached than when engaged in their ordinary pursuits at home. Let us, by all means, improve this opportunity to help our cause, though it costs a little money and a great deal of hard work and self-denial. To those of you who have not had experience in this work at fairs, permit us to suggest that you make special effort to secure a stand or booth in as conspicuous a place as possible, and that you take particular pains to make it bright and attractive. Have plenty of temperance literature to give away to young and old. Have a pledge book and seek to secure signatures to the total abstinence pledge. It may be that many would sign a pledge there who would never do so at home. Have some young women to assist you in the work, for they may be able, in some instances, to reach other young women and young men whom the older workers could not. It may be well to serve coffee and other refreshments. The number of your workers and the needs of your locality must determine that. But the chief thing before you is to give away temperance literature and to do personal temperance work. Literature can be obtained at cost of publication by sending to the Headquarters of the Non-partisan National W. C. T. U., Cleveland, O. We suggest as suitable for the work the following leaflets: "Drinking, a Farm," "How to Make Money," "Women to the Rescue," "A plea for the Y's," "Begin at Home," "A Boy's First Drink and What Came of it," "The Conflict with the Cigarette," also, pledge cards and membership cards containing a pledge for women. The great need of the temperance work at the present hour is to educate the people to believe in and to practice total abstinence, and until a majority do this, state and national prohibition cannot be secured or enforced. The laws of certain states forbid the sale of alcoholic drinks within a limited distance of fair grounds. Interest yourselves in the strict enforcement of such laws. In states where no statute of this kind exists, lose no time in bringing the strongest influences at your command to bear upon the Fair Commissioners to exclude the sale of intoxicating drinks from the fair grounds.

May these harvest months be crowned with heroic efforts to advance our sacred cause.

Letters from the Laity.

A. L. Roberts, Jeremiah, Tenn.
I am a lover of the SOUTHWESTERN, and have been reading it about six weeks, and enjoy it very much. Never before has any attempt been made from Cookeville to write a letter to the SOUTHWESTERN.

WESTERN. They say we are back in the mountains, but we are trying to be a people. We have a very good Sunday school, and our day school shall commence soon. We have about fifty-six scholars at Sunday school, rain or shine. Some few attend that do not take any part, but the draught of the school is so great that it is drawing them in gradually. Our church is improving very fast. The pastor is Rev. Frank Smith, from Murfreesboro. He is highly esteemed by those who know him. We desire the prayers of the readers of the SOUTHWESTERN for our success this conference year. We have not one girl on our district that is not a member of the church, and we have laid plans to catch the old ones.

For Over Fifty Years.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for over FIFTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEething, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHoea. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other. Twenty-five cents a bottle. lojly

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile na in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper, among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1 50, cash; otherwise, $2. tf.

The only vegetable substitute for Calomel, which acts on the liver, blood, kidneys and stomach, and best anti-bilious purgative, is Magnesia's Candurango. Indorsed by Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia; Rev. McNally, of St. Louis, and a host of prominent people. 2

These cards will inspire and help in more ways than can be known, and will help lay the foundation for a successful life devoted to God and humanity. Constantly on hand at 20 cents per dozen.

WHY don't you send a few cash subscribers?

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tucker, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Lubricator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 189 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

Good Hints for Brides.

From time immemorial the bride's gown has been white. The white gown and orange blossoms are the privilege of the bride, and even if she has to economize and give up another gown I can quite appreciate the feelings of the girl who insists on white satin, the blossoms and the tulle veil. She can never wear this costume but once in her life, for after she has become a wife, roses must take the place of the orange blossoms, and the white tulle veil is never again assumed. Heavy white-corded silk, white velvet, white brocade, white monselline do soie are all shown for the brides gown; but the real wedding material is white satin. A widow who is being married for the second time, may wear any color she wishes, if she is in traveling costume; but in full dress she must have either pale gray or mauve; or, if she prefers, some other becoming color, but never white; nor should she wear orange blossoms. Roses, daisies, or whatever flower is suited to the shades of her frock are proper; but the white, sweet-smelling blossom belongs entirely to the young girl.—Mrs. Mallon in Ladies' Home Journal.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my folks. I want to know if any one knows Millie Mashate. Her mother was named Mary Mashate. There were four children—Millie Henry, Morgan and Peter. Millie was born in St. Charles, Mo., and was sold to Col. Charles, of St. Louis, Mo. I want to find James Burton. He was born in Media County, Va., and has a sister by the name of Julia Ann Burton.

Any one who knows either of the above named persons write to

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my wife and daughter, Sallie and Rose Nobles. We were separated by the cruel hand of slavery in 1847. This was in Livingstone, Sumpter county, Ala. Sallie belonged to Steve Nobles and was willed to his son, Joe. She was taken to Clark county, where, I supposed the daughter was born in 1847 or 1848. Rose's mother, Sallie, must now be about sixty years old, daughter, about 43. My name is Edward Brashers, owned by Charles Brashers of Livingstone, Ala. I am childless, and am 63 years of age. I have enough of this world's goods to leave either mother or daughter in good circumstances. I am here in the Indian Territory, owing hundreds of acres of land and a thousand or more heads of cattle with no one to take care of them. Any information will be gladly received. Address communications to Willie Anderson, care H. E. Burke, Fort Smith, Ark., Sebastian E. 920 Garrison Avenue.

Mr. Editor: I want to enquire for my uncle and brother. My uncle is named Cota English. He had a brother named Anthony, but was called Toney, and their mother was named Arie. He went from Campbell co. East Tennessee, near Fin Castle; I do not remember the year. He was married to a woman named Wheeler, who belonged to Tom Wheeler, near Jackboro, Tenn. My brother was stolen and carried away by Mark Richardson and Slaughter. He and I were free born. Our mother was named Elizabeth Richardson, our father Anthony English, and my brother James Richardson and my name was Mary Jane Richardson. We were born in Campbell county, East Tennessee; I do not remember the year. I was too young to remember even seeing my brother. Any information concerning him will be gladly received.

Mr. Editor: I was very thankful to see the advertisement of Bro. Lake Mason, Bro. Gary Mason, and Father Turner Mason in the SOUTHWESTERN. Father Turner and Bro. Gary Mason came to this place Oct. 24, 1890. Bro. Lake, who is blind, came to Garland, Ark., Dec. 29th; also Henry Rogers, my son, came home Dec. 27th. May God bless the editor and agents of the SOUTHWESTERN.

An Open Letter to Rev. J. M. Buckley, D. D.

DEAR DOCTOR:—You and I have not always agreed, but we have always been personal friends, and I trust always may be. Of course you know that we do not agree on the woman question. Many of your friends have been deeply grieved at your extreme partisan course. In the kindest and most fraternal spirit I desire to say a few plain words concerning your relation to this subject.

I do not think the vote excluding the women elected to the last general conference was large enough to warrant the great official in taking the course you have pursued. A position of entire impartiality between contestants would have been much more becoming.

You say in the Advocate for Dec. 18, "We rely upon those ministers and laymen and women who do not agree with the views of the management upon the woman question both to take and circulate the paper; first, because they must believe our arguments fallacious, and therefore the more clearly they are interested the more easily they will be refuted; and second, because we open the paper to both sides, and make heavy outlays to publish the matter which they send."

Now please allow me to suggest that the editor of the Advocate deserves no credit for "opening the paper to both sides." The paper does not belong to him. It belongs to the church. As editor of a journal owned and published by the church you are but her servant, and have no right to exclude her great leaders of thought upon either side of any such question. Does the manner in which you have treated the advocates of the affirmative of this question call for gratitude from them, or furnish any good reason why they should take the paper? If you had treated them just as you have the opposition, they might have been more grateful for your impartiality, but they have no such ground for gratitude or support.

In your editorials, you have with the utmost of your ability opposed, and by every sort of effort known to partisan controversy endeavored to break the force and destroy the influence of the articles in favor of the women, and at the same time have welcomed with commendation the articles on the other side as aids and supporters to strengthen your position. You have even gone outside of your own paper to attack the correspondents of other papers. You have followed Miss Willard into her own camp at the head of the W. C. T. U., and attacked her there, endeavoring to prejudice the church against her, and through her, against the cause to which she is known to be a friend. You claim that the women have been favored through gallantry. No one will ever lay that charge at your door. No gallantry or chivalry has tempered the women opposed to you. You have taught women to expect nothing of that kind from masculine opponents of your type. They may not complain of this.

But what shall we call the characteristic which gives you confidence to appeal to those very women for patronage and support, "to both take and circulate the paper?"

The first reason you give for the support is, if possible, more ridiculous than the other. You say you rely upon them "to both take and circulate the paper, because they must believe your arguments are fallacious." If there is anything more "fallacious" than such a reason for taking and circulating a paper, I cannot imagine what it can be. What a deep interest those women must have in circulating "fallacious arguments" themselves!

But they are to have the satisfaction of refuting them. Well, that is interesting, certainly.

"The more clearly those fallacious arguments are entered," you say, "the more easily will they be refuted." Of course in that sentence you intend to be ironical. You do not mean what you say. However fallacious your arguments may be, they are as strong and as difficult to refute as it is possible for arguments to be made on that side of the question. You know it has been your intention to make them so. It would be worse than absurd for you to deny it. And you think you have succeeded. I agree with you. No man of my acquaintance has more skill to make fallacious arguments pass for sound and good reasoning.

But why should earnest and conscientious women desire to support the most powerful opponent of their cause? And why should such an opponent appeal to them for their support?

I can give a better reason why they should "both take and circulate" the Christian Advocate. It is our paper, our great official organ, and we must support it to keep it up. As Methodists we cannot afford to let it go down. If all the "ministers and laymen and women" who are grieved at its course should drop it, what would be the result?

Losing subscribers it would lose influence and money. That would be a pity, because the money it makes goes to help support the superannuated ministers and the widows and orphans of those who have died in the work of the ministry.

I am surprised, Dr. Buckley, that you did not think to say that any person who could not conscientiously and with a decent self-respect take the New York Christian Advocate might find other good Methodist papers on the other side of the question, and advise all such people to take one of them. That would prevent any loss to the superannuates and worn out preachers, widows and orphans. It would have been easy for you to say, it is every one's privilege to support the paper that pleads his cause; to stand by the editor that stands by him.

Thus far this letter was written in December, immediately after your appeal to your opponents "to both take and circulate the paper."

I did not publish it at that time because I had hoped that when the votes were counted you would heed the voice of the church, and at least moderate the tone of your opposition. It looks now as though there would be nearly a hundred thousand majority of the votes cast in favor of seating the women. You belong to the party who made this appeal for the votes of the people. You ought to abide by their position. The voice of the churches ought, to you, to be the voice of God. I am one of those who formed a very large minority in the last general conference, who hold that the women elected to that body had a legal and constitutional right to their seats just as much as you or I, or any other member. It was but a bare majority that refused them the seats to which they had been elected. I suppose that you will admit that if a majority of one had been in favor of it they would have been seated.

It is just as true now as it was then that no change in the restrictive rules is necessary to seat them. The opposition had a working majority and could order the constitutional process. If the working majority had been on the other side no such process would have been ordered. The whole proceeding, including striking the names of the elect ladies arbitrarily from the list of delegates before the conference was organized, was a piece of high-handed and revolutionary usurpation.

It is in the power of the next general conference, if composed of the proper materials, to set this whole matter right. A good working majority can admit the women, if any are elected, take possession of the Book Concern, and man all the editorial posts according to the will of the church as expressed by the vote just taken.

You attempt to cast contempt upon the significance of the vote. Who doubts, had the majority been the other way, that you would have considered it decisive? Will you be so kind as to tell your readers how many of our male members voted for lay delegation when it was submitted to them? How many when it was submitted to the whole membership?

The Methodist Episcopal Church is governed by boards and conferences, and not by popular votes. Hence, we have never been able to call out a large vote for anything.

Neither in church or state can a large vote be brought out simply to express a sentiment, with no binding force in law. I remember it was said in the lay delegation controversy that votes should be weighed, not merely counted. Apply that rule here. What is the character of those who have voted on this question?

1. They are the most loyal members of the church. The vote itself was an act of loyalty. Not to vote was an act of disloyalty; it was an act of indifference to the call of the church.

2. They are the most pious members of the church. The vote was often taken after prayer-meeting. The prayer-meeting people were the voters. Just about as many voted as attended prayer-meeting on an average during the month of November.

Coming from this holy of holies of the church, it cannot have too much weight. It is not true that those who did not vote were opposed to the change. Silence gives consent. Most of those who did not vote, if they had voted at all, would have voted for the women. There is not, in my mind, the least doubt that the vote as given fairly represents the mind of the church, and should so be regarded by the Annual and General Conferences.

Hoping that you may be able to recognize the voice of God in this vote, I subscribe myself,

Yours fraternally,
J. S. SMART.

Africa Treasury.

A splendid ship, this! On Wednesday last I lay musing, and was greatly drawn out, not simply to pray, but to say that God will lead in all the details of our work. I thought, what a grand thing thus to be guided and guarded by Divine wisdom; and I said, "Half way through my seventieth year I hope for many years yet to push this work in Africa for God." It came to me like a direct revelation in reply to what I was in thought saying. "With long life will I satisfy him, and show him my salvation." Coming direct from the Eternal Throne to my heart, I applied it to myself, and melted into grateful adoration at the feet of our Father in heaven. The salvation that I shall see will be on a scale commensurate with His resources and Africa's needs. Glory to God! Amen! Your loving Pa,

Books and Current Literature.

Rev. W. H. Davis, Presiding Elder of the Columbus District, West Texas Conference, has favored us with a neatly gotten up journal of his last district conference. The facts therein given show the district to be in a healthy state of progress.

A superbly illustrated supplement, devoted to the annual exhibition of the American Watercolor Society at the Academy of Design in New York, including reproductions of some of the noteworthy paintings to be seen there, will accompany the forthcoming number of Harper's Weekly, to be published Feb. 4.

The Reporter is the title of an entertaining farce in one act, especially adapted for use in parlor theatrical entertainments, which W. G. van Tassel Stephen contributes to the current number of Harper's Bazar. Among other attractions of the same number we may mention the second installment of Juliet Corson's series of papers on "Sanitary Living."

The March Season just received, contains new and varied illustrations of naval and ornamental designs in art decorations, embroidery, lace work, mosaic and Berlin work, draperies for windows and doors, canvas work, applique, draw work, and net embroidery.

The costumes for children are welcome to all mothers who will find in this book every detail necessary for children's garments. Ladies' costumes for street wear, home and evening are exceedingly new in designs and very beautiful. It is an established fact that this journal is always reliable and practicable, and should be in every household. Single copies, 30 cts. Yearly subscription, $3 60. My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because no two people have the same weak spot. Beginning at the stomach it goes searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps its only a little sediment left on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along and you find quick happiness from the first bottle. Perhaps it is a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. Official paper for the following Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church: Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, West Texas, Tennessee, East Tennessee, Little Rock, Central Alabama, Savannah, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

THURSDAY, FEB. 12, 1891.

Chance for You to Get Your Paper Free for a Whole Year.

To every minister sending us four CASH annual subscriptions at $1.50 each, we will send him his own paper free. To anybody else sending us six such subscribers, we will send him his paper free for one year.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop McIlhenny, is worth the price of the book.

Do you ever hold religious services for the prisoners in your town? If not, you ought not to neglect the duty another week. Get permission from the authorities, and offer the bread of life to those who are in bonds in your charge. God is no respecter of persons.

THE personal religious experience of the preacher in the religious life is a subject of greatest possible importance to the Church of Christ. He is a teacher of others, a leader, a pastor. Is he taught himself? Is he led of the Holy Ghost? Has he constant communion, and blessed, unbroken intercourse with the great Shepherd and Bishop of all souls? "The good Shepherd giveth his life for the sheep." Good shepherds or hirelings—O, ye who minister in holy things, which is it?

ONE of the ministers of this city who has been the respect and love of all classes, is Rev. Dr. J. T. Sawyer, pastor of Felicity Street M. E. Church, South. He is a man of broad catholic spirit, of complete fearlessness in attacking evil both inside and outside of the church. He is one of the men engaged in helping Paul and others like him in turning the world upside down. May God bless him in his faithful ministry, and make him instrumental in winning many souls for Christ.

WHETHER historically correct or not this paragraph is full of suggestiveness: "When Henry Clay, slim and thin, ready for compromise because lacking strength or conviction to push for the whole, visited huge Daniel Webster on his rocky farm, he remembered the rich soil of the blue grass region, and looking round on the abundant granite asked with a scarcely concealed depreciation, 'Mr. Webster, what can you raise on such farms as these?' Mr. Webster, greatedened to his full height, breadth, and emphasis, and replied: 'Men, sir; men.'"

"If there be one principle of government dearer than all others to American freemen, it is the independence, equality and freedom of the States. This is the central thought of our political faith. It is the keystone in the arch of our constitution, and when that is destroyed the doom of constitutional freedom is sealed."—Gov. Gordon, of Georgia. If there be one necessity for constitutional government it is that every qualified citizen shall be free to vote for candidates of his choice, and have the ballot counted. The Southern State governments, a majority of them at least, are not such as contemplated by the fathers of the constitution or expressive of the honest verdict of the majority of voters.

The Holy Catholic Church.

Every member of the Methodist Episcopal Church said when he entered its communion, viz:

"I believe in the Holy Ghost, the Holy Catholic Church."

The "Holy Catholic Church" and the "Roman Catholic Church" are two vitally different things. The latter bears about the same relation to the former as a Jack O' Lantern to the morning sun. And what shall be said of a Protestant Church which repeats the same creed, and yet believes it by its whole life? How can a church claim to be part of the Holy Catholic Church when it allows race prejudice to have over it as strong a dominion as the system caste of India or Pharisaeism of old? A palsy is on many of the churches of New Orleans. Some of them have wealth, members, social position, but their power for God and righteousness is not felt in the community. The powers of darkness laugh at their feeble simulation of Christianity.

Their lightning is sheet lightning, and their thunder, vox et preterea nihil. To send a stray missionary to China, South America, or Mexico will not make amends for that cowardice and prejudice—that fear of social ostracism which passes by thousands of needy souls at our own doors, of whom Christ said: "Inasmuch as ye have done unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." The "Holy Catholic Church!" It is not the creed of some who claim to belong to it that needs to be revised—it is their practice.

The White Work in the South.

Hitchcock versus Hickman.

Rev. Dr. Luke Hitchcock spoke the words of truth and soberness at the recent anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid Society in Cincinnati. He said:

"My convictions have been that since we started that white work we were directly in the line of Providence. The question will arise, ought not the Church, South take hold of that work? The simple answer to that is, they don't."

The venerable Doctor would greatly emphasize this "don't" if he knew the state of the case with reference to New Orleans and the Gulf region of the South.

Dr. Hickman said: "Take the white conference where I am. They could not take care of an Ellijay Seminary. The preachers are on the ragged edge of starvation and so they will be as long as you feed them. I feel a preacher is not made of the stuff of the fathers who cannot make a support without a missionary support to back him."

How would Dr. Hickman like this new missionary theory applied to his own work? He has a rare chance to show his "stuff." The fact is some of these men who are on the "ragged edge of starvation" belong to a race of heroes—they have suffered for God and country as no other men in this land have suffered. The good Doctor tells us "the war is over." If he thinks so let him come down to the Louisiana parishes, to our M. E. Church South college town in deed out of which the honored president of the New Orleans University was recently driven by a brutal mob.

Texas Conference.

The twenty-fifth session of the Texas Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, assembled at Lee's Chapel, Navasota, January 15, 1891, and was called to order by Bishop C. D. Foss, D.D., LL.D., when a majority of the members were present.

The devotional services began by singing and reading Psalm 103 and 23 chapter of Timothy II, and prayer by the Rev. W. H. Logan, after which the Bishop, assisted by the presiding elders, administered the Lord's Supper.

The Bishop addressed the conference as to the beginning and growth of Methodism.

The conference then opened for business. The secretary of last year's conference called the roll and a majority of the members responded to their names. Bar of the conference fixed and the following officers were elected: H. S. McMillan, secretary, with assistants, J. H. Izard and Thos. Cole. Edward Lee, statistical secretary, with J. A. Tillory and J. E. Bryant as assistants. C. C. Minegan, treasurer, with M. Q. A. Fuller as assistant.

The standing committees were announced, as follows:

On Missions—Revs. Ed. Lee, A. Alexander, A. Wilkinson, J. Jones, G. W. Love and W. B. Perry.

On Church Extension—Revs. Benjamin Fisher, R. Williams, L. C. Hogan, D. Atkins, W. Hamilton and Wm. Brooks.

On Education—Revs. M. Q. A. Fuller, J. E. Bryant, M. Wilson, W. L. Duncan, J. A. Featherstone and Doctor Morris.

On Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education—Revs. C. C. Minegan, J. D. Mead, J. W. H. Moore, G. J. Izard, H. Dixon and J. S. Whitaker.

On Sabbath School and Tracts—Revs. L. H. Barnett, Frank Gilmore, J. L. Owens, Spencer Kelly, Aaron Taylor and W. B. Pullam.

On W. H. M. Society—Revs. Taylor Moore, Carey Davenport, V. M. Cole, Jordan Jordan, Tobias Ward and Aaron Adair.

On W. F. M. Society—Revs. A. C. Culbreath, Alfred Britton, G. W. Gill, Wm. McKenzie, Tucker Young and Wm. Bartley.

On Book Concern and Periodicals—Revs. Linus Felder, A. W. Parker, W. W. Brown, J. A. Tillory, S. H. Grant and H. W. Wilson.

On Temperance—Revs. H. S. McMillan, S. M. Bolden, C. G. Curtis, W. J. Holland, Thornton Scott and Jeremiah Smith.

On Bible Cause—Revs. G. W. Morris, Wesley Harms, Moses Littlejohn, Jno. Jackson, Doctor Morris and Mason Reddick.

On Auditing Presiding Elder's Accounts—Revs. C. C. Curtis, W. B. Perry, Mark Minkrew, M. Q. A. Fuller, Aaron Alexander and P. L. Jackson.

On Sabbath Observance—Revs. DeWitt Frierson, Scott Conley, H. R. Smith, T. C. Scheinalt, C. C. Moore and J. A. Stewart.

On Conference Relations—Revs. Thos. Cole, Tobias Ward, Robt. Williams, W. W. Brown, W. H. Jackson and Wade Hamilton.

On Memoirs—Revs. I. B. Scott, W. H. Logan and Freeman Parker. On the State of the Church—Revs. J. A. Featherstone, Benjamin Fisher, H. S. McMillan, J. E. Bryant, J. A. Tillory and Frank Gilmore.

On New York Book Accounts—Rev. Robt. Williams. On Western Book Accounts—Rev. Aaron Alexander.

On Gospel in All Lands—Rev. A. C. Culbreath.

The representative agent, Mr. C. C. Morse, and Rev. T. S. McMorris, of the Central Alabama Conference, were introduced.

The conference adjourned to meet at 3 o'clock p. m., at which time Dr. Geo. Whitaker, President of Wiley University, Marshall, Tex., Revs. J. R. Lawson, L. A. Jordan, C. H. Watson were introduced.

FRIDAY.

The conference reassembled at the usual hour with religious services for first half hour, the Bishop in the chair.

Dr. Whitaker, President of Wiley University, spoke at length in the interest of the above institution, and secured a subscription of $138 for the furnishing of one of the rooms of King House Model Home, to be named after the Texas Conference.

SATURDAY.

The regular routine of conference business was carried out. The conference was authorized to draw on the Chartered Fund $30, and on the Book Concern $741.84, and ordered these drafts.

A select number to try the case of R. H. Harbert, was appointed as follows:

J. S. Whitaker, Jesse Jones, F. Gilmore, Aaron Taylor, Doctor Morris, Aaron Alexander, Robt. Williams, S. M. Bolden, J. D. Mead, and Wm. Bartley.

Counsel for the church, H. S. M. Millan; counsel for defendant, P. Morgan, Presiding Elder. The select committee brought the following decision:

We, the select number appointed in the case of R. H. Harbert, have this day found him guilty of immoral conduct, as charged, and have expelled him from the ministry and membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

SUNDAY.

This was a grand day long to be remembered.

It opened up with a Lovefeast continued into memorial services, and closed, for the morning part, in the ordination of deacons.

At 3 o'clock a. m., Bishop Foss preached. The Bishop preached "for us all," hence all eyes were opened. The choir, directed by Prof. Landry, son of Rev. P. Landry, presiding elder of the New Orleans, rendered very good singing.

The Bishop ordained Elder W. Wesley. J. H. McMahon, of the M. E. Church, South, assisted in reading the Old and New Testament lessons.

Dr. Homer Eaton, of New York, preached at 8:30 o'clock. We hope to see the Doctor again next year.

MONDAY.

The session reassembled with its usual formulas. The Bishop in the chair.

Dr. Eaton took the opportunity of explaining to the conference the obligations due the episcopal fund by the pastors and presiding elders, stating that if the episcopal apportionment were not raised, each minister is to consider it in proportion to his own salary collected. A vote was taken by ballot relative to woman's admission to the General Conference, which stood 35 to 35.

Rev. Wm. Redd of the Presbyterian Church, Dr. J. P. Barnett and W. J. M. Wessom of Navasota, were introduced to the conference.

TUESDAY.

The last day opened with usual devotion and business; the day of much passion, anxiety and conflict; when ministers are at their wit's end, listening and divining.

The treasurer read his report and was received, also the statistical secretary. Various resolutions were read and adopted.

The Bishop after addressing the ministers as to the making of the appointments to the best of his knowledge, read the appointments, which appeared in the SOUTHWESTERN, of Jan. 29, 1891.

H. J. McMILLAN, Secretary.

Central Alabama Conference.

WE make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

Personal.

—Mr. W. B. Richie, formerly of this city, now a resident of Jersey City, New Jersey, passed through this city en route to Galveston, Tex., Monday, January 2.

—Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to Rev. W. H. Jackson, in the saddest of all bereavements, which he sustained in the death of his precious wife, Mrs. Emiline Jackson, at Palestine, Tex., Jan. 27, 1891, aged 34 years and 33 days. She went home in triumph.

—Correspondents will address Rev. W. H. Jackson at 822 Church street, Paris, Tex., hereafter.

—Rev. S. J. Wood's address is now Green Hill, Miss., he having moved from Cary.

—All friends of Rev. R. McAlpin, may address him at Canton, Miss.

—Rev. N. R. Randolph, is now stationed at Slaughter, La. All communications may be addressed to him at that place.

—Rev. J. A. Bain, desires to inform his friends to address him at Newmansville, Fla.

—All communications to Rev. D. M. Seals, may be sent to Clinton, La.

—Rev. S. Mitchell, is at Halen-ville, La. Address him there.

—D. W. Davidson, D. D., and Rev. Ernest Lyon, left the city last Saturday evening to engage in Sunday School work in the country parishes, for a week or two.

—Rev. Dr. J. H. Potts, editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate, is taking a brief rest in our city, the guest of President Adkinson. Dr. Potts has made his paper one of the liveliest in Methodism and is extremely popular, both for his ability as an editor and genial whole-souled character as a man.

Political Review.

The election bill has been in definitely laid aside by the Senate, and no legislation this session will be on that line owing to the apostasy of a few senators, notably that of Ingalls of Kansas and Cameron of Pennsylvania, and a few others.

A strong fight for the free coinage of silver is being made, but will probably fail in the House.

Some important senatorial elections have been made. Gallinger of New Hampshire, succeeds Blair; an Alliance man succeeds Ingalls of Kansas; and David B. Hill will take the seat of Senator Evarts, from New York.

It is thought that the election of Gov. Hill will make the race clear for Cleveland in '92, but in our opinion, Hill will be the next Democratic candidate for president.

Republicans in the South will greatly lament the change in New Hampshire; for Senator Blair has always been their friend, and a "friend indeed."

Meridian Academy.

A few weeks before the above named institution opened, the trustees of the school, with what means they could procure from the people at large and a donation from the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, made some repairs upon the school building, making things safer and more pleasant than before. Our doors are open and we can easily seat at least 200 pupils. With an experienced faculty at its head, this school bids fair to be classified among our best and leading institutions of learning. The school is on a better basis than for previous years. We the trustees will spare no means in making things pleasant for the pupils who are in attendance upon the school, since the opening of the present session the school has been steadily increasing in numbers. All persons young or old wishing to procure a practical education would do well to enter the Meridian Academy. No show work is practiced here to deceive our people. One of our greatest objects is to train christian girls and boys and thereby make the race better morally and religiously. This and surrounding counties are blessed by the service of good teachers who have received their training in the school. Those who are expecting to teach cannot find a better place in Meridian to prepare for the work than the Meridian Academy. We expect our school to be larger during this session than any other year. One, and our leading reason is that at the late district conference of the Meridian District Mississippi Conference convened at Newton, Miss. November 20, 1890. In the presence of the principal of the school and his assistant a warm resolution was drawn up and presented to the conference by one Rev. P. Blue, and warmly endorsed by the conference brethren, each vowing that he would send at least one pupil to the school during the session. Now brethren remember that the eye of God was upon you then and now—also that the principal of this school, though not saying much of your vows, but is thinking pretty hard, some families have made preparations to care for students coming to our school. For further information address the principal of the school or any of the trustees.

M. MOORE, President.
D. B. WATKINS, Secretary.

General Clinton B. Fisk, who has been identified with Fisk University, and whose name is perpetuated by it, has left a legacy to it of $25,000. The Trustees have decided to devote the money to the erection of a building to be called the Fisk Memorial Chapel.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Rev. T. Moore's Ministerial Work in North Texas as a Methodist Episcopal Minister.

Rev. T. Moore's services as a Methodist Episcopal Minister in North Texas, began with his appointment to Texarkana by Bishop Peck, in 1875.

He served here three years, during which time, he built a nice church and parsonage, and left a church and seventy members. He was next sent to Paris—Mount Zion Church in 1878, by Bishop Merrill. He served at this point three years and there built a church edifice. His stay here was crowned with success and he left a church of 170 members.

His third appointment was to the Paris circuit in 1881, which work he served two years. During which time he built three church edifices, viz: St. Paul, Gibson, Owsley Chapel, Bethlehem and Black Oak. He left things in good condition and was next appointed to Bonham and Brookston in 1885, at which place he served two years. He also had a church at Honey Grove. At the expiration of two year's services he left a very promising church of sixty members at Brookston and a respectable membership at each of the others, all full of hope and promise. He also left a new church building (Bishop Jane's Memorial Church) at Bonham. He was appointed to Bonham in 1885. His fifth appointment was in 1886, to Clarksville and Free Hope Church, where he built a good church at Free Hope with sixty members and finished the church in the city, and he also organized a new work at Blossom Prairie and built a church. His sixth appointment occurred in 1887, to Bonham the second time, where he served another year. While there this time he built a nice parsonage.

His seventh appointment was in 1889, to Clarksville circuit, where he served two years. His administration was a successful one and he left 320 members on the circuit. It can be truthfully affirmed of him that he has never missed an appointment during these years of faithful service.

He was during our last conference sent to Palestine, Texas, by Bishop Foss, in Jan. 1891.

He leaves a very nice home in Paris valued at $1,800.

We hope that the friends and brethren at Palestine will open up their hearts and give him a hearty welcome, for he and his devoted wife, who all believe, are worthy of their reception and support.

Rev. Moore, is a worker and all he wants is an opening. He has served under the following Presiding Elders, respectively: F. C. Moore, Walter Ripato, W. L. Maloy, Harvey Webb and Peter Morgan, and he is now serving under W. M. Wesley.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY HENRICKS.

Mardi Gras.

Mardi Gras is a mixed quantity—very badly mixed we fear. It will require more than the penance of Ash-Wednesday to atone for all the frivolities and revelries of Fat-Tuesday. When we consider the balls and bacchanalian revelries, the license and shameless conduct of loose characters in certain parts of the city, we are led to believe that all the time and money expended could be used to higher purpose. Let our people, young and old, beware lest at this time of license, in many respects like the Saturnalia and heathen festivals of old, they be led in any way to compromise their steadfast faith and loyalty to Christ.

THE country has met with an irreparable loss in the death of Secretary of the Treasury Windom. His successor has not yet been chosen.

Books and Current Literature.

Supposed Tendencies to Socialism is the title of the article that will open the March Popular Science Monthly. It is by Prof. William Graham, of Belfast, who gives his reasons for expecting a progressive improvement in the state of society, but no social transformation. Another valuable article is an explanation of Dr. Koch's Method of treating Consumption, by Dr. G. A. Heron, a London physician, and a friend of the discoverer.

The February Arena, in addition to a brilliant array of American authors, presents two papers of great interest by foreign essayists. Camille Flammarion, probably the most eminent European astronomer, writes at length on New Discoveries on Mars. Alfred Russell Wallace, D. C. L., L. L. D., contributes a striking paper on The Nature and Cause of Apparitions. Prof. Jos. Rodes Buchanan, writes ably on the nature of consumption of the lungs and the alleged discovery of Professor Koch, showing the weakness in the claims of the German professor. Frances E. Russell writes at length on Woman's Dress Reform. As will be readily seen the February Arena will appeal strongly to thoughtful people.

Prof. Drummond's famous address on "Love, the Supreme Gift" sometimes called "The Greatest Thing in the world," which has had a wonderfully large sale at 35 cts. a copy, and has undoubtedly done a great deal of good, is now published by Alden, unabridged, for three cents. The same publisher issues Drummond's "Natural Law in the Spiritual World," for 35 cts. plus postage, 10c. Catalogue sent free on request by the publisher, John B. Alden, 393 Pearl Street, New York.

SEND in for the Two Ladder and the Ten Commandment cards for your Sunday school, 10 cents per dozen.

PASTORS, The Official Member should be in the hands of every member of your board. If they are not supplied send in and procure them at once, 5 cents each.

EVERY pastor, local preacher, class leader and Sunday school superintendent should have The Methodist Year Book. In fact there should be one in every family for it is full of valuable information. Send in for one at once, only 10 cents each.

HUNT & EATON,

"I cannot sing to-night! My throat is sore." "Of course you haven't tried Salvation Oil!" "No." "Then get it, and you will sing like the birds."

If you would find a great many faults be on the lookout. If you would find them in still greater abundance, be on the look-in.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

AN APPEAL.

To The People:

The adoption by the Legislature of Louisiana, at its last session, of act No. 115, entitled "An act to provide for the comfort of passengers," &c., and better known as the separate car law, is a matter of public notoriety.

While the bill was pending before the General Assembly, the American Citizens' Equal Rights Associations earnestly protested and exerted its influence against its passage.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the reasons adduced then why this law should not have been enacted. All are familiar with them, and feel the degradation the law imposes on American citizenship.

The duty that remains to us to perform is to defeat or render nugatory the operations of this unjust and oppressive law.

To this end the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association will institute a suit to test the constitutionality of the infamous law and maintain the right of American citizens to travel on railroads and public conveyances.

For the successful prosecution of the suit money is needed.

Therefore, to secure the sinews of legal warfare, we appeal to the people generally for aid and assistance.

We appeal specially to ministers of the gospel. We request these emissaries of harmony and good-will among men to read this address from their pulpits and make its subject-matter a text for their sermons, in order to arouse the people to the sense of their patriotic duty in the premises.

We appeal to the presidents, officers and members of the associations, benevolent and charitable, educational, labor and others, in New Orleans and elsewhere, to introduce the matter into their assemblies and make it a subject of their deliberations, to the end that their organizations may, collectively, tender us their help.

We appeal to the leaders of men to propagate the idea among their followers, to enlist their interest and support in the cause.

Realizing the influence of the gentle sex and their zeal and earnestness in and devotion to the cause of right and justice, we appeal to the loyal women of the country to give us their invaluable aid. Let them talk the subject to the men in their social assemblies, church meetings, and other gatherings, and thus induce the latter to send their contributions singly; or, still better, organize circles to raise funds for the end proposed by entertainments, festivals, &c.

We appeal to those moulders of public opinion, the newspapers of the United States—the loyal press—to publish this appeal and make its object the subject of their approving comments and criticisms in order to create and maintain a public sentiment, from which the needed aid will readily flow. We request all newspapers in sympathy with the cause to act as agents of this Association to receive contributions from the good people of their localities, to be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

Finally as the favorable issue of the suit will redound to the everlasting benefit of all, we appeal to the lovers of fair play and justice throughout this broad land for their encouragement, material aid and assistance.

We will employ the very best legal talent that the country affords. We know that the amount required will be large, but it can be easily raised by dime and nickel contributions.

Let all send in their mite. As soon as the necessary amount will have been secured, we will inform the people and cease the collection.

Conscious of the justice of our cause, and supported by a loyal people, we will not desist from our course until this infamous law

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

which is a continual menace to the peace of society, a standing insult to us, our wives, mothers and sisters, and which threatens to be a badge of inferiority to our posterity, is nullified, and we have created such a sentiment that will hereafter prevent any attempt to enforce a similar law or regulation anywhere in this free country of ours.

HE CARETH FOR THEE.

[The Christian.]

"Casting all your care upon Him, for He careth for you."—1 Peter, v. 7.

What can it mean? Is it aught to him That the nights are long and the days are dim? Can he be touched by the griefs I bear, Which sadden the heart and whiten the hair? Around his throne are eternal realms, And strong, glad music of happy psalms, And bliss untroubled by any strife, How can he care for my poor life?

And yet I want him to care for me, While I live in this world where the sorrows be When the lights die down on the path I take; When strength is feeble, and friends forsake; When love and music that once did bless, Have left me to silence and loneliness: And life-song changes to sobbing prayers— Then my heart cries out for a God who cares.

When shadows hang o'er me the whole day long; And my spirit is bowed with shame and wrong; When I am not good, and the deeper shade Of conscious sin makes my heart afraid; And the busy world has too much to do To stay in its course to help me through, And I long for a Saviour—can it be That the God of the Universe cares for me?

O wonderful story of deathless love! Each child is dear to that heart above! He fights for me when I cannot fight; He comforts me in the gloom of night; He lifts the burden, for he is strong; He stills the sigh, and awakens the song; The sorrow that bowed me down he bears, And loves and pardons, because he cares.

Let all who are sad take heart again. We are not alone in our hours of pain; Our Father stoops from his throne above To soothe and quiet us with his love. He leaves us not when the storm is high, And we have safety, for he is nigh, Can it be trouble which he doth share? O rest in peace for the Lord does care!

The Household.

Home Hints and Hints.

Warm dishes for the table by immersing them in hot water, not by standing them on a hot stove.

To loosen the cover of a fruit jar that has become stuck, invert the jar and place the top in hot water for a few moments.

Put French chalk or magnesia on silk or ribbon that has become greasy and hold it near the fire. This will absorb the grease, so it may be rubbed off.

Put a teaspoonful of borax in your rinsing water; it will whiten the clothes and also remove the yellow cast on garments that have been laid aside for two or three years.

A good cement to use for cracked lids is equal parts of wood ashes and salt, with just enough water to make a paste. Use when the stove is cold, and it will soon harden.

Half a teaspoonful of sugar will nearly always revive a dying fire, and, unlike the few drops of coal-oil, which servants are so fond of using, and which have caused so many sad accidents, is perfectly safe.

Some very careful and successful housekeepers insist that a frying pan should never be washed. Their method is to scour it thoroughly with salt the moment it has been used, and set it away for the next service.

HARRISON CAKE—One cup of butter, one cup of molasses, two cups of sugar, four eggs, one cup of sweet milk, one teaspoonful of soda, three and a half cups of flour, two cups of seeded raisins, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, and one teaspoonful of cloves. Bake slowly for about an hour.

We are sending out The House of Bondage by every mail throughout the country. Send for a copy. Price, 75c.

Our Symposium.

We are confronted with the Democratic party, very hungry, and as you may well believe, very thirsty; a party without a single definite principle; a party without any distinct national policy which it dares to present to the country; a party which fell from power as a conspiracy against human rights, and now attempts to sneak back to power as a conspiracy to plunder and spoils.—Henry George in 1884.

Whoever thou art, whatever may be thy qualities, however good thou art, in whatever condition thou art placed, canst thou take tranquilly thy tea and eat thy dinner, canst thou occupy thyself with politics, fine arts, science, medicine, or teaching, when thou seest and hearest the man who is lying at thy door sick and starving? No! But thou wilt say they are not always there at my door. It may be so; but they are perhaps but a short distance from thy house, and thou knowest it.—Tolstoi.

Any church can be an evangelistic center, and any pastor an evangelistic preacher, if there be a will. Wesley's motto, "All at it, and always at it," is the key to the problem. The preacher must lift up Christ. Let us not be afraid of the repetition which Sidney Smith regarded as the secret of impression. The word "inclination" is full of ethical suggestion. It means to tread in with the heel. Men never tire of hearing the old, old story. It is the old, but only, remedy for sin and sorrow.—A. T. Pierson.

The defeat of prohibition in Nebraska will make hell laugh. There is no use for us to cry. We must keep right on educating the people and creating sentiment. It is madness to vote on a prohibitory amendment at any but a special election.—Western.

WE ARE ordering for our people brand new Singer Sewing Machines, direct from the factory every day, on the plan fully explained in another column. They are giving perfect satisfaction, and words of praise are being showered upon them everywhere. Send us $14, and we will send you the SOUTHWESTERN for a whole year, and one of these machines to your nearest freight office.

"HOUSE OF BONDAGE," now ready. Send 75 cents and get one postage prepaid, or call at the office.

BRONCHITIS

Is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes—of the air-passages leading into the lungs. For other complaints are so prevalent, or call for more prompt and energetic action. As neglect or delay may result seriously, effective remedies should always be at hand. Apply at once a mustard plaster to the upper part of the chest, and for internal treatment, take frequent doses of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

C. O. Lepper, Druggist, Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "My little sister, four years of age, was so ill from bronchitis that we had almost given up hope of her recovery. Our family physician, a skillful man and of large experience, pronounced it useless to give her any more medicine, saying he had done all it was possible to do, and we must prepare for the worst. As a last resort, we determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and I can truly say, with most happy results. After taking a few doses she seemed to breathe easier, and within a week, was out of danger. We continued giving the Pectoral until satisfied she was entirely well. This indisputable evidence of the great merit of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has given me unbounded confidence in the preparation, and I recommend it to my customers, knowing it cannot disappoint them."

"Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured me of a bad cough and my partner of bronchitis. I know of numerous cases in which this preparation has proved very beneficial in families of Young Children, so that the medicine is known among them as 'the consolider of the afflicted.'—James Rufus Vidal, San Cristobal, San Domingo. "A short time ago, I was taken with a severe attack of bronchitis. The remedies ordinarily used in such cases failed to give me relief. Almost in despair of ever finding anything to cure me, I bought a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was helped from the first dose. I had not finished one bottle before the disease left me, and my throat and lungs were as sound as ever."—Geo. B. Hunter, Altoona, Pa.

Sunday-School and Children.

FIRST QUARTER—LESSON VII. Elijah Taken to Heaven. 2 Kings 2. 1-11. Commit to memory verses 9-11. Feb. 15, 1891. B. C. 896.

HOME READINGS.

M. 2 Kings 2. 1-11. Tn. Gen. 5. 18-24. W. Heb. 11. 16. Th. Luke 12. 35-40. F. 2 Tim. 4. 1-8. S. 2 Pet. 1. 10-15. S. Rev. 7. 9, 17.

GOLDEN TEXT.

And Enoch walked with God: and he was not; for God took him. Gen. 5. 24.

LESSON HYMN, 12. 9.

Come, let us ascend,
My companion and friend,
To a taste of the banquet above;
If the heart be as mine,
If for Jesus it pine,
Come up into the chariot of love.

Who in Jesus confide,
We are bold to outstride
The storms of affliction beneath,
With the prophet we soar
To the heavenly shore,
And outlive all the arrows of death.
Tme.—B. C. 896.

Places—Gilgal, Bethel, Jericho and the Jordan.

Rulers.—Jehoram, grandson of Ahab, King of Israel; Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat, King of Judah.

Connecting Links.—The wicked King Ahab was killed in a war with the Syrians 897 B. C. His son Amaziah, followed him on the throne, but died 896 B. C. Amaziah's son, Jehoram, then became king.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. The Journey, v. 1-8. Where did the Lord propose to take Elijah, and how? Who went with Elijah from Gilgal? What request did Elijah make? What was Elisha's answer? To what place did they journey? Who there met Elisha? What question did they ask? What reply did he make? What did Elijah then request of Elisha? What did Elisha say to this request? Who here met Elisha? What did these men say to him? How did he reply to them? What request did Elijah again make?

How did Elisha answer this time? Who stood watching their journey? What did Elijah do at the Jordan? What was the result of the smiting waters?

2. The Request, v. 9-10. What did Elijah bid his companion to ask? What was Elisha's request? What did Elijah reply?

3. The Chariot of fire, v. 11. What suddenly appeared as they journeyed? Where did Elijah go? What other saint did God translate? Golden Text.

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. An example of true friendship?
2. An illustration of persistent faith?
3. An evidence that faith is sure of reward?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BELIEVERS.

Of what holy man of God is it said, "He was not; for God took him"? What prophet was buried by the Lord?

Find a command given to Elijah concerning Elisha.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. Who accompanied Elijah? Elisha.
2. Who came out to watch Elijah's ascension? The sons of the prophets.
3. How did Elijah make the waters of the Jordan divide. He smote them with his mantle.
4. What did Elisha ask? A double portion of his Master's spirit.
5. What appeared while they talked? A chariot of fire, and horses of fire.
6. Where was Elijah carried? Into heaven.

EXPLANATIONS.

When the Lord would—God's will overrules and providentially controls all the affairs of life, little and great. Sons of the prophets—Pupils or disciples. Smote the waters—Like another Moses. Ask what I shall do—A favor was in the departing prophet. A double portion does not mean twice as much. A portion was the inheritance of a son, and the first-born son in a Hebrew family always received a double portion.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

19. Can you repeat the first verse of the Bible? "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." Gen. 1. 1.

20. Does God preserve all things which he has made? He upholdeth all things by the word of His power! Heb. 1. 3.

21. Of what did God make man's body? "Of the dust of the ground." Gen. 2. 7.

Good manners are made up of petty sacrifices. Why not then sacrifice 25 cents and buy a box of Old Saul's Catarrh Cure when suffering from nasal catarrh.

PASTOR'S throughout our territory will confer a great favor if they send us their present and former addresses so we can send their papers to their present addresses and not to their former.

For the restoration of faded and gray hair to its original color and freshness, Ayer's Hair Vigor remains unrivaled. This is the most popular and valuable toilet preparation in the world; all who use it are perfectly satisfied that it is the best.

South Carolina Conference.

The eighty-fifth session, or twenty-sixth since reorganization, of the South Carolina Conference convened at Greenville, S. C., in Wesley Chapel Feb. 5, at 10 a. m., with Bishop H. W. Warren, D. D., in the chair. The bishop read 1 Cor. 4 ch., and the conference joined in singing the 79th hymn, after which the bishop addressed the conference, congratulating it upon its evident progress, and advising unity and concord in the deliberations of the conference. The roll call showed nearly all the members present. The transfer of Rev. E. Kirby to the Savannah Conference. J. B. Middleton was unanimously reelected secretary by acclamation; assistants, E. H. Coit, J. N. Carter, J. B. Smith and B. F. Witherspoon. C. C. Scott, was elected statistical secretary; assistants, J. H. Johnson and E. B. Burroughs. W. R. Jervey, was elected conference treasurer; assistants, C. C. Jacobs and J. R. Townsend. The several committees were appointed on nominations of the Presiding Elders. The following reporters were appointed; for the World, A. G. Townsend; News and Courier, W. G. White; Greenville Daily News, J. N. Carter. Rev. C. H. Payne, D. D., corresponding secretary of the Board of Education was introduced. The Sunday School superintendent of Wesley Chapel delivered an appropriate address of welcome, followed by a touching recitation by the fourteen year old son of Rev. J. A. Brown, to which Bishop Warren and Rev. R. A. Cottingham responded. L. M. Dutton was appointed one of the examiners on the second year in place of J. N. Cardozo.

The twentieth question was taken up and E. C. Brown, Presiding Elder of the Orangeburg District reported his work, and his character passed, as did also the elders on his district. J. N. Cardozo was permitted to withdraw from the church and ministry. H. N. Murphy was ordered to be left without appointment to attend one of our schools. Dr. Payne addressed the conference in behalf of the Board of Education to the joy of all that heard him.

F. L. Baxter, of the Florence District reported his work and his character passed, as did also the elders on his district. The case of F. W. Sasportas was referred to a committee. J. E. Wilson of the Charleston District reported his work and his character passed, as did also the elders on his district. The case of S. W. Beard was referred to a committee. The Book Concern accounts were placed in the hands of J. E. A. Keeler for collection. Benediction by the bishop. The statistical session was held at 3 p. m., with Rev. A. Middleton in the chair. At night the educational anniversary was held, when Rev. Drs. C. H. Payne, L. M. Dutton, and F. E. McDonald delivered excellent addresses.

SECOND DAY.—Devotion was conducted by Rev. G. W. Beckham. Drafts were ordered on the Chartered Fund for $30 and on the Book Concern Dividend for $503. D. M. Minns of the Beaufort District reported his work and his character passed, as did also the elders on his district. I. E. Lowery of the Greenville District reported his work and his character passed, as did also the elder on his district. The third question was taken up. The following were continued on trial, viz.: J. Lucas, D. G. Boston. She following were passed to the second year: G. J. Davis, Jasper P. Robinson, Ellis Forrest, W. D. Scott, A. H. Harrison. The case of F. W. Sasportas was referred to a select number for trial. A special committee was appointed to gather and present the facts touching the distribution of tracts and Bibles among our people. The case of A. Harris was referred to a special committee. Benediction by the bishop.

THIRD DAY.—Devotion was conducted by Rev. S. Green. A letter was read from H. H. Matthews reporting his illness as the cause of his absence. The following were made or continued in supernumerary relation: P. Witherspoon, L. W. Oglesby, J. A. Sasportas, W. H. Scott, W. S. Garrett, M. F. Block, and W. W. Adamson. E. McDaniel was transferred to the North Carolina Conference. S. Thomas was granted a supernumerary relation. The cases of John Burroughs, C. T. Hopkins, and N. C. Davies were referred to the committee on conference relation. Rev. C. N. Grandison principal of Bennett Seminary, Greensboro, N. C., Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D. D., corresponding secretary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, Rev. W. P. Thirkield, D. D., president of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., and Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D. D., editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, were introduced. The tenth question was taken up and John C. Martin, G. W. Cooper, and Edward Edwards were elected deacons. Drs. Albert and Thirkield addressed the conference.

The thanks of the conference were extended to the speakers for their address. That of Dr. Thirkield, which was spoken from manuscript was requested for publication; and will be published in the SOUTHWESTERN. After a very impressive address by the bishop, W. M. Hanna and John F. Page, were admitted into full connection. M. M. Mouzon, J. M. Eady, W. Littlejohn, J. C. Tobias, J. W. Connelly, Thos. G. Hazel, A. S. Cottingham, A. H. Harrison, J. T. Wilson, J. N. Brownlee, John T. Harrison, were continued on trial. Shedrach Burns and W. J. McDaniel were elected elders. A. McLees offered resolutions looking to the development of the work in portions of the state where our church is not established. After considerable discussion of a very able character they were adopted. Rev. A. J. Hunter of the A. M. E. Church, and B. F. McDowell, of the Presbyterian Church, were introduced. Trustees were nominated for Claflin University. The select number in the case of F. W. Sasportas exonerated him from charges preferred against him.

An afternoon session was held at 3 p. m. Devotion was conducted by Dr. A. E. P. Albert.

H. O. Frederick and B. J. Boston reported their work and their character passed.

The committee on conference relations reported in the cases of C.

T. Hopkins, W. C. Davies and John Burroughs and they were made supernumeraries. Jerry McLeod and John Isham were elected local deacons. The following were continued in the same class: M. Cook, V. S. Johnson, F. W. Vance, E. I. Foster, W. H. Jones, H. H. Matthews.

E. W. Matthews passed on fourth year's studies and was elected to elder's orders. The following were also elected to elder's orders: B. F. Millen, J. E. A. Keeler, J. B. Thomas, B. G. Frederick.

The twentieth question was resumed and E. M. Pinckney reported and his character passed. The Rev. Thomas Minns, H. Watkins and I. B. Jones of the Baptist Church were introduced. On motion of F. D. Smith it was voted that the conference proceed to vote on the question, Shall women be eligible as lay delegates to the Electoral and General Conferences? A. Medolehn and L. Arthur were appointed tellers. Whole number of votes cast 86. 33 for and 53 against.

The following is the vote of the lay members:

	FOR.	AGAINST.
Beaufort District.....	303	1056
Charleston ".....	126	2912
Florence ".....	2030	496
Orangeburg ".....	450	1083
Greenville ".....	276	542
Total vote.....	3225	6089

Orangeburg was selected as the place for the meeting of the next annual session.

The bishop retiring with his Presiding Elders, invited Dr. Albert to the chair. The committee on Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society reported. Pending its adoption Dr. Hartzell and principal Grandison addressed the conference. The committee on Periodicals reported and the report was adopted. It strongly endorses the SOUTHWESTERN as its official organ and urges its circulation in every home. Dr. Albert addressed the conference in behalf of the SOUTHWESTERN.

CONFERENCE SABBATH, opened with the conference love feast, where many precious testimonies were given. At 11 a. m., the bishop preached a sermon of great power to an overflowing house, after which those elected to deacon's orders were ordained. At 3 p. m. Dr. Hartzell preached a very edifying sermon to an equally large congregation, after which the elders were ordained by the bishop, assisted by Father J. A. Sasportas and Dr. Albert. At 7:30 p. m. Dr. Albert preached to a large and appreciative audience. The day was a remarkable one.

On Monday the committees that had not reported made their reports, the usual complimentary and other resolutions were adopted and the conference adjourned with the benediction by the bishop after the reading of the appointments.

The conference was delighted by the kind and fatherly way the Bishop presided over the conference. His farewell address to the conference was very touching, and many tears were shed.

Savannah Conference Notes.

This was adjudged to be the best session it ever held. Great harmony prevailed, and much spiritual life was shown. During some of the evenings many seekers for the new life were forward at the altar.

One of the presiding elders, in making his report, said that great peace, prosperity and harmony prevailed in all the communities where there was a live Methodist Episcopal Church, and he recommended it as a sure panacea for the ills that afflict so many of our communities. "True! True!" was echoed from all parts of the house.

Bishop H. W. Warren, of Denver Col. presided. Among other prominent men who attended the conference were the Rev. W. A. Spencer, secretary of the Board of Church Extension; Professor Thirkield, president of Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta; A. B. Leonard, missionary secretary; Dr. Hunt, agent for the New York Book Concern; C. H. Payne, D. D. secretary of the Education Society; W. H. Hickman, D. D., president Clark University, and C. C. Morse, business manager of the SOUTHWESTERN.

The conference received $500 from the $110,000 dividend this year.

The following officers were elected: J. B. L. Williams, secretary; R. T. Adams and J. W. Lamar, assistant secretaries; G. W. Arnold statistical secretary, with several assistants; C. K. Wright, conference treasurer, with H. R. Allen as assistant.

All the presiding elder's reports showed great increase in souls converted, new churches and parsonages, and benevolent collections.

Warren Chapel, where the conference was held, had just been repaired. The pastor, Rev. C. B. Buffington, is a sweet-spirited gentleman, who has faithfully served the charge four years and the people of Macon were greatly pleased that he was allotted his fifth year with them.

This church has among its grand laymen, one who is doing splendid work for his people in the person of Professor H. J. T. Hudson, principal of the city public school. The Bishop and visiting brethren attended some of the school exercises and were highly pleased with the work shown. Prof. Hudson and his wife have assisted, and are assisting, some worthy young men and women to get an education at our colleges.

The session closed Monday night. The members were generally satisfied with the appointments.

Letters from the Districts.

Little Rock Conference.

Dear brethren of the Texarkana District, let us bring the district up on all lines. We want to do more this conference year than any other. This is a progressive age, so we ought to have an eye to this, an make and effort to progress. Our work will prosper as we manifest our faith in grace and zeal for the work and our love for lost souls of men. Dear brethren, the Lord wants to use all of his ministry for the saving of souls and bettering of the conditions of men. Belike the prophet Isaiah, willing to be of use in every way. I am with you to help you in every way for the good of the work on the district.

Dear brethren, let us not be contented with last year's work, but each year we should contend for some improvement. Now, let us have a grand revival. Do more in the way of soul-saving and more for our benevolent cause, and more for the grand old SOUTHWESTERN. My postoffice address will be 1804 State street, Little Rock, Ark.

A. J. PHILLIPS, P. E.
Huntsville District, Texas.

P. PARKER.

The Huntsville District is not as rich as some of the districts in the Texas Conference, nor is it as well built up, but if we stand together as true Methodists it will soon be on a better basis.

Groveton and Trinity are both fast growing towns of 1500 or 2000 inhabitants. We have no churches there as yet. Trinity being the junction of the I. & G. N., and M. K. & T. Railroads, bids fair to be in future the best town on the International and Great Northern railway from Houston to Palestine. We have members here who are ready to take hold at once with their preacher, Rev. L. J. Hogan, for a new church.

Groveton is the county seat of Trinity county. We own a church lot here. Bro. M. M. Muldrew will find a warm place in the heart of our members and friends. It is our aim to build up the district with good substantial churches and parsonages that we may serve the Lord with greater comfort. If our pastors everywhere begin at once to preach with the power and the Holy Ghost the unsearchable riches of Christ to the people, and do it incessantly, great and good will the harvest be. Brethren, our motto is, "A thousand conversions this year."

Monday, Aug. 10 is set to begin our district camp meetings at our camp grounds near Huntsville.

Every pastor is requested to be present at this meeting with their congregations on the ground during the whole service. Nothing pays the church as saving sinners from their sins.

Our Sunday schools are not what they should be; and in order that we may build them up to do greater work, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 6, 7, 8, are set for pastors, local preachers, exhorters, Sunday school superintendents of the district are expected to be present at Huntsville and take part in the Sunday school institute exercises, which will consist in addresses, lectures, songs, essays and the like, highly appropriate to Sunday school work. Religiously bestir yourself and your Sunday schools and church members and friends, and make Easter Sunday, Mar. 29, what it should be. Write for Easter programs and willing worker cards, and put them into the hands of every willing worker.

Get up recitations, addresses, essays and songs on missions and the resurrection of our Saviour. Decorate your churches well and make the day a glorious one.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society must be organized and set at work in every congregation. Give your good sisters regular and systematic work to do, as their labors are invaluable. Last year, because some of the preachers of the Huntsville District were in debt to the SOUTHWESTERN, they refused to work for the paper. This is wrong twice; viz: wrong to be in debt, and wrong not work for the paper. This year begin in your leaders' and stewards' meetings and have each of them take the SOUTHWESTERN. No Sunday school superintendent should be without it. Your local preachers and exhorters must subscribe to it. We want nothing but cash subscribers from the Huntsville District.

Our people must practice reading some good religious matter, and I know nothing which I could recommend as being better than the SOUTHWESTERN. Start all your committees out now to gather up your benevolent money. Do not wait; as waiting means nothing. Educate your church officials and members to meet all their church claims monthly, at least.

Write me freely upon all church matters and I will, with pleasure, answer your letters. You can always reach me by addressing your letters Huntsville, Texas, P. O. Box, 252.

Remember Wiley University at Marshall, Texas, and do your duty to it.

Proceedings of the Florida Conference.

The fourteenth session of the Florida Conference convened in Gainesville, Florida January 22, 1891, Bishop H. W. Warren presiding. The Bishop administered the Lord's Supper, assisted by the Presiding Elders. Rev. J. Grant was elected secretary and J. P. Patterson assistant. Rev. J. F. Ellis was elected statistical secretary. The usual conference committees were appointed. Revs. A. B. Leonard, D. D., Missionary Secretary, C. H. Payne, D. D., Secretary Board of Education, S. Hunt, D. D., Senior Agent Book Concern and M. C. B. Mason, Pastor Loyd Street Church, Atlanta, Ga., representing THE SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE were introduced and addressed the conference in behalf of the interests they represented. Rev. B. Dilworth, Presiding Elder, Jacksonville District, passed character and reported his work in a prosperous condition as also did the Elders on this district. After the usual notice the conference adjourned. Benediction by the Bishop.

EVENING SESSION.

An evening session was held at 2:30 for the statistical reports. Dr. Hunt presided. At night the missionary sermon was preached by Rev. J. P. Patterson. It was earnest, eloquent, Biblical and touched and melted all hearts. Bro. Patterson is a young man with a promising future. Rev. M. C. B. Mason also spoke in the interest of the SOUTHWESTERN. The address was well received and the conference responded in cash payments and resolutions pledging larger support. Benediction by Rev. M. C. B. Mason.

SECOND DAY.

Conference met at 9 a. m., Bishop Warren in the chair. Devotional services conducted by Dr. Hunt. Minutes of previous day's session read and approved. Rev. A. Debose Presiding Elder of Gainesville District passed character and reported his work steadily on the increase. The reports of the elders and preachers on his district were on the same line. Rev. P. Swearingen, Presiding Elder of the Palatka District, passed character and reported his work in a growing and prosperous condition. The reports of the elders and deacons on this district confirmed the statement of the Presiding Elder. At night the anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society was held. President Darnell, of Cookman and J. F. Elliott delivered excellent addresses. Benediction by Rev. J. Grant.

THIRD DAY.

Devotional exercises conducted by J. F. Elliott, Bishop Warren in the chair. Minutes of previous day's session read and approved.

Rev. J. H. Williams was advanced to the second class of deacons. The following were elected to elders' orders: J. P. Patterson, Y. K. Meeks and P. O. Jackson. The following were discontinued: J. A. Grimsley, and S. Jackson. L. J. Little and J. Deas were received into full connection. J. Deas was elected to deacon's orders.

The vote was taken on the admission of women to the general conference with the following result: For admission, 6, against 30. The votes of the laity was 137 for, to 1042 against. The second Sunday in May was fixed as Jubilee Day of the Freedmen's Aid Society and the Conference pledged to raise $1000. At night a joint anniversary of the Church Extension Society and Woman's Home Missionary was held; Dr. Spencer and Mrs. Emma Howard were the speakers.

Sunday was a high day in Israel. At 9 a. m. Love Feast led by Rev. S. A. Huger and at 10:30 the ordination of elders; at 11 Bishop Warren preached an eloquent and soul stirring sermon from John 3: 6. In the afternoon Dr. Hunt preached from Rev. 3:21, and the elders were ordained. At night the services for the day closed with an earnest and pathetic discourse by Dr. Spencer from John 3:34. Benediction by Dr. Spencer.

FOURTH DAY.

Conference convened at 8:30 a. m., Bishop Warren in the chair. Minutes of Saturday's session read and approved. The sad intelligence of the death of a Presiding Elder in the St. John's Conference who had just received his appointment the week before was announced by the Bishop. D. Johnson and J. J. Wiggs were admitted on trial. Resolutions of thanks to the bishop for his kind and impartial rulings, to the pastor and friends of Gainesville for their hospitality, to the conference officers for the faithful performance of their duties and to the railroads for reduced rates were unanimously passed. After reading of the appointments conference adjourned. Benediction by Bishop Warren.

COOKMAN INSTITUTE.

Your correspondent cannot close this writing without saying a word concerning Cookman Institute and the grand work it is doing for this conference and contiguous territory. On our way to the seat of the conference we stopped here in Jacksonville and had the privilege of speaking to the school during chapel service. A more determined earnest, bright-eyed young men and women we have never seen. The singing was magnificent, the deportment good. The chapel was literally packed three on a seat and more than fifty standing. A new boarding hall and home for the teachers on the opposite corner is building and when finished will be an addition of no little importance to the beauty of this part of the city. Rev. S. B. Darnell the able and energetic president has attained great success here and richly deserves it. Many of the students read the SOUTHWESTERN and are highly pleased with it.

Electric Belt Free!

To introduce it, the undersigned will give away to those who are sick or ailing or suffering from weakness or disease, and who would be likely to make good agents, if cured, one of our German Electro-Galvanic Belts; regular price $5 (U. S. Patent 357,647), invented by Prof. P. H. Van Derweyde, Pres. of N. Y. Electrical Society and late Professor of Chemistry of N. Y. Medical College. $500 Reward for any Belt we manufacture that does not generate a genuine Electric current. They are daily making most marvelous cures in cases of Rheumatism, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Diseases, Lung Troubles, Nervous Debility, and many other ailments in which medicine fails. Address at once,

German Electric Belt Agency, Brooklyn, N. Y.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Ticker, One Foot Ruler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Lubricator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 189 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

Our reception at this charge was pleasant and agreeable. The future is bright. Our hands are full of the Master's works. We have no time to throw away. It belongs to the Lord. My predecessor, Rev. John Qualls is loved by the people, and will always be remembered by them.

D. C. Cook, Christiansburg, Va.

When I came to this work from the East Tennessee Conference, I found forty members without any place of worship. This is an old work, having been a part of the Washington Conference before the division two years ago. One would think from observation that this is a work just opened. The people by bad management had their church taken from them. The reason was that they failed to get a deed for the lot before building their church. Last year we bought another lot in a very desirable part of town, and built a foundation for a new church 32x50 feet. We have bought twelve hundred and fifty feet of framing for a church that will cost when finished sixteen hundred dollars. We have just given out the work to a carpenter and will begin work in a few days.

We are just out of a glorious revival, eighteen conversions and fourteen additions to the church.

The SOUTHWESTERN is a welcome visitor each week. I will get some subscribers soon.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

Letters from the Laity.

On Wednesday night, Feb. 4, a crowd of ladies and gentlemen, led by some of the leading members of St. Peter M. E. Church, and well-wisher members, about forty, formed a surprise party and aroused our pastor, Rev. H. J. Wright and his wife at the parsonage about eleven o'clock by their sweet voices, "B-ing-ing in the Sheaves." The doors were opened, fires rekindled, and the parlor was given up, as was the rest of the house, to the party. The pastor, his wife and children joined in the eating. A good time was had. The crowd left after an hour and a half having been spent in a Christian-like manner. Come again, says the pastor.

The first quarterly conference of Spring Hill, Tennessee River District, was held Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 24, 25, Elder J. B. Bradford presiding. Notwithstanding the heavy rainfall on Saturday, the meetings were well attended. The Elder preached two able sermons.

Nearly every member brought or sent their quarter. Forty-three communion and two joined the church. Spring Hill is in a prosperous condition. Our members are intelligent and thrifty. There are few who have not homes of their own. More students attend colleges from this place than any town of its size in the South. Lawyers, doctors, editors, teachers, merchants and mechanics have sprung from this place.

Mr. Editor: I want to enquire for my niece. Her mother belonged to Dr. Bearard, who lived at Oak Ridge, Morehouse parish, La. The doctor hired my sister to a man who lived in Bastrop, La., by the name of Jacob Short. My sister was named Annie, and I had two girls named Hannah and Lizzie. I heard that sister died about the first or second year after the surrender, and I heard that that Lizzie went to Hot Springs. Address Committee on Apportionments.

Rev. J. W. Young, who has been aptly styled "The Apostle of Accuracy," is now acting as secretary of the Committee on Apportionments. Every result he reaches upon the principles of equity adopted by the Committee is subject to revision and modification by the Committee itself acting in concert with the Presiding Elder of each district.

Many Presiding Elders are so well pleased with the work done already that they have requested Brother Young to figure out the apportionments to their charges upon the principles adopted by the Committee. In the course of time we hope all Presiding Elders will avail themselves of the help of the Committee in making these apportionments to their charges.

It is a great experiment. It ought to succeed. When we reached the Million Line we well knew it was full of zigzags, but the best thing to do then was to make a grand charge, get there, and straighten the line afterwards.

That straightening process is now going on with the utmost care. Let the letters of approval or disapproval pour in. Come, let us reason together. Let us study our obligations to the cause of missions with an earnest desire to find out what is duty, and a purpose to give not only what is our just proportion, but also what shall be a fitting expression of our love for Him who gave himself for us.

C. C. McCABE.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society in Florida.

The anniversary exercises of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, were held in the Mt. Pleasant M. E. Church at Gainesville, Fla., on Saturday Jan. 24. The church was well filled, and the close attention given to the evening's proceedings, showed that much interest was felt by all. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Alice Williams, of Jacksonville, the Conference president. The first half hour was pleasantly filled with music by the choir, also singing and speaking by members of the Gainesville Mission Band, led by Miss Mamie Roberts. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. J. P. Patterson, shows that $53.65 have been raised for the General Fund and $29.00 for Special Fund, making the total for the year's work $82.65. This was followed by reports from the different auxiliaries.

These were quite varied, some showing dues well paid, besides an amount given to the Special Fund, or some important local work done, while others with faltering tones, reported hard struggles for existence. But an earnest determination was expressed by all to push the interests of this society on their different charges.

The banner auxiliaries, those showing the most money in, as well as other work done, are Ebenezer Church on Jacksonville District, Waldo Church on Gainesville District, and Ocala Church on Palatka District. Among items of local work reported, those deserving special mention are a chandelier and chair to the church at Waldo by their society, and at Palatka the gift of a sacramental set to their church. Miss Emerson, superintendent of Boylan Home, gave the reports of the Home Band, and told briefly what was being done in all the departments of work there. She then made an earnest appeal to all present, that they would bear the interests of this work upon their hearts and do all they can to advance it during the coming year. While more money may have been reported in former years, yet a deeper and more intelligent interest in the cause of Woman's Home Missionary Society, is manifested throughout the conference.

We are enjoying a happy and prosperous year in both departments of home and school work.

At a business meeting in the afternoon the following officers were elected for the coming year: President Mrs. Alice Williams, corresponding secretary Mrs. J. G. Grant, recording secretary Mrs. J. G. Howard, treasurer Mrs. A. R. Jones, Jacksonville District; Mrs. Nancy Nicholls, Mrs. J. F. Elliott, Jacksonville District; Mrs. Cornelia Bazzelle, Miss H. E. Emerson, Palatka District; Mrs. R. M. Roberts, Miss Fannie Dupont, for Key West; Mrs. Annie Jenkins, Miss Mamie Roberts, Gainesville District.

Consumption Surely Cured.

General News Items.

A colored woman named Betsy Nicholls, residing near the depot in Vidalia, had quite a scare. She was awakened by her baby crying, when she discovered a huge moccasin lying coiled up in bed between herself and child. They began screaming and disturbed his snake-ship, who quietly crawled off, luckily without striking its fangs into either Betsy or her baby.—Louisiana Democrat.

There is more real religion in paying one hundred cents on the dollar, than in some of the most eloquent prayers that were ever delivered.

Church Polity.

Q. 1. Can a presiding elder restore a class leader whom his pastor has removed?

Q. 2. Can he receive members into the church without the pastor's consent?

A. 1. No; the class leader is to the preacher in charge, what the presiding elder is to the bishop that appoints him. The one is the creature of the other, and can be removed by that power at will.

A. 2. No one has any authority to receive a member into the church except the preacher in charge.

Q. How does John x, 30, "I and my Father are one," harmonize with Mark xiii, 32, "But of that day... knoweth... neither the Son," in connection with John xxi, 17, "Lord, Though knowest all things?"

A. Verbal criticisms on Scripture passages often entangle the reader. In the first, Christ teaches that He and His Father are one, meaning the divine Christ, who in the beginning was the Word, and who was with God, and was God. In the second, He speaks as a human being whom they knew and with whom they conversed. In the third, they having seen that never man spake like this man, thought that He, as a man, knew all things, and thus expressed themselves. Sometimes Christ spoke from the point of view of his manhood; at other times, from the point of view of His Godhead. Generally, by studying the connection which is the point of view can be made out, but not always.

Q. A man is a drunkard and abuses his wife, finally leaves her, and is suddenly killed. Should the minister call upon her in her affliction to sympathize?

A. A minister should call upon any woman who loses her husband by death. In many cases, as the one described in this question, at such a time a tender feeling comes over a wife, she remembers happier days, forgets what she has suffered, and, if a Christian, will appreciate a call from her pastor, who if, a man of sense, will not go into details.

Q. I have noticed that at the conclusion of a marriage ceremony an awkward pause often occurs, when everybody seems to be waiting for somebody else. Some ministers come to the rescue by introducing the bride and groom to the friends present. What is the proper thing to do?

A. In a marriage ceremony in a private house the minister should face the audience, and the persons to be married should face the minister. When has finished the ceremony, he should congratulate the bride and groom, after which they should turn around, and the friends, having seen the minister congratulate them, should have sense enough to follow suit. If the service took place in a church, they should proceed out at once without waiting for congratulations.

Q. If a Sunday-school superintendent withdraws from the church by letter to join another branch of the Methodist Episcopal Church, but still stays superintendent in former society, is he yet a member of the Quarterly Conference, or what is his relation to the same?

A. No person who is not a member of a particular society can be a member of the Quarterly Conference, whatever office he may hold.—Christian Advocate.

One of the most essential preparations for eternity is delight in praising God—a higher acquirement, I do think, than even delight and devotedness in prayers.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

AN APPEAL.

To The People:

The adoption by the Legislature of Louisiana, at its last session, of act No 115, entitled "An act to provide for the comfort of passengers," &c., and better known as the separate car law, is a matter of public notoriety.

While the bill was pending before the General Assembly, the American Citizens' Equal Rights Associations earnestly protested and exerted its influence against its passage.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the reasons adduced then why this law should not have been enacted. All are familiar with them, and feel the degradation the law imposes on American citizenship.

The duty that remains to us to perform is to defeat or render nugatory the operations of this unjust and oppressive law.

To this end the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association will institute a suit to test the constitutionality of the infamous law and maintain the right of American citizens to travel on railroads and public conveyances.

For the successful prosecution of the suit money is needed.

Therefore, to secure the sinews of legal warfare, we appeal to the people generally for aid and assistance.

We appeal specially to ministers of the gospel. We request these emissaries of harmony and good-will among men to read this address from their pulpits and make its subject-matter a text for their sermons, in order to arouse the people to the sense of their patriotic duty in the premises.

We appeal to the presidents, officers and members of the associations, benevolent and charitable, educational, labor and others, in New Orleans and elsewhere, to introduce the matter into their assemblies and make it a subject of their deliberations, to the end that their organizations may, collectively, tender us their help.

We appeal to the leaders of men to propagate the idea among their followers, to enlist their interest and support in the cause.

Realizing the influence of the gentle sex and their zeal and earnestness in and devotion to the cause of right and justice, we appeal to the loyal women of the country to give us their invaluable aid. Let them talk the subject to the men in their social assemblies, church meetings, and other gatherings, and thus induce the latter to send their contributions singly; or, still better, organize circles to raise funds for the end proposed by entertainments, festivals, &c.

We appeal to those molders of public opinion, the newspapers of the United States—the loyal press—to publish this appeal and make its object the subject of their approving comments and criticisms in order to create and maintain a public sentiment, from which the needed aid will readily flow. We request all newspapers in sympathy with the cause to act as agents of this Association to receive contributions from the good people of their localities, to be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

Finally as the favorable issue of the suit will redound to the everlasting benefit of all, we appeal to the lovers of fair play and justice throughout this broad land for their encouragement, material aid and assistance.

We will employ the very best legal talent that the country affords. We know that the amount required will be large, but it can be easily raised by dime and nickel contributions.

Let all send in their mite. As soon as the necessary amount will have been secured, we will inform the people and cease the collection.

Conscious of the justice of our cause, and supported by a loyal people, we will not desist from our course until this infamous law which is a continual menace to the peace of society, a standing insult to us, our wives, mothers and sisters, and which threatens to be a badge of inferiority to our posterity, is nullified, and we have created such a sentiment that will hereafter prevent any attempt to enforce a similar law or regulation anywhere in this free country of ours.

A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., President American Citizens' Equal Rights Association of Louisiana.

JOHN L. MINOR, Secretary.

N. B.—Send all contributions to J. T. Newman, M. D., Treasurer of the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association, corner Canal, and Marais streets, New Orleans, La.

DONALD KENNEDY Of Roxbury, Mass., says

My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because no two people have the same weak spot. Beginning at the stomach it goes searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps it's only a little sediment loosed on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along and you find quick happiness from the first bottle. Perhaps it's a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. The Medical Discovery begins the fight, and you think it pretty hard, but soon you thank me for making something that has reached your weak spot. Write me if you want to know more about it.

"I WILL leave no stone unturned to push the SOUTHWESTERN. I am glad of your position on the woman question, because I think it right. Yours in the great work, H. O. MORRIS, Presiding Elder, Little Rock Conference."

WE make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

THE Sunday School work began by Revs. Davidson, Lyon and Marshall, at Baton Rouge, on the 8th inst., had to be abandoned after they had reached Bayou Goula, on account of the heavy rains and the flooded condition of the country. All appointments made by them are therefore postponed indefinitely.

WE desire to commend to our readers the Crescent Insurance Company of this city for the promptness and fairness with which they transact their business. On Sunday morning, February 8, a house owned by Dr. Albert, and insured in this company, was destroyed by fire. Within twenty-four hours after the fact was reported to the company, they had inspected the loss, and made a full and satisfactory settlement of the same. Mr. W. R. Lynau, the president, Mr. Rice, the secretary, and all the employees of the concern are high-toned courteous gentlemen, and our people would do well to call upon them when in need of insurance. Their office is at the corner of Camp and Commercial Alley New Orleans.

THE report circulated to the effect that Bishop Newman, during his visit down here, "criticized the colored ministers as impure and immoral" is the basest slander and misrepresentation. The Bishop rather took high grounds in defense of the race, and paid such a high tribute to its progress and future as to excite the gratitude and admiration of all who heard him. Whoever reports to the contrary, whether layman or Bishop (Grant of the A. M. E. Church) must be inspired by the Father of Lies. Indeed, Bishop Newman never lost an opportunity to stamp the criticisms of Prof. Washington and Bishop Payne as the basest slander against the race. He did so at every conference held in this section.

Upper Mississippi Conference.

This conference assembled for its first session, after the division of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the state into two conferences, Feb. 5, 1891, at Holly Springs, Bishop E. G. Andrews, of New York, presiding.

The opening religious services were conducted by Rev. S. H. Nevils, after which the bishop, assisted by the presiding elders, administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Rev. J. L. Wilson was elected secretary, and he chose for his assistants L. F. White, and W. E. Maske. F. H. Buntion was elected statistical secretary, and he chose J. C. W. Pair and T. W. Davis, assistants.

R. Sewell was elected conference treasurer, and he chose J. W. Davis, S. H. Nevils, and M. Adams, assistants.

Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D. D., whose presence at our conference is always appreciated, was introduced. He called attention to the SOUTHWESTERN. Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D. D., corresponding secretary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society was introduced, also Rev. J. H. Mansfield, D. D., of the New England Conference. Aberdeen District was reported by J. C. Eckles, its Presiding Elder. The report showed much prosperity.

The bishop announced that the conference was authorized to draw upon the Chartered Fund for $30, and upon the Book Concern for $277. On motion the amounts were ordered to be drawn.

Revs. J. M. Shumpert, J. C. Houston, S. A. Cowan, B. L. Crump, and A. M. Trotter of the Mississippi Conference were introduced.

In accordance with the action of the last session of the Mississippi Conference before division, Rev. S. A. Cowan was requested to pay over one half of the fund in his possession for Conference Claimants to R. Sewell, our conference treasurer.

At this point conference adjourned until 3 o'clock p. m. Dr. Mansfield pronounced the benediction. The afternoon session opened with M. Adams in the chair.

The pastors of the several charges reported their benevolent collections. Dr. A. E. P. Albert made an interesting and able address upon the current literature of our Church.

SECOND DAY.—Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. R. Sewell.

Rev. C. P. Head, Presiding Elder of Greenville District, made his report. This is a promising field. First class men, well sustained by missionary appropriation are needed to push on the work to success.

Rev. Dr. Revels, Presiding Elder, reported Holly Springs District. The report showed marked progress spiritually and educationally. Yazoo River District was reported by its Presiding Elder, W. McDonald. This district is in a prosperous state.

The time previously appointed to vote upon the question of woman's admission to the General Conference having arrived, the bishop called upon the presiding elders to report the lay vote of the districts, which was as follows:

	FOR.	AGAINST.
Aberdeen District.....	469	1358
Greenville ".....	49	70
Holly Springs ".....	151	448
Yazoo River ".....	611	1089

Ministerial vote for 39, against 23. By order of the conference a commission of the Presiding Elders and R. Sewell was appointed to confer with the commission from the Mississippi Conference in regard to the present conference membership of the superannuated preachers who were of the Mississippi Conference at the time of its division. The same committee was given power to take under consideration the boundary line between the Upper Mississippi and Mississippi Conferences.

G. F. Leatherwood and F. H. Buntion were elected to elder's orders.

J. L. Wilson, J. W. Winbush,

L. W. Mosely, W. S. Leake, Wm. Bell, H. B. Gladney, W. E. Maske, were advanced to deacons of the second class.

D. L. Tnbb, J. M. Walton, D. P. Shaw, W. H. Scott, R. Hays, were continued deacons of the first class. Adjourned. Benediction by the bishop.

THIRD DAY.—The devotional exercises were conducted by F. H. Buntion, after which the bishop took charge.

At his own request W. H. Gatewood was placed on the superannuated list.

The bishop announced the transfer of Rev. L. O. Crowder from the Arkansas Conference.

Rev. Mr. Honnoll of the Methodist Episcopal Church South was introduced.

In answer to the question, Who are the superannuates? The names of Thomas Brown, John Eanes, Miles Procter, Wesley Jones, Gilford Carr, Henry York, and C. E. Gates were announced.

On motion Henry York was made effective. E. C. Conaway, J. M. Thompson, Jacob B. Starkey, J. Louis Smith, George J. Dobson, W. H. Whitlock, Mack McEwen were elected to deacon's orders. The bishop at this point gave an able and impressive address, which will never be forgotten, to the class seeking admission. He spoke of the necessity of knowledge of God and things and wisdom in the use of such knowledge.

M. Thompson, Logan C. McClelland, Frank G. Wilbon, Mack McEwen, and Elias Troupe were admitted to full connection.

Geo. H. Harvey, Sanford D. Troupe, Jacob Stackhouse, William H. Golden, Simon P. Corprew, Henry A. Robinson, and John H. McAllister, were continued on trial.

Rev. H. W. Key of the Tennessee Conference was introduced. W. H. Hitchcock, J. B. Starkey, C. W. Butler, Geo. W. Whitehead, Elmer C. Conway, Grant Orange, were admitted on trial.

The credentials of J. M. Mitchell as an elder of the African Methodist Episcopal Church were recognized and he was admitted on trial. The orders of Napoleon B. Blockman as deacon of the African Methodist Episcopal Church were recognized and he was admitted on trial. Adjourned. Bishop Andrews pronounced the benediction.

SUNDAY.—Love feast opened at 9 a. m., and for an hour and a half every moment was improved. The occasion was one of great refreshing from the Lord.

The sermon of the morning was by Bishop Andrews from Mark ii, 22, and was all that we expected, being of unusual ability and power, after which those who had been elected to deacon's orders were ordained.

In the afternoon J. L. Wilson of Columbus preached the annual missionary sermon, which was followed by the ordination of those elected to elder's orders.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Key of Tennessee Conference preached. The whole day's services were well calculated to uplift and bless the church and people.

FOURTH DAY.—Conference convened at 8 o'clock, Bishop E. G. Andrews in the chair. Prayer by J. W. Winbush.

Presiding Elder Dr. Revels gave a report of Rust University, representing it in its work to be in advance of any of its past history.

The conference voted to accept the invitation extended by Columbus to hold its next session there.

J. C. Coggins was admitted on trial, and W. H. H. Gallion was readmitted.

The orders of Thomas Kohlheim, deacon of the Colored M. E. Church were recognized.

The several committees made their reports, which were adopted.

On motion a board of conference stewards for another year was elected, consisting of H. Cawthorn, S. H. Nevils, M. Adams, L. O. McClelland, J. W. Parke, and J. M. Nevils. This committee is to look after the condition and real needs of all applicants for help from the Conference Claimant's Fund.

It was voted to make an extraordinary effort to raise means to meet the demands of Conference Claimants.

The bishop read a scripture lesson commenting beautifully and effectively thereupon, and then led in prayer. This was followed by an address upon "ministerial work," after which the appointments were made.

Central Alabama Conference.

The fifteenth session of the Central Alabama Annual Conference convened at Mariou, Ala., Thursday, Jan. 29, 1891 at 9 a. m., with Bishop Edward G. Andrews, D. D., in the chair. The bishop conducted the opening religious exercises by reading and expounding Phillipians 3rd ch., and II Tim., 2nd ch. The Conference sang with great spirit and fervor the 77th hymn, after which the Bishop led in prayer. On assuming the chair Bishop Andrews addressed the conference with fatherly tenderness and devotion as he recalled the many changes which had taken place since he had presided over the conference some seven or eight years before. The roll call by A. W. McKinney, the secretary of the last conference, showed nearly all the members present. The following officers were elected: A. N. Jackson, secretary, with F. L. Teague and G. W. Mann, assistants; W. H. Nelson, statistical secretary, with E. M. Jones, T. C. Levert, E. B. McConley, A. S. Williams, M. M. McKinney, O. Nelson and S. B. Henderson, assistants; H. Matthews, conference treasurer, with A. S. Williams as assistant. The usual committees were appointed upon the nomination of the Presiding Elders. In addition to the Presiding Elders, the following were appointed on the committee on missions, viz. M. M. McKinney, W. H. Nelson, T. P. Phillips, G. W. Winn, and S. B. Henderson.

The Book Concern accounts were placed in the hands of O. Nelson for collection, A. W. McKinney was appointed railroad secretary. The following transfers were announced; Thos. M. Joiner from the North Carolina and A. S. Williams from the Mississippi Conferences to the Central Alabama. The Rev. C. H. Payne, D. D., corresponding secretary of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church was introduced, and he and Prof. A. W. McKinney addressed the conference with remarkable effect.

The conference apportioned to the several districts and the charges the $70 which it was requested to raise to defray the expenses of the Ecumenical conference. The bishop presented and the conference ordered a draft of $30 on the Chartered Fund and one of $40 on the Book Concern. Dividend. Important documents from Gammon Theological Seminary, the treasurer of the Episcopal Fund, the Book Committee, Board of Conference Claimants, Sunday School Union and Tract Society and other official sources were referred to appropriate committees.

The Rev. Mr. Sellers of the M. E. Church South, was introduced. A. C. Comer was given a supernumerary relation and requested to locate next year. The relation of Frank Wethers was changed and he was made effective. The following were given or continued in supernumerary relation, viz. H. W. Comer, Lewis Hysler, O. R. Franklin, and Geo. Miller. The twentieth question was taken up and Israel Townsend, Presiding Elder of the Birmingham District reported his work and his character passed. Benediction by Rev. C. H. Payne.

SECOND DAY.—Devotional exercises by Rev. A. Nicholls. Rev. Dr. Hickman, president of Clark University was introduced, and addressed the conference in behalf of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society in general and in behalf of Clark University, in particular. His address will no doubt greatly advance the cause of both, and insure the grandest jubilee for the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society throughout the conference. Revs. T. M. Joiner and A. S. Williams, transfers, were introduced. The sum of $153 was apportioned for the Episcopal Fund. The examination of characters was resumed and the following reported, and their character passed; Birmingham District; A. Nichols, E. B. McCauley, N. H. Spleight, W. Coleman, S. Roy, and H. D. Byrd. The case of J. Ellis, (absent) was referred to the Presiding Elder, for investigation.

W. F. Smith, Presiding Elder of the Dadeville District reported his work and his character passed, as did also the following on the district; A. N. Jackson, H. Matthews, Geo. McLeMore, S. J. Robinson, A. S. Williams, James Yarnell, W. H. Nelson, and B. Jackson. N. Snoddy was given a supernumerary relation, and D. R. Matthews, (absent) was given supernumerary relations. Wesley Prettyman, of the Huntsville District reported his work and his character passed, as did also the following: F. J. Brown, Wm. Perry, O. Nelson, C. Miller, J. Harper, T. J. Evans, G. W. Winn, T. J. Jackson D. B. Lewis had left his work.

Cain Rogers of the Montgomery District reported his work and his character passed, as did the following on the district; Z. T. Pearsoll S. B. Henderson, and G. W. Mann. The following were advanced to the second class of deacons, viz. P. G. Goins, F. L. Teague, and L. H. Nixon. L. W. Goodson was continued in the first class, and T. S. McMorris was located. The Presiding Elders reported the result of the vote on the admission of women in the General Conference as follows:

	FOR.	AGAINST.
Dadeville District.....	104	540
Huntsville ".....	151	218
Birmingham ".....	125	1026
Marion ".....	58	316
Montgomery ".....	62	200

The vote of the conference was for admission 16, against 30. Rev. Messrs. Larkin of the Congregational, and Key of the O. M. E. Churches were introduced. Benediction by Rev. O. R. Franklin.

THIRD DAY.—Rev. T. J. English led the devotional exercises. Rev. Drs. W. L. Davidson, agent of the S. S. Union, W. A. Spencer assistant corresponding secretary of the Board of Church Extension and A. E. P. Albert, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN were introduced, and they addressed the conference. The following remain on trial, viz. Wm. A. Bowers, (absent) G. W. Reeves, S. H. Veil, and J. H. Scoles continued in first year, and left without appointment to attend school. A. R. Spencer and J. O. Russell were discontinued. The following were also continued in the first years studies, T. J. English, R. H. Fleming, E. Frazier, A. C. Carter, G. R. Rogers, N. H. Redrick, David Richardson, Isaiah Perry, and G. G. Taggle. After a very impressive address from the bishop, Edward M. Jones was admitted into full connection.

J. C. Sammons and B. J. Smith, (absent) were continued and left without appointments to attend one of our schools. L. W. Hill and John W. Lewis were also continued on trial.

The following traveling deacons were elected to elder's orders; Tony C. Levert, Robin Carter, and Wm. H. Bonds. The following were continued in the second class of deacons; Thos. P. Phillips, Haywood Adams, Lewis Drake, John T. Williams, and Ambrose C. Comer. The case of Thos. H. Ham was referred to the Presiding Elder for trial. The following local preachers were elected deacons: Riley H. Flemings, James W. Paul, Augustus G. Glenn, Geo. W. White, and Thos. J. English. Bishop Foss was requested to furnish Cato Matthews's duplicate credentials in place of originals which were lost. The following class was admitted on trial; James W. Paul, Augustus G. Glenn, Wm. Leewood, Wm. H. Jordan. Benediction by Dr. W. L. Davidson.

CONFERENCE SABBATH.—Was filled with good things. At 9 a. m. a love feast which filled every one with the holiest aspirations was led by Rev. A. W. McKinney. At 11 a. m. Bishop Andrews preached with great power to an overflowing congregation, which caught and treasured his words of comfort and joy which he delivered, with the greatest devotion, after which those elected to deacon's orders were ordained. At 3 p. m. Dr. W. A. Spencer displayed the already ripened harvest, to a vast multitude with great power, after which those elected to elder's orders were ordained. At 7:30 p. m. Dr. Albert preached to a house that was literally packed. The Lord was with the church and conference, and the Sabbath was a day of fat things never to be forgotten. Nearly all the white and colored churches of the city had their pulpits filled by ministers from the conference.

FIFTH DAY.—Huntsville was selected as the seat of next conference. The transfer of A. B. Allen from the Savannah Conference was announced. The conference resolved to hold all examinations hereafter on the day preceding the sitting of the Annual Conference. After considerable discussion it was decided to have all candidates pursue the regular traveling preacher's course of studies as laid down in the Discipline.

Achie D. Crowell from the A. M. E. Church was admitted on trial and his orders as a deacon recognized. The orders of G. W. Smith, an elder, from the A. M. E. Zion Church were recognized as a local elder. The credentials of Wm. Leewood were restored to him. B. D. Lewis was granted a license. John T. Williams was requested to locate at the next conference. The treasurer's report showed that $1,021.40 had been collected for the several benevolent causes. The report on periodicals which was adopted by a rising vote pledged the most herculean efforts to circulate the SOUTHWESTERN, the House of Bondage and the Colored Man in the M. E. Church in every home. Strong and emphatic reports were also adopted touching the interests of Huntsville Academy, and the several benevolent causes. The following are the appointments:

Notes From the Central Alabama Conference.

Dr. C. H. Payne always receives a warm reception among our brethren in the South. His reception at this conference was specially so.

The missionary sermon by Rev. A. N. Jackson was soul reviving.

This conference is one of great moral and intellectual strength. May God ever bless and own it for his glory; and keep it always fervently consecrated, and strong, in all humility.

Gammon is well and worthily represented here. There are Revs. H. N. Brown, J. S. Todd, T. C. Le Vert, W. H. Nelson, A. S. Williams, E. M. Jones, and others here who are reflecting credit on that Institution; besides these Prof. A. W. and M. M. McKinney, N. H. Speight, Mixon, Teague and others, together with their strong Presiding Elders who are reflecting great credit on our work.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past 30 years, and am satisfied I should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed."

HAVE you read Dr. Haygood's Colored Man in the M. E. Church? If you have not, you can have no true idea of the history of the colored man in the M. E. Church. Send for a copy from this office. Price only $1.25.

Something New.

Beginning with next week's issue, we will introduce several improvements in the make-up of our paper. Among them will be a department of Homiletics, wherein we will give our readers every week short sermons, sermon sketches, and outlines, prepared by some of the finest theologians of this age, and by the students and professors of Gammon Theological Seminary; a department of sciences, and many other improvements, which will greatly please our readers. Circulate the paper, and let everybody enjoy it.

Political Review.

Senatorial deadlocks continue in the States of Illinois and South Dakota.

Considerable effort is being made to reconcile all differences between Gov. Hill and Ex-President Cleveland, both being candidates for the Democratic nomination in '92—neither of whom can gain an election without the aid of the other. This is a wise move on the part of the Democracy, but not yet wholly successful. Henry Watterson has "put his foot in it" by writing a letter to Gov. Hill which was published before Hill received it, whereat the Governor got mad. To further add to the Democratic dilemma, Cleveland has written a letter strongly condemning the free coinage of silver which is a pet scheme of the Democratic party.

The Democrats realize that they have a big job on hand to defeat the Republicans in the next campaign, but their efforts to close up their ranks and heal all heartburnings are commendable. They will have the advantage of their recent victories in Congress, and whatever schisms there may be in the country, by way of third or independent party movements. Be it remembered that they have never won a victory since the war without the aid of such movements.

Appropriations and the routine work of Congress is progressing fairly well.

Personal.

—Rev. R. C. Barrow is at Pontchaton, La.

—Rev. B. J. Griffin desires all correspondence addressed to him at Morrilton, Ark.

—Correspondents are requested to address Rev. W. H. Morris at Little Rock, Ark.

—Correspondents may address Rev. D. D. Goodwin, at Carey, Miss.

—The appointment of A. Handy Summitt, Miss., was inadvertently omitted.

—Correspondents of Rev. O. H. Flowers may address him at Pearlinton, Miss.

—Bronham, Texas, is the address of Rev. A. Taylor.

—Correspondents please address Rev. S. Green at Robeline, La., P. O. Box, 26.

—J. R. Williams, of Shreveport, writes an appreciative letter concerning the work of Rev. A. McClocklin, on the Fairmount circuit. The people parted with him regretfully, yet warmly welcomed Rev. Braxton Bolden, the new pastor. —Chas. R. Magee, manager of the Boston Depository, made us a pleasant call with Bishop Mallie on Monday.

—After the absence of a month, the editor and Mrs. Albert have returned. They are now living at their residence, 1956 St. Charles Avenue, where they will be glad to welcome their friends.

"Alas, Alas!" the duke exclaims, "in my slender ankle I've got pains." "Don't fret," said his majesty, "I have some Salvation Oil."

Obituary.

The only daughter of Rev. J. Jackson, Pathaue A. Jackson, died Jan. 13, aged four years, ten months and nine days. For six months her suffering was very great, but she bore it patiently. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved parents, who have lost five girls and four boys.

Shubuta, Miss., Feb. 3d, 1891.—Sister Mary Jane Ivy, joined the M. E. Church at Shubuta three years ago, and lived a faithful Christian until her death. Her last words were, "Lord have mercy on me!" The church has lost a friend. She was a dutiful wife and a kind mother. Our heart pains, but Jesus smiles, and Heaven rejoices as she shouts her way to rest. A. J. McNair, P. C.

Bro. Hampton Morgan, departed this life Tuesday, Feb. 3d, aged 80 years, leaving a wife and seven children to mourn him. Bro. Morgan was converted in Nov. '89, and lived a faithful member. His last words were, "All is well."

Rev. L. Burton, Brazoria circuit, Texas.

Sister Agnes Wahlen died Feb. 6th. She was perfectly resigned. She died of consumption. She leaves a husband, mother and six children to mourn her. J. W. Davis, P. C., Yazoo City, Miss.

Bro. Nathan Austin died Jan. 25. He had been afflicted a long time. He was a soldier in the late war, where he contracted his disease. He was a faithful member of the Lynch Chapel. Before his death he called his wife and son to his bedside and told them what he had to say, and then gave up, and now he sleeps the sleep of death. He leaves a wife and son and a daughter to mourn him. C. H. Johnson, Vicksburg, Miss.

Sister Lucy Brown, wife of John Brown, of Schulenburg, Texas, is dead. (No date given.) She had been a steward in the church and a faithful worker since 1879. She was the mother of eight children—four of whom live to mourn.

Nelson Davis, P. C., attended her funeral.

Mrs. Emiline Jackson was born Dec. 25, 1855, at San Felipe, Texas, and died at Palestine, Texas, Jan. 27th, 1891—aged 34 years and 33 days. She leaves a husband and many friends to mourn her.

W. Wesley, P. E.

Secretary Window.

The sudden death of Secretary Window profoundly impressed the country; and yet such a death immediate and painless, just as wise views of a great and pressing public question had been ably expressed, with a touching tone of timely warning, must be regarded for the dead as an euthanasia, although for the living the shock is tragical. The views of a Secretary of the Treasury, at a time when financial questions of the kind that now engage public attention are pending, could not be expected to be universally approved. Especially upon the subject of free silver coinage he could not hold and express sound views without arousing the "free silver" opposition.

But there was universal confidence in the ability and fairness and high integrity of Secretary Windom. He was a man of great public experience and conservative moderation of temperament. His mind was hospitable to new ideas, but it was not erratic or unwisely impulsive. His official discretion was great, and his death at this moment is a serious public loss.—Harper's Weekly.

"Our Work in the South."

BY D. STEVENSON, D. D.

A pamphlet has fallen into my hands with this title, which I have been informed was circulated among the members of the Missionary Committee at the meeting of the Committee in Boston.

The latter part of the pamphlet consists of tables purporting to show the "missionary collections and expenditures," etc., in connection with the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the South for the last twenty-five years. The former part is an explanation of the tables. No name is signed to the pamphlet, and it contains no explanation of the object or the motive of its preparation. The reader is left to draw his own inferences from the array of figures which it presents.

Agassiz, on a certain occasion, in speaking of a certain book to which his attention had been called, said that he objected to it because it was simply declarative and not comparative in its presentation of facts.

Even if the figures in the pamphlet in question were all accepted as entirely correct, an objection would lie against it for the reason that, when all the fields of missionary work were to be considered and passed upon, this production appeared, separating the work of the church in the South from the work in all other parts of the world, and by its tabulations tending to leave the impression that the appropriations to this work had been very large for the progress of the work and the returns in the way of missionary collections. And that such an impression as this must have been produced upon the minds of some of the members of the committee seems to be evidenced by the fact of diminished appropriations to certain parts of this work.

I have no means at hand of knowing whether the figures claiming to give the appropriations to this work are correct or not. Concerning those claiming to give the number of members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the South, I have no hesitancy in saying that they are too low, and that I believe they are too low by 61,914.

Agreeably to the statistics to which I have had access, we have in the South at the present time 253,652 white, and 227,572 colored, members, making a total of nearly as many as one-half the entire membership of the Church South in all its fields of labor.

Twenty-five years ago, when the forward movement of the church in a southward direction began, there were 74,474 white and 29,664 colored members on what had been slave territory. The increase from that time to the present has been greater than any one could have had reasons to expect it would be. Of white members it has been 179,178, and of colored 196,908, making a total of 377,086.

Let us compare the progress of the church at other times and in other fields of labor with this. In 1739 the corner-stone of the first Methodist chapel in the world was laid at Bristol, England. At the end of twenty-five years from that time the number of Methodists in Great Britain was thought to be large when it was found to be 25,000, and at the end of fifty years, when it had increased to 133,000 the fact was deemed to be worthy of much thankfulness to God. But this number, as large as it seemed then, is only a little more than one-third as great as the increase of membership in the South in twenty-five years.

Methodist societies began to be organized in America in 1766. At the end of twenty-five years from that time the establishment of societies in this country was thought to have made wonderful progress when the whole number of members enrolled amounted to 76,153; and the progress was thought to have been yet more wonderful relatively, when at the end of fifty years the number of members enrolled amounted to 211,165.

In 1790 Jesse Lee entered New England. At the end of twenty-five years from this date the number of Methodists in all the New England States amounted to no more than 11,974. At the end of fifty years it had grown to no more than 65,204. To-day, at the end of a hundred years, though its progress has been steady, it is not equal to the increase of the whites alone in the South in twenty-five years.

The first foreign mission field of the Methodist Episcopal Church was Liberia. The work was begun in this field in 1833, fifty-seven years ago. The whole number of members there to-day is only 2,999.

The work in South America was begun in 1836, fifty-four years ago. The number of members there to-day is only 1,570.

The work in China was begun in 1847, forty-three years ago. The whole number of members in that country to-day is only 5,615.

The work in Germany and Switzerland was begun in 1849, forty-one years ago. The whole number of members in those countries to-day is only 16,716.

The work in Scandinavia was begun in 1853, thirty-seven years ago. The whole number of members in that part of the world to-day is only 6,482.

The work in India was begun in 1856, thirty-four years ago. The whole number of members in that empire to-day is only 12,394.

The work in Bulgaria was begun in 1857, thirty-three years ago. The whole number of members there to-day is less than 200.

But summing up the members in all our foreign mission fields, including those in Italy, Mexico and Korea, we find that we have a total of only 68,798, at the end of fifty-seven years from the time of the establishment of our first mission station in Liberia. This is considerably less than one-fifth of the 377,086 increase in the South in twenty-five years.

Adding to the numbers in the foreign fields those in our Domestic Missions in Arizona, Black Hills, Indian Territory, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming (6,512), and we have a total of only 75,139, the whole number not quite equal to one-fifth of our increase in the South in the time named.

In making these comparisons I have used the term "only" in connection with the numbers denoting the progress of the work in our foreign missions. I have thus seemed to unify the results of our efforts in those fields. But I have designed to do this only relatively, while endeavoring to magnify the results of our efforts in the South. Our efforts in foreign fields have been crowned with marvelous success. But our efforts in the South have been crowned with success far more marvelous.—Central.

GRAY DAYS.

MARY KNAPP.

Some days dawn darkly, and the light is faint,
There seems no object in all life but care;
Friends are untrue, and those who should be kind
Are otherwise. All this is hard to bear.

Such days come into every earthly life,
Some hearts look heavenward and comfort find,
And these are blest. There is no greater peace
Than to be God-inclined.

Where faith comes easily grief will not stay,
But some sad hearts feel God is high and far.
Above the toiling of his children here
He shines like a fair star.

To you, who feel this, think of Christ—
His Son—
The Comforter. Even now he stands
Your weary heart—to take you in his arms—
And thus with you abide!

A few Ways to Cook Oysters.

OYSTER PATTIES.—For twenty-four shells of puff paste allow two cans of oysters and half a pound of butter; mix two spoonfuls of flour with the butter; then melt and add a little salt and pepper, a few capers, a spoonful of chopped parsley and a little juice of the oysters. Mix well together and heat, put in the oysters and let boil one minute. Skim out oysters, beat the yolks of three eggs, mix with a spoonful of cold water and stir into the sauce. Put two or three oysters into each patty and dip sauce over each. Serve hot.—Prof. Pfan's Rule.

OYSTER FRITTERS.—A quart can of good-sized oysters, pour off the liquor and strain; add to it a large cupful of sweet milk, three eggs well beaten and a little salt; then thicken with flour to make a batter; stir in the oysters; have ready a kettle of hot lard or suet; drop in a large spoonful at a time. Have ready a colander to drain them in. Serve while hot.

CREAMED OYSTERS.—Put twenty-five oysters in a double kettle until the gills curl (about ten minutes). Drain and save one cup of the liquor. Put two ounces of good butter into a saucepan. When melted, stir in two spoonfuls of flour; mix without browning; add one egg of cream and the gill of oyster liquor. Stir until it boils; add half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper and salt the oysters; cook one minute and serve. Many people prefer to leave out the oyster liquor and use all cream.—Mrs. Rorer's Rule.

Warmed-over bisquets can hardly be told from new ones if they are set dry in a close pan and covered while re-heating.

Wash matting with soap and water and wipe very dry. Cane bottom chairs may be thus washed and dried in the open air.

Never iron silk with a hot iron, as it takes the stiffness out of it. If necessary to press it, lay the piece of silk between newspapers.

A soothing application for burns is to cover them with the white of an egg. It forms a coating over the injured part and protects it from the external air.

Plush furniture should never be switched in cleaning a room, but use a bristle brush. A small paint brush is desirable, and is also a great help in dusting shutters, etc.

The "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful, is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop McIlhenny, is worth the price of the book.

Our Symposium.

Truth in a Nutshell.

If a colored man steals a hog, commits a rape or murder, or engages in a riot, he at once takes a conspicuous position in the eyes of the whole community, and is regarded with great interest. The court house is thronged when he is tried, and even when he passes along the street in custody of an officer, there is great curiosity to know what he has been doing. Thus the white community is constantly being brought in contact with the offcasts and cutcasts of the colored people, and naturally enough forms its conception of all from the bad conduct of a few. But the refined and pleasant homes, the thousands of benevolent and Christian enterprises that are in constant operation among colored people, the well conducted churches, schools, colleges, societies and other civilizing and humanizing instrumentalities attract almost no attention from the whites, and, consequently, exert almost no influence upon their idea of their progress. It is a misfortune to both races that the white people are so constantly forced to witness and learn of the bad conduct of the saloon-loafers and criminals of the colored race and that they take such pains to keep themselves from witnessing the decent and creditable performances of the intelligent, virtuous and industrious ones. The bugbear of social equality is the cause of this unfortunate condition of things, the white man fearing that he will forfeit his social standing if he returns the salute of a decent respectable colored man, and thinks that he degrades himself by sitting on the same bench, eating at the same table or shaving at the same shop with his brother in black. When the time arrives when white men will have as many opportunities to learn of the good among the colored people as of the bad, this condition of things will change.—Western Appeal.

Why should there be such fierce opposition to importing Chinese laborers—degraded and servile creatures—and so little objection to the Democratic idea of disfranchising and degrading the laboring men of this country, especially the blacks? If the black laborers of the South are beaten down, defrauded of their rights, intimidated and brutalized, the effect upon the intelligent laboring man of the North is the same as if we were afflicted with millions of Chinese.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

By All Odds

The most generally useful medicine is Ayer's Pills. As a remedy for the various diseases of the stomach, liver, and bowels, these pills have no equal. Their sugar-coating causes them not only to be pleasant to take, but preserves their medicinal integrity in all climates and for any reasonable length of time. The best family medicine, Ayer's Pills are, also, unsurpassed for the use of travelers, soldiers, sailors, campers, and pioneers. In some of the most critical cases, when all other remedies have failed, Ayer's Pills prove effective. "In the summer of 1861 I was sent to the Annapolis hospital, suffering with chronic diarrhea. While there, I became so reduced in strength that I could not speak and was compelled to write everything I wanted to say. I was then having some 25 or 30 stools per day. The doctors ordered a medicine that I was satisfied would be of no benefit to me. I did not take it, but purchased Ayer's Pills, about two o'clock in the afternoon I took six of these pills, and by midnight began to feel better. In the morning the doctors came again, and after deciding that my symptoms were more favorable, gave me a different medicine, which I did not use, but took four more of the pills noticed. The next day the doctors came to see me, and thought I was doing nicely, (and so did I). I then took one pill a day for a week. At the end of that time, I considered myself cured and that Ayer's Pills had saved my life. I was then weak, but had no return of the disease, and gained in strength as fast as could be expected."—F. C. Luce, Late Lieut. 60th Regt. Mass. Vol. Infantry.

The Best I have ever used for headaches, and they act like a charm in relieving any disagreeable sensation in the stomach after eating."—Mrs. M. J. Ferguson, Phillips, Va. "I was a sufferer for years from dyspepsia and liver troubles, and found no permanent relief until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills. They have effected a complete cure."—George W. Mooney, Walla Walla, W. T.

KINDNESS TO MOTHER.

I must not tease my mother,
For she is very kind;
And everything she says to me,
I must directly mind.

For when I was a baby,
And could not speak or walk,
She fed me on her bosom,
And taught me how to walk.

I will not choose a noisy play,
Or trifling troubles tell;
But take my seat close by her side,
And try to make her well.

I must not tease my mother,
I've heard dear father say,
When I was in my cradle sick,
She nursed me night and day.

She lays me in her little bed,
She gives me clothes and food—
And I have nothing else to pay
But trying to be good.

—Selected.

Bennie Tur, of Shugualak, Miss., writes a communication urging the importance of an education for our people. All legitimate means and great self-sacrifice should be made to attain it. He cites instances where men have risen from very humble positions to the highest by determined effort. We hope his exhortation will be heeded.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I thought I would write to you, as I have read so many letters from my cousins. My papa is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He takes the SOUTHWESTERN, and I love to read it. My mamma is dead. I go to day school. Prof. D. W. Lester is my teacher. We have a nice Sunday school. A. Riley is superintendent. Prof. Lester is a member of the M. E. Church, and helps in the Sunday school.

Your Niece,
MARY E. McALISTER,
Kellyville, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. I hope it will not reach the waste basket. I am a little girl twelve years old. My mamma is an invalid, and I had to stop school. One of my cousins asked where gold was first mentioned in the Bible. It is in the second chapter of Genesis, 11th verse. I wish to ask a question: In what book of the Bible that I does not mention God's name? I have a goose and a pig. I had the goose two years. I call it the missionary goose. When conference was held here I met the dear editor of the SOUTHWESTERN. Mamma, papa and I belong to the M. E. Church.

Your Niece,
MINNIE OAKLEY,
Lebanon, Tenn.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am 7 years old. Mamma and papa belong to the M. E. Church. They take the SOUTHWESTERN. We have no school this winter. I live in the country. I have a wagon, and I haul wood and chips in it.

Your Nephew,
ARTHUR MARKHAM,
Shreveport, La.

Books and Current Literature.

The February number of Guide to Holiness contains a sermon by Rev. Lewis R. Dunn, D. D., on The Cleansing Efficacy of the Blood of Atonement, and articles from able correspondents. The Departments, Bible Study, (the International Lessons from the standpoint of holiness), Holiness at Home, The Tuesday Meeting, Social Meeting, Inquiry Room, Helps to Christian Devotion, Guide Hymnal, Editor's Study, etc., are filled with appropriate matter. The magazine, 32 pages, is issued monthly, printed in clear type, on good paper, at One Dollar per year, postage included. To ministers, sixty cents. Palmer & Hughes, 62 Bible House N. Y.

A very successful tablean entertainment was recently given in New York, the subject being taken from illustrations in the current magazines. The idea is a simple one, and if the subjects are well chosen it can be made very interesting. The Century Company has prepared a list of suitable pictures with suggestions for any one who wishes to get up the entertainment. They will send it free on request.

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile up in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1 50, cash; otherwise, $2.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Not by might, not by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts. Zech. 4. 6.

LESSON HYMN. C. P. M.

Lord, if thou didst thyself inspire Our souls with intense desire Thy goodness to proclaim; Thy glory if we now intend, O let our deeds begin and end Complete in Jesus' name.

O let our love and faith abound; O let our lives, to all around, With purest luster shine; That all around our works may see, And give the glory, Lord, to thee, The heavenly light divine.

Time.—B. C. 896. Following closely the incidents of the last lesson.

Places.—The Jordan and Jericho.

Rulers.—Same as before.

Connecting Links.—This lesson contains the second part of the story begun in the lesson studied last Sunday.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. A Prophetic Token, v. 12-24. What did Elisha say when Elijah disappeared? When and where was Elisha again seen? See Matt. 17. 3. What did Elisha do in token of grief?

What did he have that belonged to Elijah? What did he do with the mantle? What question did he ask? What was the result of smiting the waters?

What Christian grace did he show in this act? 2. The Prophetic Spirit, v. 15-18. What did sons of the prophets say about Elisha? How did they show him honor? What request did they make about Elisha? What was Elisha's reply? Why did he at length yield to their request?

How long did they search, and with what result? Where did Elisha wait for them? What did he say to them?

3. Prophetic Power, v. 19-22. What did the men of Jericho say about the city? What did Elisha bid them do? What use did he make of the salt? What did he say?

What was the result of his acts and words? When before had waters been sweetened? See Exod. 15. 25. How was this miracle wrought? Golden Text.

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That God answers prayer? 2. That God rewards fidelity in his service? 3. That God gives power to his servants?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

How many times in Bible history were flowing waters divided so as to form a passage across? By what miracle did the Lord Jesus change the nature of water.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school]

1. What did Elisha receive when his master was taken to heaven? The mantle of Elijah.

2. What did he do with it? He smote the waters of the Jordan.

3. What happened to the waters? They parted hither and thither.

4. From what did the pleasant city of Jericho suffer? From bad water.

5. What did Elisha do? Cast salt into the spring.

6. What did God then do? Heated the waters so they did no more harm.

EXPLANATIONS.

Chariot. horsemen — With Elijah vanishes the strongest earthly support of the nation. He had done more for Israel than all her warriors. Rent them—Renting clothes was a symbol of acute grief. The mantle of Elijah—Elisha must have taken this up with a thrill of triumph, for it meant to him the answer to his prayer. Smote the waters—He used the mantle not as a wonder-working rod, but as an emblem of divine power, for as he smote he cried out to God. Bowed themselves—In the East men are more formal and ceremonious than here; this bowing was a recognition of Elisha's eminence. Seek thy master—Search for the corpse of the prophet, who seemed to have been destroyed by the cyclone they had just witnessed. He was ashamed—He was driven from his sensible position by their foolish importunity. Naught—An Old-English word meaning bad, like our "naughty." The water was unhealthful, perhaps poisonous. The ground barren—The result, evidently, of the water, which caused infertility. A new cruse—A vessel never used before; chosen as an emblem of purity.

Doctrinal Suggestion.—The indwelling Spirit.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

22. How did God make man's soul? God "breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and man became a living soul." Gen. 2. 7.

23. How do the soul and body differ? The body is material and mortal, the soul is spiritual and immortal.

24. Was man created good? He was; God created man in his own image. Gen. 1. 27.

"The eyes of other people are the eyes that ruin us," but if your eyes are weak and sore from catarrh. Old Sam's Catarrh Cure will relieve you.

MELLIN'S FOOD IS NOT ONLY WELL-BORNE by the enfeebled or irritable stomach, but it will give tone to the digestive organs. Dyspeptics will obtain much relief from its use. "Mellin's Food seems to satisfy my appetite better than anything I can take" says a sufferer from this distressing complaint.

BRO. J. C. HIBBLER, pastor at Vicksburg shows commendable zeal and gives a good example for others to follow. Feb. 12, 1891 writes:—"I hope to be able to send in several subscribers during the year. We began revival last Sabbath, and last night had four conversions."

WILBORS COMPOUND OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND PHOSPHATES OF LIME, SODA, IRON.

For the Cure of Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Debility, Wasting Diseases and Scrofulous Humors.

Almost as palatable as cream. It can be taken with pleasure by delicate persons and children, who, after using it, are very fond of it. It assimilates with the food, increases the flesh and appetite, builds up the nervous system, restores energy to mind and body, creates new, rich and pure blood, in fact, rejuvenates the whole system.

FLESH, BLOOD, NERVE, BRAIN.

This preparation is far superior to all other preparations of Cod Liver Oil. It has many initiators, but no equals. The results following its use are its best recommendations. Be sure as you value your health, get the genuine. Manufactured only by DR. ALEX. B. WILBORS, Chemist, Boston, Mass. Sold by all Druggists.

OVERMAN'S SPECIFIC OXYGEN

A Home Treatment for Diseases of Head, Throat and Lungs.

SPECIFIC OXYGEN is the only Medicated Oxygen in use. It contains a Germicide and Disinfectant which kills the microbes or germs, and disinfects the membranes in the Head, Throat and Lungs. It quiets cough. It softens the phlegm and breaks the lungs. It purifies the blood.

"IT IS THE BREATH OF LIFE."

It is a Natural Narcotic, giving rest and sleep by revitalizing the prostrated nerves, instead of narcotizing or paralyzing them.

SPECIFIC OXYGEN is a natural and delicate stimulant, breathing with nature's effort to throw off disease. Separate Specific used in Catarrh and Hay Fever.

"IT IS NATURE'S OWN REMEDY."

For the Relief of Nasal Catarrh, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Asthma, LaGrippe, Catarrhal Deafness, and Nervous Prostration.

It is a Home Cure for Throat and Lung Diseases. We do not claim that it will cure every case, but we do say it will cure a larger majority of them than any other treatment extant. It is endorsed by physicians.

By permission we refer to the following well-known persons of our city who have used SPECIFIC OXYGEN:

Rev. M. B. DeWitt, D.D., editor "Cumberland Presbyterian Review."
Rev. C. S. Gardner, Pastor Edgely Baptist Church.
Rev. J. W. Stagg, Pastor Second Presbyterian Church.
Rev. Lewis Powell, Pastor Elm Street Church.

Children always Enjoy It.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

of pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda is almost as palatable as milk.

Children enjoy it rather than otherwise. A MARVELOUS FLESH PRODUCER. It is indeed, and the little leeds and laeels who take cold easily, may be fortified against a cough that might prove serious, by taking Scott's Emulsion after their meals during the winter season.

Beware of substitutions and imitations.

The General Book Committee.

The annual meeting of the General conference Book Committee, began its session in Cincinnati, Ohio, Wednesday, Feb. 10. The day before were held the preliminary meetings of the two sections, East and West, E. W. Tuttle presiding over the former, and Dr. W. F. Whitlock over the latter. In these were considered the respective interests of the two Book Concerns at New York and Cincinnati, including the reports of the local committees.

At ten o'clock, Wednesday, the full committee was called to order by president Amos Shinkle. After devotional exercises by Bishop Andrews, Dr. G. S. Chadbourne, secretary, called the roll, and the following answered to their names: G. S. Chadbourne, New England Conference; L. C. Queal, Central New York; M. H. Moore, Erie; W. F. Whitlock, Central Ohio; E. W. S. Peck, Washington; Clem Studebaker, Northwest Indiana; C. G. Truesdell, Rock River; T. McK. Stuart, Des Moines; N. A. Chamberlain, Colorado; I. B. Scott, Texas; W. H. Webster, Illinois; C. A. Loeber, Chicago German; W. S. Harrington, Oregon; Ezra B. Tuttle, R. A. W. Bruehl, Richard Dymond, of the local committees.

The president announced the committees: On report of Eastern Agents, C. G. Truesdell, L. C. Queal, R. A. W. Bruehl; on Report of Western Agents, E. B. Tuttle, W. H. Webster, G. S. Chadbourne; on Salaries, T. McKendree Stuart, E. W. S. Peck, N. A. Chamberlain; on Depositories, C. Studebaker, C. A. Loeber, H. H. Moore; on Periodicals, R. Dymond, W. F. Whitlock, I. B. Scott; on Estimate for the Support of Bishops, H. H. Moore, C. A. Loeber, G. S. Chadbourne; on Report to Annual Conferences, L. C. Queal, T. McKendree Stuart, N. A. Chamberlain; on Credits, C. A. Loeber, R. A. W. Bruehl, I. B. Scott; on Discounts, W. F. Whitlock, N. A. Chamberlain, E. B. Tuttle; on Real Estate, E. W. S. Peck, C. G. Truesdell, W. S. Harrington; on Dividends, W. S. Harrington, R. Dymond, H. H. Moore; Miscellaneous, R. A. W. Bruehl, C. Studebaker, I. B. Scott; on Expenses to General Conferences, W. H. Webster, G. S. Chadbourne, L. C. Queal; Special Committee on General C. B. Fisk, E. B. Tuttle, L. C. Queal, R. Dymond.

The reports of the Agents and of the Local Committees were presented and properly referred. A special committee was named on the distribution of the dividends to the Annual Conferences, a difference having arisen between the Agents and the Board of Conference Claimants as to which has the right to distribute the dividend, viz:

L. C. Queal, G. S. Chadbourne, C. G. Truesdell, C. A. Loeber, Clem Studebaker.

Reports of the editors of the Review, Western, Central, Pittsburg, Haus und Herd, Apologist, Northern, Methodist Advocate and Epworth Herald were presented and referred to the Committee on Periodicals.

These reports indicated continued prosperity.

The committee on the Methodist Advocate reported their management of that paper ad interim, and the report was adopted.

Special Committees on the death of General Fisk and Dr. Krehbiel, assistant editor Apologist, were appointed: Brethren Bruehl, Loeber, Dymond.

Judge E. L. Fancher was unanimously elected a member of the Eastern Local Committee, vice General Fisk, deceased.

On motion, New York was chosen as place of next meeting.

THURSDAY.

Bishop Andrews, who was present yesterday, went home last night, and the bishops present to day are Bishops Walden, Merrill and Joyce.

Dr. Hurlbut reported for our nine Sunday-school publications. Increased circulation in each. The Sunday-school Journal is now the largest magazine for Sunday-schools in existence.

E. B. Tuttle reported on the reports of the Western Agents and Local Committee at Cincinnati. We quote a few paragraphs:

"It is gratifying to note the fact that the transactions of eleven months almost equal the record of the full year preceding, showing most conclusively that the same untiring energy which has heretofore characterized the Western House has not abated."

"We regret the loss of $5,434 on the Epworth Herald as small, compared to the loss usually sustained in the starting of a new paper, and believe its rapid increase in circulation will soon put it on a paying basis."

T. McK. Stuart presented the report on salaries. The rates of last year were maintained; except $500 each was added to allowance for house-rent for the bishops residing in Chicago, Washington, and Boston.

Dr. Edwards reported for the Northeastern, Dr. Buckley for the New York Advocate, and Dr. Albert (letter) for the SOUTHWESTERN, New Orleans.

Hon. Clem Studebaker reported for Committee on Depositories. All show profits, except San Francisco. Committee recommended discontinuance of all that do not pay.

Dr. H. H. Moore, for Committee on Estimate for Support of Bishops, recommended $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent on every one hundred dollars received for ministerial support in each conference exclusive of missionary appropriations.

Dr. E. W. S. Peck reported for Committee on Real Estate. Total increase of real estate, $110,077.23. Total real estate values, $1,209,949.82. The purchase of the new property in St. Louis was approved. The proposition of the Western Agents to improve the property on Plum and Home streets, Cincinnati, to supply the apparent necessity in the want of room and other additions for the management of business, was approved the cost not to exceed $100,000.

The following report on the death of General Fisk was adopted:

GENERAL CLINTON B. FISK.

Was no ordinary man. He was endowed by nature with gifts which distinguished him in every department of work to which he gave his time and attention. As a public speaker he stood in the front rank, even among those whose professions called them into public life. In the service of his country he rose from the command of a regiment to the rank of a general. As a member of the Board of Managers of the Missionary Society he was active and efficient. He was a member of four General Conferences, and at two sessions was chairman of the Committee on the Book Concern. He became a member of the Book Committee in 1880, and remained a member until his death. He was chairman of the commission appointed to secure property for the new building in New York, and made one of the addresses at its dedication. As a member of the Building Committee he was active, sagacious, and helpful. In our annual sessions he was a leading member, and his services were recognized as of superior value. He was honored by the whole church, and his loss is deeply felt. He died in the midst of his usefulness, and his memory will be cherished with honor and satisfaction.

E. B. TUTTLE,
L. C. QUEAL,
R. DYMOND.

This action was taken on the death of Dr. Krehbiel:

Report of the Committee "On the Death of Rev. Jacob Krehbiel, D. D."

Whereas, In the providence of God, Rev. Dr. Jacob Krehbiel, for fourteen years assistant editor of the Christliche Apologete, was called to his heavenly reward, July 19, 1890,—

Resolved, That in his death we mourn the loss of a devoted follower of Jesus Christ, and a faithful and efficient servant of the church, who was worthy of the high esteem of those who knew him.

Resolved, That we hereby express our sincere sympathy for his bereaved wife and family, and request the secretary to forward a copy of this minute to them.

R. A. W. BRUEHL,
C. A. LOEBER,
RICHARD DYMOND.

Dr. Truesdell reported for Committee on the New York Book Concern, highly commending the business methods and success of that house.

The following was adopted: we advise: 1. That in the presence of conflicting instructions, until the next General Conference, the following be observed by our Book Agents and by the Board of Conference Claimants: One-half of the dividend from the profits of the Book Concerns be distributed by the Board of Conference Claimants on the basis of the number and needs of claimants, as directed in ¶310, and one half by the Book Agents, as directed in ¶429.

Ayes, 12—Chadbourne, Queal, H. H. Moore, Whitlock, Peck, Stuart, Chamberlain, Scott, Tuttle, Shinkle, Bruehl, Dymond, Nay's, 5—Studebaker, Truesdell, Webster, Loeber, Harrington.

Dr. Harrington reported for the Committee on Dividend to the Annual Conferences. As adopted, the report declared $120,000 dividend, being an increase of $10,000. The New York house will pay sixty per cent of this, the Western House forty per cent, being the same proportion as last year.

Dr. Whitlock reported for the Committee on Discounts; R. Dymond for Committee on Periodicals; Dr. Webster for Committee on General Conference Entertainment; and R. A. W. Bruehl for Committee on Credit.

*This apparent loss is due to change in fiscal year. November would have brought up the average.

The Committee on the Methodist Advocate reported their management of that paper ad interim, and the report was adopted.

Special Committee on the Death of Dr. Krehbiel, assistant editor Apologist, was appointed: Brethren Bruehl, Loeber, Dymond.

The following is the Committee's address to the Annual Conferences:

To the Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church:

In accordance with the directions of the Discipline, we present to the Annual Conferences the report of the condition of the publishing interests of our church.

It is an occasion of gratitude to our Gracious Father that we are permitted to report increasing prosperity in everything that pertains to the mission and work of our publishing interests. By wise planning and careful management in the past, this efficient auxiliary to the church's work of evangelizing the world has been established upon foundations broad and enduring. And it is ours simply to carry forward the work with the same zeal and faith that characterized those who laid the foundations. This, in an eminent sense, is your institution, and you should jealously guard its every interest, and help it forward to its highest possible efficiency.

The net capital over and above all liabilities is as follows: The New York Book Concern, $1,946,815.92, and the Western Book Concern, $1,010,513.52, making a grand total of $2,957,331.44.

The sale of books and periodicals for the year ending June 30, 1890, from the New York house and its depositories was $961,906.93, and from the Western house and its depositories for eleven months, $807,956.91. Upon these there has accrued to the church a net profit of $264,421.59. After deducting all disbursements ordered for the year, there remains a net gain of $135,973.05, with which the two Concerns enter upon the business of the present fiscal year.

The rapidly growing volume of our business at Cincinnati has made necessary a material enlargement of our buildings for manufacturing and publishing work. To meet this demand we have arranged for the erection of suitable buildings on lots now in our possession, contiguous to our present buildings.

We believe that, with a confidence fully warranted by the facts, we are permitted to call your attention to the superior character of the publications issuing from our press—a book literature that meets the needs of a rapidly growing church in all departments of her work, and that should be largely in the hands of our ministry, in the libraries of our Sabbath-schools, and in the possession of our people. These are your most helpful assistants in the development of syncretical christian character.

The constant enlargement of the circulation of our periodical literature is a very gratifying fact. It evinces that our people are growing in that culture that develops the best types of christian life and character, and is a prophecy of great blessing to the church of the immediate future. The religious periodical is the silent, constant teacher of the doctrines of our holy faith.

The Epworth Herald, the youngest of our periodical sisterhood, has been before the church but seven months; but its brief history has demonstrated that it was no mistaken policy that called it into existence to meet the needs of the young people's societies of our church.

While we recognize that the chief mission of our publishing house is to furnish our people with a pure and healthful christian literature, yet we can but rejoice in the fact that, as a secondary realization, we are enabled to appropriate so large an amount to be used by the Annual Conferences in the assistance of needy claimants. We believe these facts place every Methodist preacher under obligations to uncompromising loyalty to an institution of whose benefits they are so largely the recipients.

Better appliances, larger facilities, and more effective methods for the diffusion of our book and periodical literature throughout the church will, through your co-operation, help forward our work to an era of unexampled prosperity and usefulness. Submitting, therefore, these results to your consideration, we appeal to you as the agencies through which our great mission may be attained, and a literature at once Methodist and christian given the widest possible field of usefulness.

Sight-Seeing.—XI.

L. M. HAGOOD.

As the steamer plows her way through the billowy deep, whose surface is covered here and there by peaceful "white caps", there breaks in upon the vision a ship bound for the States from Canada. As she passes the salute from steamer and passenger is given with much hilarity. Look where you will and nothing can now be seen but water for we are now on the "foundations of the mighty deep with the flood gates" above us. We realize we are on Lake Ontario. One passenger regrets that the waves are so tame and says that such a ride is nothing if not boisterous. We find that the gentleman from Alabama is besides us; and another from Texas, and one from Georgia are in front of us and Mr. Smith sits on the other side of us. Here we found them enjoying our talk without any sign of embarrassment because of our color. It may not be so in religious matters but we note that changes of time and of place, does make changes in men's minds. To the left, as we approached the city, whose dim outline appears in the distance is Island Park, a summer resort for Torontonians and others who wish a days outing. Flags are seen flying nearly everywhere on the Island. It is a beautiful sight more so doubtless by contrast than it would otherwise be since it breaks the monotony of the sight of water. Now we can see the spires and domes of churches and public buildings in Toronto. Nearing the wharf, steamers, ships, sloops, schooners and fishing smacks, are seen everywhere. We acknowledge we were happy, real happy to place our feet on the soil where every man is a free man in all that term means; where no one calls another master; where you can get anything you can pay for and not be treated either as an object of pity or an escaped convict. Going to the Hotel Albion, we registered alongside Southern gentlemen with no distinction save that manifested by the penmanship we left upon the register. Mr. Smith, having relations in the city, and having often visited it was acquainted with the proprietor and took special pains to ask the clerk for him. When he arrived he introduced me by saying: "Mr. Sachs, this is a colored gentleman from my state. There his color is somewhat against him among Irish and low white folks, but up here nothing of the sort obtains. He could hardly find entertainment in our hotels there, though doubtless he would be the equal, if not the superior, of many who would object to his being entertained. I told him I knew you, and when he told me he was coming to your house, I determined to come here and tell you who he is and." "Well Mr. Smith," said the proprietor, "I am happy to form the acquaintance of the gentleman, but hope, while our friendship is intact, and I am obliged to you for your kindness to one who proposes to be my guest, he will not for a moment imagine that it was at all necessary for any one to introduce him to receive the attention accorded guests of this house." "No, no I did not mean that, but I just wanted to let you folks see we Southerners appreciate people according to their merits as you all do," said Mr. Smith. A nod by the proprietor to the clerk caused a gong to sound, and a bell-boy grabbed our valise, and promising to meet Mr. Smith another time, we were conducted to our room on the first floor. This is said to be one of the first class hotels of the city. From two to three hundred guests dine at once, i.e., there is seating capacity for this number. To say the house is first class is significant enough. Wherever we went, to the office table to write, to the parlor or dining-room, no one paid any attention to us whatever, any more than to any other stranger. No one asked us if we were either looking for anybody or wanted anything. We were there but a short time until we began to feel as if we had at last come to an oasis in the desert of colorphobia. We never knew how tired we were until we came to a resting place. Having rested and refreshed ourselves, we started forth to see the city. Here every man and woman that finds that you are a stranger puts themselves in the position of informers. They take pride in telling you all they know about the city.

TORONTO.

This is the capital of the Province of Ontario, and county seat of York Co. Ont. It is situated on Lake Ontario and has a population of about 175,000. It is surprising but nevertheless a fact, but few colored people reside here. The reason is, doubtless too near the States. There are but few, if any, shiftless people of color. This is attributable to the fact that such are too tired to travel so far. At the corner of Queen and Belvedere streets a Mrs. Judy (colored) keeps a fine and flourishing fruit stand. Mr. Gilham, father of one of the leading young men of our Lexington Conference, has retired from business and lives in comfortable style on Robertson street. We found trouble in finding any of our people because there adding the word "colored" rather than helping complicates the matter. A number of young colored men are in her majesty's mail service. There are but few, if any colored hotel employees; we saw not a single one, nor was any of the coach or footmen colored. Every colored person you meet seems to be on business of importance. None of them ran up to shake you by the hand because they recognized your color; nor did they bow to you or pay any special attention as you passed. Indeed no one gazed at you there as if you'd just descended from the moon. We wanted a street car to see the city.

W. R. R. DUNCAN.

Easter Sunday comes on the 29th of March, and if every pastor puts out his committees immediately they would be able to realize the full assessment which could be forwarded the following Monday to the treasurer at New York.

I hope and trust that every pastor will observe Easter Sunday as a means by which to bring our full assessment up to the next conference.

Our conference has already been assessed $600. To observe Easter Sunday properly, as you have been instructed to do, $600 will be raised in consequence of our earnest, christian efforts. As a reason why we should observe Easter Sunday, compare the amounts apportioned and those appropriated to our conference. Brethren, you can organize your missionary committees to work up to Easter, and the amount realized during the services on Easter Sunday can be added together; this will be your assessment.

Brethren, make all necessary arrangements to meet the first quarterly conference with full reports. It is very necessary that every official member be present.

Cataract Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Cataract, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

J. W. H. Moore, Blossom Prairie, Texas.

I came to this work on the 24th of January, and found it in a very bad condition. The church is unfinished and without seats; there is no fence around the building; the house is not painted, and has but one lamp to give light; there is no church record, nor roll of membership. I had to go and look up the members—it had been so long since they held class meetings the members did not know when another would be held. The house is in debt to the Church Extension to the amount of $75, and interest on the same, amounting to $13.50. This debt has been standing for four years without any preparations being made to pay it off. I shall now speak of Bagwell, my next point. Here I found the church in a much worse condition than at Blossom. The church has been in a lawsuit for two years, or more, and we were about to lose the entire house and lot, when I got there just in time to save it—and I am not so sure of its safety now. This house has $50 Church Extension money in it. There is a man named Thomas Hays who owns the ground where the house stands. This church is in debt $90, which has been standing nearly six years. I will have to move the house about 350 yards, and it cannot be moved without being taken down. There are but few members here.

At Detroyet we have no house of any kind, but hope to build during the year, which should have been done seven years ago. This is one of the most prosperous looking points on this work. The colored people own their homes, and are comfortably living. We will be compelled to raise about $80 to meet all outstanding and current expenses, without saying anything about the support of the pastor.

[We regret to read such letters wherein only faults are found with a predecessor's work. We hope Brother Moore will leave the work in much better shape. We'll see.—ED.]

Mr. Editor: I want to enquire for my mother and brother. I left them in Macon county and Pike county. Mother was named Aggie and father Olwen Perry; and my four brothers were Daniel and John Hanes, Henry White and Frederic Odice; and my sisters all belonged to the Hanes's, but one, whose name was Emily Odice. My name is Anthony Perry. I left them three years before the war. Address Anthony Perry, Box 35, Loueoke, Ark.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my others, Robert and Gooner and Fred Cabler. My mother's name was Millie Cabler, and father's, Andrew Mourman. My sisters were Charlotte and Fannie. We belonged to the Cabler's and went by that name; and were born in Redford county, near a little town named New Condon. I live in Montgomery county, Va., Shansville. Any information concerning their whereabouts will be gladly received. Address

JULIUS C. CABLER.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my brother, Luke Doskins. He belonged to George Doskins of Tazewell county, Va. His mother's name was Sallie Doskins. The last letter received from him was in 1883. He was then at Plaquemine, Iberville parish, La. I live at Richland, Tazewell county, Va. Any information as to his whereabouts will be gladly received.

G. WHITTEN.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my mother, sisters and brothers. Mother's name was Martha Fields; sister's were Becky and Sallie Fields—my other sisters I don't remember; brother's were Gabe and Jack Fields. Brother Gabe was killed while on his way home during the war; at that time I was living eight miles from Sherman, Texas. I was brought to Texas a few years before the war by John Fields, Jr. At the time I left home all of the family lived about seven or eight miles from Louisville, Ky. My name was, at that time, Mary Anne Fields. Any information may be directed to Mary Anne Harris, 712 North Commerce street, Gainesville, Tex.

The Man Who Shall Never see Death.

By Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, Baptist, London, Eng.

Verily, very I say unto you, if a man keeps my saying, he shall never see death, etc.—John viii. 51-53.

I. First, consider the Gracious Character: "If a man keeps my saying, he shall never see death."

Observe, that the one conspicuous characteristic of the man who shall never behold death is that he keeps Christ's saying or word. He may have other characteristics but they are comparatively unimportant in this respect; he may have been a great sinner in his early life—but being converted, and led to keep Christ's saying, he shall never see death; he may be a strong-minded man, who keeps a firm grip of eternal realities, and, therefore, becomes supremely useful; but none the more for that is this promise true to him; the reason for his safety is the same as in the case of the weak and timorous; he keeps Christ's saying, and, therefore, shall never see death. Divest yourselves, therefore, of all inquiries about other matters, and only make inquiry in your own heart upon this one point: do you keep Christ's saying? If you do this you shall never see death.

Who is this man who keeps Christ's saying? He is a man who—
1 Has close dealings with Christ.
2 Accepts his doctrine.

3 Trusts his promise.

4 Obeys his precept.

II. Now we turn to the delightful part of our subject, namely, the Glorious Deliverance, which our Lord here promises: "He shall never see death." Our Lord did not mean that he should never die, for he died himself; and his followers, in long procession, have descended to the grave. Some brethren are cheered by the belief that they shall live till the Lord comes and therefore they shall not sleep, but shall only be changed. The hope of our Lord's appearing is a very blessed one, come when he may; but I do not conceive that to be alive at his coming is any great object of desire. Is there any great preference in being changed beyond that of dying? Do we not read that "we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep"? This is a great truth. Throughout eternity, if I die, I shall be able to say I had actual fellowship with Christ in the article of death, and in descent into the grave, which those happy saints who will survive can never know. It is no matter of doctrine, but yet, if one might have a choice in the matter, it might be gain to die.

What, then, does this promise mean?

1. Our face is turned away from death. Our back is upon death, and our face toward life eternal.

2. Our spiritual death is gone, never to return.

3. We shall not live under the influence of death, perpetually thinking of it, dreading its approach, and that which follows after.

4. We shall never see that which is the reality and essence of death, namely, the wrath of God in the second death.

5. When the believer dies, he does not gaze on death; he walks through the valley of the shadow of death, but he fears no evil, and sees none to fear.

III. The Great Quickener.

1. The believer's eternal life results not from his own greatness or goodness, but from his being linked by faith to the Lord Jesus Christ. He has life in himself, and that life He imparts to His chosen.

2. The glory of Christ depends upon the not seeing death by all who keep his saying.

The Reciprocity Proclamation.

The President lately issued his proclamation in conformity with a provision in the new Tariff law, declaring that a treaty had been made with Brazil under which the reciprocity provision of the law should take effect on the 1st of April, 1891. This is but the beginning of other like treaties with the South American and Central American states on this continent. The treaty with Brazil, as proclaimed by the President, provides for the free entrance into that country from the United States of wheat, wheat flour, corn, rye, buckwheat, barley, hay, pork salted, except hams, fish salted and dry, cotton-seed oil, agricultural tools, implements and machinery, mining and manufacturing tools, instruments and books for the arts and sciences, and articles of railway construction and equipment. The Government of Brazil also agrees to remit twenty-five per cent of the existing duties levied on lard, bacon, hams, butter and cheese, canned meats, manufactures of cotton, including cotton clothing, manufactures of iron and steel, leather, and manufactures of leather, except boots and shoes, lumber, timber, and manufactures of wood, including cooperage, furniture, carts and carriages, and manufactures of rubber, when these articles are imported into Brazil from the United States. In consideration of these duties, entirely abolished or reduced twenty-five per cent from their present rate, the President announces that, according to section 3 of the Tariff law, no duties will be imposed on Brazilian sugar, molasses, coffee, tea, and hides, when brought from Brazil into this country. Congress provided that, in circumstances defined in the law itself, the President should be authorized to make such proclamation, and that the proclamation should have the effect of law. When this law shall have proved its practical and beneficent character by the lapse of time, as will be the fact in due season, the uproar among Democratic Free Traders about "McKinley prices," that misled so many of the American people at the last election, will be shown to be nothing but a persistent system of deliberate lying to gain political ends. The real truth is that Congress never enacted a wiser and better Tariff law than this much slandered "McKinley bill," and this fact time will abundantly prove. The people are already getting their eyes open to the facts, and before the next presidential election they will so thoroughly understand the matter that they will be quite sure not to elect a Democratic Free Trade President.

The President has sent to the Senate, with a short message, the General Act, prepared by the International Anti-Slavery Congress at Brussels, last year, relating to the slave trade and the restriction of the importation into Africa of firearms, ammunition and spirituous liquors. The President transmitted the General Act to the Senate in order that it might be ratified. The latest date for ratification will be July 2 next. The United States should be prompt in expressing its approval of this humane measure, and its readiness to co-operate with the other powers in carrying it out. It is a humanitarian movement on a very large scale, and is designed to do much to brighten the future of Africa.

PASTOR'S throughout our territory will confer a great favor if they send us their present and former addresses so we can send their papers to their present addresses and not to their former.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

AN APPEAL.

To The People:

The adoption by the Legislature of Louisiana, at its last session, of act No 113, entitled "An act to provide for the comfort of passengers," &c., and better known as the separate car law, is a matter of public notoriety.

While the bill was pending before the General Assembly, the American Citizens' Equal Rights Associations earnestly protested and exerted its influence against its passage.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the reasons adduced then why this law should not have been enacted. All are familiar with them, and feel the degradation the law imposes on American citizenship.

The duty that remains to us to perform is to defeat or render nugatory the operations of this unjust and oppressive law.

To this end the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association will institute a suit to test the constitutionality of the infamous law and maintain the right of American citizens to travel on railroads and public conveyances.

For the successful prosecution of the suit money is needed.

Therefore, to secure the sinews of legal warfare, we appeal to the people generally for aid and assistance.

We appeal specially to ministers of the gospel. We request these emissaries of harmony and good-will among men to read this address from their pulpits and make its subject-matter a text for their sermons, in order to arouse the people to the sense of their patriotic duty in the premises.

We appeal to the presidents, officers and members of the associations, benevolent and charitable, educational, labor and others, in New Orleans and elsewhere, to introduce the matter into their assemblies and make it a subject of their deliberations, to the end that their organizations may, collectively, tender us their help.

We appeal to the leaders of men to propagate the idea among their followers, to enlist their interest and support in the cause.

Realizing the influence of the gentle sex and their zeal and earnestness in and devotion to the cause of right and justice, we appeal to the loyal women of the country to give us their invaluable aid. Let them talk the subject to the men in their social assemblies, church meetings, and other gatherings, and thus induce the latter to send their contributions singly; or, still better, organize circles to raise funds for the end proposed by entertainments, festivals, &c.

We appeal to those molders of public opinion, the newspapers of the United States—the loyal press—to publish this appeal and make its object the subject of their approving comments and criticisms in order to create and maintain a public sentiment, from which the needed aid will readily flow. We request all newspapers in sympathy with the cause to act as agents of this Association to receive contributions from the good people of their localities, to be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

Finally as the favorable issue of the suit will redound to the everlasting benefit of all, we appeal to the lovers of fair play and justice throughout this broad land for their encouragement, material aid and assistance.

We will employ the very best legal talent that the country affords. We know that the amount required will be large, but it can be easily raised by dime and nickel contributions.

Let all send in their mite. As soon as the necessary amount will have been secured, we will inform the people and cease the collection.

Conscious of the justice of our cause, and supported by a loyal people, we will not desist from our course until this infamous law which is a continual menace to the peace of society, a standing insult to us, our wives, mothers and sisters, and which threatens to be a badge of inferiority to our posterity, is nullified, and we have created such a sentiment that will hereafter prevent any attempt to enforce a similar law or regulation anywhere in this free country of ours.

Books and Current Literature.

There is trouble in a certain Catholic parish in this city over the obstinacy of the people in reading a novel called "Jerome Leaster" in opposition to the wishes of their spiritual director. The priest, it seems, found a copy of the book during a call upon one of his parishioners, and to his horror found it strongly antagonistic to the teachings of the church, and, as he thought, unfit for Catholics to read. Of course, when his advice was asked, the priest plainly said what he thought, and warned his inquirers not to read anything which attacked their religion or would weaken their faith. Now, this would not have been much noticed were it not that the author of the book is a Chicago girl who lives in the parish presided over by the priest. Among her intimate friends and old schoolmates are a number of devout Catholic ladies who had read "Jerome Leaster" with pride at the knowledge of their close relations with the writer. None of them upheld the moral of the book, in fact, all of them, like good church members, plainly told their literary friend that they abhorred her teachings and that she should be ashamed of herself for putting such terribly unjust things in circulation. But all this was in a kindly way, and the social relations to the parties were not disturbed. To have the matter made a public scandal, however, was more than the ladies could stand, and when they found that the priest's denunciation of the book had become a subject of gossip about the neighborhood they were justly indignant. They could lecture their author friend themselves, for were they not her intimates? But for strangers to do it was outrageous, and hence there is trouble in that neighborhood.

The young writer finds herself in an embarrassing position. Those of her friends who have read "Jerome Leaster," censure her in private, but in public are her champions. Strangers to her, on the other hand, and especially those who are governed entirely by the priest, hold up their skirts when they meet the writer so that they may not come in contact with such a heretic. Social relations are strained; ladies who were close friends before the book came out are now to all appearances strangers, and there has been more than one "dead-on" given on account of this remarkable book.—Chicago Evening Journal.

DEACON T. F. Whitman of Mobile, Ala., enclosing his subscription, says: "I appreciate the SOUTHWESTERN most heartily. It is a good paper, and most helpful to me. I could not, by any means, be without it. I would be glad to have Bishop Mallalien come over and give us another sermon."

A CABLE states that the pope is making a careful study of the American public school system, and will soon issue an encyclical on the subject. We trust his holiness will make his researches exhaustive, for we are sure he will be benefited thereby. If he could only take a course himself on our educational institutions, and get down on the monnners' bench in one of our Methodist colleges it would be of great spiritual value both to himself and to Christendom.

THE student volunteer movement for foreign missions will hold a conference at Cleveland, Ohio, to begin at 8 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 26th, and close Sunday night, Mar. 1. The object of this convention is to bring the foreign missionary societies and the student volunteer movement into more direct contact. It is expected that at least 400 representative students from the United States and Canada, representing 100 or more colleges, will be present. A score or more secretaries, representing leading denominational missionary boards, will also be present. Returned missionaries from all parts of the world have been invited. It can already be announced that missionaries from South America, Mexico, Japan, India, China, Syria, Persia, and Africa, will make brief addresses and counsel with men and women looking forward to their respective fields of labor.

Immoral Literature.

On the first day's sitting of the present session of the French Legislature one of the queries put to the Minister of Public Works was in regard to the exclusion of Zola's novels, and those of other French authors, from sale at railway news stands, on the ground that they were immoral. In the debate it came out that these books were not sold at any railway stations in France. The Minister held that the owner of the franchise could exclude any books he pleased, as he bought and paid for the right to sell. Zola's books are not allowed to be sold in England, and the publishers were imprisoned for printing immoral literature. In the United States we are much more generous. Not only are the books of Zola and other forbidden authors sold freely at all news stands but they are carried in the mails at one cent a pound, while Bibles, school books scientific, historical, and miscellaneous books, bound and unbound, cost in the mails eight cents a pound. In his last annual report the Postmaster General officially stated that "a million dollars in postal revenue were lost each year by reason of this favor to certain publishers" of fiction, trash, blood-curdling tales, and French impurities. Ten million pounds are carried annually in the mails from New York alone, and probably half as much more from other cities. The proportion of really helpful books is not over one in a hundred. One of the serious impediments to one cent letter postage is the existence of this and other evils that might be easily removed. Every one putting a two-cent stamp on a letter is helping to pay the postage of this mass of hurtful books that is flooding the country. The Postmaster General has called attention to it very strongly in his annual report. He has personally appeared before the Post Office Committee to urge the stoppage of the evil, and has prepared an official document fully setting forth its injustice. He has done all he can do, and it now rests with the good people of this country to say whether the evil shall go on or be stopped. One publishing firm with $3,000,000 capital, and a hundred or more smaller houses, are doing all they can to prevent action. They are heard in the committees of Congress, and their agents are in the lobbies to see that nothing is done and while people quietly submit nothing will be done. Bills to remedy the evil are before the Senate and House Post Office Committee, but people show so little interest in the matter that they quietly rest there. If any thing is done at this session it must be done immediately. If one thousand people were each to write a letter to a senator or member of Congress calling attention to this matter it would be stopped. Will they do it?

After Conference.

All of our Southern conferences have been held, and the new pastors have gone to their charges.

The idea suggests the relative duties involved in the premises. First as to the retiring pastor. It is well for him to remember the injunctions repeatedly given him by the bishops to remember that he has absolutely no further business with the management of his last year's charge further than to go there as early as possible, pack up his baggage, bid Godspeed to his successor, and pass on to his present charge.

The incoming pastor will find that he will accomplish much more good by giving full credit to his predecessor for what he did than by being worthy of praise, and by throwing the veil of charity and silence over what should have been done or left undone, rather than otherwise. Let your predecessor's record alone and work out one for yourself. Let every member enter into the same spirit, and let every charge push out for the most blessed and abundant results this year. We can't afford to live in the past. What we did last year is dead and gone. Work for the present and future.

Centennial Anniversary of Mr. Wesley's Death.

Next Monday March 2nd, marks the centennial anniversary of the death of John Wesley, who under God, was the great founder of that marvellous revival of religion called Methodism. The event is one that should not pass without proper observance, on the part of all our people. The suggestion has been made to observe the day and the Sabbath preceding it as a memorial day, throughout the bounds of Methodism, wherein memorial services should be held in every Methodist Church of whatever name. The suggestion is a very timely one, and should meet a ready response from every one of our pastors and people. A correspondent writing in reference to the occasion says:

On the morning of March 2, 1791, John Wesley closed his earthly career—eighty thousand converts having been won to Christ through his ministry. The historic and prophetic words, "The best of all is, God is with us," have become among the most cherished traditions of the Church. His last utterance, "Farewell!" is equally significant.

As a matter of mere sentiment it would seem somewhat ungracious and ungrateful to let the centennial of this event pass without note or comment. But for much deeper and more practical reasons than simply sentimental ones would we urge the celebration of this centennial—namely, that there might be brought to our people, especially our young people, a fuller knowledge and a juster appreciation of the life and work of this remarkable man; and of the chief characteristics, the providential leadings and the practical results, of the great movement he inaugurated—the greatest intellectual, socially, morally and religiously of the XVIII century—impartial and even prejudiced critics being "the judges—the movement known as Methodism."

By all means celebrate the event with becoming memorial services in all our churches, and let the people, both old and young, learn something of the life, character and controlling powers of this great and wonderful man.

THE last few weeks have witnessed the death of three very remarkable national characters. The first was Secretary Windom, who was suddenly struck down while delivering an address before the commercial clubs of New York. He had scarcely been buried ere the news flashed over the wires that Admiral Porter, head of the naval forces of the United States, and Gen. Wm. Tecumseh Sherman, the last of the three greatest generals produced by the Civil War, Grant, Sheridan and Sherman, had passed to their rewards. The funeral of the latter, in St. Louis, Mo., especially, was unequalled in the history of the Nation, except by that of Gen. Grant. The pageant extended through every city, town and hamlet through which the body passed from New York to St. Louis, where his body awaits the general resurrection on the last day.

THE following table showing the circulation of the principal denominational, or religious, reviews in the country, is compiled from the directory of Rowell and Co., for 1890. The figures reported by Ayer & Sons vary from these in a few cases, but do not change the relative standing of the periodicals, nor modify the startling significance of the revelation. If the circulation of a review does not appear in either of the above directories, it is conclusive that it is too small to be reported. This applies to the last four in the list. It is evident that the Methodist Review is a great success in point of circulation, and occupies no second any place in periodical literature. Let the church study these statistics:

ARCHBISHOP Ireland, of the Catholic Church in Minnesota, has wisely issued the following order in respect to the practice of raising money for church and charitable purposes by lotteries and games of chance which are really nothing but gambling:

"Public sentiment has become so pronounced, and rightly so, against lotteries and games of chance, that we deem it our duty to prohibit altogether, as we now do, the raising of money for religious or charitable purposes by the sale of chances, the use of wheels of fortune, or by any method savouring of lottery or gambling. This rule, which we now make, admits of no exception. It applies to the country as well as to towns, to convents as well as to parishes."

The Catholics, as a general rule, have permitted this sort of gambling; and we are heartily glad that Archbishop Ireland has decided to set his foot upon it within the limits of his ecclesiastical jurisdiction. It was not forbidden by the last Baltimore Council, although the sale of liquors at fairs was forbidden. This is, then, a distinct advance, and we hope the Archbishop's example will be imitated by the whole church.

THOSE who have watched the progress of the race, and contributed to the advancements it has made, will rejoice to learn that the first annual meeting of the Colored State Bar Association of Mississippi will convene in Greenville, Mar. 5th and 6th. They extend a cordial invitation to the public at large to attend the meeting of the association, and all colored lawyers of Tennessee, Arkansas and Louisiana. The committee of arrangements are, D. B. Temple, O. L. Garrett, Jno. T. Harris, W. H. Smith and James A. Scott. The program will include the discussion of such questions as the following: Federal Court Practice; Influence of Railroads on Legislation; The Negro as a Law Maker; Corporations—Their Power and Influence; Ethics of the Profession; Tax Titles; Practice Before Justices of the Peace; Capital Punishment; Criminal Law and Practice; Mississippi's New Constitution; The Rules of Evidence; Uses and Trusts; Rights of Married Women; Cicuit Practice; Marriage and Divorce; The Negro as a Lawyer; Qualification of Jurors under the New Constitution; Chancery practice; International Law; and an annual address by Hon. J. T. Settle of Memphis, Tenn.

City Church Notes.

(Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.)

Union meeting was held at Wesley Chapel last Sunday. They had a good time and realized a splendid collection for the church.

Last Sunday was a beautiful day and all the churches were well attended. The city pastors are starting off nicely on their year's work, with every prospect for a year of great material and spiritual prosperity.

Memorial services were held in memory of Admiral Porter, Secretary Windom and Gen. Sherman, at Simpson Chapel last Thursday night.

THE Conference Board of Church Extension will meet at the SOUTHWESTERN office on Friday, February 27th at 1 p. m. Important. Let every member attend.

E. WILLIAMS, President.

Political Review.

In consequence of the death and funeral obsequies of Gen. Sherman very little active legislation was enacted by either House of Congress during the past week. Only a few more days remain, and on March 4, the present Congress will have passed into history, without accomplishing practically anything for the security of the ballot in the terror-stricken South. The Democratic Congress will then enter into power, when nothing is to be expected for the sanctity or protection of the same.

Ex President Cleveland has written a letter against the free coinage of silver which is so dear to the Democracy, which it is claimed will dispose of his chances as the possible Democratic nominee for the presidency.

Speaker Reed is sick, and Mr. Payson of Illinois has been elected Speaker protem.

Senator Quay answered the charges of corruption made against him, in the U. S. Senate last week, in which he portrays his persecutors as the vilest of the race. The pity is that the Senator should have allowed those charges to rest against him so long without answering them before.

The Senatorial fight in Illinois continues without any indications as to what will be the final result.

Articles of impeachment have been presented against Judge Aleck Boorman of Louisiana before the lower House of Congress. Judge Boorman was universally recognized as a fair and very friendly official to our people; and they will be very much pained if the proceedings should terminate unfavorably to him.

The mandamus suit of the Louisiana State Lottery Company to compel the Secretary of State to promulgate the Constitutional Amendment renewing its charter, and to submit the same for the ratification of the people is pending before the Supreme Court. A decision is looked for this week. The hope is entertained that the Lottery incubus may there receive its death blow.

Personal.

T. A. Walker, M. D., of Baton Rouge, lectured before the students of the Medical College on Monday. The Doctor is having a successful practice.

Wm. H. Green, formerly of this city, died at his home in Galveston, Tex., a few days ago. Billy Green, as he was known by many friends, has gone to join the numerous company of those who have passed over to join the great majority.

Re. Sewell Smith, of Rayville, La., was brutally murdered by white ruffians at Ruston, La., a few days ago. The excuse given was that he had insulted a white boy. He managed however to kill one and wound another of his murderers.

From and after this issue we will not publish requests to have correspondents write to pastors at any special place. All appointments are published in the paper, and unless in cases of supernumeraries, superannuates, and others receiving no appointments, we must decline such requests. The thing has grown monotonous and nauseating. It is not done in any of the others of our Advocates, and we cannot afford it. We can use our space to much better advantage to our thousands of readers. Be satisfied with the publication of your conference appointments, which shows at a glance where your correspondents may address.

Bishop Walden, accompanied by his wife, sailed from New York Feb. 18, by the Red Star Line, for his episcopal visit to the European Missions.

Bishop Bowman keeps as busy as ever dedicating churches in the West. The years don't seem to bother him at all. May his life be long spared to bless the church with his spirit and service.

Bishop Fowler has recovered from his illness and is able to do his work as usual. Speaking of a recent lecture delivered by the Bishop, the California Advocate says: "No one would think, after hearing it, that the Bishop had been sick."

Rev. S. McDonald desires his correspondents to address him at Maiche, Ark.

Correspondents will address Rev. H. S. McMillan at Galveston, Texas, 8th and H streets, St. Paul M. E. Church.

Address Rev. G. J. Izard at Richmond, Texas, hereafter.

Rev. J. W. Winbush desires his correspondents to address him at Durant, Miss., hereafter.

Rev. Wm. Josey may be addressed hereafter at Bellville, Texas.

Rev. Mrs. Mary J. Brown, of Port Hudson, La., is spending a few weeks in the city, the guest of Mrs. Mary Livingston.

A note from the Rev. John Qualls, Pine Bluff, Ark., informs us of the serious illness of Mrs. Rev. Geo. W. Lacey. We hope her speedy recovery.

We can scarcely recall when we were so suddenly shocked as we were last week to learn of the death of the Rev. Dr. Mansfield E. Bryant, the bold and fearless editor of the Southern Christian Recorder. He died at Mobile, Ala., while attending the annual conference of the A. M. E. Church in that city, Feb. 15, and was buried at Selma, Ala., from whence he was hounded by the intolerant whites of that city. We learned that he was not well while he attended the conference of his church at Tangipahoa, La., a few days before, but we scarcely were prepared to learn of his taking off so suddenly. He and Dr. Albert were schoolmates at Atlanta University several years, and while they differed considerably in their views, they were over fast and faithful friends.

Dr. Bryant was one of the most loyal and devoted advocates of his race, and as such his death will be mourned as a public calamity.

The preachers of the Marshall District, Texas Conference, have presented to their popular ex-presiding elder, the Rev. Dr. Isaiah B. Scott, with a very beautiful solid gold watch. This is what we call giving honors, of the solid kind, to whom honor is due.

To the Superintendents and Teachers of the City of New Orleans.

You will please meet me, without fail, on Sunday evening, Mar. 1st, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the First Street M. E. Church.

Several items of special importance will be brought before you for consideration. First among the chief items for consideration will be to formulate a plan for special revival work among the young people of the city, who must be saved at any sacrifice.

Second, To devise means whereby to develop Sunday school work in the entire State.

Remember, this work is of vast importance. This mighty nation, as well as the church, are looking to the Sunday school for the best and purest men. Upon our faithfulness they rest their hope. If we are neglectful of duty and of service, the bright hopes of the nation and the church will be blighted and destroyed. Get intellectual quickening from above, and thus you will be prepared to offer suggestions of a wholesome character. Don't forget the time and place.

Pastors will please read this notice from their pulpits.

Yours for the work,
ERNEST LYON,
Sunday School Agent.

Schools and Colleges

The faculty and students of Straight University observed Lincoln memorial exercises, Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday. The exercises were very impressive.

Claffin University, Orangeburg, S. C., offers extraordinary advantages to the colored youth of South Carolina. The present attendance greatly exceeds that of any previous year, but owing to their increased accommodation they are prepared to receive many more. To young men and women who have never been to, Claffin good board, room, light, heat, tuition and washing will be furnished 3 months for $20, if paid in advance. You can enter at any time. All students furnish their own books and bed covering. If further information is desired, please write Dr. Duntton, President Claffin University, Orangeburg, S. C.

Beware of Him.

We are students of Wiley University, and write this letter to warn christian people against fraud.

Mr. W. H. Richardson is a citizen of Marshall, Texas, and is a porter on the train leaving Marshall for New Orleans. He has planned to give a series of lectures in Louisiana and Texas, and asked permission to give his first one in Wiley University, which was granted, and a more filthy talk we never heard from a platform.

There was not a teacher or student who did not have to hide his head for shame before he was half through; and the most immoral topics were spread out before our girls in a manner more suited for a barroom than a chapel full of christians. He said that all Negroes are thieves, liars and rogues; and that no matter how much he earns, he will steal more. He also said that all Negro preachers are humbugs, and would have to be watched.

He indorses the separate car law of Louisiana; and says that the Negroes of Louisiana are fools and have no more sense than a monkey-wrench. He advises all colored ladies when they are insulted on a train by a white man not to make any reply but cry.

We listened to that foolish talk for over an hour, and everybody left in disgust. We write this letter so that when Mr. Richardson starts on his lecturing tour the people may know that they are going to listen to more filth and slander about colored people than they have ever heard before, and advise all virtuous people to let him alone.

It is enough to be slandered by white people, but when it comes from one of our own race we ought to show our resentment just as quickly. Signed:

West Texas Conference.

This conference assembled in its eighteenth session Feb. 5. Our venerable and saintly Bishop C. D. Foss was present a day or two before conference assembled.

At 9 a. m. the Bishop conducted the devotional services. He administered the Sacrament, assisted by the presiding elders.

After an interesting talk by the Bishop, the former secretary, J. T. Gibbons, called the roll. J. T. Gibbons was then re-elected secretary; B. F. Smith, assistant; C. P. Westbrooks, statistical secretary; C. L. Madison, treasurer, and G. W. Townsend, assistant.

The usual standing committees were appointed.

The conference ordered the draft on Conference Claimants, Fund for $547 95; and on Chartered Fund for $30.

Several visiting clergymen were introduced, among whom were the Revs. M. A. Dougherty, D. D. of the Austin Conference, and I. B. Scott, D. D., who was present to represent the SOUTHWESTERN.

The twentieth question was called, and the Rev. M. Henson reported the Austin District in his usual brilliant style; and also reported the collection for Sam Houston College.

Rev. W. H. Davis, reported the advances and reverses for the Columbus District.

Rev. H. Swan reported the San Antonio District; and Rev. A. Foster reported the Waco District.

Every traveling elder's character passed, as did every traveling deacon's, save one.

The reports showed the conference growing so rapidly that many of the brethren would be in favor of forming a new district.

SECOND DAY.

After reading and approving the minutes, many of the disciplinary questions were gone through with.

A spirited debate sprang up on the question of locating certain brethren, which lasted over an hour.

NOTES.

The missionary sermon by Rev. M. C. Caynes was well prepared, and took the congregation by storm.

Rev. C. L. Madison, pastor at San Antonio, led the large churches of the conference in benevolent collections. That is to say, he raised more than his assessment.

Rev. P. M. Carmichael, pastor of Wesley Chapel of Austin, is as popular as ever as a preacher.

Rev. J. T. Gibbons entertained the conference and visiting members with little or no trouble. He and his excellent wife make their guests feel perfectly at home.

Rev. E. Henderson, jocosely called "the baby," is a successful pastor and financier.

Our people at Waco are building a magnificent two story church which, though nearly completed is in debt over a thousand dollars.

A man less sweet spirited and patient than Bishop Foss would for reasons have had great trouble in holding our conference this year. As it was, nothing seemed to worry him except to have a brother talk too long about nothing—all our brethren were delighted with him.

Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Westbrooks are deservedly popular with the conference brethren. She has charge of the Woman's Home Missionary work in the conference.

The SOUTHWESTERN's representative was entertained by them.

Rev. W. J. Mitchell turned in money for eight subscribers. He makes things hop wherever he goes.

The SOUTHWESTERN has many friends in the conference. Many promised to send in money soon.

Have you forgotten that, brethren? Well, then, send it in it you wish the paper to go. We did not collect one-half of the amount due. Too bad, isn't it?

I HAVE been troubled with catarrh for ten years and have tried a number of remedies, but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.

Science.

"Geology" has been a word to conjure with in attacking the first chapter of Genesis and the story of the Deluge, but the Duke of Argyll has some sober words to say concerning it, which we commend to all who are interested in the subject.

"Geology is a science which has made such rapid and enormous progress during a period spanned by the extreme measure of a single human life, that we are all apt to be a little drunk with our own success, and yet that progress has been marked by incidents which should make us sober. The field, though a small one, on which its victories have been achieved, is strewn with the bodies of the slain. Dead theories and abandoned speculations lie thick upon the ground, whilst some of the most mischievous of preconceptions still encumber the progress of inquiry."

"I have much sympathy with those who, on the whole, are reasonably proud of geology as regards its past, and are reasonably hopeful of it as regards its future."

But its progress, and even our appreciation of its present teaching, is absolutely dependent on two conditions—first, that we bear constantly in mind the wide seas of ignorance which surround the little islands of our knowledge, and secondly, that we rightly estimate the full sweep and significance of the facts and laws which we can clearly see. It would be difficult to say whether science has suffered most from forgetfulness of the things that we do not know, or from failure to appreciate or exhaust the consequences flowing from the things we do know."

Rev. M. Martin, of Hickory, Miss., styles the SOUTHWESTERN as "one of the members of his family." Pretty good. That's how they all feel after it has been with them a while. If you miss it, pay up, and it will come and abide with you.

A magazine of the size of the Ladies Home Journal, which has just reached a monthly circulation of 600,000 copies, requires a good deal of room; another four-story building is to be occupied next month, in addition to the two now in use. The growing popularity of the Journal has also overtaken the capacity of its nine large presses, and twelve new ones of the latest improved pattern are awaiting the completion of the new quarters.

Obituary.

Rev. Alfred Legardy,

A superannuate of the Louisiana Conference, aged 93 years. We regret to chronicle the death of our dear brother and father. He was born in Nashville, Tenn., in the year 1797, and lived in that city until he was fifteen years of age. At this place he embraced religion and joined the M. E. Church.

He was soon made a class leader, and served faithfully until he was removed from Tennessee to the State of Mississippi, in Wilkinson county. He continued his relation as class leader until he was 25 years old. He was licensed to preach to the colored people. He married a lady named Sarah Davis, who was led to Christ by his preaching. They lived happily together and had born to them six children. Four died in Mississippi. The two that survive him are Mr. Elouise Longstreet and F. S. Lagardy, a local preacher. He continued faithful to the cause until he was moved from Mississippi to Shreveport, La., in 1849, with his wife and two children, where he remained until his death. His wife, Sarah, departed this life in 1863. He married Miss Amanda Haden, his present widow, in 1864. Unto them were born ten children. Seven of them survive him. He was one of the principal organizers of our work in North Louisiana. There were not twelve members of the church in Shreveport, and there was no particular house to preach in when he came here. The white people soon built and the colored people were given the afternoon on Sunday to hold services in their church. It was not long before the number grew to about thirty-five, and continued growing.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

As the country grew, so did the church, until the war began. After the war, the M. E. Church began to spread. Rev. A. Lagardy was first appointed to St. James, next to Fairfield Circuit, Scott Circuit and Knokpoint. He built churches at these places and many others. He was among the foremost in establishing Methodism in North Louisiana, and through his ministry hundreds, and through his indirect influence no doubt thousands have already reached their heavenly home. Father Lagardy was a prince among his brethren. To know him was to love him. He was superannuated about ten years ago, as an honored member of the Louisiana Conference, and held that relation until February 2, 1891, when death relieved him, and he passed from labor to reward. The Sunday before his death he was visited by the local preachers in a group, and he gave them the most wholesome instructions. Bro. A. G. Samuel read the 14th chapter of St. John to him. He then said to his son, F. S. Lagardy, "read also," and he read the exil Psalm. He said to them, "Be men, true men to the Church, preach Christ and live up to the rules of your church. Bro. Samuel led in prayer. While praying, Bro. Lagardy commenced shouting and praising God. After prayer he said, "Tell everybody to be faithful." I visited him constantly and talked with him, and I found in him the spirit of a true Christian. When I gave him the money that was sent to him from conference he said, "I will not live to see the closing of another conference; the work is completed and I will soon be at rest."

February 2, just before dying, he called his son Byron to his bedside and said, "I want you to be a man and take good care of your mother and the children. Call all the children here and sing, 'I am sweeping through the gates of the new Jerusalem.'" While singing the lamp of life expired and he passed to his reward. He leaves a devoted wife, a true mother, nine obedient children, and a number of grand and great-grand children, and acquaintances to mourn his loss. After sixty-seven years of labor in the ministry, he departed this life February 2, 1891.

As a preacher of the gospel, he was zealous, faithful and affectionate, a pattern of good works in his life, pure and incorruptible in his doctrine, a friend to the poor and distressed, a comforter to the sick and afflicted, a father to the orphans, a friend to the widows, and in his unusual charity, a good Samaritan. His burial took place from St. James M. E. Church, Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 3 p. m. It was largely attended by the different denominations. The following ministers participated: Revs. Samuel Armstead, of the M. E. Church; D. Logan, of the A. M. E. Church; J. H. Martin, Presiding Elder of the A. M. E. Church; T. Webb, C. Claiborne, Morris Brown and S. A. Johnson, of the Baptist Church; D. Shelby, James Robinson and T. J. Johnson, of the M. E. Church; and Rev. Carroll, of the A. M. E. Church. The burial was conducted under the auspices of the Home Missionary Society No. 2, of St. James Church, of which he was founder and an honorary member. Ministers acted as pall-bearers. His remains were laid to rest in the Protestant Cemetery, to await the resurrection of the just.

Shreveport, La. C. D. Shallowhorne, Pastor.

In Memory of Rev. Isaiah Lawson.

Whereas, It has been the pleasure of Him in whose hands the destinies of nations are, to summon from our midst our late brother and vice-president, Rev. I. Lawson, who—as a minister of the gospel and an honorable citizen—was faithful, noble, sagacious and kind. He was loved by all who came in contact with and knew him; and when, as we call death, to rest from his labors, it is but desirable on our part to do honor to his memory; Wherefore,

Be it Resolved, That by his death this corporation suffers a great loss, for his place, we feel, can scarcely be refilled. None in our midst was more true, none more zealous, and none more energetic. He was munificent, public-spirited; and vacillating to no purpose, but true even to a fault.

Resolved, That we, his sorrowing associates, tender our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved family and commend them to the Father of Peace, who does all things wisely and well, and in whose love they will find sweet comfort.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread on our minutes, and a copy of which be sent to his bereaved family.

Be it further resolved, That these resolutions be published in the "Baptist Herald," SOUTHWESTERN, "Donaldsonville Chief," "Crusader" and "Standard-Pelican."

ALFRED STEPHENSON,

Secretary Board of Trustees of Slater High School, Donaldsonville, La.

New River Circuit, La.—Feb. 3, 1891, Mr. Isam Forgan departed this life.

Also his daughter, Feb. 4, Jno. Wilson, P. C.

Holly Springs, Miss.—My wife died Jan. 28, 1891. She professed religion in 1860. She was a member of the Baptist Church for thirty years. She lingered sick twelve months and twenty-eight days. She leaves a husband and two children. Both are members of the church.

A. H. Brown.

Sister Reuner Sincely, a member of Mt. Zion M. E. Church, Clinton, La., died in full triumph of faith, Sunday, February 8, 1891. She leaves a husband and eight children to mourn for her. Clinton, La. H. James, P. C.

Benton, Miss.—Mr. G. M. Guy lost his little boy January 31, after ten days illness. He was born August 15, 1880. Aged one year and six months.

J. I. Garrett, Pastor Mt. Pleasant M. E. Church.

Bateville (Miss.) circuit, Spring Hill M. E. Church—Sister Sidney Dickens, born in 1818, died January 7, 1891, aged 73 years. She joined the M. E. Church under the pastorate of Rev. J. C. Clewius, and lived a faithful member until she died. She told her pastor a day before she died that she was looking every day for the chariot, and she had bought her ticket. Her funeral was preached and largely attended, at Spring Hill Church, by the writer and J. C. Clewius. Sister Dickens was appointed to conduct prayer meeting on Emancipation Day, but the weather being unfavorable she failed to get there. She said she was going to a meeting that she would never have to come away from. She leaves a husband, seven children and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

S. D. Troup, P. C.

Clarksdale, Miss.—Brother Palton Prior departed this life Feb. 8. He was a faithful member of Nicholls Chapel M. E. Church. He joined the church August 10, 1888. He died as he lived, and was loved by all who knew him. He left a wife, four children and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

P. S. Bowie, P. C.

Jan. 15, 1891, Bro. Barry Williams, an old member of Fairfield M. E. Church, died, aged between 95 and 100 years. He lived a widower some nine or ten years, and so the old father died without the aid of any one. He was buried at Fairview M. E. Church, Friday, Jan. 16, 1891. Rev. F. McDonald attended the burial.

Hattiesburg, Miss.—Brother Jordan Hicks departed this life January 3, 1891. He was a member of the church about eight years. He had complete faith of his entering the Kingdom of God, and expressed the same just before his death. He leaves a mother and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Sister Jane Davis, wife of Brother James D. Davis, departed this life February 12, 1891. She was a member of the M. E. Church, and had been sick three or four years. She often expressed herself as being ready and waiting for the Master's call. She was 38 years old. She was in full triumph of faith.

THE CROSS.

D. B. V. WALTHALL.

The cross, the cross of Jesus dear,
O, what a blessed cross.
My only hope of life to come,
And all that life will seek.

Unto the cross of Christ I'll cling,
While fighting here below,
For here, O Lord, thou died for me
And all the tribes of earth.

I will forever love the cross,
And all its rays of love,
For nothing can such joy create
As this thy cross, O Lord.

The Household.

ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH.—This condition is due to germs, and the cure lies in getting rid of the germs. Germs of fermentation in the stomach produce first alcohol, then carbonic acid, and then acetic acid. A person troubled with this form of dyspepsia should be careful to take only such articles of food as do not favor the development of germs, and thus starve them out. Another thing to do is to wash the germs out of the stomach by drinking freely hot water before meals. If food is put into a stomach already sour, of course fermentation will be set up immediately. Some persons notice that as soon as they eat, their stomachs become sour. The third important thing to do is to stimulate the stomach to make more gastric juice, which is a natural antiseptic, and prevents fermentation and also hastens absorption. The glands may be stimulated by applying hot fomentations to the stomach for half an hour immediately after the close of a meal, or, easier still, by wearing a rubber bag filled with hot water directly over the stomach for half an hour or an hour. Heat is a natural stimulant, and there are no possible ill effects from its use in this way. —Good Health CAUTIONARY.—Physicians say that nearly every case of diphtheria, fever and dysentery, can be traced to the impure sanitary surroundings of the buildings where the patient resides. Not infrequently entire communities are prostrated by the use of water which, while apparently pure, contains noxious vegetable elements. The spread of sanitary information, especially by the daily and weekly press, has to a degree lessened the dangers of epidemics in the country. But farmers cannot be too careful to see that drains do not run into closed cess pools, do not become clogged with decaying matter, and that they are far removed from the sources of domestic water supply. The press makes no mistake in preaching an occasional sermon on the absolute necessity of improved sanitation in the city and country.

BREAD.—To some of the tired ones I will tell my way of bread making. First, all that bother of potato yeast is needless work. In a hollow of your flour put a compressed yeast cake and a little milk. With your wooden spoon break and mix; add more milk and make a thin batter, which beat ten minutes. Early in the morning add more flour and beat ten minutes. It should be ready to mold soon after breakfast. Now, don't double up your fists once, but stir it thick, and open your hands flat and roll it without using any strength until smooth. The longer you roll the nicer it will be. —Martha.

PANCAKES.—Pancakes that are very nice are made from one cup of rye and one of white flour sifted together, with a teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Add two eggs, a cup and a half of milk, and two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and beat well together. Grease the griddle-pan with sweet butter, make cakes small, and serve very hot with butter and maple syrup. Or make cakes larger, sprinkle with sugar, roll lightly and serve at once. —Good House Keeping.

Our Symposium.

The New Democratic Decalogue.

1. Thou shalt not succeed.
2. Thou shalt not have a father who amounts to anything.
3. Thou shalt not have any ballot reform.
4. Thou shalt not raise any liquor licenses, nor close any liquor saloons, nor stop liquor dealers from selling liquor to minors, habitual drunkards, and to everybody on the Sabbath.
5. Thou shalt not revise the tariff, unless thou revise it in our way, so as to make less tariff.
6. Thou shalt not touch the internal revenue taxes.
7. Thou shalt not forbid intimidation and bribery at elections, or suffer any son of HAM to vote unless he votes the right ticket.
8. Thou shalt not pension the blind, the lame and the halt old soldier; neither shalt thou provide for the soldier's widow, nor the fatherless thereof.
9. Thou shalt not have any navy nor coast defenses.
10. Thou shalt abase thyself before other nations; they shall prey upon thee and divide the spoils, and thou shalt go into a hole and pull the hole in after thee.

—N. Y. Press.

It is said that some of the former students of Carlisle Indian school were among the ghost dancers, and some of them were with those who shot our soldiers. Very likely. Just across the Potomac, in sight of Washington, is Arlington, once the home of a celebrated and highly trusted servant of the Republic, whose ancestry was most distinguished and loyal in the darkest days of our history. He was educated at the public expense for the special purpose of maintaining and defending the government, and for many years served the country loyally. In his maturity, when his family and section declared against the government, he was urged to remain true; but he declined, and boldly went with his family and led the forces of rebellion for four years, killing our soldiers by the thousands. He was typical of hundreds of others equally favored by the government who went with him. Let us not find fault then with a few Indian children to whom we give the merest smattering of an education and whom we then send back to their parents and reservations, if they go with their families and parents into practices they esteem right. —N. Y. Independent.

PUBLIC SAFETY DEMANDS

That only honest and reliable medals should be placed upon the market. It cannot, therefore, be stated too emphatically, nor repeated too often, that all who are in need of a genuine Blood-purifier should be sure and ask for

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that of some one near and dear to you, may depend on the use of this well-approved remedy in preference to any other preparation of similar name. It is compounded of Honduras sarsaparilla (the variety most rich in nutritive properties), sassafras, mandrake, yellow dock, and the lodidines. The process of manufacture is original, skillful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a compound extract, obtained by a method exclusively our own, of the best and most powerful alteratives, tonics, and diuretics known to pharmacy. For the last forty years, Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

has been the standard blood-purifier of the world—no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its formula is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly concentrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sarsaparilla is proved to be the best remedy for all diseases of the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity in the city of its manufacture.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. 50¢ per bottle. Worth 50¢ a bottle.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS.

BOUNTIES. PENSIONS.
Nearly every soldier who served in the late War is entitled to arrears of pay, clothing or bounty, under the various Acts of Congress. We give special attention to hourly claims of soldiers who served in the colored troops. Under the recent law every soldier who is entitled to pay or bounty, even if living is entitled to pension, whether the disability was contracted in the service or not. Every widow of a soldier identified to a pension under the same law. Send us a statement of your case immediately as the pension begins from date of filing.

Remember we charge no fee unless successful, and soldiers will never receive what is justly due them unless they make application for it. Information regarding Government claims free. W. A. REDMOND & Co., Claim and Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C.

Our Children's Legion. For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. My papa takes the dear old SOUTHWESTERN, and I take great pleasure in reading it to him every week. I have five sisters; and two of them, my father, mother, and myself belong to the M. E. Church. Three of them are out of the ark of safety. I pray God's blessing upon them that they may come on the Lord's side.

Your Niece,
MARY E. COPLER.
Edwards, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. I am a little girl 12 years old. My mother takes the SOUTHWESTERN, and I love to read it. I think it is one of the best papers I have ever read. I go to school. I study history, grammar, spelling, reading, geography and arithmetic. I am in the sixth grade, and I go to Sunday School. My mother and father belong to the M. E. Church. My teacher is R. J. Willis, and he is a good teacher, and I like him.

Your Niece,
MARY O. JONES.
Marlin, Texas.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl ten years old. I go to day and Sunday school. I am in the second Bible class. I study second reader. My teacher is Miss Mary Curler. She is a kind teacher and I love her.

Your Niece,
D. YOUNG.
Farmington, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I do not take the SOUTHWESTERN, but our pastor, Rev. A. Britton, takes it and I read it. I go to Sunday School. I am the Bible class teacher, and I have twenty-five scholars in my class.

Your Niece,
ALICE HENDERSON.
Montgomery county, Texas.

Dear Uncle Cephas: There was a union meeting at Ebenezer Church, at 11 o'clock, Thanksgiving Day. Rev. McLean preached the Thanksgiving sermon, and Rev. Ross read the proclamation. Each girl had a minister and his wife as guests, and Rev. Mr. Howard and wife were mine. We had speaking, singing and Bible recitations, after which nearly every minister and some of their wives spoke a few words to us. It was very interesting, and the evening passed off pleasantly. Thus did we spend a pleasant Thanksgiving at Boylan Home.

Your Niece,
ANITA REEVES.

ELECTRIC BELT FREE.
To introduce it and obtain agents, the undersigned firm will give away a few of their $5.00 German Electric Belts, invented by Prof. Van der Weyde, Pres. of the New York Electrical Society (U. S. A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN, but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile on in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1.50, cash; otherwise, $2. tf.

IF YOUR BACK ACHES
Or you are all worn out, really good for nothing, try BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. It will cure you, and give a good appetite. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tacker, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 129 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Malalian, is worth the price of the book.

WHY don't you send a few cash subscribers?

FIRST QUARTER.—LESSON IX. The Shunammite's Son. 2 Kings 4. 25-37. Mar. 1, 1891. Commit to memory verses 32-34. B. C. 895.

HOME READINGS.

M. 2 Kings 4. 25-30. Tu. 2 Kings 4. 31-37. W. 2 Kings 4. 8-17. Th. 2 Kings 4. 18-24. F. Luke 7. 11-15. S. Matt. 17. 14-21. S. 1. Thess. 4. 13-18.

GOLDEN TEXT.

The Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them. John 5. 21.

LESSON HYMN, C. M.

Father, I stretch my hands to thee; No other help I know; If thou withdraw thyself from me, Ah! whither shall I go?

What did thine only Son endure, Before I drew my breath? What pain, what labor, to secure My soul from endless death!

O Jesus, could I feel believe, I now should feel thy power; And all my wants thou wouldst relieve In this accepted hour.

Time.—About B. C. 895.

Places.—Mount Carmel and the home of the Shunammite.

Rulers.—Same as before. Connecting Links.—Elisha journeyed from Jericho first to Bethel then to Mount Carmel, then to Samaria. He foretold to King Jehoash of Israel the destruction of the Moabites. He miraculously multiplied the oil in the home of a widow of one of the "sons of the prophets," and became the guest of a "great woman" of Shunem.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. The Mother, v. 25-28. What journey did this mother make, and why? Who saw her while yet a long way off? What did Elisha say to his servant? What was the mother's answer? What did she do when she met Elisha? What did Gehazi attempt to do? What did Elisha say? What question did the woman ask? 2. The Servant, v. 32-37. What four things was the servant told to do? What two things was he not to do? What did the mother do? What did Elisha do? When the servant laid his staff on the child's face, what happened? What report did Gehazi bear to Elisha? 3. The Child, v. 37-39. In what state did Elisha find the child? What was his first act when he came to the house? What did he then do to the child? What was the effect on the child? What did the prophet do? What was the effect of his second visit to the child? Whom did he then summon? What did he say to the mother?

What did the mother do?

Who alone can raise the dead? Golden Text.

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. The duty of trusting God when in trouble?
2. The duty of praying when in trouble?
3. The power of God to help us in trouble?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

- Find a case where Elisha brought a dead child to life.
- Find a case where Jesus gave directions somewhat like these which Elisha here gives to Gehazi.
- Find cases where the touching of garments was sufficient to perform a cure.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. Who was dead? The Shunammite's little son.
2. To whom did she go for help? To the man of God.
3. What did Elisha send by Gehazi to bring the boy back to life? His staff.
4. Did this restore the child? It did not.
- What did Elisha do? He prayed.
6. Did he stop there? No; he made great effort.
7. What was the result? God restored the boy's life.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

Mount Carmel.—Five or six hours' rapid riding from this woman's home. To meet her—This errand and these questions show the profound respect Elisha had for this woman. By the feet—Orientals are always impetuous and demonstrative. To thrust her away—The slaves of the East have from time immemorial been presumptuous. The Lord hath hid—Showing that God does not always, even to his prophets, reveal scenes that are absent or future. Neither voice, nor hearing—The perfunctory performance of religious duties will save neither soul nor body. Upon his bed—The child had been laid in the prophet's chamber on the prophet's bed. Doctrinal Suggestion.—The power of prayer.

EXPLANATIONS.

25. In what did this image of God consist? "In righteousness and true holiness." Eph. 4. 24.
26. What authority was given to man at the creation? God gave him dominion over every living thing. Gen. 1. 28.
27. Where did God place our first parents? In the Garden of Eden. Gen. 2. 8.

"Are you going to the races?" "Yes, and bet on the winning horse." "Not the handsome Abdullah, he is lame, didn't you know?" "Oh, I'll whisper in your ear, he'll win. They're using Salvation Oil."

Conference Notices.

Notice.

The Central Alabama Conference Board of Church Extension will meet in St. Paul M. E. Church, Birmingham, Ala., on Tuesday before the last Sunday in each quarter, to attend to the business that may come before it. All brethren with applications to be endorsed by this board will please be present at these meetings. The president will call a meeting if needed between these meetings. Presiding elders, please send along some money with the applications to forward with them.

District Conference Notice.

The first district conference of the Brookhaven District will convene at Pass Christian, Miss., Thursday, May 28, at 9 o'clock a. m. We want every member of the conference to be present on the first day with his report in first class style. Pastors, please have the missionary collections to begin with. The pastor that reports the largest collections for missions, cash, in the district conference will get a nice book for his work. Now, pastors, I want each of you to get twenty subscribers for the Southwestern before the conference meets in May. Any pastor that reports as many as 30 cash subscribers in the district conference will be rewarded with a nice present. We want to conquer all for Christ. With him we can do all things. B. L. CRUMP.

Cease your coughing and enjoy refreshing slumber, which Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will insure you.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

CREATION.

A rain-drop, made a diamond by the sun,
Tells from a rose-leaf that the storm is done;
Rain-drops seem instants, jewels ages old,
Yet both the self-same moment were begun.

CHARLES HENRY LUDERS.

HON. H. Dudley Coleman will please accept thanks for appreciated favors.

MISSISSIPPI'S new Constitution is such a senseless and bungling affair that the press of the State declare that the nuisance is worthless and should be speedily repudiated and repealed, and the old Republican Constitution amended and revised.

THE article by the Rev. E. M. Collett in answer to Dr. J. F. Spence's unwarranted and heartless attack upon the colored people, in the "Methodist Review," which appeared in a recent issue of the "Carolina Methodist," was timely and withering.

THE speech delivered by the Hon. Wm. M. Evarts, in the United States Senate, on the Federal Election Bill, Jan. 15, was a masterly effort quite worthy of his great reputation. His pleas in behalf of the weakest and humblest citizen, for his full protection in the exercise of his rights and elective franchise, were such as to bring conviction to every heart not wedded to high-handed frauds and intimidations. We thank him for a copy.

PREACHERS on trial and in the third and fourth year's courses of studies should get their books now, and not wait until a few weeks before conference, and then complain that they could not get their books in time. Send for them now. Every book needed can be gotten directly from this office. Send us the cash and we will send the books at usual discounts. See price-list in another column. Let local preachers pursue the same course.

THE attention of our readers is invited to the beautiful poem, "The Corner Stone of the Republic," by our young friend J. R. Howard, of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., which he composed and delivered at Anniston, Ala., recently. It is quite prophetic of the poetic powers of the author. Copies can be had at 10c. a piece, by writing to the author. By so doing you will secure a beautiful poem and help a deserving young man, who hopes thereby to help himself in securing an education.

Sight-Seeing.—XII.

L. M. HAGOOD.

The employees of the street cars and indeed everybody in Toronto seems to think there is but one province in the world and that is Ontario and but one first class city in it and that is Toronto. They show you everything they can possibly see as they pass and then tell how and where you can find the rest. Indeed they tell you everything except that they desire annexation to us. As matters exist in some parts of this country I believe they are right. The street car conductor neither alarms the neighborhood when you pay your fare, nor scares you to death by pulling from his beligerent looking pocket a Southern looking register, but he quietly shoves under your chin a curious looking leather, nickel plated box. Take a fresh oyster box and put a handle on one side and a pitcher like mouth on the other, with a flat top and a hole in it big enough for the admission of a silver dime (they turn up their nose at our nickels and dimes) and you have it. It falls upon a silver platform, besides which is a little glass window, and is thrown into the leather box below by the turn of a crank at the side. Of the 1700 animals used in the street car service, not a single mule or shabby looking horse is to be seen. A conductor has charge of every car. The cars are all scrupulously clean and finished antique oak. Union R. R. station where the Canada Central, Continental and New York Central trains arrive and depart is a fine large three story building of pressed brick trimmed with granite. The King and Yange street car leads out King street. Fine large beautifully finished business blocks line either side of it. Directly in front, the car going West, we see a magnificent building, on top of its tower is a quadruple spire, and a repetition of this, on a smaller scale at each corner, is St. Andrews Church of England. Not far South from this church is St. Michael's Roman Catholic Cathedral. To say it is their leading church here you can easily imagine the rest. Directly North of King street the church with spires all over and around it, built after the Gothic style of architecture is the Metropolitan Wesleyan Methodist Church. It has a large yard nearly all around it and this is literally grown all over with the most beautiful flowers which are most artistically arranged. It is a thing of beauty now, and interiorly is unsurpassed for comfort convenience and beauty. Time and space would fail us to tell you of Osgood Hall, The Normal School, the Innatio Asylum, University of Toronto, Trinity College, Knox College, Upper Canada College, Queen's Park, Horticultural Garden, Volunteer Monument, Fountain and Pavillion, Crystal Palace, and the Custom House and last but not least the Wesleyan Methodist Book House where the Guardian is published. We did not succeed in getting to see inside of but one church and that we can not pass without mention, which was

ST. JAMES CATHEDRAL CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

We came to a large well kept yard around which is a substantial iron fence. We found the Irish janitor and was admitted. We entered by a side door. The ohnroh fronts on King street. This building beggars description. The halls are clean as a pin, though covered by fine cocoa matting. It is a fine historic building of stone. The Rev. John Strachman, D.D., LL.D., is the Lord Bishop. Rev. Henry

J. Grassett, B. D., is the rector at a salary of $5 000 per year besides fees etc. He has two or three assistants at salaries from $3,000 down to $1,000 each. The annual Easter report for 1890 shows the building value $222,897.77, furniture inside $4,004.50, Spnday-school building and furniture $15,464.90. And other parts connected netting $267,184.77. By the eighteen visitors of this church 1,000 visits were made during the year to indigent and sick people. As we entered this time honored building hat in hand and reverent tread, we found it a palace. At a glance we saw it was a pew rented church. On all sides of the walls were memorial slabs of Parian marble, to many of the nobility and dignitaries who are dead, too numerous to mention. The grand organ in two parts, leaving space in the middle, for choir fills the entire North end of the building. To attempt a description is useless. On the right side of this space is a fine mahogany pedestal or pulpit, while in the centre is a reading desk of solid brass that shines like gold. We only add it is the most magnificent building inside our eyes ever beheld. The tower is 316 feet high inside of which is a clock and chime of bells. By paying the janitor ten cents we were permitted to go up into this tower. Nearly every day of the week this church is open and streams of people go in and out. As we came into the office on our way to this wonderful tower an alarm of fire was turned on and the clock and bells up in the tower were seemingly having a frolic. The janitor called us into the yard to see the firemen pass. But a few moments elapsed before the entire department seemed to be in King street. It was a very fortunate accident all around both for the city and its visitors. The alarm was false but it gave us an opportunity to see the entire department since the alarm was turned on from the most important mercantile street. The Irish janitor led us back and said, "Did ye ever see the fate of that? You can't do the likes of that in the states, man."

Lincoln's Anniversary in the "Model City of the South."

BY J. R. HOWARD.

Thursday morning Feb. 12th, found the writer on board of the train on the Ga. Pacific railroad enroute to Anniston, Ala., to deliver the oration at the celebration of Lincoln's birth-day by the members of the Big Eight's Social Club, (so named for the first eight original members), and by whom the invitation was extended. As is usual in this section of country, we had to ride in a "jim crow" car, where low down white men, many of them with no collars on, came in and puffed their dirty tobacco smoke right under the noses of refined men and women of color, and nothing could be done about it. We could not help reflecting on the nature and condition of such a state of things. What a great thing a little color is in the eyes of some called superior men, and how wonderfully they "strain at the gnat, and swallow the camel."

We arrived at Anniston at three o'clock, and were met at the depot by Prof. S. E. Moses with a carriage, and after being carried over the principal part of the city, were taken to his residence in South Anniston. By the way, the carriage we rode in is owned and controlled by a colored man, Mr. Freeman, and the outfit is said to be worth one thousand dollars.

The literary exercises were to take place at seven thirty that evening, but owing to the continued inclemency of the weather, they had to be postponed; a very appropriate and tasty program was arranged, and if fully carried out would have reflected great credit on the members of the Club. However, the banquet that was prepared for the occasion was well attended, and proved to be an enjoyable affair; a well-laid table was snrounded, and relieved of its tempting viands. Toasts were made by several persons, social conversation indulged in, and the time passed off very pleasantly indeed.

Now, just a word or two in regard to Anniston and its inhabitants. The city is situated on the Ga. Pacific division of the R. and D. R. R., just one hundred and four miles from Atlanta. It is a young city, and has sprung up almost by magic in the last five or six years. It is well laid out, with wide even streets, good sidewalks, and has substantial buildings. It is a great centre for coal and iron, and mining and manufacturing are carried on all around. Furnaces have been built, also rolling mills, and the U. S. Rolling Stock Co., turns out anything pertaining to a railroad and its equipment. This company alone furnishes employment for several hundred men. The city has an air of push and energy about it that is encouraging. One of the most encouraging signs is the friendly relations existing between the races. This is due perhaps, to the fact that it is settled largely by Northern, New England, and Western men, who bringing with them their broad views of civilization, have made a current of good feeling in this line possible. There is great room for improvement, however, and there is no telling to what prosperity the city will come in the next fifteen years.

The Negro here is given a chance, and he is not slow to take it. One thing that gladdened the heart of the writer is the large number of colored men owning real estate, and doing business for themselves. A hall is being built in South Anniston by a leading colored man; a brick hotel worth ten thousand dollars is owned by Negroes, there are colored contractors doing work equal to that of any white man; and also men of color renting several houses of their own. Among the professions there are a skilled physician, Dr. C. E. Thomas who graduated at Ann Arbor, Mich., with a class of 69, and afterwards went to a college of medicine on Long Island, and who now has all the practice he can attend to; a dentist, Dr. Malone, who is a son of Meharry, at Nashville; and a lawyer, Hon. C. M. Smith, who came to the city last year, and is practicing his profession right along. The Negro is also recognized in politics too; I am told that he holds the balance of power, and the whites are compelled to notice him.

The colored churches are here in full. There are the M. E. Church, with Rev. P. G. Goins pastor; the A. M. E. Church, with Rev. Hamilton as pastor; the C. M. E. Church, Rev. Toomer, pastor; the A. M. E. Z. Church, Rev. Fitzpatrick, pastor; the Baptist Church, Rev. McAlpine, pastor; and the Congregational Church. The ministers have formed a pastor's union, which bids fair to become a grand success.

The literary exercises of the club were held on Monday night, and in spite of the hard rain, an appreciable crowd was present. A part of the program had to be dispensed with, and the oration by the writer was the main feature. The subject was, "Emancipation and its Results." It was received with enthusiastic applause. The writer also read a poem, "The Corner stone of the Republic," and dedicated it to the club, the name of which has been changed to the "Lincoln Social and Literary Club," and efforts are now being made to establish a library and reading room in connection with it. This is a move in the right direction. The people are anxious to rise, and should be encouraged along all lines that make for education, social and moral uplifting. The young people especially, deserve credit for their strenuous efforts in this direction.

We boarded the train at one twenty Tuesday morning and in a few hours were back again in the "Gate City of the South," and hard at work as usual. The writer will always bear with him only pleasant recollections of his short but very enjoyable trip to Anniston, and of the very kind and courteous treatment received at the hands of its prominent citizens. The coming years will prove to the country that this young and flourishing city will rightly bear its name, the "Model City of the South."

Meharry's Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Commencement.

The fifteenth anniversary of the Meharry Medical Department, the fifth of the Dental and the second of the Pharmaceutical Department of Central Tennessee College (colored) was held last night at the Masonic Theatre. The house was filled to overflowing with patrons, friends and the alumni of these flourishing institutions.

On the stage were the graduating classes, the faculty and many prominent citizens. Among them were Archdeacon Perry, Prof. Raderman, of Vanderbilt University, and nearly all of the colored ministers of Nashville and vicinity, also Dr. Halfacre, of Columbia, Dr. Berry, of Kentucky, Dr. J. B. Lindsley, Secretary of the State Board of Health; president Cravath, of Fisk University; president Owen, of the Roger Williams University.

The exercises were opened by an anthem "Sing Unto the Lord," by the college choir, which was followed by a prayer from Rev. D. Hays, of Cleveland, then a second anthem "Mighty Jehovah" by the choir.

The salutatory address was delivered by A. O. Lockhart, of Georgia. After a few words of welcome he gave a carefully prepared thesis on histology. This was followed by an address on acropoyn in preparing prescriptions, by J. M. Beverly, of Galveston, Tex., who was elected by his class as pharmaceutical valedictorian. The medical valedictory was delivered by O. C. Queen, of Texas, his subject being "Phthisis Pulmonalis."

The following is an extract from the concluding portions of his address:

Reverend Faculty:—If it be true that the good alone are great; then you are the great; if there be truth in the assertion; "Honor him to whom honor is due," then you are to be honored.

Many Medical Schools were established long ere there was a Meharry, but we dared not enter therein. You have seen and known our condition, came to us during the period of our misfortune, and clothed us when we were naked; fed us when we were hungry; gave unto us drink when we were thirsty, and visited us while we were sick and in prison,—and we come to-night to express to you our highest appreciation and reverence for the demonstration of your love, interest and sincere devotion, thus manifested. We cannot thank you as we desire for the constant care and interest manifested in the work which you have undertaken and are now prosecuting in the Southern fields; and because of which, we are aware of the fact you have been ostracised and have perhaps sacrificed many earthly joys and pleasures; nevertheless, we rejoice in the fact that the remuneration of man's labor will at some time and somewhere, find its fulfillment. It is not in our power to unweariedly your brow and crown your learned heads with the true rewards which is due you, but your labors, your sincere and timely devotion, and the worthy and invaluable instruction which you have so successfully imparted to the many of the sons of Africa, we shall ever cherish as banners of truth, as emblems of honor and as monuments of fame.

Your names, dear faculty, shall ever abide in the hearts of the class of '91. Your bodies will have returned to the dust, but your names, deeds and acts will forever occupy an important place in the annals of Negro history.

We realize the fact, Mr. President, that nothing of eminence, nothing of honor, nothing of renown ever comes to him who shrinks and falters because of casualties; but to him who by constant and unremitting toil, with an invincible determination grounded upon moral principles there is certainly a period sometime in the future, when he will stand the exponent of his community, the pride of his race, an honor to nations at home, a light to monarchs abroad and the acme of his fame will redound to the glory of God.

With this indelibly stamped in the hearts of the class of '91, in addition to the motto, we promise you that we will try and not deceive you, nor prove false to ourselves; but we shall ever aim at that which is noble in sentiment and worthy of praise. Your example shall be our examples, and whatever success may crown our pathway we shall in part attribute to you.

To the citizens of Nashville:—We now turn to you to express our final adieus. We feel that our duty would be left incomplete were we to leave without extending to you a few assertions as a token of our appreciation for the interest in us, which you, even to-night make manifest by your presence. In your homes we were made welcome, we met you as strangers, we leave you as friends. Our voices have commingled with yours in many pleasant conversations and songs of praise. Alas! the time for our departure has come, and we must utter the words which bid you adieu; but whether we be hurried by the waves of adversity, or encircled by the billows of prosperity, we shall ever entertain a sentiment of love and a heart of gratitude for the citizens of Nashville. Long live the City of Rocks, with her kind and benevolent inhabitants; her beautiful edifices, her magnificent churches, her unrivalled free schools and colleges, and her towering domes pointing toward the heavens.

Athens, the eye of Greece, Mother of arts; Nashville, the eye of the South, Mother of Negro Medical Science. Let bright and beautiful Alpha in the Southern constellation send out her light—let sweet and lustrous Orion in the zenith shine forth in her brilliancy; let the City of Rocks establish throughout the world, her fame, her intellectual powers, and her intelligence.

Three years ago this class made its beginning in the study of medicine and began preparing themselves to meet the numerous difficulties, and the vicissitudes of life

Letters from the Districts.

Tennessee River District Conference.

T. W. JOHNSON.

The Tennessee River District Conference convened at Clark Chapel, Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 11, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m. J. B. Bradford, Presiding Elder, in the chair.

Rev. A. Phillips, Presiding Elder of the Cumberland River District, led in prayer.

Thos. W. Johnson was elected secretary.

Roll call showed nearly all the members present.

Revs. J. P. Price, Presiding Elder of the Nashville District, and A. Phillips, Presiding Elder of the Cumberland River District, were introduced.

Revs. W. H. Vaughn, J. B. Summerhill, J. W. Huskey and H. W. Key were also introduced.

Three presiding elders being present, the Presiding Elder suggested that we sing, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

J. C. Harding and Wm. Battle were introduced to the conference, which also listened to addresses from presiding elders Price and Phillips.

On motion of Rev. H. W. White, the conference visited Central Tennessee College in a body, Friday morning.

W. B. Denny was elected recording secretary; I. C. Brown, statistical secretary.

The report of the Presiding Elder and pastors showed progress.

The local preachers, exhorters, class leaders, district stewards and Sunday school superintendents also made satisfactory reports.

Frank Amos was licensed to preach.

The orders of J. W. Huskey were recommended to be recognized.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That all country pastors make a note of any of their members moving to the city, and immediately transfer said members to some one of our city churches, and report the same to his next quarterly conference.

The licenses of the local preachers and exhorters were renewed.

Dickson station was selected as the next seat of the district conference.

The charges were assessed $700 for Presiding Elder's salary.

Rev. J. F. K. Moreland discussed the question, "Shall women be eligible as lay delegates to the Electoral and General Conference of the M. E. Church?"

Revs. H. T. Hickerson, C. B. Wilson, W. L. Denton and Evan Tyree of the A. M. E. Church, were introduced.

The conference resolved that there shall be a Sunday School Institute organized in the district, and the following committee was appointed to perfect its organization: H. W. White, C. H. Bullington, I. C. Brown, H. Robinson and E. D. Martin.

Among those taking prominent parts in the discussion of subjects, or presenting papers before the conference, were Revs. H. W. White, S. B. Danley, W. B. Denny, H. Robinson, I. C. Brown, H. Primm, C. E. Alexander, and C. H. Bullington. The discussions were of a high order, and elicited considerable attention. The services were all edifying, and the session one of the best ever held.

Letters from the Pastors.

SPECIAL TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Please take notice, 1st, That all anonymous letters go directly to our waste basket; 2d, Letters must be written on only one side of the paper; 3d, No frivolous questions will be noticed; 4th, Abbreviations should not be used; 5th, Notes and items must be condensed so as to insure brevity; 6th, We return no manuscript.

G. J. Izard, Richmond, Texas.

After considerable delay in consequence of small-pox quarantine against Houston, managed to move his family to his new charge at Richmond. He has many good things to say for his predecessor and the people he is now serving. He says: "Many of them own the soil on which they live. Some of them own good bottom farms, while others own several houses and lots in town. Sorry, a great many of our people, even members of the church, left this town and county during the riot that was here two years ago. It can plainly be seen at once at this place (as is seen at every place on the district) the result of the labors of Rev. R. H. Harbert and the intelligent pastors who labored with him. This people retain yet the standard they reached through the efforts of former pastors. The Sunday school deserves much to be said of it. I find also in this church and school the influence of Rev. R. H. Harbert living very high. This whole community, both white and black, bewail his misfortune. Rev. Harbert was certainly a man worthy of the position he held, full fledged in every particular, a christian gentleman and a true Methodist. His place is hard to fill in the Texas Conference. Every person who believes in keeping everything in action for christian promotion and religious elevation, certainly loves and esteems Rev. Harbert and his labors in the Texas Conference, and will weep over his misfortune and expulsion from the M. E. Church. As he goes, our prayers and sympathy go with him."

W. L. Duncan, Huntsville, Texas.

Our church is situated in a most conspicuous place, on a beautiful hill, surrounded by the property and wealth of both races. One coming into the town cannot help from being favorably impressed with its situation. It is about as good a piece of property as there is in the town, without any exception. The former pastor reported to the conference 93 full members. Since then I have added to the church or increased it to 110 members and one probationer. Sunday, February 15, 3 p. m., found Rev. F. Parker, Presiding Elder, at his post. Revs. Edwards and Benson, Baptists, were with us. Collection, $14. Monday evening the quarter was held. Tuesday evening the Lord's Supper was given to quite a number. Many hearts were made to rejoice. The Presiding Elder made an earnest appeal in behalf of the SOUTHWESTERN.

Wm. Josey, Bellville, Tex.

I arrived at my work February 12, and found the church in debt, but we are going to try to work it out. Having done all we can, will not the Church Extension help us? We need a church in Bellville. We have the land all ready.

Rev. F. Smith, Cookeville, Tenn., informs us that in consequence of the illness of Rev. A. Phillips, Presiding Elder, he did not hold his quarterly meeting there, but sent Rev. A. J. Nelson, who left some very profitable lessons with his people. They had a good time. The SOUTHWESTERN is being pushed on that work as never before. We rejoice in the fact. Let the good work continue and let it be introduced into every family.

The members and friends of the church at Heidelberg, Miss., at the close of a prayer meeting recently, surprised the pastor, Rev. N. Toole, by loading the table in the church with many choice articles of provisions for the pastor and his family. They prayed that the Lord might feed and clothe their pastor; and they very wisely and properly helped the Lord to answer their prayers.

J. W. Richmond, McMinnville, Tenn.

Rev. J. P. Price held our quarterly meeting January 17, and preached a soul-reviving sermon. We have organized an Epworth League with twenty-three members. Our people were burnt out last year and are somewhat discouraged, but they are gradually pushing forward now. Send me some specimen copies of the paper so I can show our people what the Old Church is doing. They will thereby be further encouraged, and I'll no doubt be able to send you in several cash subscriptions.

Wm. Thomas, Ferns, Texas, is building a church ten miles northeast of Marshall, Tex. He calls upon the friends to help him.

C. H. Bullington, Dickson, Tenn., has a circuit with six preaching points on it. He and his people are struggling to build a new church, which they hope to occupy by May 1. They beg for the help of their more prosperous neighbors. Who will help them? Send to the Rev. C. H. Bullington, Dickson, Tenn. The quarterly meeting recently held there by the Presiding Elder, Rev. J. B. Bradford, was a great blessing to that people.

G. H. Harvey, Hood, Miss., rejoices in the success which he has had in securing a nice lot on which to build a church. They have nearly all the material on the ground, and half paid for.

ELECTRIC BELT FREE.
To introduce it and obtain agents the undersigned firm will give away a few of their $5.00 German Electric Belts, invented by Prof. Van der Weyde, Pres. of the New York Electrical Society (U. S. Pat. 257,647) a positive cure for Nervous Debility, Rheumatism, Loss of Power, &c. Address Electric Agency, P. O. Box 178, Brooklyn, N. Y. Write to them to-day.

Letters from the Laity.

Our people at Waynesboro, Ga., are full of gratitude to God, and to their friends, for the result of their work last year. They have sent us resolutions to that effect. They are thankful for the completion of their beautiful new church, to their beloved teachers, Miss E. C. Fairchild, for a $70 outfit for their pulpit; to Miss Minnie M. Hooven, for $25 on their lamp reflector; and to Miss Phronia Whitehead for valuable help in beautifying their alcove and felt door to the church; to the Church Extension Board for a donation of $200; to Drs. Thirkield and Haven for $25 each; and to the white and colored citizens of Waynesboro for their ready responses to all of their appeals for help. They extend thanks to Bishop Joyce, who left a sick family to be with them last December, and to Mr. Wm. E. Jones for $11 in cash and a ten dollar reflector. The resolutions are signed by Tyla Johnson, Robt. Scruggs, Wm. Coles, Wm. Mathas, A. H. Williams, trustees; and Rev. Josie Jackson, P. C.

Bro. Joseph Winey, Jeannerette, La.

Writes to complain that he is constantly being made to give up for ministers sent by the conference from places he has opened up. He says he has bought and paid for a lot at Patonville, and that he has had to give it up to Rev. M. J. Dyer, the pastor recently appointed there by the conference, although he has been knocking at the door of the conference for years without success. That's right, beloved brother, keep on doing pioneer work. The Lord did not intend that every one should be pastors; for "He gave some apostles, and some prophets, and some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers." Be contented therefore in whatever station the Lord has appointed you to serve, until he makes it evident to the Church that you are called to something else.

Bro. L. L. Veal, Jr., writes us a plea in favor of education.

Josie A. Bennett, Marion, Ala.

I cannot help but write something concerning the Central Alabama Conference, which convened at this place Jan. 29, 1891. I enjoyed it ever so much. I go to the Lincoln Normal Institute, but when conference commenced I forsook the school building and attended conference. I do not regret the time that I spent attending conference, for I was perfectly delighted in listening to the excellent lecture of Dr. Payne on Thursday night, and the glorious sermon of Rev. A. N. Jackson on Friday night. On Sunday morning an excellent sermon was preached by Bishop Andrews, and I cannot express how I enjoyed the sermon by Dr. Albert on Sunday night.

Rev. S. S. Wright, Natchitoches, La.

Was surprised by a party of young ladies and gentlemen on the 16th of February, with many good things. They called at a late hour in the night.

Mary Eliza Baldwin, Anderson, Texas.

Our Presiding Elder, Rev. W. H. Logan, held his first quarterly conference here Feb. 17, 18. He preached two heart-felt sermons and administered the Lord's Supper to about twenty-eight members. Collection, $6.65. We are few in number, but we had a grand time.

James A. Burns, Pearlington, Miss.

Under the leadership of Rev. O. H. Flowers, Holmes Chapel M. E. Church has done a great and grand work in building a parsonage. The have raised enough to buy the ground, which cost $120. Last week $55.95 was collected at the rally. We are sanguine of ultimate success.

Miss Nettie Patterson, Durant, Miss.

is teaching a very large and prosperous school there, and takes much interest in every church and Sunday school enterprise.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I want to find my brothers and sisters. We all were owned by Howard Cannon, in Sumter county, Ala. Our father was Rev. Hamilton Cannon. He was a Methodist preacher. He had to run away the first year of the surrender because he told the people that they were free. I was a small boy about six years old then. He went to Mobile, Ala., and I heard afterwards that he died. Brothers' names are Haley, Wade, Westley, Henderson, John, Gustave and James, all owned by Cannon. Sister's name was Ellen. Any one knowing any of these please address, S. H. CANNON, Enola, Miss.

Mr. Editor: Hannah Glover, of Stoney Point, wishes to advertise for her sister, Mary Von. Her husband's name was Tom Von, oldest boy Phm Von, and daughter Bell Von. They left Stoney Point for Texas with their master. Any information concerning her and her family will be thankfully received by her sister.

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile us in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1.50, cash; otherwise, $2.

Results of the Consumption Remedy.

From what is now known, it seems likely that about six weeks will be required to rid patients in the early stage of consumption of the symptoms of their disease. Whether this does or does not mean the complete cure of the disease is at present a question which will be answered conclusively by patients treated in hospital wards. It is in the highest degree probable, as every bacteriologist will understand, that relapses will occur. They must be treated on the principles already laid down by Koch, and their importance as a factor in the ending of the case must be worked out in public hospital practice. This I can say concerning the success which attends the use of this remedy in tuberculosis. I have never seen in a considerable series of cases treated by any remedy such uniformly good results, nor results so favorable to the patients. I do not, in what I have just said, include cases of advanced lung tubercle. Of that class of patients I have seen too few treated in the new way to entitle me to speak of them from my own knowledge. What we have heard and read of such cases in connection with this treatment leads us to expect at most temporary amelioration of their condition. Attention can not be too forcibly drawn to what Koch says, in his paper of November 14, concerning the grave responsibility which will in future rest upon medical men, who leave any means untried to diagnose tubercular disease in its earliest stages.—From Dr. Koch's Method of treating Consumption, by Dr. G. A. Heron, in The Popular Science Monthly for March.

THE Quarter-Centennial Jubilee Services issued by Drs. Hartzell, Gray and Chadwick for the use of public congregations in the morning and for young people's service at night, are most excellent. The music and responsive readings cannot fail to inspire any audience with the importance of our educational work in the South. These services are furnished free to any pastor who will use them, and the plea of the society is that during this Quarter-Centennial year of 1891, every pastor in Methodism will give a day to the presentation of this cause to his people.

Rev. George K. Morris, D. D., pastor of St. Paul Church, Cincinnati, in speaking of the young people's service says:

"This program was used Sunday evening, January 25th, in St. Paul Church, Cincinnati, by the large congregation worshipping there. The people, young and old, entered heartily into the service. The interest increased to the last moment. When the 'Battle Hymn of the Republic' was sung, toward the close, the rich chords rolled forth from the great organ, swelled into sublimity by strong voices, until the solid masonry trembled as if in sympathy with the 'Glory Hallelujah' of the chorus. The effect of the service was good. Much valuable information was imparted in a way that aroused fresh interest in the important work of Southern education. Nor did the spiritual tone of the church suffer. Why should it? True religion is never harmed by the earnest presentation of the practical side of christianity."

Any pastor desiring the services, either for the regular congregation or for the young people, can secure them by addressing Rev. J. O. Hartzell, D. D., Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE man who has the pious fear of God in his heart, so that he seeks to please and obey God, has no occasion for any other fear. God is sure to be his protector any where, and at all times. He need not be afraid of death or hell. Dying will do him no harm, and, as to hell, he has the assurance of the Bible that God has not appointed him unto wrath, but to obtain salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ.

AMERICAN Citizen's Equal Rights Fund to test separate car law, Mr. Cornelius Smith, Baton Rouge, $1.

WRITE plainly, and only on one side of the paper, or the inevitable waste basket will be the portion of your choicest literary efforts.

THE teatro, the dance and the card table are a trinity of evils that no christian should have any dealings with. They are destructive of piety and chastity, and the wonder is that any one of them is tolerated, much less patronized by our decent and God-fearing people. Every member of the Methodist Episcopal Church has taken a solemn vow not to patronize them, and no one should be permitted to do so without meeting his just penalty.

GEORGIA, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, and now Arkansas, have adopted separate car laws, for the separation of the races on the railways of those States. Is it not time that the millions of Negroes in those States should band themselves together to raise funds to test the constitutionality of such monstrous measures? Unless our people are satisfied to cowardly admit that they deserve this badge of inferiority, they will arise in their might and see to it that the Supreme Court of the United States shall pass upon this obnoxious class legislation. Every friend of liberty is earnestly exhorted to read the appeal of the American Citizen's Equal Rights Association of Louisiana published in last week's paper, and to contribute to the cause of testing these laws. Send contributions to Dr. J. T. Newman, corner of Canal and Marais streets, New Orleans.

THE Associated Press dispatches of Feb. 23 inform us that the Methodist ministers and churches of Chicago and vicinity celebrated the quarter-centennial jubilee of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society last Sunday. Among those present were the following who are identified with the work of the society: Rev. Drs. J. F. Spence, chancellor of Grant University, Chattanooga, Tenn.; S. J. Chadwick and E. W. S. Hammond, Covington, Ky.; Hickman, of Clark University, Atlanta, Ga.; and Prof. Sedgwick, of Nashville, and G. C. Draper, of Fort Worth, Tex. Reports from half a dozen of the 159 churches in which collections were made for the society, showed collections of over $3300, double that collected last year. The total amount collected, it is expected, will reach $25,000. Let the whole church rejoice.

Until Dr. J. F. Spence manages to explain away his unwarranted and heartless methods and suggestions, which he would have the church and nation accept as a righteous (!) solution of the Negro problem, the whole race, especially those in our church, will look with indignant protestation upon his appearance as the central figure in the demonstrations gotten up in honor of the quarter centennial of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which are now being held in all parts of this country. Our people, for whose special benefit this society was organized twenty-five years ago, protest against it.

Reformation in the Ministry.

While we do not endorse, but rather repudiate the wholesale charges of corruption and ignorance in the colored ministry in the South, which Prof. B. T. Washington and Bishop Payne have made against them, we are strongly of the opinion that some good will result from the discussion brought out by those serious charges. There is no doubt that great looseness has been winked at or looked over, in the past, which gave occasion for these charges. Let us profit by them in girding up the loins of our ministry in these exposed particulars as never before. A minister of the Gospel should be distinguished for learning and above suspicion. To this end our conferences should see to it that no one is advanced until he has all the books and has actually mastered every branch in his required course of studies; and a strict enquiry should be made in the annual examination of character, of all the preachers, and none should be permitted to pass until every rumor or charge against him is fully investigated and found to be without foundation. Too much carelessness has been permitted in such matters, much to the detriment of the men and the cause. Too many of the preachers find some excuses for leaving their wives hundreds of miles from their work. Our bishops, presiding elders and conferences should insist upon it that all the preachers must take their wives with them, and live with them on their works, in an exemplary manner before their people, or else retire from our ministry. This should be insisted upon in every case, except in such exceptional cases as readily commend themselves to the whole church and conference. More sin and wickedness spring from this source than possibly can be imagined, and should no longer be tolerated. The times are pregnant with positive reformation in this matter. Every interest of Christ and his Church demands it. The ministry is not respected as it should and used to be. Men are afraid or unwilling that ministers should visit their families, all because of the evil and terrible rumors that hang around certain ministers. No man should be permitted to remain in our ministry against whom such rumors exist. Let us have a reformation, and "let no guilty man escape." The tocsin has been sounded, and from henceforth the watchwords are, "Reformation, intelligence and character, pure and unimpeachable. Let all those who are not prepared to stand the test, quietly retire before they are forcibly ousted. Let all our sister denominations that are, and should be equally jealous for the purity and progress of Zion, see to it that immoral and spotted moral lepers are not permitted to jump from church to church as they are cornered in their immoralities and inefficiency, and a better day will dawn upon the churches. Will they do it? May high Heaven grant it; and may Zion thus prosper and bloom as the garden of the Lord, as He designed it should.

The "Epworth Herald" and Our Church in the South.

The Epworth Herald of Jan. 31, gives a fine summary of "Our Church in the South, and puts its membership at 500,000. But it winds up with the remarkable words: "We have no disposition to discuss in this connection the question of the propriety of our Church entering that great Southern field. Many good people in that region doubt it." (The italics are ours.) The only ones we have ever known to doubt it were the same people who doubted the "propriety" of the Emancipation Proclamation and all that followed. We hope the Epworth Herald will see the propriety of these remarks.

The President has appointed the Hon. James Hill as postmaster of Vicksburg, Miss. The white, unwashed democracy of that city have filed their protest against the appointment of a Negro as their postmaster. Mr. Hill, however, is a worthy representative of the class of citizens that make up the majority of the bona fide citizens of that State, and we do not apprehend that the President will recede from his appointment, or that the Senate will refuse to confirm the appointment.

The Fifty-First Congress expired last Wednesday, March 4, amid a great rush of very important business. We go to press too early to report what important legislation failed to pass.

Hon. H. W. Blair, of New Hampshire, whose senatorial term expired March 4, has been appointed and confirmed as U. S. Minister to China.

The senatorial fight in Illinois continues undecided, without any foreshadowing of what the result will be.

The parties are getting in trim for the next presidential campaign, and it behooves our people to begin to lay their plans to see that a few federal officials, whose claims to party consideration are only based upon their undefinable position in politics and their official tenure, do not manipulate the party convention. Let our people prove to those unworthy minions that they are no longer chattels, but manly men, that cannot be controlled by bosses of whatever prestige and patronage, and that cannot be bought with money. Get ready for the fray.

Personal.

The burial of Mr. A. O. Williams, only son of Prof. and Mrs. A. P. Williams, last Sunday, was one of the largest that has occurred among our people here for a long time. It showed the high esteem in which this excellent young man and his parents are held by their host of friends in this city. May the gracious Comforter support and comfort the bereaved ones.

After a siege of several weeks' sickness among the dear ones of his household, Rev. W. P. McLaughlin rejoices in the convalescence of the last one thus afflicted in his home.

We regret very much to learn of the very serious illness of Rev. Robt. T. Kent, at Onaloden, Ga. Bro. Kent is one of the fathers of Methodism in Georgia, and now in his old age is deserving of the kindest consideration of the younger brethren who are now in charge of the conference, and who are very largely the fruits of his own ministerial labors. We hope Bro. Kent will soon be well again.

Mary Garnet Barboza, aged forty five, died on Dec. 2, 1890, at Breworsville, a town on the St. Paul's river, in Liberia. Mrs. Barboza was the daughter of the celebrated Negro abolitionist, Henry Highland Garnet. She inherited many of her father's great qualities, and influenced by his great example even in her younger days, devoted her energies to the task of improving her people. While active in this direction she had the peculiar privilege of teaching in the first free colored school which was opened in Washington in 1863. At this time feeling ran high against those engaged in teaching the Negroes, and as a consequence this young teacher of black children daily came in contact with many dangers, until Secretary Stanton found it necessary to detail a squad of soldiers to protect her on her way to and from school. After the war she continued her labors among the American blacks until her father was appointed the United States Minister to Liberia, when she accepted a commission from the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, and accompanied her father to Africa. Minister Garnet lived but seven weeks after his arrival at his post of duty, but his daughter remained to carry out the work to which she had devoted her life. For two years she continued to labor under the auspices of the American Association, but feeling that she could do more effective work if independent, she severed this connection. She then visited both the United States and England, and secured many earnest friends for the two hundred native children whom she had gathered around her in an African village. Mrs. Barboza leaves two girl children behind her, one of whom is in Africa, and the other is being educated in Philadelphia. The latter will graduate in June of this year, and will leave at once for Liberia, where she expects to continue her mother's work.

Henry Highland Garnet, the father of the subject of the foregoing note, was for many years pastor of the Shiloh Presbyterian Church, in this city. He was without an admixture of Caucasian blood, but was superior in intellectual ability to any other person of African descent, occupying a prominent position in this country. He was logical, a master of English, self contained, and worthy of a place in the United States Senate, on the bench of bishops of any church, or the presidency of any college.—Christian Advocate.

Samuel Bayliss, father of the late Dr. J. H. Bayliss, editor of the Western Christian Advocate, died at East Ansonia, N. Y. Feb. 14 and was buried Feb. 17. He was the last of the family. Mrs. J. H. Bayliss came from Evanston to attend the funeral.

Dean G. W. Hubbard, M. D., of the Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn., delivered his annual course of lectures at the New Orleans University Medical School last week. His subjects were Electro Therapeutics, and Hygiene.

Dr. T. A. Walker, of Baton Rouge delivered his annual course on Gynecology. The lectures were highly commented upon by the class and all who heard them. The Doctors made pleasant calls during their stay here. Dr. Hubbard and wife took a trip up the Mississippi during their stay here. They were delighted with what they saw and heard.

Rev. J. W. Holland, of Delphos, Ohio, a member of the Central Ohio Conference was in the city last week, and paid us several appreciated visits.

Revs. H. J. Wright, of Donaldsonville, and S. Mitchell of Hahnville, and B. Bolden of Fairmount, were in the city last week, and called.

Ex Governor Kellogg, who is always welcome among us, and whose friendly attitude toward our people is universally recognized, was among our callers last week. He will remain here a week or two longer before his return to Washington, D. C.

We extend congratulations to Rev. I. L. Pratt, of Moss Point, Miss., upon his recent marriage to Miss E. B. Morris, of Starkville, Miss. May all their days be bright and their pathway strewn with flowers.

City Church Notes.

[Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.]

Bishop Mallalieu, as abundant in labor as ever, preached a wonderful sermon at First Street Church, Sunday, Feb. 22. The pastor, Rev. T. G. Montgomery, was assisted by Rev. J. F. Marshall. The year opens up nicely there.

Boynton Chapel, Gretna, Rev. H. C. Wilson pastor, was favored with very edifying sermons by Revs. Emperor Williams and Thos. McCary, Sunday, Feb. 22.

The centennial anniversary of the death of John Wesley was observed in many of our churches last Sunday. Last Monday it was observed with very becoming services at Wesley Chapel, Rev. F. T. Chinn, pastor. Among the principal speakers were Bishop Mallalieu, Revs. J. T. Marshall, L. Lyon, Emperor Williams, Dr. A. E. P. Albert and others. The services were well attended.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered at nearly all of our city churches last Sunday. The congregations were large and the services were solemnly interesting.

Wesley chapel Choir Circle was organized Wednesday night Feb. 27th, for the purpose of raising funds for the rebuilding of their church. The following officers were elected, viz. James Bumbry Sr., president, John Collins, vice president, Lady officers, Mrs. Nox president, Mrs. Howard vice president, Mrs. L. Courtney treasurer, George Biggs secretary. Twenty-three persons enrolled their names as members.

Books and Current Literature.

The "Methodist Review."

The Methodist Review for March-April presents a valuable table of contents. Professor W. G. Williams presents a critical and exegetical article on "Paul's Epistle to the Romans," as the second in the series on New Testament books. From Berlin, Germany, Rev. C. W. Rishell writes, comprehensively on "The Ritschlian Theology." The symposium on "The Christian Sabbath" is a forcible claim for the maintenance of this holy institution; the three contributors, Drs. L. R. Fiske, J. M. Durrell, and J. C. W. Cox, have spoken wisely on the observance of the Lord's day. Sanford Hunt, D.D., introduces a subject of great interest in his able discussion of "The Two-House Plan," and one which will receive the attention of the next General Conference. "Tendencies in American Economics," by G. H. Dryer, D.D., is a continuation of the sociological discussions which the Review is this year maintaining. A most unique portrayal of St. Paul's experiences is given by Isaac Crook, D.D., under the title "From Ephesus to Rome." The Hon. E. L. Fancher has also written instructively in his "Hymnody of the Christian Church."

The editorial departments maintain their high and varied character. Under "Current Discussions" the three editorials deserves particular comment. "Was Jesus the Subject of Old Testament Prophecy?" is a timely and masterly discussion of a fundamental question. "Edward Bellamy's New Civilization" is likewise pertinent, shows the fallacy of the Bellamy scheme, and points out the modifications needed in the present social system. "The Eligibility of Women Not a Scriptural Question" will be widely read as a contribution which relieves the debate of many embarrassments and places it on its true foundation. The spirit of the editorial is that the question, whatever its merit, is not settled by the Scripture, and is therefore left to the decision of the churches. The remaining editorial matter, such as "Opinion," "Progress of Civilization," "The Arena," "The Itinerant's Club," "Foreign Resume," and "Editorial Reviews," deserves detailed notice for its varied and scholarly character. For these and other reasons the current number of the Review is unsurpassed and merits the careful notice of the church.

With the number for March "The Forum" begins its eleventh volume. Throughout the whole period of the ten volumes now finished the publishers announce that there has been an uninterrupted increase of their business—an indication of the steady growth of the popular interest in the free discussion of the most important subjects of the time. So great has been the growth of the magazine that it is necessary to procure larger office room than the quarters now occupied by "The Forum," which, three years ago, seemed large enough for an indefinite period. The contents for March are: The Nicaragua Canal, by Senator John Sherman; Silver as a Circulating Medium, by George E. Bontwell, former Secretary of the Treasury; Do We Hate England? by Bishop A. Cleveland Cox, a plea for the peaceful settlement of our dispute with Great Britain; The Shibboleth of "The People," by W. S. Lilly, an examination of government by the majority and of the modern faith in numbers instead of moral force; Freedom of Religious Discussion, by Prof. Max Muller, a plea, from an orthodox point of view, for the fullest religious discussion; Our Bargain with the Inventor, by Park Benjamin, an explanation of the practical workings of our patent system and a proposed reform; The Ring and the Trust, by Dr. William Barry, how the consolidation of great industries is preparing the way for some form of state socialism; Railways Under Government Control, by W. M. Acworth, a special student of English railway problems, the effects of private and government ownership, and an argument for the former; Russian Treatment of Jewish Subjects, P. G. Hubert, Jr., a specific explanation of Russian persecution, its effect on immigration; Formative Influences, Martha J. Lamb, an autobiographical essay by the author of the "History of the City of New York;" A New Policy for the Public Schools, by John Bascom, the conflict with parochial schools in the Northwest. The price of "The Forum" is 50c. a copy, $5 a year; and it is published by The Forum Publishing Company, New York.

"Therapeutic Sarcognomy: a New Science of Soul Brain and Body," a forthcoming work from the house of the J. G. Cripples Co., Boston, is a book of as highly sensational and attractive a character as is to be found in the realms of science. It makes a total revolution in physiology and medical philosophy, by presenting in one systematic view the functions of the brain, the body and the soul, with their exact anatomical connections and complex relations. Upon this view it develops a new system of practice in disease, and of hygienic laws for all, with a new electro-therapeutics and method of diagnosis. The idea and experiments are singularly novel, but are strongly endorsed by colleges and investigating committees.

The author, Prof. J. R. Buchanan, is well known as a forcible and brilliant writer upon scientific and reformatory subjects, who has long been prominent in the medical profession, and whose scientific views and discoveries have attracted attention in Europe.

There is in New York a unique literary organization known as The New York Story Club. It is made up of the lovers and tellers of good stories who have gathered a great number of romances from many lands—the aim being to get together the very best and most thrilling stories of all nations and all climes, and illustrative of all sorts of interesting experiences.

The Club has decided, to make up an issue monthly a group of them, under the name of Romance. It is prettily printed. The February number contains twenty complete stories. The underlying idea of the collection is a protest against long, dull and mandarin stories. Romance will be published monthly for The New York Story Club by O. A. Watson, Fourteenth Street and Fifth Avenue, New York, 25 cents a copy, $3.00 a year. It and our paper both for $3.25.

to pour and powder over the medical sciences for an equipment for the duties of the medical profession, in alleviating and preventing the excruciating pains of suffering humanity. It is indeed a profound pleasure that I have the distinguished honor to bid you a most hearty welcome.

Dear Class-mates: The fifteenth anniversary of the Meharry Medical Department brings to us a hopeful, brilliant future, and yet one of many responsibilities. Within a few days we shall all be thrown out into the great arena of life to face the stern realities and vicissitudes of the future, and may we not go out unwilling, but with intrinsic motives, with interest, zeal, and an invincible determination to do all in the power of the medical expert, to alleviate suffering humanity, not only at the bedside, but among those who are heathen in morals, heathen in intellect, and ignorant as to true principles of sobriety, frugality or genuine christianity. It remains for the class of '91 to scatter seeds of instruction among this unfortunate class of human beings, thus raising them from these degrading influences and evil propensities, which tend to devitalize the system; promote disease, and hence add to mortality. When we shall have accomplished this, we shall not only have aided in solving the race problem; but yea more, we shall do that which is the charm and glory of man's desire, add to health, beauty, and life. We are the true factors, on which the future power, of the race, whom we represent depends. If we fail, or if we deceive the millions who are awaiting us, the posterity of the race will lie fettered beneath the feet of other nations; and God will send no more Lincolns, no more Garrigans, no more Bratens, no more Hubbards, and no more Meharrys (and hence the second slavery will be worse than the first). Let us remember that the success of dear old Meharry, and not only Meharry, but of all other educational schools of color, depends partly upon our success: the race (for which they were founded) depends upon their success; and our success or failure depends not so much upon the medical skill, or general knowledge we possess, as upon the character, or habits of life which we form. The responsibilities of this the most brilliant and lustrous period of the nineteenth century, the responsibilities of the avocation, the responsibilities upon us as representatives of a race, pride and intelligence should burn into our hearts a determination to know no second place in the arena of medicine—in all its phases—theory and practice, investigations and discoveries.

As we have already learned, now let us demonstrate to the world, that a knowledge of the science of medicine, or of any other science does not find its foundation in the condition of the hair, nor in the color of the skin—but the glory of the poet is, God made the center of knowledge and intelligence in the brain.

Christ suffered and died to redeem the world from sin—we are to redeem the race from the cursed stain which has been stamped upon it. It may not be requisite that we should hang upon the cross, to blot out of existence this unpardonable disgrace, but time, patience, intelligence, and morality will certainly accomplish the desired end.

Dr. N. G. Tucker delivered the charge to the medical graduates. Dr. G. W. Hubbard then addressed the graduating class in pharmacy. He said that it was the first class that had taken an entire course in the Meharry Pharmaceutical Department, and that they would be pioneers in a new field of labor, which as yet had not been occupied, and that they should be careful to cultivate friendly relations with the white physicians and pharmacists of the cities where they located. Great diligence, business tact and prudence is required to conduct a drug store successfully; and they should not sell intoxicants except for strictly medicinal purposes. The sale of patent medicines frequently gave the druggist only a small profit, while the manufacturers amassed immense fortunes. A thorough and practical knowledge of microscopy would be found to be extremely useful to pharmacists. Sunday sales should be confined to medicine and articles necessary for the comfort and welfare of the sick only.

President Braden then conferred the degree of M. D., on the following young men: G. S. Barruss, O. I. Cain, J. D. Davis, J. P. Crawford, A. O. Lockhart, N. V. Lynx, O. G. Merritt, O. C. Queen, C. S. Robinson, W. C. Seales, G. R. Thomas, W. F. Warren, S. J. Watkins, G. W. Bunn received the degree of D. D. S., and J. M. Beverly, R. W. Allen and E. S. Randals received diplomas certifying that they had completed the pharmaceutical course of study.

Dr. R. O. Tucker's prize for excellency in obstetrics was awarded to O. C. Queen, who also received a gold star eagle, offered by Dr. W. A. Sinclair, of Washington, D. C., who is a member of the class of '87, for the highest standing in all the branches of the senior year.

As the diplomas and prizes were distributed the winners were heartily applauded by their friends in the audience.

The past session is conceded to have been the most prosperous known in the history of Meharry.

Eighty medical, five dental and nine pharmaceutical students have been enrolled. For the first time since its foundation the students have enjoyed clinical advantages at the city hospital. More than one-half of the educated colored physicians of the Southern States are graduates from the Meharry College. With scarcely an exception they have been cordially received by the white physicians, who have consulted with them in dangerous cases, and assisted in difficult surgical operations.

The course of study is graded, and it requires three sessions of attendance to complete it. Before graduation each student is required to pass a written examination in every branch of study laid down in the course, and obtain 75 per cent on the same; and practical work is required in the chemical laboratory during two sessions.

Dr. J. B. Lindsay and Senator Early, of Chattanooga, closed the exercises by short speeches of encouragement and praise, which were both appropriate and sincere.

The happy graduates parted with their friends, singing with ringing emphasis an old-fashioned hymn.

Injustice to Mr. Richardson.

WILEY UNIVERSITY, MARSHALL, TEX., February 28, 1891.

I read the article signed "Students of Wiley University," in your paper of this date with much surprise. It is very unjust to Mr. Richardson. Very few of the students of Wiley University ever saw that article. There were doubtless many things in the lecture referred to that would have been better unsaid, but there are as many false statements in the article as there were in the lecture. It is indeed too true that many Negroes cannot stand a little truth if it happens to hit them too hard. Many of Mr. Richardson's statements were altered so as to be almost entirely different, and nearly every thing else in the article was an exaggeration. The statement that every student and teacher had to hide his (or her) head in shame was entirely false. Although I did not think much of Mr. Richardson's lecture, I do not like to see him so basely slandered.

JOHN H. WHITAKER.

We know absolutely nothing of this matter further than that the statements incorporated in this "students'" letter was vouched for by a prominent professor in the faculty of Wiley University. His letter is now on file in this office, and upon his credibility we admitted the students' letter in our columns. We regret the contradictory phase this question has assumed, but we are not responsible for it.

In exonerating Mr. Richardson, however, Bro. Whitaker makes a charge against the Negro which we are free to say that he cannot substantiate. How dares Bro. Whitaker to say that "Negroes cannot stand a little truth, if it hits them too hard?" Does he not know that just to the extent that the truth hits "too hard," just in that proportion it becomes a lie and not the truth?

A statement may be a truth, but when carried too far or exaggerated beyond proper limits, is no longer a truth but a base falsehood, deserving of the stoniest denial and protestation. If the Professor who heard the lecture and gave us the facts is to be credited Mr. Richardson's lecture hit just too hard, or in other words, made things worse than they really were, hence did not abide strictly in the truth, and thereby gave ample reason for the outrage felt and expressed by the students of Wiley University.

The Medical School of New Orleans University, which has enjoyed such a successful year under the direction of Drs. Mullon, Clement, Walker, Hubbard and Prof. Clement, closed its second annual session last Friday. This was a very satisfactory year, and the eight or more young men who were in attendance are hopeful of the future. Next year this school will send out its first class of medical graduates, fully equipped for their work and the ready fields that await them. This school should matriculate not less than 100 young men next October. Suppose you prepare to enter? If otherwise qualified you will never regret it. The field of medicine is now the most promising of any to our aspiring and worthy young men. Let Bishop Mallalieu, the patron and founder of this great institution for our people, rejoice in the attendance of a hundred or more next session.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallalieu, is worth the price of the book.

How To Win Converts Who Remain.

BY THOMAS CHAMPNESS.

Some young preachers have felt at different times sorely tried by the want of stability in some of those who professed conversion. It is a sad disappointment when we have had a few persons apparently seeking salvation, but who relapse into carelessness and apathy upon religious subjects, or worse still, plunge into reckless sin. Some of us have been ready to weep when one of the leaders has said to us, "You remember that young fellow who went into the inquiry-room the last time you were here? Well, he's got back again, and is more careless than ever." But what is to be done? We reply, DO NOT REST SHORT OF CONVICTION.

There is not in these days the desire on the part of some preachers to produce the sort of repentance that makes a soul sick of sin. Here is where the power of the Spirit of God comes in. Nothing will do in the place of the good offices of the Holy Ghost. This can only be obtained in answer to prayer; and in the case of far too many of us we are weak in the matter of ory to God. We soon become weary of calling upon the name of the Lord. In the Pentecostal times the preachers were filled with the Spirit, the tongues which appeared over their heads were fiery—tongues which spoke words which burned! Is not this what is needed to-day? Our sermons are forgotten. What we say does not remain; but if we could speak with our ideas would make the conscience

TONGUES OF FLAME,

smart, and the memory ache with the thought of past transgression, and the liability to future wrongdoing.

We would say further: Never let us make the mistake of thinking the inquiry room is the strait gate. It is a much easier thing, under the excitement of sympathy, and entreaty, as well as example, to go into a vestry, than it is to give up sinful practices and evil thoughts. When the young ruler came to Jesus he kneeled before him. This was done on the highway. This enquirer would have found it easy to have left a pew, and have gone with others to seek the Lord; but he could not take the advice of the Master, and

PART WITH HIS WEALTH, even for the sake of the poor. We shall find not a few put "coming out," as it is called, in the place of giving up sin, and forsaking evil. Then, as the excitement passes away, and they are confronted with the fight with evil, in some time of loneliness or fierce temptation, they give way.

HOMELETICS.

Would it not be well if we preached more on counting the cost, setting before our hearers the two sides of the question, letting them see the risk they run of imperfect work? It is quite true that the Gospel tells us of salvation free—a redemption to which we contribute nothing. But while free, it is not cheap. He who expects that he can be saved from sin and all its consequences without having to smart for it, is under a terrible mistake. Our forefathers in the pulpit perhaps, erred here, in keeping their awakened ones too long in the Slough of Despond, and in making the distance between the wicket-gate and the place where the burden fell too great. But it is yet true that at those who wish to enter in, and that Apollyon will try to slay us before we have got far on the path to the city. Let us then urge our hearers to count the cost, before they leave their pews for the place where they may be instructed in the way of peace.

THE ARCHERS SHOOT

If those who are seeking for salvation understood more of the guiltiness of sin; if they searched the Scripture to see what God thinks of evil; if they understood that it needed the sacrifice of a divine offering before the claims of the law could be met, then they would adore the love that bled for them, and feel a gratitude for Jesus which would make temptation lose its power, and evil habit its charm. Here is a subject which we invite the young preacher to study—the heinousness of transgression. Let us preach this more and more, and then there will be less carping at the doctrine of the punishment of evil, and more faith in that redemption which is precious to God, and magnetic towards man.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

THE jury to try the Dagoes on trial for the murder of Chief Hennessey, has finally been completed, and the court is progressing with the case. As we go to press it is reported that one of the suspects has made a confession of his guilt. The assassination of the Chief was one of the most daring and heartless ever perpetrated in this city; and every law-abiding citizen, of whatever race or nationality, hopes that no guilty man will be permitted to escape.

THOMAS Carlyle never uttered a more sublime fact than in the following: "Be not disturbed by infidelity. Religion cannot pass away. The burning of a little straw may hide the stars, but the stars are there, and will reappear."

Obituary.

Feb. 13, 1891, Rhoda Richardson, a young member of Wesley Chapel M. E. Church, died in full triumph of faith. Baton Rouge, La. W. R. Butler, P. C.

Sister Eliza Henderson departed this life Dec. 11, 1890. She was sick eight days. She was a member of Fairview M. E. Church. She was a faithful member and had spent thirty years of her life in the church. She devoted her time to God and lived to be 62 years old. She and Father Jack Henderson had been together forty odd years as devoted wife and husband. They had fifteen children, and grand-children accordingly. She leaves them all behind to mourn her loss, but we thank God that our loss is heaven's eternal gain. Just before she died she told them that there was not anything between her and her Savior. The funeral was attended by Bro. F. McDonald, assisted by Rev. H. C. Colman, of the Baptist Church.

Little Jake Freeman, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Freeman, died at home, at Roseneath, Yazoo county, Miss., Sunday, Feb. 1, 1891, at the age of 10 years. His father died a few months before, leaving a widow and five children. Little Jake was conscious to the last, and feeling the responsibilities cast upon his mother, called his relatives to his bedside just before expiring and asked them if they would help his mother pay the doctor bills and funeral expenses? During the summer protracted meeting, little Jake professed religion and has ever since lived a devout christian. He was a student of the Dickson public school, and Prof. King A. Scott, of Alton, Ill., his teacher. Little Jake loved his teacher and learned very fast; was a natural genius; though only 10 years old, he had contrived several mechanical inventions that surprised the public. The funeral procession formed in front of the residence, with the school children following the relatives, and marched to the church, where the funeral was conducted by Rev. James M. Dickson. The body was interred in Holly Grove Cemetery, Monday, Feb. 8, at 4 o'clock p. m.

Sister Matilda Johnson departed this life Feb. 4, 1891. She was about 70 years old, and had been a member of the church 11 years. She died in full triumph of faith. She leaves a husband, six children, several grand-children and a host of friends.

Sister Louise Moore departed this life Feb. 8, 1891, aged about 65 years. She died in full triumph of faith.

Mr. Richmond Scott departed this life Feb. 13, aged about 40 years. Mansfield, La. A. B. Venahle.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 22, Sister Delia Stones, one of the members of St. Paul M. E. Church, departed this life. She was about 85 years old and had been blind quite a number of years. Her funeral was attended by the pastor and Presiding Elder of Waco District.

Miss Sarah Clemens, a faithful member of the Baptist Church, died Jan. 30. She was a true and faithful worker, and a faithful member in Sunday school. While it is our loss, it is her gain. We pray God's blessings on her mother. I was with her when she died. Lonoke, Ark. B. J. Griffin.

Sister Shollett Odum died Jan. 27, 1891. She was a member of the M. E. Church 23 years and 4 months. Sister Odum was a faithful member and died in full triumph of faith. Her funeral was conducted by our beloved pastor, Braxton Bolden, and J. R. Williams. Fairmount circuit, St. James M. E. Church, Rev. B. Bolden, pastor.

Bro. John Foley slept away in Jesus Jan. 23, 1891, after an illness of two weeks. He was born in Wilson county, Miss., March, 1829; joined the M. E. Church in 1866, and remained a member until his death. He leaves his wife, seven children and many friends to mourn him. May God take care of the bereaved family. Kendleton, Tex. N. Axel.

Meridian, Miss.—Sister Hannah Cummings, a member of the M. E. Church at Hickory, died in Meridian, at her daughter's, Jan. 30, 1891, and was buried at Hickory Feb. 15. She was a faithful worker for the church. She leaves two sons, two daughters and several grand-children. P. Blue, P. C.

Columbia, Brazoria county, Texas.—Sister Viola Warren was called from labor to reward Feb. 15, at 12 m., after being ill about 5 days. She was born in Fort Bond county, Texas, in 1868. Age, 22. She was married to Mr. Dixie Warren in 1885, and lived a faithful and loving wife up to death. She was converted, and joined the M. E. Church at Richmond, Texas, under the pastorate of Rev. A. C. Culbreath, in 1888, and lived a faithful member up to her death. She leaves four brothers, five sisters, a loving husband, one little girl child and a host of friends to mourn her loss. Our loss is heaven's gain. She taught the Bible class in our Sunday school. The Sunday school greatly misses her. She died in full triumph of faith.

A. C. Culbreath, P. C.

Bro. Myr Gooden departed this life Feb. 17, 1891, aged 84 years. He was a faithful member of the M. E. Church for 42 years, and a class leader for 25 years. He leaves a wife, three children and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Paulding, Miss. M. Cooper, P. C.

Jan. 23, 1891, Sister Jane Roose fell asleep in Jesus after a short illness. She died in full triumph of faith. She was one of the faithful gems of St. John's M. E. Church. She was conscious to the very last, and rejoiced to know that she was waiting for the angels to welcome her to the skies. The funeral was conducted by Rev. J. T. Knox, pastor. Natchez, Miss.

Sisters Mary Williams and Mary Meemore died happily in Christ Feb. 9, 1891, leaving sisters and brothers to mourn after them.

Bro. Abb. Brooks passed out of this world in peace Feb. 10, 1891. He had victory over death.

Jefferson, Tex. S. M. Bolden, P. C. Fletcher McGowan departed this life Feb. 5, 1891. He was born January 12, 1872. He died as he lived. He was once a member of the church. He leaves a host of friends to mourn for him. His funeral was largely attended.

Comilla Hill, Cold Springs, Texas.

Madison Harrison departed this life Dec. 19, 1890, at 8 o'clock p. m., and was hurried from his late residence, No. 30 Perrier street. Aged 73. He was a faithful member of Wesley Chapel M. E. Church of New Orleans up to his death, and passed from labor to reward, where the faithful are at rest.

The healthy growth of the baby is dependent upon its freedom from the pernicious effects of opium. Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup is the best remedy known for the diseases of early childhood.

I HAVE been troubled with catarrh for ten years and have tried a number of remedies, but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head. —Geo. E. Crandall, P. M., Quoneebawtaug, R. I.

IN MEMORIAM.

[George Anna, daughter of Horace and Rosa Wade, died near this city Sept. 9, 1890, aged 4 years, 3 months and 11 days.]

Leaves have their times to fall,
But thou, Oh fell, uncertain death,
Must drape in summer thy funeral pall,
And steal from rosebud lips their breath.

The tender bud upon the stem,
The child thou canst not spare,
When life is dear and sweet. Ah! then Shy sudden stroke leaves dark despair.

Do not weep, though passing clouds
Sweep o'er life's summer day;
Nor when a deep gloom o'erspreads
Your ever-changing way.

Through darkest night of gloom look up,
Through densest clouds of care,
Look up to heaven's steadfast light,
And seek a solace there.

The Household.

Hints Which Should Find a Place in Every Lady's Scrap-Book.

To remove spots from marble use a paste of whiting and benzine.

When lifting little children by the wrist, the bones of the arm, not being wholly formed, or rather solidified, are very liable to break. The hands should be placed under the armpits.

A salt ham should be soaked over night in plenty of soft water previous to boiling.

After washing a wooden bowl place it where it will dry equally on all sides, away from the stove.

The French method of administering castor oil to children is to pour the oil into a pan over a moderate fire, break an egg into it and stir it up; when it is done flavor with a little salt or sugar or jelly.

Drink for an invalid: Beat well the yolk of one egg, place in a glass, add white sugar and lemon or vanilla to taste; fill up the glass with milk. Take the white of the egg and beat to a stiff froth and add sugar and flavoring. Place on the top of the glass. This is excellent for invalids.

Fruit stains on white goods can be removed by pouring boiling water directly from the kettle over the spots.

Hive syrup is good for croup or inflammation of the lungs. It must be kept in a cool place, for if it sours it is very poisonous.

If you want poached eggs to look particularly nice, cook each egg in a muffin ring placed in the bottom of a saucepan of boiling water.

It is a common occurrence for children to get beans, grains of corn and other foreign substances up their noses. This simple remedy is worth remembering: Get the child to open its mouth, apply your mouth over it and blow hard. The offending substance will be expelled from its nose.

Suet should be cooked before it is stale. Boil for two or three hours, and then strain through a linen cloth. One-fourth of this fat and three-fourths lard is a good mixture for frying doughnuts.

A very complete filling for open cracks in floors may be made by thoroughly soaking newspaper in a paste made of one pound of flour, three quarts of water, a tablespoonful of alum, thoroughly boiled and mixed; make the final mixture about as thick as putty, and it will harden like papier-mache.

For cleaning brass use a thin paste of plate powder, two table-spoonsful of vinegar, four table-spoonsful of alcohol. Rub with a piece of flannel; polish.

Do not let your landress or washerwoman put clothes into the bleaching water until they have been well shaken. If tossed in while folded as they come through the wringer, they are almost certain to be streaked with bleaching, and although after repeated washings these streaks will come out, every one knows how aggravating it is to see napkins or handkerchiefs that show traces of careless washing.—Boston Budget.

Our Symposium.

Cannibalism in Hayti.
The Haytian terms the sacrifice of a human victim the offering of "the goat without horns," a euphemism for which we can find many parallels. Louisiana is, fortunately, free from this horrible taint, but, from the numerous instances given by St. John, there can be no doubt that the immolation of young people, generally girls, is not uncommon in Hayti. At page 193 he tells us of a scene witnessed by a French priest in the district of Arcabaye in 1869. This man had persuaded some of his parishioners to designate him as a Negro, and to take him to witness the voodoo ceremonies. All went on in the manner that has already been described till after the sacrifice of a white goat and fowl, when a young man came and knelt before the queen and said: "O maman, I have a favor to ask. Give us, to complete the sacrifice, the goat without horns." The queen gave a sign of assent, the crowd in the shed separated, and there was a child sitting with its feet bound. In an instant a rope, already passed through a block, was tightened, the child's feet flew up towards the roof, and the king approached it with a knife. The loud shriek given by the victim aroused the Frenchman to the truth of what was really going on. He shouted, "Oh, spare the child!" and would have rushed forward, but he was seized and hurried from the spot by his friends. There was a short pursuit, but he escaped, and, on reaching the town, strove to induce the police to hasten to the place. They would, however, do nothing till the morning, when they accompanied him to the scene of sacrifice, and found the remains of the feast and the boiled skull of the child.—From Vodun-worship, by Hon. Major A. B. Ellis, in The Popular Science Monthly for March.

The Northern Advocate is forgetful; it says: "This question of the 'Scriptural rule' was not before the conference as an issue at all; it was not raised, it was not discussed and nobody so much as intimated that it influenced his vote one way or the other." If the Northern will turn to page 161 of the Daily Christian Advocate of 1888 it will find the report of a speech by Rev. Dr. A. E. P. Albert, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, in which this position was clearly taken. Dr. Albert should have full credit for having initiated the line of argument of which the New York Advocate has become the champion.—Central.

The Voice

Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such conditions, become not only painful but dangerous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The best of anodynes, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. It improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."
"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and loss of voice. In my profession of an actor, a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such a that I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c."—Win. H. Quarry, Milford, Australia.

"In the spring of 1888, at Fort Smith, Va., I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia. My physician exhausted his remedies, and for one year I was unable to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail."—George R. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS.

BOUNTIES. PENSIONS.

Nearly every soldier who served in the late War is entitled to arrive at pay, clothing or bounty, under the various Acts of Congress.

We give special attention to bounty claims of soldiers who served in the colored troops.

Under the recent law every soldier who is totally or partially unable to earn his living is entitled to pension, whether the disability was contracted in the service or not.

Every widow of a soldier is entitled to a pension under a special law.

Send us a statement of your case immediately as the pension begins from date of filing.

Remember, we charge no fee unless successful and soldiers will never receive what is just to them unless they make application for it.

Our Children's Legion. For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

What Makes a Boy Popular?

What makes a boy popular? Manliness, says Ezekiah Butterworth in The Ladies' Home Journal. During the war, how schools and colleges followed popular boys! These young leaders were the many boys whose hearts could be trusted. The boy who respects his mother has leadership in him. The boy who is careful of his sister is a knight. The boy who will never violate his word, and who will pledge his honor to his own heart and change not, will have the confidence of his fellows. The boy who defends the weak will one day become a hero among the strong. The boy who will never hurt the feelings of any one, will one day find himself in the atmosphere of universal sympathy. "I know not," once said the great Governor Andrew, "what record of sin may await me in another world; but this I do know: I never yet despised a man because he was poor, because he was ignorant, or because he was black."

Shall I tell you how to become a popular boy? I will. Be too manly and generous and unselfish to seek to be popular; be the soul of honor, and love others better than yourself, and people will give you their hearts and delight to make you happy. That is what makes a boy popular.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am 11 years old, and I help mama all I can. My papa is dead, but I remember his last advice to me was to be diligent. He always said that he wanted me to be able to read and write when I was 12 years old. I have been going to mama's school since I was six. I now study in the fifth reader, second arithmetic, geography and history, also first grammar, spelling and writing. I read the Bible and go to Sunday School every Sunday. I often hear mama pray the Lord to make me, brother Albert and cousins in Charlotte his own dear children. Brother Albert and I are juvenile members of the Good Templars. Your visit was so much enjoyed by all, that we wish you could have come earlier. Mama and grandma send their regards to you. I will close by saying good night.

Your Nephew,
JOHNNY A. LANG.

Houma, La.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 15 years old. I have been going to school, but am not going now. Our teacher is Miss Ellen Shepherd. She is such a kind and devoted teacher. I joined the M. E. Church in July, 1889. My father and mother also belong to the same church. We have had a very reviving camp meeting. The last quarterly meeting was a great time among our people. Collection during the quarter, $100. The Elder preached a noble sermon.

Your Niece,
ADALINE JONES.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a member of the M. E. Church and a subscriber to the SOUTHWESTERN. I am delighted with it, and hope the Lord will bless you and the dear ones who take your paper. I will close by saying God bless the SOUTHWESTERN.

JENNIE FLAMBY.

Mountville, Ala.

Dear Uncle Cephas: It has been some time since I have written to you, but I have not forgotten you. I take your paper and read it to my mother and father. I go to school, and our teacher is Miss L. L. Page. All the scholars love her. Our pastor is J. I. Garrett, and everybody likes him. I enjoy reading the Children's Legion.

Yours Niece,
ANNA LAMB.

Deasonville, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 16 years old. My teacher is L. D. Lowery. I went to him four months, but his school is out now. I have three sisters and three brothers. My mother is a member of the Baptist Church. I take the SOUTHWESTERN and enjoy it very much.

Your Niece,
HETTIE ERVINS.

Nnoes Town, Texas.

Dear Uncle Cephas: Our school is closed, and we had a good time. I went through all our lesson exercises, and then Elder Taylor addressed us. In the evening Prof. Carter made the closing address. Our pastor, Rev. A. Britton, has started a protracted meeting, and I pray that he will be successful.

Your Niece,

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 38 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

BUSYBODIES are three times referred to in the Bible, and always with disapproval. They are persons who concern themselves a great deal about the affairs of other persons when they have properly and rightfully nothing to do with them, and should be content to mind their own business. Such persons are a standing nuisance to every circle in which they move. They are usually "exaggerating 'tattlers'" as well as busybodies.

FIRST QUARTER.—LESSON X. Naaman healed. 2 Kings 5, 1-14. Mr. 8, 1891. Commit to memory verses 13-14. B. C. 894.

HOME READINGS.

M. 2 Kings 5, 1-7. Tu. 2 Kings 5, 8-14. W. Luke 4, 21-30. Th. Luke 5, 12-17. F. Luke 17, 11-19. S. Isa. 55, 1-9. S. Psa. 51, 10-17.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases. (Psa. 103, 3.)

LESSON HYMN, C. M.

Jesus, in whom the Godhead's rays Beam forth with mildest majesty, I see thee full of truth and grace, And come for all I want to thee.

Save me from pride—the plague expel; Jesus, thine humble self impart: O let thy mind within me dwell; O give me lowliness of heart.

Enter thyself, and cast out sin; Thy spotless purity bestow: Touch me, and make the leper clean; Wash me, and I am white as snow.

Time—Not long after the last lesson; perhaps B. C. 894.

Places—Damascus, Samaria, the Jordan.

Enlers.—1. The King of Syria, probably Benhadad. 2. The King of Israel, probably Jehoram.

Connecting links—Between the last lesson and this two miracles are reported. During a dearth in Gilgal Elisha by the divine power prevented the effects of poisonous greens which had been accidentally gathered for food. By the same power he fed one hundred men with a meager portion of barley loaves and ears of corn.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. The Captive Maid, v. 1-4. Of what man of valor does the lesson tell?

Why was he held in honor by the king?

What affliction was on him?

What captive had the Syrians taken?

To whom was the maid a servant?

What did she say to her mistress about Naaman?

What report was brought to Naaman?

2. The Royal Letter, v. 5-8. What did the Syrian king say that he would do?

What presents did he send to the King of Israel?

What was the letter which was sent?

How was the King of Israel affected by the letter?

What question did he ask?

What did he think was the purpose of the letter?

3. The Angry Leper, v. 9-13. Who heard of the king's distress?

What message did he send to the king?

What did Naaman then do?

What message did Elisha send to him?

How did Naaman receive this message?

What did he expect Elisha would do?

What did he ask about the rivers of Damascus?

What did his servants say to him?

4. The Miraculous Onre, v. 14. What did Naaman finally do?

What was the effect on his leprosy?

Who alone can cure both body and soul? Golden Text.

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That a child can serve God?

2. That God can bring good out of seeming evil?

3. That God can work great results by small means?

SOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

Read the commands concerning lepers and leprosy given by Moses.

Find the case of a boy, captive in a foreign land, who stood up nobly for God's cause.

Find the case of a little boy whom God selected to be his messenger.

Find as many cases in the New Testament as you can where men excited in feeling rent their clothes.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. What great sorrow had Naaman in the midst of his wealth? He was a leper.

2. Who told Naaman's wife about Elisha? A little captive maid.

3. To whom did the King of Syria send for help for Naaman? To the King of Israel.

4. When at last Naaman came to Elisha, what did the prophet send him word to do? To wash in Jordan seven times.

5. How did that impress Naaman? He became very angry.

6. Who persuaded him to follow the prophet's advice? His servants.

7. What was the result? He was made clean.

Doctrinal suggestion—The de-filement of sin.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

28. What law was given them (our first parents)? The law of perfect obedience. (Gen. 2, 6, 17.)

29. Did our first parents continue holy and happy? They sinned against God, and fell into misery. (Gen. 3, 6.)

30. What is sin? Any transgression of the law of God. (1 John 3, 4.)

"I've got it at last," said the fellow who found his cough subdued by a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

WORKERS FOR CHRIST.

We are toilers in the harvest;
Fields are ripe but reapers few;
Ere the day of His appearing,
There is much for us to do;
Jesus calls us,
To His call may each be true.

W. F. EDGERTON.

EASTER, March 29th, will soon be here. Have you ordered your Easter program? Why not attend to the matter at once?

SAVE the children, brethren. Save them. No more sacred burden is imposed upon the church and ministry, than to see that the lambs of the flock are rescued and fed.

MRS. Neil Nelson was murdered by the clerk that worked for her husband in their store, in this city, last Saturday night. The crime was a dastardly one. The murderer has been arrested.

THE Canadian elections last week showed very clearly the country to be against the annexation and reciprocity sentiment with the United States. The conservatives carried the election by overwhelming majorities.

AN appreciative correspondent, enclosing his subscription, says: "Please send it at once, for I am lonely and cannot be comforted without it. He that has two coats let him sell one and subscribe for the SOUTHWESTERN, for it is the path of light for the race. Send by return mail."

EVERY Methodist church among our people should have connected with it an every day school. The meagre means of education in the South, and the avowed purpose to disfranchise our people, make it absolutely necessary. Let every pastor see to it that the children in his charge have the means and facilities to get a common school education. And let every parent live on bread and water rather than deny his children an education.

A SUNDAY school meeting of considerable interest was held at the Carondelet Street M. E. Church South, to devise ways and means to promote the interest and work of the State Sunday school convention which convenes in this city May 5, 6 and 7, 1891. Let all of our Sunday schools throughout the State prepare to send delegates, and assist to make this convention one of great blessing to our Sunday school work. The Roman Catholic Church is wise in her efforts to capture the young people. Let Protestants profit by their example, and thereby insure the Protestant character of this nation for all the coming future.

What the Ministry of to-day is Doing to Elevate the Freedmen.

[By president Wilbur P. Thirkield, D. D., of Gammon Theological Seminary. An address given before the society for the education of colored youth, and before the late session of the South Carolina Conference, and published in the SOUTHWESTERN by vote of the conference.]

To appreciate the work of to-day among the Freedmen and to properly estimate the demands of the work of to-morrow, we must first glance at the conditions and work of the ministry among the Freedmen of yesterday. Starting with but two positive inheritances from two centuries of slavery—the English language and the Christian religion—without which the achievements here recorded never could have been chronicled, the ministry of the South among the Freedmen has reared the fabric of vigorous and aggressive church organizations, that take their recognized place beside other great Christian bodies of the nation. That this is an achievement without parallel must be granted when we consider it as the work of a people the executive talent of whom had never been developed; a people who never were trained to plan work, or to establish institutions. Though there were models to go by, yet the executive and administrative talent brought into exercise in the organization of the churches among the colored people of the South, furnish an achievement unprecedented so early in the history of any race. At least seventeen thousand church buildings stand as a testimony to the success and permanency of this work. The aggregate value of the church property in churches, parsonages, schools and lands cannot be given, but it reaches according to a very moderate calculation of the value of their church edifices, well along toward fifteen millions of dollars. A membership in the various denominations, has been gathered into the church, aggregating according to the best obtainable statistics, at least two millions, two hundred and thirty-six thousand.

Not the least among the achievements of the ministry among the Freedmen is the conversation of the religious life of the people during this formative period, when through them light was brought to those who were literally sitting in the regions of darkness and of the shadow of death. Though naturally religious, yet without the ministry and the services of public worship conducted in the name of the Christian religion, the innate religious impulses of the people would have found expression in debasing forms of religious devotion, and in some places would have degenerated into mere fetish worship, or the following of false Christ's. Their sensuous natures would have run riot in surrender to the voodoo incantations and debasing worship of King Solomons, and the Queens of Sheba, as was the case in this late day in Liberty County, Georgia. Take it all in all, this religious work in preserving the form and vitality of the Christian religion among a people just emerged from slavery, is one of the miracles of modern Christianity.

Now this work has been done largely by ignorant ministry; by men thrust into the sacred office through the necessity of circumstances; by men with inadequate conceptions of the demands of the ministry; by men with low ideals of life and often false ideas of religion, with crude notions of morality, in the church and family. That this general description of the early ministry admits of exceptions goes without saying. There were scores and hundreds of thoughtful, intelligent, consecrated men who preached and wrought mightily for God; men worthy a place among the saints and confessor of all ages. Well, do thousands of these devout and Godly people in the ministry and laity, deserve the tribute to their religious life so eloquently given by Dr. Haygood:

"I have seen the Negroes in all their religious moods, in their most death-like trances and in their wildest outbursts of excitement. I have preached to them in town and city and on the plantations. I have been their pastor, have led their class and prayer meetings, conducted their love feasts, baptized their children, and buried their dead. In the reality of religion among them I have most entire confidence, nor can I ever doubt it while religion is a reality to me."

"The hope of the African race in this country is largely in its pulpit. The school house and the newspaper have not substituted the pulpit, as a throne of spiritual power, in any Christian nation. I do not believe that they ever will. But for this race the pulpit is preeminently its teacher. Here they must receive their best counsel and their divinest inspiration. I say its pulpit; I mean this. White preachers have done much and ought to have done more; they can now do much and ought to do a hundred fold more than they do; but the great work must be done by preachers of the Negro race."

"How urgent the need and how sacred the duty of preparing those of this race whom God calls to preach to their people. Heaven bless the men and women who have given money and personal service for their education! Heaven bless their schools of the prophets! May they ever be under the wisest guidance and the holiest influences!"

Amid danger and often privation these early preachers of the race labored on, and they builded better than they knew. Noble men! God honors them. We should reverse them. A race should arise and call them blessed. They have toiled down in the dark places, laying the foundations on which have been reared the splendid superstructure of to-day, made possible alone by their sacrifice. Let us never forget them, but rather venerate and hand down their names to coming generations, written not only in marble, but in grateful hearts.

Their mission however, let it be remembered, was to a people weak, ignorant, degraded in body, mind and spirit; people who in slavery had followed their inborn tendencies to religious worship, often led, we must gratefully add, by Godly ministers and devout women who gave themselves sincerely to their instruction; people who from inherited dispositions and training were easily influenced and led. Set free, they flocked to the church. They had no other place to go. No matter who the minister or what the ministrations at the altars, the church was crowded. They sat patiently under a ministry, in general, rude, ignorant, boisterous. They listened and shouted under preaching that often was a combination of mere sound and fury. They did not care for thought or connected discourse. They had never been trained to think. They gave generously for the support of the ministry and of the church. They had never been taught to save. The church was all in all to them, the center of their social, educational and political, as well as their religious life.

But the ministry of to-day faces new conditions. A changed people confronts them. Freed men from slavery are passing away. Born Free men and their children, trained under our free institutions, educated by an outlay of seventy millions of Northern and Southern money, are to the front. The Negro has been given a chance, never before given to any destitute race in all history, and he has shown his native worth by taking that chance. Schools have been opened, and he has been to school. Twenty thousand are to day in the higher schools and colleges established by Northern benevolence. Several noble institutions have been opened by denominations of colored people. And we must gratefully recognize the fact that the Southern churches are gradually taking hold also. At Payne and Lane Institutes and at Tusculooa Seminary the noblest talent of the church, inspired by that truly great leader, Bishop Haygood, and now worthily led on among the Methodists, by Dr. Hayes, is giving itself with devotion and awakening enthusiasm in this work. One-third of the race reads. The school teacher is abroad in the land. Thirst for knowledge is quickened. In keen desire and sacrifice for an education the race, so says Dr. Clark, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, surpasses the Southern whites. The school-teacher is becoming the oracle in thousands of centers. The educated physician claims respect because of his skill and learning. The public lecturer is on the platform among the people. The Farmer's Alliance is awakening the farmers to thought. The newspaper comes by daily mail, to his door. Civilization is working tremendous changes. Comfortable homes attract. Places of amusement are open. Money for travel seems plenty. The people read. They think. The world of literature, good and bad, is open to them. The Sunday newspaper is a temptation. The church is no longer the only center of attraction. The voice of the minister is no longer the voice of God. New centres of thought and life are forming.

The fact for the ministry of to-day to face, is this—the church has rivals. It no longer is supreme in the thought and affection of the people merely because it is the church. It must prove by its works, its right to existence as a divine institution. The church of to-day must by its spiritual power and moral leadership establish its claim to the credence and devotion of thoughtful, pure and aspiring men and women.

The ministry of to-day is confronted by problems that it must meet, grapple with them, and provide for, or else go under with utter desolation and entire ruin of many churches and people. Under the limit of time I can only mention these problems.

1. The first problem is, with the ministerial force now available, to hold the rising generation to the church. A ministry such as availed for the religious leadership of the past generation, struggling up from the darkness of slavery, will not answer the demands of a race of free men that has been to school, that reads, that thinks and aspires. The Bible is no longer a sealed book. The day school and Sunday-school have opened the word to them. They have learned. They think. They demand a ministry that knows and thinks, and that by its virtue and intelligence commands their respect.

The forces that lead must work from above downward. The minister must now sustain the pulpit and not depend on the pulpit to sustain him. A pulpit surrounded by a black suit, buttoned up in front, embellished with a white neck-tie, concealing ignorance and sanctioning, by their sacred associations, ranting and religiosity in the name of religion, will no longer command the awe or even the respect of the young free men and free women of to-day. With their thinking minds, their knowledge of the word, their awakening conscience, their loftier ideals of righteousness, their thirsting after the truth, the question arises to the solemnity of a problem—How are we to hold this rising generation to the church? The answer is clear. Only through a trained and consecrated ministry capable of leadership, can the demands of the church of to-day be met. The true statement of the question is not the ministry and the Freed men of to-day; but the ministry and the Freedmen of to-day and to-morrow.

2. Again, does danger confront the church, arising from the machinations of the Roman Catholics. She has her eye on the South as a promising field for conquest. Listen to the ominous echoes from the Washington congress of colored Roman Catholics. Remember she has her St. Joseph's Institute in Baltimore where priests are being especially trained for the work. St. Joseph's Advocate circulates widely among the colored people. Besides a number of growing church organizations, some Southern cities number their Roman Catholic colored adherents by hundreds.

A graduate of Gammon Theological Seminary returned last June to an appointment at Hot Springs, Ark., that he had left three years ago. In the meantime the Roman Catholics had opened a fine school and won many children from all the churches. Young people openly defended that church. It was with the utmost difficulty that he led back the children of his church to the fold, and then only by opening a day school with competent teachers, and by firm, intelligent work among his people. All honor to Brother Emory, for his wise and successful handling of a difficult task by positive rather than by negative methods.

3. Another the problem that confronts the ministry in its efforts to lead the people, is the need of men who have the qualities of leadership to meet the demands for the civil, moral and social reforms that in state and church are bound to come, and that demand a Christian leadership. This leadership is now largely in the hands of the ministry. To hold this leadership demands a ministry that proves by its masterful grip and its brave treatment of all questions that make for the civil, educational and moral uplift of the people its right to leadership. In social upheavals and reformations,—in the righting of the wrongs of the masses, how often has history witnessed an infidel leadership assuming control and direction. Observe Tom Paine and French infidelity in the American Revolution. The ministry, because it lagged in the beginnings of the anti-slavery movement, is placed in a false position, which it has for a generation been explaining away. The reforms now needed, and that through an aggressive and alert ministry may come in peace, must find origin in the Gospel; but in a Gospel interpreted and enforced by educated, Catholic brain, reaching not the few, but the masses of both races.

History teaches that if the ministry does not grasp its natural right of leadership, infidelity will take up the ideas of reform, vitalized as they are by Christian truth, and lead the clergy in the enforcement of their bearings on social racial questions. The church from its conferences and Christian schools must throw out among the unredeemed and turbulent masses of the South these agencies of redemption. The Negro has ever looked to the ministry, white and colored, for guidance, and to God's word for the principles of redress. Often when he has asked for a fish he has received a scorpion. Many now begin to doubt the Bible and scout the ministry. Infidels often harangue the ignorant multitudes. A sad day for the church and for humanity when popular liberty and the redemption of a people from wrong falls to the leadership of sceptics.

4. Another problem in the effort of the ministry to elevate the Freedmen is to provide missionaries of ability and worth, men with the enthusiasm of humanity and the devotion to Christ, that will carry them into the darkest places of the South. Stanley has given us a thrilling picture of darkest Africa and the way out. Let us realize that we have a darkest Africa in America, in the Liberty Counties of Georgia, and the Deltas of the Mississippi, and the rice swamps of the coast land. Job describes these regions well.—"A land of darkness as darkness itself, and of the shadow of death; without any order and where the light is darkness." The cry of help has in it the undertone of despair! Who will arise to go? Who shall go? The cry is for strong men,—men of education and devotion to God, who can lift these people out of threatened relapse into barbarism. It takes not the ignorant ministers and local preachers for their work, but men strong of brain and large of heart,—the very best talent that the church can command.

In the light of facts already considered, the question presses itself to the front. Is the ministry rising to meet the demands of the free men of to-day? Is it equal to the splendid opportunity that still opens before it and beckons on to the greater achievements of a to-morrow filled with the brightness of unmeasured possibilities. It is changing along all lines to meet and adequately fulfill the changed condition of the people, as already set forth?

Coming to these questions in soberness and all frankness and honesty we find by general consent two sources of weakness.

The first and most vital, that relating to the morality of the clergy, is now by the logic of events thrust to the front and is receiving wide discussion. It would not be manly or wise to pass it by when it so clearly finds a place in the theme assigned me by your committee. When that able, noble, Godly type of Christian manhood, the Rev. Bishop Payne, with sixty years of a pure life behind him, with face illumined by that celestial "light that never shone on land or sea," utters a wail of despair over the moral degeneracy and intellectual weakness that mark the majority of the ministers of the churches which have come under his observation, we may well pause with bated breath. Thoughtful, observant, sincere is this man who has given his life for his people.

When he is joined by representative men of other churches in laments over the immorality of any ministers, who use "the ivory of the court of heaven to serve the devil in;"—when it is asserted that men of notoriously unclean lives, yet of brilliant talent, are after a brief season of repentance and amendment passed by the imposition of hands into the sacred office of the ministry; when it is openly charged that men guilty of immoralities and crime that ruin lives and blast homes, are hurried from state to state out of the reach of an outraged public sentiment, with ministerial orders retained in their pockets,—when it is affirmed that ministers in various secret societies connected more or less closely with the Church, in sworn secrecy shield each other from punishment for evil doing, exalting secret oaths above the sacred vows of the Church. Even the Southern Christian Re-

We are moving on nicely and with the greatest success. A surprise party brought us many of the choicest groceries.

J. R. Reasonover, Hillsborough, Tenn.

My first quarterly conference was held January 29, 30, by Rev. J. P. Price, Presiding Elder. The reports showed some degree of progress. Elder Price is the right man in the right place, and he is the man for the Nashville district. He is liked by all on the Hillsborough circuit. The SOUTHWESTERN is being looked after. Rev. T. Allen was with us in the quarterly conference.

J. W. Fishburne, Newbury, S. C.

I find it no task to obtain subscribers for your paper. I shall do all I can in the interest of it. The Newberry work is on a grand boom. Lumber is being hauled every day, and the workmen are hard at work. Soon, through the assistance of God, we will be in our new church. Please pray for our success.

[He sends six new yearly subscribers.]

Letters from the Laity.

R. Boone, Pontotoc, Miss.

Last Friday night I had the pleasure of being a happy participant in a church social given by the members of the M. E. Church at Pontotoc in honor of Rev. J. W. Davis, who is now Elder over the Greenville district. The affair was as elegant as the purpose was great.

D. G. Franklin, Brookston, Texas.

Our Presiding Elder, Rev. P. Morgan, was with us not long since and preached a stirring sermon. Under the efficient leadership of our Presiding Elder and pastor in charge, Rev. W. P. Perry, I think much good will be accomplished. The SOUTHWESTERN is worthy of any reader's consideration. I like it very much.

ELECTRIC BELT FREE.

To introduce it and obtain agents the undersigned firm will give away a few of their $5.00 German Electric Belts, invented by Prof. Van der Weyde, Pres. of the New York Electrical Society (U. S. Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from our subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my son. He left me in Greenville about 20 years ago. He was a little boy. He went away with his father. His name is Harry Smith and his father's name is Frank Smith. He lived on a plantation below Greenville. Any one knowing him will please address Mrs. Vina Smith, Greenville, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my three brothers, two of whom joined the army in 1865. These two were Bright Winton and Auce Winton. They joined the regulars at Chattanooga, Tenn. The other one's name is Louis Winton. He left Dechard, Tenn., for Hickman, Ky., in 1872. There he took a steamboat, and I don't know what became of him after that. The last information that I had from Auce was in 1879. He wrote me a letter and he was then in Mississippi; and the last information I had from Bright was in 1865, the year he left Chattanooga; and the last information I had from Louis was in 1872. Now the mother of these boys is named Cressie Winton. Any information will be gladly received by J. R. Reasonover, P. O., Hillsboro, Tenn.

Mr. Editor: I wish to find my people. I left my father in Fayette, Howard county, Mo. His name was Peter Saphron, and he belonged to old George Saphron. He was a tin and copper smith by trade. He worked at the trade when I left, and was well known by every one in the county. My mother's name was Jane Saphron, who was sold and sent to Memphis, Tenn., long before me, when I was about 9 years old. I remained there at old George Saphron's until I was grown and the mother of two children. The name of the father of my children was Richard Pierson, who belonged to a merchant in Fayette named Isaac Pierson. After some years I was sold and left one of my children. His name was William Henry. I was taken to Memphis, where my mother was; then I was sold to a stock man in Texas. My brothers were Albert and Poss. My sisters were Maria, Harriet and Sallie. ELVIRA CLAYTON, Corpus Christi, Tex.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my father. My mother died when I was about 3 or 5 years old. My father left this part of the country. He was always free. My mother's name was Snaan Sayles. She married a man by the name of Bluford Smothers. The last time I heard from my father he was in Franklin county, N. C. I am married, and my name is Martha Sanger. My maiden name was Martha A. M. Smothers. Father was a blacksmith. MARTHA SANGER, Wytheville, Pa.

Mr. Editor: I want to find my father. His name is, or was, Lu kins. He left us and was carried to Texas by John Gram, his master. I was about 12 or 14 years old. My mother's name was Caroline. She is dead. There were five children, Tumpy, Henry, Vance, Meah and Joe. We all belonged to a man by the name of Wm. Handy. The last time I heard from him he was still in Texas. Any one knowing him will please address me.

HENRY HARDY, Petersburg, Tenn.

James Jordan, Quitman, Miss., wants to find the whereabouts of his sister, Fanny Moss, and his brother Ed. Their father also is anxious to see them.

A Long Lost Friend Found.

Mr. Editor: In your issue of November 13, 1890, will be found a letter from me inquiring after my mother's brothers and sisters. Your paper has been the instrument of finding one of them, Moses Reed, and through him, we learn that Shelton and Burr are still living. We found them, in the state of Kansas, after a separation of forty years. We pray for God's blessings on your excellent paper and especially on that department devoted to "Lost Friends."

I would ask that you continue that portion of my letter which refers to Coleman and Moses Green, my brothers.

Respectfully,
GEORGE A. GREEN,
Gonzales, Tex.

Rational Analysis.

Reason is one of the distinguishing attributes of the human soul. It is the most God-like faculty of our intellectual nature. To reason, analyze investigate and deduce conclusions is just as natural for a thinking man as it is for an animal to breathe. It is a healthy normal exercise of the mind, and a proper use of the mental powers; they were given for this very purpose. Nor can we believe that the earnest and intense application of reason, in any department of thought or scientific enquiry, will do harm, so long as we sincerely desire and seek to know the truth, even the whole truth, from every source of knowledge. All true science must bear the test of rational analysis, and be sustained by the facts of experience.

The science of theology is no exception to this rule. True, the doctrines of the Bible are to be received by faith and proved by experience; but the doctrine, the faith and the experience are all proper subjects of rational analysis. "Be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you." Of course, the answer should be intelligent and comprehensible, and, if possible, it ought to be lucid, logical and conclusive. Such an answer cannot be reached without rational analysis as well as spiritual illumination. Both of these combined may scarcely be adequate to answer some theological questions; but that is no good reason why we should not study and try to understand and also expound "the deep things of God."

We have no sympathy with the hackneyed expression, "Explain as little as possible." What! Is not the religious teacher to be an expounder of the divine oracles? Did not the old-time prophets "read in the book, in the law of God distinctively, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading?" Does not the great apostle enjoin, "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth?" Doubtless there is a rational theory of every Bible doctrine, for there can be no conflict between divine relation and right reason. Nor are we at liberty to conclude that in every instance or in any case, where our analysis fails, that the doctrine is above reason. It may be that our theory itself is defective, or that the difficulty with which we are wrestling so heroically does not inhere in the subject at all, but is merely a gratuitous assumption, and without any real force.

It is a great mistake to suppose that the science of theology, in its present form, is complete and final, while all the other sciences are yet in their infancy. There is, perhaps, quite as much for the theological student to learn as for the scholar in any other department of scientific investigation. The world, and especially the church, has a right to demand of us that we should master the difficulties of our creed, and be able to define and defend it. If we cannot do that, the people will hold it with less confidence. But it would seem unwise for us, the defenders of the faith, to magnify the merely speculative difficulties of our theology.

WM. MAJOR.

THE attention of our readers is invited to a letter in our "Lost Friend Column" from Gonzales, Tex., which reports the finding of a long lost friend by advertising in our paper. This is one of many such, received nearly every week.

The signature of the late General Francis E. Spinner, ex-Treasurer of the United States, was one of the worst stumbling blocks for forgers and counterfeiters that ever was devised. He originated it when a harness-maker's apprentice in Amsterdam, N. Y., at seven years, practiced on it in later years when he became a Congressman, and perfected it as Treasurer of the United States. The writing of the signature involved considerable labor; and when General Spinner affixed it to many Treasury notes in a day, it is said that his wrist became so swollen and painful that it had to be swathed in wet cloths.

While Treasurer, Mr. Spinner earned the gratitude of the women of this country by being the first man to admit members of their sex to the Government service. He was eighty-eight years old when he died, in Florida, from the cancer that had been slowly eating away his life. He was born in what is now known as Mohawk, N. Y.; and his father, who had left the Roman Catholic priesthood to become a Protestant clergyman, educated him carefully first, and then had him learn both the trades of a confectioner and harness maker. He followed neither; but became a merchant, and the cashier of a bank, holding various town, county and state offices in the meantime, and winning his military title in the state militia. General Spinner was elected to Congress as an anti-slavery Democrat, and served on the committee that investigated the assault of Preston Brooks on Charles Sumner. He was re-elected as a Republican. President Lincoln called him to the United States Treasury in 1861, and he held the place for fourteen years, when he resigned.

The sale of George I. Seney's collection of pictures realized $665,550, which, with the exception of the sale of Mrs. Mary J. Morgan's paintings in 1886 for $885,300, was the largest sum ever received at a similar auction. Mr. Seney is said to have made a good profit on his pictures, although some brought less than the original cost.

Clans Spreckles, the California sugar king, is growing old, and his hair is quite white. He is just as keen and energetic as ever, however, and in looking after his three large refineries on the Pacific coast and one at Philadelphia he manages to keep busy.

A bullet which was shot into the cheek of Judge Calvin E. Pratt, of Brooklyn and the State Supreme Court, at the battle of Gaines Mill, Virginia, on June 27, 1862, has recently been removed. Judge Pratt was a colonel at the time, and his wound was at first supposed to be fatal. For the past twenty-five years he has suffered much pain and inconvenience from the leaden pellet, but not till lately was it considered safe to remove it.

During the past ten years the states of Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Maryland, and Arkansas have suffered from state treasurers who were proved defaulters and embezzlers. The latest scandal of the sort is in South Carolina.

Franklin, La., is about to have a national bank with a capital of $100,000.

That's about all you have to do to get a book of 200 pages FREE. This book contains the names, addresses, and signed indorsements of many well known men and women who have been restored to health and strength by the use of Drs. STARKEY & PALEN'S Compound Oxygen. Of course the full list is not here, many patients prefer that their names should not be used. But the book has 200 pages of signed testimony, and is accompanied by a quarterly review of eight large pages more, entirely filled with new names of revitalized men and women.

The patients themselves do the talking. You get your knowledge of Compound Oxygen from what they say—not what Drs. STARKEY & PALEN say. The next step is personal knowledge from positive contact with the treatment itself. This is the most satisfactory of all—it is the real point.

Tenth National Temperance Convention.

The Ninth National Temperance Convention, held in Saratoga Springs, 1881, requested and empowered the National Temperance Society to call another Convention in the series, when, in their judgment, the exigencies of the case should require.

The Board of Managers of the society, believing the time has fully come for such a convention have issued such a call.

They do, therefore, earnestly and cordially invite all Associations of Ministers and Churches, all General Assemblies, and Synods, all General and Annual Conferences, Classes, Presbyteries, and religious National or State conventions, all National and State Temperance Organizations, all Woman's National and State Unions, Grand Divisions Sons of Temperance, Grand Lodges of Good Templars, Grand Temples of Honor and Temperance, and other State Temperance bodies, to send delegates to a National Temperance Convention, to be held, commencing at ten o'clock a. m. July 15, 1891, in the First Methodist Church, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Each body to be entitled to send seven delegates, of which the presiding officer and secretary shall be two. In the Methodist Episcopal Church, where the bishops severally are presidents of a number of conferences, this rule may not be binding. The same variation of this rule may apply to other organizations similarly constituted. In case any Presbytery, Association, Conference, or Organization, shall not be in session after the issue of this call and prior to the meeting of the Convention, or shall fail to appoint delegates, the presiding officer, or, in his absence or failure to do so, the secretary, may appoint the same. All delegates must have credentials duly signed by one or both of the officers of their respective bodies. Vacancies in delegations may be filled by the remaining delegates. It is proposed that this Convention shall be composed entirely of delegates from delegative bodies, and not from subordinate organizations.

It is in the highest degree necessary that all friends of temperance, forced by new perils and new opportunities, take council together for a forward movement against this special agent of that vile trinity: the world, the flesh, and the devil.

Arrangements have been made for a reduction of fare on the principal railroads and at the hotels.

For particulars apply to the secretary of the Committee.

Theodore L. Cuyler, president, J. N. Stearns, corresponding secretary, or Albert G. Lawson, Theophilus A. Bronwer, Eugene H. Clapp, Henry B. Metcalf, Louis Wagner, W. C. Steele, W. T. Sabine, Committee.

WE make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

"HOUSE OF BONDAGE," now ready. Send 75 cents and get one postage prepaid, or call at the office.

Home Mission Notes.

From The General Executive Board.

The presence of our president, Mrs. Davis, was sadly missed at the first quarterly meeting of the General Executive Board, held in Wiley Hall, Cincinnati, Ohio, Saturday, January 31, 1891. Sincere sympathy was felt for her in the shadow of sorrow caused by the death of her husband, "the beloved physician," Dr. John Davis. Resolutions expressive of the sentiments of the board were adopted at a previous meeting and a copy of the same sent to Woman's Home Missions.

During the quarter nine candidates furnished satisfactory testimonials and were adopted missionaries, and five of them were assigned as follows: Miss Delia Herron, to Haven Home, Savannah, Ga.; Miss Kate Livingstone, to Simpson Memorial Home, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mrs. E. A. Marsh, to Pawhuska, O. T.; Miss Nora Omen, to Mt. Pleasant, Utah; Miss Lydia F. Richardson, to Unalakaska, Alaska, and Miss Ada Rurch to Alaska or to the Nookachk Indians in Washington, as may be decided by the board for Alaska at a latter date. An Executive Committee consisting of Mesdames Clark, Rust, and Aiken was constituted for this bureau at the request of its secretary, Mrs. L. H. Daggett, of Boston, Mass., who is continuing earnest efforts to complete the amount of money needed for the Jesse Lee Memorial Home, hoping that success will crown her labors in time to send the building material in the early spring by the first vessel that sails from San Francisco to the far away port of Unalakaska.

Mrs. Anna Kent, Bradley Beach, N. J., secretary for the bureau for New Mexico and Arizona, (Spanish), reports that our work among the Spanish in New Mexico is assuming an encouraging outlook. At Las Vegas, Misses Snyder and Tripp are laying broad foundations for a good work, and the increasing numbers in the school demand a larger building. At Albuquerque, Mrs. Norton and Miss Margaret Tripp are full of hope for the work and are patiently waiting the coming of increased facilities for its more vigorous prosecution.

Mrs. E. W. Simpson, Troy, N. Y., secretary of the bureau for New Mexico and Arizona, (Indian), reports encouraging progress with reference to the location of work among the Navajos and securing a grant of land from the Government upon which to build a home as soon as funds are collected for this purpose. Cards for "board offering" at ten cents per board are planned as a popular means of obtaining money. Mrs. Simpson writes, "We are assured that our missionaries will be perfectly safe in any part of the reservation, as the Navajos worship a female deity and will never molest a woman." Misses Moore and Olegg are working faithfully at Dulce, N. M.

Mrs. H. C. McCabe, secretary of the Bureau for Indians, gave a most interesting account of the work in the Indian Territory, and was granted permission to build a laundry for the home at Pawhuska, O. T., where sixty pupils are acquiring a christian and industrial education.

The secretary of the Bureau for Supplies, Mrs. Mary T. Lodge, Detroit, Mich., reports as follows: "The families of nearly 1,000 of our ministers have received substantial aid. From fifty to seventy-five unmarried ministers have also been helped to clothing and books in the course of study. All of our industrial homes and schools have had our help. Two hundred barrels have been sent for distribution among destitute people in the districts affected by the drouth. With the clothing sent, faithful workers have been able to gather the children into the school and Sunday-school. They have been able to reach the hearts of the people and a good work has been wrought. If we would reach the souls of men, we must first make their bodies comfortable." Mrs. Lodge closed her report with a testimony of newly awakened sympathies in behalf of the poor white people in the South, and gave the following touching incident from the letter of Mrs. K., who teaches in one of our church schools: "The people are kindly disposed, but some are more than one hundred years behind the times, living in the most primitive style—in log huts without doors and windows, often with no floors or chimneys. They are uncleanly, never having learned the value of soap and water. They are superstitious, ignorant, degraded and destitute. Their food is corn bread and pork of the greasiest kind. Clothing was needed for a new baby, and the poor girl mother had been pronounced incurable and left to die. Turning the crowd out of the room where she lay, Mrs. K., gave the sufferer a warm bath, while the mother of the girl remonstrated, saying 'it would bring them bad luck.' Mrs. K., prepared some nourishing food and nursed the poor creature back to life. The baby had been given tobacco juice and ammonia for colic. A gash had been cut between its shoulders and a drop of its own blood given it for hives. Think of such ignorance and superstition in this christian land! Can it be worse in Africa and India?"

The contract was let for the building of the Elizabeth Ritter Industrial Home and School at Athens, Tenn., for the education and training of illiterate white girls, and calls for the completion of this home the first of next June. To the New York Conference Society was granted permission to use any moneys received from other sources than membership dues and not otherwise directed by their donors, in the extension of its work in New York City. South of Fourteenth street, as reported by Mrs. Willing, there are tens of thousands of people packed together in the blackest heathendom, 250,000 having been added to that population since the last census, and the churches have died out at the rate of one and a half a year. The gift of a check for the sum of $100 from Mr. J. C. Wilson, of New York City, was gratefully acknowledged.

Beautiful certificates are in course of preparation by the enterprising secretary of the Bureau for Home Mission Reading Circle, Mrs. H. E. Dond, Norwalk, O., for members of the circle who have completed the required readings.

The location of the William Glenn Industrial Home at Chattanooga, Tenn., was reconsidered and by a unanimous vote it was located at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mrs. W. M. Ampt reported 2,482 mite boxes distributed during the quarter.

An invitation was received from Miss Frances E. Willard to send fraternal delegates to the first triennial meeting of the Woman's Council of the United States to be convened in Washington, D. C., February 22, 25. Miss Jane M. Bancroft, Mrs. J. F. Willing and Mrs. R. S. Rust were elected to represent our society.

Special attention was called to the late action of the Board of Managers with reference to a poem in memory of Mrs. Hayes, ordered published in the form of a booklet and the revenue derived from its sale to be appropriated to the Lucy Webb Hayes Memorial Fund. The price of this book is twenty-five cents and can be had by addressing Mrs. M. S. Case, Highland Park, Conn. The recommendation of the New England Southern Conference Society at the late annual meeting at Buffalo, N. Y., that the tea rose be adopted as the national flower of the society was considered, and the choice of a flower referred to the next meeting of the Board of Managers; meanwhile by action of the General Executive Board conference societies are requested to ascertain by vote the sentiments of their members on this subject.

On the recommendation of the Memorial Fund Committee, it was decided that the full price of the Memoirs of Lucy Webb Hayes ($1 per copy) will be credited to the auxiliary of which the purchaser is a member and that vouchers will be given which will enable auxiliary and conference treasurers to report credits to the General Treasurer as cash equivalents. Orders for the Memoirs sent to Mrs. Rust, 339 West Fourth street, Cincinnati, O., will be promptly filled.

The annual day of humiliation and prayer will be held in connection with the semi-annual meeting of the General Executive Board, April 25th, on which occasion self-denial and thank offerings will be received.

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile na in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1 50, cash; otherwise, $2.

DONALD KENNEDY
Of Roxbury, Mass., says

My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because we have the stomach to go searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps its only a little sediment left on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along and you find quick happiness from first bottle. Perhaps its a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. The Medical Discovery begins the fight, and you think it pretty hard, but soon you thank me for making something that has reached your weak spot. Write me if you want to know more about it.

The Southwestern.

A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., - - Editor

Official paper for the following Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church: Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, West Texas, Tennessee, East Tennessee, Little Rock, Central Alabama, Savannah, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Largest Circulation of any Religious Newspaper in New Orleans.

THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1891.

THE Hennessey murder case continues to excite general attention. The outlook now is favorable to the conviction of those on trial for the murder.

Rev. T. G. Montgomery has received a Church Extension draft for the church at Pleasant Hill, which will be cashed and forwarded as soon as the trustees sign the necessary papers.

Rev. Wm. P. McLaughlin, has placed the editor under many obligations to him for appreciated service during the editor's absence at the several Southern conferences, for all of which many thanks are extended.

THE Firemen's parade, March 4, was very creditable. The dozen colored bands that played for them elicited many favorable commendations, and impressed themselves quite as creditably as the white bands.

THE strong paper read by Rev. E. Lyon, in vindication of Bishop Newman against Bishop Grant's criticisms, and adopted by the vast congregation last week at Wesley Chapel, is crowded out for lack of space. It will appear next week.

THE special attention of our readers is directed to the able address by President Thirkield touching the kind of ministers now demanded by the times, which appears in another column. The subject is a live and interesting one and should, as it no doubt will, command the attention of our people generally. Read it.

A tremendous rain and thunder storm swept through the lower Mississippi valley last Saturday and Sunday. In consequence many washouts have been reported on the several railroads running into this city, and many streams are reported out of their channels. A rise is reported in all the rivers tributary to the Mississippi, and a general flood such as we had last year is predicted.

SOME weeks ago we requested all the teachers in our territory to write to us, and we would communicate to them something that would be greatly to their advantage. We requested all of our pastors, presiding elders, and readers generally, to call the attention of our school teachers to the notice. In answer to this effort, we have received letters from quite a large number of our teachers; but there are many who have not yet responded. We are anxious to hear from them. Write at once to the editor of this paper, and learn something to your advantage. This has no reference to any canvassing or agency scheme. Write and find out what we desire to tell you.

WHY not provide for the ventilation of your church? It is really disgusting to see how even intelligent ministers among our people will suffer to have their churches so shut up during the services as to admit of no proper ventilation whatever. No more unhealthy practice is so common in our churches than that of crowding hundreds of people into houses wherein they have to breathe each other's breath over and over again during every service. Open every door and window in your church before and after every service, and provide for proper ventilation during the services. This applies to cold as well as to warm weather, for cold air may be quite as vitiated as warm air.

Zion's Herald on the Colored Vote.

Dr. Parkhurst, of Zion's Herald, always just and conservative, even in the advocacy of the most radical measures, has this to say on the colored vote on the admission of women to the General Conference:

"That the popular vote in our colored churches was adverse to the admission of women to the General Conference, is a surprise to some. But it ought not to be. Reform in the social body is slow; and it takes a long while for even the most intelligent persons to reach the broader and more advanced questions. Old prejudices blind the eyes; custom dominates for a long while even the well-informed and liberal. The question of admitting women to the General Conference is an advanced one; the colored brethren, and even some of the whites, had not traveled up to it. Time will do something for them as it has done for the whites, whose education has been a long one. We have been reaching toward the goal for a hundred years, and even now the best and most liberal minds only have come into the full light of the great truth for which we are contending. In intellectual and social and moral reforms New England ideas lead the way. The South has always lived in the past; and the great middle region, penetrated by Southern influence and anchored to Dutch passivity, has been conservative. The people of these sections see, day after tomorrow, what New England sees to-day. On this woman question, as on many others in Church and State, the East and the West lead at present, with the assurance that the less advanced sections will, in the not distant future, follow. We feel sure the colored brethren will not be disobedient to the heavenly vision, and they may even come in in advance of 'the undistributed middle.'"

We agree with Dr. Albert in resenting any intimidation or attempts by any undue methods to influence the colored vote. The Negro has mind and is to be reached by logical processes. With this noble endowment, he should be open to truth and light and, like the white man, should aim to follow the trend of the best civilization. What he has reached already is but a stage in the long route. Dr. Albert thinks the woman question has no relation to emancipation or the granting of civil rights. In this we think he is mistaken. Though not intimately related, they are really parts of a wider movement for the advancement of the human race. Civil rights are the first step in the way to other social and political privileges; and no one should be willing to stop at this point, or to allow prescription to debar others from advancing on their chosen course.

We quite agree with Dr. Albert that woman is, in an important sense, man's equal. Differences of organism and adaptations allow equality in rights and privileges. The variations are parts of a higher unity in privilege and duty. In the economy of society there is certainly a divine order which it is quite important for us to find. In all this we should agree. As to what that order is, and the mode of ascertaining it, we should probably differ. It is quite common for conservative writers to assume that the existing relation of the sexes is the divine order. This mere assumption Dr. Albert seems to accept as a finality. Herein, we think, he is mistaken. The relation of the sexes, in many of its details, has been determined by custom. Our law comes down from old time, and in many instances has nothing better to stand on than venerated prejudices. That God has made the sexes to differ is quite true, but whether He has ordered the existing condition, is the point in issue.

But if we do not accept the existing order as the divine, how shall we be sure of the true order?

Why not let each one find it out for himself or herself? What right have you to impose your idea of the divine order on any one else? You may settle it for yourself; you may not settle it for another. If our brethren in the South accept Dr. Albert's assumption, they make a great mistake, and bar the way of progress."

Dr. Parkhurst will perhaps be a little surprised to learn that much the greater proportion of the votes cast against the admission of the women were voted by our women, and the greater proportion in favor of their admission were cast by the men. Our women are of the opinion that they have enough to do, to train the whole race for their future destiny, without taking any additional burdens, of doubtful Scriptural authority and expediency, in the way of law making, upon themselves. At any rate they are quite willing to "make haste slowly" in such radical and revolutionary proceedings.

Secession from the A. M. E. Church.

It is reported that a district conference of the A. M. E. Church in South Carolina has seceded from that church, as a rebuke to the imprudent charge that their senior Bishop Payne has made against the immorality and ignorance of the ministry of his church in the South, and have selected a new bishop of their own. Bishop Arnett has since deposed the usurping bishop. It was charged in the district conference that the charges by Bishop Payne are "an attempt on the part of the Northern wing of the church to dissatisfy colored congregations in the South with their pastors, in order to create demands for ministers educated at Northern colleges. They declare that no man is more guilty of immoral acts than Bishop Payne, because he took the moneys of the people here to educate Northern preachers and transferred such scoundrels here who could not live North." The charges are hurled back to Payne as "base falsehoods instigated by the devil," and the entire South is urged to look upon him as a "personal enemy and poisonous adder."

The Christian Index, organ of the C. M. E. Church, commenting upon this unfortunate state of affairs in the A. M. E. Church, says: "If Bishop Payne knew these things to be facts he should have communicated them to his colleagues, and some steps should have been taken to remedy the existing evils. But to know the condition of the ministry of the church, and let it run on for years without remedying it, looks rather bad. The same is applicable to the bishops of any other church where they are known to make such statements. If the bishops know that the moral standing of the ministry of their church is bad, and will allow it to continue without offering to remedy it, and then come out in a secular paper and denounce the whole church, it does not speak well for him."

Well and fitly spoken.

What Does it Mean?

Zion's Herald asks and the Westerner echoes the question:

What does it mean, that the M. E. Church South has fixed the episcopal residence of two of its Bishops in California?

It means simply that the M. E. Church South attends to its own business, and never asks whether the M. E. Church or any other is around. How would it do for us to "go and do likewise." We are sorry that it takes our esteemed contemporaries so long, apparently, to find out what some things mean.

THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallien, is worth the price of the book.

Political Review.

The Fifty-first Congress died March 4. It accomplished many wholesome things, but failed in the accomplishment of the most necessary measures for the security of the elective franchise in the South. Speaker Reed as the idol of his party received the thanks of his party in the House, for his impartial administration of his office. This however was voted against by the Democrats of that body. Speaker Reed is rather to be complimented by that fact than otherwise.

The appointment of Hon. James Hill as postmaster at Vicksburg, Miss., was not confirmed by the Senate. It is hoped however that the President will reappoint notwithstanding the senseless protestation of the unreconstructed Democracy of Mississippi. Nothing has been brought against his appointment further than that he is a colored man. The camp followers of the Federal army who remained in Vicksburg when it fell and who now call themselves the G. A. R., joined the Democracy in its protest against the appointment.

We hope the President will lend a deaf ear to those hypocrites who are ever on the alert to stab the Negro at the bidding of the erstwhile destroyers of the Union.

Senator Manderson of Nebraska succeeds ex-Senator Ingalls in the Presidency protempore of the Senate.

There is a rumor current to the effect that Judge Taylor Beattie of La Fourche is a candidate for one of the nine U. S. Circuit judgeships that the President is to appoint. Judge Beattie having renounced his Republicanism, and having raised his voice in defense of the murderers of our people in his parish a year or two ago, it is hardly to be expected that President Harrison will appoint him. If he does so it will be in the face of the most resolute and emphatic protest of ninety-nine and nine-tenths per cent of the Republicans and colored citizens that know him in Louisiana.

The senatorial squabble continues in Illinois, and no U. S. Senator has yet been elected. It is now feared that ex-Gov. Palmer, the Democratic Senator, will be selected.

Personal.

The charges by Rev. Dr. T. O. Carter against the Rev. Dr. J. J. Manker, of the Holston Conference, have been investigated and the doctor has been exonerated from all guilt. He has since instituted a civil suit against Dr. Carter for $20,000 damages. The unfortunate affair is deplored on all sides.

This will inform my correspondents that my post office is Greenville, Miss. J. W. Davis, Presiding Elder of Greenville District.

Mr. C. C. Simms, a leading colored grocer of Baton Rouge, was among our callers last Saturday.

His many friends will rejoice to learn that the Rev. W. D. Godman, D.D., Winsted, La., has recovered from his severe illness at the close of conference, and is now vigorously pushing forward his work at Gilbert Academy. Our people have no truer and more devoted friend and benefactor than W. D. Godman. They know it, and they appreciate him as such. Their prayer is that his life and health, and that of his loved ones, may long thus continue to prosecute the divine mission which he is so unselfishly and self-sacrificingly accomplishing for them.

Rev. Reese Thompson, of Franklin, and Rev. T. J. Johnson, of St. Paul, Shreveport, spent a few days in the city last week, and made several appreciated calls. They have entered upon their new charges with high hopes of grand successes.

Bishop Fallows, of the Reformed Episcopal Church of Chicago, made a pleasant call last week. The Bishop was quite interested in our work, and took pains to learn of every possible feature of it. He visited the New Orleans University and several of our churches, called on Bishop Mallien, and made himself quite a favorite among our people. Many of our people expressed themselves to the effect that he seemed a great deal more of a Methodist than an Episcopalian. His style of Christianity is of the "earnest" type, hence the logical deduction. Call again, Bishop.

Rev. H. W. Ridgeway, D.D., President of Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill., is on a visit to this city. Our people are glad to meet him.

Dr. Lanahan, of Baltimore, Md., has our heartfelt sympathy in the loss of his daughter, Mrs. Mary M., wife of Judson T. Cull. Six children and a husband mourn her death.

Bishop Haygood, of the M. E. Church South, will be here this week to preside over the district conference of his church, which meets here to-day.

Bishop Mallien left last Monday for a short visit to DeFuniack, Fla. He will return the last of this week. Thence he will visit Alexandria and Shreveport, La., Marshall, Texas, and other points in that section.

City Church Notes.

[Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.]

Sunday School Work.

At a large gathering of Sunday school superintendents, teachers, and Sunday school workers, in which nearly every school in the city was represented, in response to a call issued by the Rev. Ernest Lyon, Sunday school agent, for the consideration of means looking towards the development of the Sunday school work in this city, a Sunday School League was organized with the following officers: President, Mrs. Oglesvie, of Union Chapel; vice-presidents, Mrs. A. H. Hinton of Mt. Zion, and Mrs. Mary Murray of Mallien Chapel; recording secretary, Miss Lizzie Williamson of Mallien Chapel; assistant secretary, Miss B. Howard of Wesley; corresponding secretary, Mr. W. S. Ohion, of Wesley; treasurer, Mr. Henry Parker of Williams Chapel; Mr. I. H. Norwood, city Sunday school visitor; with the following visiting committee: Messrs. Robt. Slade, R. C. Met Kennedy, D. B. Phillips and J. H. Landry.

The following were elected members of the finance committee: Maria Brown, Haven Chapel; Mrs. D. C. Mead, Williams Chapel; Eliza Jefferson, Cushman Chapel; Lizzie Alexander, Simpson Chapel; Mrs. J. G. Lawrence, Mallien Chapel; Miss E. Anderson, First Street; Miss Lizzie Taylor, Mt. Zion; Miss M. J. Simpson, Wesley Chapel; Miss Mary Williams, Union Chapel; Miss Mary Pardo, La Harpe; Miss Hattie Brown, Gretna; Miss Mary E. Holmes, Thomson Chapel; Miss N. J. Nickerson, Pleasant Plains.

The city was also divided up into the following districts, viz:

1st. District. Including Camp Paraper, Carrollton, the White Bridge and Jefferson.

2nd. District. Including all the territory between Valence and Julia streets.

3rd. District. Including all the territory between Julia and Conti streets.

4th. District. Including all between Conti street and the Barracks.

5th. District. Including Gretna, Algiers, Freetown and Asbury Chapel.

At the next meeting a president for each district, with an organizing committee, will be elected. An effort will be made to organize the Epworth League in every charge.

The League has adopted the following motto: Fifteen hundred converts and fifty new Sunday schools this conference year. The city once organized, the next attempt will be to organize the State, so that every school will be brought into conventional relation; and thus with a thorough organization, we shall be able to develop the Sunday school work in Louisiana as never before. The Agent will be glad to hear from superintendents and pastors all over the State. Address 212 Constantino-ple street, New Orleans, La.

A grand concert and entertainment is to be given at Valence Street Hall, Valence street between Camp and Chestnut, on Saturday night, March 21, 1891, for the purpose of liquidating the indebtedness of Cushman Chapel M. E. Church. Rev. B. G. Ankrum, pastor. Tickets, 10c.

Pastor J. W. Hudson is starting off nicely at Union Chapel. At the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, last Sunday night, 180 persons partook of the sacred emblems. Dr. Albert assisted in the administration of the same.

A grand entertainment will be given by the Union Chapel Choir on Wednesday, March 25, 1891, at Union Chapel M. E. Church, on Bienville between Villere and Marais streets, for the benefit of repairing the organ. Admission, 10c.

Bishop Mallien preached at the New Orleans University last Sunday. At the conclusion of his sermon, three persons came forward and united with the church.

The Wesley Memorial Service at Wesley Chapel, Monday, March 2, was well attended and profitable. The addresses by Bishop Mallien, Bishop Fallows of the Reformed Episcopal Church of Chicago, and by Rev. E. Lyon, were received with marked appreciation; and much good was accomplished.

Prof. Collett, of New Orleans University, preached a sermon of great power at Williams' Chapel, last Sunday night. A beautiful Sunday school banner was dedicated there at 11 a. m.

The 100th anniversary of the death of John Wesley was commemorated last Sunday at the Ames M. E. Church, by an address from Bishop Mallien, at which the German and Italian congregations attended. The address was one of great interest.

There is considerable revival interest manifested at the Ames Church. On Sunday night last the Bishop preached, and at the close when the invitation was given, the altar was speedily filled with seekers, and ten were converted. The pastor, Bro. Crawford, is quite unwell from his hard work and study, so that he has been ordered by his physician to take a rest for two or three weeks. His pulpit will be filled by able preachers during his absence.

New Orleans University is crowded to overflowing, and a new building is imperatively needed for next session. The enrollment has been trebled during the past three years. This unprecedented prosperity is due to the dignified, firm, but kindly administration of its popular and thoroughly equipped President, Dr. L. G. Adkinson, the affectionate disposition of Mrs. Adkinson to the girls under her care, and to the full co-operation of his excellent faculty, which he has at all times commanded. Back of all these stands Bishop Mallien, as a tower of strength, whose whole soul, purse and all, is ever ready to make this institution the grandest and best equipped in all the South. The Lord bless and abundantly multiply their success.

Wonder why so many persons suffer from catarrh when with Old Saul's Catarrh Cure they would be cured at once.

LET every pastor and member now gird themselves for a glorious revival. "The field is white for the harvest."

No church is accomplishing its mission unless it brings in souls to Christ. A whitened sepulchre full of dead men's bones is preferable to such a church.

corder confessing with indignation that "Men are afraid to speak out their sentiments in some conferences (i. e., of the A. M. E. Church). Riots and secret signs control some conferences, instead of God and the Bible." When it is beyond dispute that a colored paper, edited by a Christian editor, bent on the reformation of existing evils in Church and State, is made the target of abuse and is denounced by the minister's meeting of a leading Southern city, because he exposed the notoriously corrupt practices of a preacher whose character was stained by drunkenness and blackened by licentiousness—is it not time to join Bishop Payne and others in their cry for reform?

It is said that young men high purpose and undoubted talents refuse to go into the ministry, and are entering other professions, and they give as their excuse the low estimate placed by the more refined and cultured people of the race upon the ministry. Can it be that the ministry of to-day is measuring up to its sacred responsibility of moral and spiritual leadership, when one of the ablest and best edited colored papers of the South thus speaks out in its columns:

"Colored churches are almost universally tabooed by the cultured and advanced. The work of religion is paralyzed. Those of the ministry who are earnest and competent are grown disheartened, those of the laity who are sincere are groaning in despair."

This seems to mean exaggerated statement, but the same paper shows its sincerity when it cries out, "Our hope is in our ministers. If they fail we lose hope in the ability of Christianity. That gone, no hope is left."

Wholesale assertions it seems to me are not wise. They are apt to do harm instead of good, by discouraging the army of pure and devoted men among the colored people who are now ministering at God's altars. But instead of heaping anathemas on the head of that devoted and courageous Bishop Payne, let the facts as they exist be made known, and the statements of observant ministers and editors of the race be examined with care. That reformation of morals in some churches is the demand of the hour, no candid man can deny. Reformation is better than revolution, and one or the other must come. Let the light be turned on. Good men do not fear the light. While this condition of things may be charged upon some localities, it certainly is not true of all. I personally know scores of men in all the churches who are pure, aspiring, consecrated to God, and to the work of redeeming humanity. I count it a privilege to be associated with them. In the conference in which I am in the providence of God a member, whenever one is charged with crime, investigation is made, and if found guilty the evil member is cast out, as he should be. This is true in some other church organizations among the colored people in the South. The standard is lifting up. There is no reason for despair. The improvement has been vast, when we compare the present with past history, and recognize the influences and habits and conditions that obtained in the pit of slavery from which the people were digged. The standard has been raised; it must still be raised. There is yet great room for improvement. The membership begins to demand a pure and intelligent ministry. Churches must sink if this demand is ignored. So long as one immoral man is known to be in the sacred office let the reform go on. The immorality of one casts a shadow over the whole body of ministers. In our war for reform, however, instead of using the gatling gun by which we strike down bad and good together, let us use the rifle of ecclesiastical law, which shall hit the individual sinner. This seems to be the Biblical plan, Nathan singled out the guilty one,—"Thou art the man." So in our

"A RACE WITH DEATH!"

Among the nameless heroes, none are more worthy of martyrdom than he who rode down the valley of the Conemaugh, warning the people ahead of the Johnstown flood. Mounted on a powerful horse, faster and faster went the rider, but the flood was swiftly gaining, until it caught the unlucky horseman and swept on, grinding, crushing, annihilating both weak and strong.

In the same way is disease lurking near, like unto the sword of Damocles, ready to fall, without warning, on its victim, who allows his system to become clogged up, and his blood poisoned, and thereby his health endangered. To eradicate these poisons from the system, no matter what their name or nature, and save yourself a spell of malarial, typhoid or bilious fever, or eruptions, swellings, tumors and kindred disfigurements, keep the liver and kidneys healthy and vigorous, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's the only blood-purifier sold on trial. Your money is returned if it doesn't do exactly as recommended. A concentrated vegetable extract. Sold by druggists, in large bottles, at $1.00.

conferences may the war cry of reform be "Let no guilty man escape." The voice of the reverend Bishop Payne should be heard and heeded, lest a worse calamity befall both preachers and people than overtook the recreant and sinful priests and people of Israel in the olden time. God endured, but in the end the inevitable doom of violated law overwhelmed them. It is a sign of hope when the Southern Christian Recorder which has roundly abused the bishop for his utterance, is led to say editorially, in a late issue:

"Bishop Payne, Prof. Washington and Dr. Albert have brought the offence. Now if this offence will force to us to examine our foundation and walls, and take out all rotten timber and stones and put in sound ones, we can turn it into blessing." This indicates a right attitude. To cover up and conceal evils that colored ministers by the score have acknowledged, will only multiply abuses. To scatter darkness let in the light!

The other element of weakness—ignorance in the ministry—I cannot fully discuss. There has been marked advance. There must be rapid advance if the rising generation, now in our schools, is to be held to the church.

It has been given me as the sober conviction of many cultured and observant colored men, that the ministry in culture and intellectual progress, is not keeping pace with the rank and file of the generation born since the war. I have not the data to guarantee the trustworthiness of such an alarming statement. To say the least, however, the conditions are such as to bring all friends of the race to serious thought.

Compared with the thousands in the ministry, only a bare handful are now in our theological seminaries. Those in our higher colleges, making adequate preparations for the ministry, are numbered by the score, instead of by hundreds.

Two things are necessary in order to raise the intellectual character of the ministry. First, to elevate the standard of admission into our conferences and synods, thus forcing candidates back into our schools. Second, to secure the active cooperation of the officials of the churches in the interests of higher preparation for the ministry. Now I have spoken plainly, yet out of a heart the last drop of whose blood is gratefully consecrated to the redemption of a race through the sending forth of a trained and consecrated ministry.

It would be a more grateful task for me to view simply the bright side, and to join you in congratulation over the evident and really inspiring achievements of the ministry of to-day. Of necessity this would consist in an array of glitter ing generalities, as the record is not yet open to clear view. I speak, however, to a convention of educators of the race, and the occasion is not one merely for congratulation. We are here to face the problems of to-day that confront us in our work.

The achievements of the ministry of to-day among the colored people are marked, and even glorious. They constitute a record of which any ministry might be proud.

1. Under the ministry of to-day the church organizations are being unified and strengthened and their missionary operations widened. A spirit of greater unity and more helpful cooperation is growing up with their increase of knowledge and their devotion to Christ.

2. They are building church edifices to correspond with the advance of the people in wealth and intelligence.

3. Educational institutions are now being opened and conducted by colored men, the ministers of to-day; and in this capacity they are exhibiting educational and executive talent of no mean order.

4. Publishing houses are being established and a literature to adequately meet the demands of the people is being provided. Reviews and weekly papers of ability and of high moral tone are being edited by the ministry of to-day and they are widely circulated.

5. The young people are being cared for in the Sunday-school as never before. Teachers and Sunday-school supplies and comfortable churches yearly render this important part of the work more effective.

6. Under their intelligent direction the church services are more orderly and less marked by the purely emotional element.

7. The regard of the people for the church is still shown in the fact that they give as no other church, hardly excepting the Catholics. Is there not however some danger that this eternal cry for money may drive some sensitive and even sensible people from the church? In some denominations the amount of money raised has come even to be the measures of a church and its minister. This sad and indignant lament from the Southern Christian Recorder of Feb. 12, in regard to the church it represents, is startling: "Our Conferences," writes the editor, "are not religious assemblies as in the days gone by. Dollar money is made the standard of a minister's standing and character."

8. There is certainly an advance in the character and quality of the preaching of the ministry of to-day. Ethical truth is gaining a larger place and the sermons are in many localities more biblical and more practical than in the older days.

9. Best of all, glorious revivals still come to the church and thousands are being brought to Christ.

10. From observations reaching over a period of eight years and that extend over most of the Southern states, I give it as my deliberate conviction, that the people of our churches are rising,—rising financially, intellectually morally,—rising in the image of Christ to a nobler type of womanhood and manhood;—and it must be said that this advance is largely due to the leadership of the ministry, supplemented by the labors of the educators of the youth in our Christian institutions of learning.

In this picture of the ministry and the church of to-day which I have so inadequately drawn the lights and shadows rest side by side. Thank God there is more light than darkness;—great reasons for hope and no reasons for a Christian to despair.

I am a Christian optimist. My face is turned towards the morning. I see the light of a better day, through the spread of the gospel of Christ, breaking over this Southland. I am glad with hope and full of enthusiasm as I look to the future of this people. I think more of the sun risings, piercing the clouds with light and bathing the earth in a splendor fresh from heaven, than I do of sun settings with their somber hues, drawing the mantle over all. In nature as in human life however, the true view takes in both. Christian educators, let us, then, with faces turned toward the rising sun of righteousness, — with shadows thrown behind us, and with the light and leadership of Christ guiding us onward—go forth, with Whittier's song of hope and courage filling our souls:

I feel the earth move onward,
I join the great march onward,
And take by faith while living
My freehold of thanksgiving.

Ring bells in unrequited steeples,
The joy of unborn peoples;
Shout triumphs far off blown,
Your triumph is my own.

Schools and Colleges.

A note from Bro. J. R. Howard, Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., says: "School moves on nicely with the largest number enrolled in its history. The SOUTHWESTERN is eagerly read every week. You are giving us a good paper. We are watching you and praying for you."

In our note commendatory of the work done at the Medical School of New Orleans University, in last week's issue, we erroneously classed Prof. H. J. Clement among the M. D.s, and failed to name Drs. Felton and Newman among the professors that had given such faithful and efficient service in the school during the past year. They deserve all the good things that can be said of their service.

The present is the most prosperous year that New Orleans University has ever witnessed. It has an enrollment of 543 students. It might have been considerably over 600, but for the fact that many had to be denied admittance for lack of room. The plan now is to put up an additional, plain, but commodious building to accommodate the additional three or four hundred students expected next school year. Three thousand dollars will put up the building. It must be put up by October 1 of this year. To do this we must have the money. The inadequacy of our public school system, as well as the tremendous possibilities involved make this demand upon us irresistible. Will not some of God's stewards, who read these lines, furnish the money?

Mr. M. Weems, a student of Wiley University, Marshall, Texas, has written us in condemnation of the "Students' letter," which appeared in this paper a couple of weeks ago, wherein Mr. Richardson's lecture was criticised. He does so in a respectable and manly spirit, which we appreciate. Had we any reason to suspect that there would have been any division of opinion in respect to the matter we certainly would not have admitted the first letter at all; but when an honorable member of Wiley University vouched for its genuineness, saying, "I am only too sorry to say that all that they say is true, and a great deal more could be said," we felt that by publishing the same we were thereby giving publicity to that which fully represented the unanimous opinion of all connected with the institution. As we said in a previous issue, we regret this controversy, and would not do Mr. Richardson or any one else any intentional wrong, but that we published the Student's letter on the Professor's word as an intelligent and respectable Christian gentleman. The question of veracity raised is not with us, but between the Professor and those of the students and other professors who deny the correctness of the Student's letter. Both sides to the controversy have had their say in the premises now, and we shall here dismiss it, with the hope that we shall not have any other repetition of its like.

Did you know that the medical school of the New Orleans University was an established fact? Its doors are extended wide open to any and all our worthy young people who are otherwise prepared to enter upon a regular course in medicine. Get ready to enter at the beginning of the next annual session, Sept. 28. Write to President L. G. Adkinson, who will give you every necessary information.

To ministers, candidates for the ministry, Sunday-school superintendents and teachers of all denominations: You are invited to attend a Biblical institute, to be held at Claflin University, Orangeburg, S. C., commencing April 1 and closing April 5, 1891, conducted by the Gammon Theological Seminary, under the direction of James O. Murray, B. D., Professor of Exegetical Theology. The program will consist of methods of Bible study, Bible geography, chronology, manners and customs, lectures on the Bible, the life of Christ, and kindred subjects. During the institute there will be given by Professor Murray popular lectures, illustrated by large and splendid stereopticon views, on "The Passion Play at Oberammergau" and "Palestine." Special rates will be secured over the S. C. R. R. We expect to be able to provide free entertainment for all who come from a distance. Please notify me in advance of your coming and write for further information if needed. Fraternal yours, L. M. DUNTON, President of Claflin University, Orangeburg, S. C.

Dr. Whitaker Exonerates Mr. Richardson.

DEAR DR. ALBERT: I was more afflicted than I could possibly express on reading in your issue of Feb. 26 a letter signed "The Students of Wiley University."

Mr. W. M. Richardson is a member, or probationer, in our church here and well known as a Christian gentleman of highest probity. He is not an educated man, but he has been a keen observer of human nature.

The lecture referred to was his second before our university. The former lecture was full of good, sound practical points of great value to the young people in training here. This time he was here by invitation of the faculty by unanimous vote.

He did not make the wholesale denunciations of the colored race attributed to him. Perhaps the principal feature of the address was his division of the race into two classes—three millions of aspiring, upright and prosperous people, and seven millions, more or less, ignorant and degraded.

He was too denunciatory, it seems, of the lowness and the villainous among the 7,000,000 class for those who cannot bear to hear anything but good of colored people. Those who were attentive might have thought the speaker erred most in the size of his excellent class, rather than in the delineation of either.

I regretted that the speaker gave so much prominence in this lecture to the subject of courtship and marriage, especially in this place. But it is in the highest sense untrue and unjust to the speaker to attribute to him on that occasion either immoral topics or an immoral treatment of any topic.

He is charged with attributing to all negroes what he found some to possess, in his 7,000,000 class. Some negro preachers even were humbly, but not all—a sentiment never found with Mr. Richardson, who finds in the clergy some of his warmest friends.

I do not know who wrote the unfortunate article, but I am very sure it was so highly colored as to misrepresent a Christian gentleman, who, if not a cultivated man, or always the happiest in his selection and treatment of topics, did say many excellent things and always feels the kindest sympathy for the 3,000,000 class, for which he earnestly pleads. His style was very entertaining to his audience. At the close he received a nearly, or quite a unanimous rising vote of thanks for his lecture.

Publishers' Department.

(Pastors are requested to read this department each week.)

Take Notice!

We cannot make all the transfers on our list because the name of the charge is not a postoffice in many instances. Then those who are on a circuit ought to tell us at which place they get their mail. All changes desired should be requested, and always mention former address. Don't forget that. It is important! The list is about to be put in type for a mailing machine, when we hope there will be no more complaints of not getting the paper. Let requests for all changes that have not been sent in be sent at once! All pastors of charges in the patronizing conferences can have the paper, and pay when Conference meets. All such not receiving the paper, please notify us. Read this notice again.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

"The Blood is the Life."

Runs the old saying, and everything that ever makes part of any organ of the body must reach its place therein through the blood. Therefore, if the blood is purified and kept in good condition by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, it necessarily follows that the benefit of the medicine is imparted to every organ of the body. Can anything be simpler than the method by which this excellent medicine gives good health to all who will try it fairly and patiently?

THE Athens, Tenn., Weekly Watchman is among the latest ventures in journalism. It is vigorous and manly in its tone, and gives promise of much good.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a "Peculiar" Medicine, and is worthy your confidence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

A LOOK IN THE FUTURE.

By a Medical Student.

Mallalieu Medical College,
At 302 Canal street,
Aims to prepare her students
To heal all the ills they meet.

Now want you take a course
In this fine school, young man?
You will be benefited by Preparing the best you can.

Some think the study of medicine
To be quite a royal road;
Reading of diseases, their symptoms,
And how easy they are cured.

But when we study Physiology,
We have to sit and read.
Of organs, cells and tissues,
And the nutriment they need.

And when we study Anatomy,
We read of muscles, bones and veins;
That we all may get a knowledge
Of forms and the structure of man.

In studying drp pages of Anatomy,
Some think—almost useless to try;
But each makes this his own motto:
Others have learned them—so can I.

In the book of Chemistry,
We study the elements;
Those that form our bodies,
Our bread and all we eat.

But I think, when we are through Anatomy, Chemistry and Physiology, Much better we'll enjoy to read
On Surgery and Gynecology.

We'll learn the science Diagnosis
In all its different stages,
From the slightest of diseases
To where Hydrophobia rages.

We'll learn to give the different drugs
Just as they are needed,
And tell just how each dose we give Should always be succeeded.

We'll learn to cure diseases,
Of any kind whatever,
From simplest stages of vertigo
To those of yellow fever.

We ask all those who wish
A fair medical knowledge,
To make it known by coming
To Mallalieu Medical College.

And when the next session opens,
We hope that may see
Young men with intentions
Of making themselves M. D's.

Here you will meet Rev. Emperor Williams;
He's just the very man
Who'll welcome and encourage you
To do the best you can.

The Household.

Facts Worth Knowing.

Screws that are too small for separate treatment may be cleaned from rust as follows: Take a pound of screws and place them in a small box, a cigar box will do; put a small quantity of oil on them and shake for a minute; finally put a handful of sawdust in the box, and shake for another minute or so, and remove the sawdust by sifting it from the screws in a fine sieve.
The screws will come out well cleaned.

Cracks of a room may be neatly and permanently filled by thoroughly soaking newspapers in paste made of one pound of flour, three quarts of water and a tablespoonful of alum, thoroughly boiled and mixed. The mixture will be about as thick as putty, and may be forced into the cracks with a case knife. It will harden like papier mache.

A very good cement to fasten on lamp tops is melted alum. Use as soon as melted, and the lamp is ready for use as soon as the cement is cold.

Rubber rings such as are used on the fruit cans often become hard and brittle. They can be restored by letting them lie in water in which you have put a little ammonia. Mix in this proportion:
One part ammonia and two parts water. Sometimes they do not need to lie in this more than five minutes, but frequently a half hour is needed to restore their elasticity.

A quick cure for burns is to apply a layer of common salt and saturate it with lanadanum. Hold it in place an hour or so by a simple bandage. The smarting sensation disappears rapidly, and the burn gets well.

Our Symposium.

The Logic of Miracles.

Nicodemus hit the point exactly alike as to the facts and the arguments therefrom, when he said to Christ: "Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God, for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him." (John iii, 2). John tells us that when Jesus was in Jerusalem at his first passover, "many believed in his name, when they saw the miracles which he did." (John ii, 23). Nicodemus seems to have been of this number; and no one ever reasoned more soundly, or stated the argument from miracles more incisively, than did this Jewish ruler. Christian logic in all ensuing ages has adopted and repeated his syllogism. Let any being with the power of such supernatural wonders as the Gospel narrative assigns to Christ in his life on earth, and the proof is complete that God is "with him" in the sense of speaking through him, authenticating his words, and in the element of authority making them the word of God himself.

Reason, the truest and best that man can possibly exercise, declares that such a being is and must be a messenger from God.

Peter on the day of Pentecost, submitted to his Jewish hearers
the following statement:
"Ye men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you by miracles and wonders and signs, which God did by him in the midst of you, as ye yourselves also know; him, being delivered by the deter-minate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain." (Acts ii, 22, 23).—N. Y.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The Best Blood Medicine

So say Leading Physicians and Druggists, and their opinion is endorsed by thousands cured by it of Scrofula, Eczema, Erysipelas, and other diseases of the blood.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla has won its reputation by years of valuable service to the community. It is the best."—R. S. Lang, Druggist, 212 Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass.
Dr. W. P. Wright, Paw Paw Ford, Tenn., says: "In my practice, I invariably prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla for chronic diseases of the blood."
Dr. R. R. Boyte, Third and Oxford sts., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "For two years I have prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilla in numerous instances, and I find it highly efficacious in the treatment of all disorders of the blood."
L. M. Robinson, Pharmacist, Sabina, O., certifies: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has always been a great seller. My customers think there is no blood-purifier equal to it."
"For many years I was afflicted with scrofulous running sores, which, at last became so bad the doctors advised amputating one of my legs to save my life. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla and soon saw an improvement. After using about two dozen bottles the sores were healed. I continue to take a few bottles of this medicine each year, for my blood, and am no longer troubled with sores. I have tried other reputed blood-purifiers, but none does so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—D. A. Robinson,

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 64 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

Our Children's Legion.

For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 8 years old. I go to Sunday school every Sunday.

Your Niece,
ANNIE BLY.
Fayetteville, Ark.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 11 years of age. I go to Sunday school every Sunday. I have three sisters and one brother. My mother is a member of the M. E. Church. Our father is Rev. W. Ellison. I am a member of the M. E. Church also. My mother takes the SOUTHWESTERN and I delight in reading it.

Your Niece,
ETHEL GRANT.
Farmington.

Dear Uncle Cephas: It has been quite a while since I wrote you. The last time I wrote I did not be long to the church, but now I can say for myself that Jesus is mine. My dear cousins, I think that too many of our letters are alike. Let us try and quit writing the same old thing all the time. Now, I have a question, dear Uncle, for you to answer: From what did the river Jordan derive its name?

Your Nephew,
BEVERLY SHAW.
Vaiden, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a member of the M. E. Church. My uncle takes the SOUTHWESTERN and I read it weekly. I am anxious to correspond with the little cousins of such a good paper.

Your Nephew,
OLIVER PERRY.
Lucknow, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 13 years old. I go to Sunday school every day, and to Sunday school. I have three sisters and three brothers. My mama belongs to the Baptist Church. I am not a member, but I long to be. One of my sisters and one brother belong to the M. E. Church. My sister's name is Martha Lincoln. She is married. My papa is dead. My sister Hettie takes the SOUTHWESTERN and the Ladies' World. She is 15 years old. Our school is about to close. My teacher's name is F. A. Hall. Our pastor is Rev. Clayton. Our teacher is very kind and I love her. She has been teacher here three seasons, but she is going away. She is not coming any more, and I am very sorry. I have a most loving friend by the name of Mary A. Norris. She is going to Waco school. Her sister, Florence Morris, is also a friend of mine.

Your Niece,
MARY S. EURION.
Sneec Town, Texas.

Dear Uncle Cephas: Every week I read my nieces' and cousins' letters, and now it encourages me to write also. My father takes the SOUTHWESTERN and I take great pleasure in reading it, especially Mrs. Albert's "House of Bondage." It was so very nice and interesting to read. Our pastor and people here gave a missionary entertainment in order to raise the missionary money, last Saturday night. We had a pleasant time. I attend the Sunday school and church. I am also a member. We like our pastor very well. His name is Rev. S. Gates.

Your Niece,
MATTHEW J. GATES.
Bremont, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 9 years old. As I have never written a letter to you, I thought I would write. My papa takes the SOUTHWESTERN and I take pleasure in reading it every week. My papa is Presiding Elder of the West Tennessee district, and so you know he cannot do without it. I go to Sunday school every Sunday, and love to go. I am a member of the M. E. Church and so is my mama.

Your Niece,
CALLIE ANDERSON.
Martin, Tenn.

The New Orleans Picayune is one of the newest and most reliable papers published. Its Editorials are judicious and timely; it gives all the news without fear or favor; its Associated Press and Special Southern Telegrams cover all important Foreign and Domestic News; its Commercial and Market Reports are complete and are accepted standards; its Letters from New York and Paris, and the Special Contributions of Pearl Rivers, Catharine Cole, Mollie Moore Davis, Jennie Jone, Marie Points and others are unfailing sources of interest and information and are of a high order of literary merit. The Picayune is printed in clear, new type, of size sufficient to be read without straining the eyes.

To keep abreast of the times and know all worth knowing that a newspaper should tell, send Three Dollars for three months' subscription to the Daily Picayune, or subscribe for its splendid Weekly Edition at One Dollar a year. The Weekly is sixteen pages, and is issued every Thursday morning to reach all subscribers before Sunday.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Toner, One Foot Ruler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it, and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

The only vegetable substitute for Calomel, which acts on the liver, blood, kidneys and stomach, and heat anti-bilious purgative, is Magnie's Candorange. Indorsed by Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia; Rev. McNally, of St. Louis, and a host of prominent people.

Spring Humors

Spring Humors, whether itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, whether of the skin, scalp, or blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, are now speedily, permanently, and economically cured by the Cuticura Remedies when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. The almost miraculous cures daily effected by them prove this. No statement is made regarding them not warranted by the strongest evidence. They are, in truth, the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times. They are absolutely pure, and agreeable to the most sensitive, and may be used on the youngest infant and most delicate invalid with gratifying and unflinching success. CUTICURA, the great skin cure, instantly allays the most intense itching, burning, and inflammation, permits rest and sleep, soothes and heals raw and irritated surfaces, clears the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, and restores the hair. CUTICURA SOAP, the only medicated toilet soap, is indispensable in cleansing diseased surfaces. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood and skin purifier, and greatest of humor remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities, and thus removes the cause. Hence, the Cuticura Remedies cure every humor of the Spring, from the simplest facial blemishes to the worst case of scrofula. Sale greater than the combined sales of all others.

How to Cure Diseases of the Skin and Blood—mailed free to any address, 64 pages, 300 Diseases, 50 Illustrations, 100 Testimonials. A book of priceless value to every sufferer. CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; CUTICURA SOAP, 25c.; CUTICURA RESOLVENT, 50c. Prepared by PORTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

Pimples, Blotchy Skin, red, rough, and oily skin and hands, painful finger-ends with shapeless nails, are prevented and cured by Cuticura Soap, incomparably the greatest of skin purifiers and beautifiers, while rivaling in delicacy and surpassing in purity the most expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. The only medicated toilet soap, and the only preventive and cure of inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of pimples, blackheads, rough, red, and oily skin, and simple humors of infants and children. Price, 25c.

LESSON HYMN, C. M.

And must I be to judgment brought,
And answer in that day
For every vain and idle thought,
And every word I say?

Yes, every secret of my heart
Shall shortly be made known,
And I receive my just desert
For all that I have done.

How careful, then, ought I to live,
With what religious fear?
Who such a strict account must give
For my behavior here.

Time—Same as before; probably B. C. 894.

Places—Same as before.

Rulers—Same as before.

Connecting links—This incident follows immediately that narrated in our last lesson.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. The grateful Syrian, v. 15-19. Where did Naaman go as soon as he was cured?

What did he say to Elisha?

What was Elisha's answer?

What request did Naaman then make?

Whom only did he say he would worship?

Yet for what act did he ask pardon?

What did Elisha reply?

2. The greedy servant, v. 20-27. What said Gehazi about Elisha's refusing gifts?

What did he resolve to do?

What did Naaman do when he saw the servant?

What excuse did the servant give for following?

What gift did he ask?

What did Naaman urge him to take?

By whom did he send back the gifts?

Where did Gehazi hide his treasure?

What question did Elisha ask on his return?

What was the servant's answer?

What question did Elisha then ask?

What punishment did he pronounce?

What sorrow came on the servant?

Of what may every sinner be sure? (Golden Text).

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson may we find:

1. A warning against greed?

2. A proof that man cannot deceive God?

3. An assurance that sin will be punished?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG MEN.

Read the story of the man who wanted to buy the power of working miracles for money.

What did Jesus say about helping afflicted people freely? You will find it in the tenth chapter of Matthew.

What does Paul say about the love of money?

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. What did the grateful Naaman ask Elisha to accept? A costly present.

2. For what did Naaman ask Elisha's pardon? For bowing to a false God.

3. How did Gehazi secure part of the present that Elisha had refused? By telling a lie.

4. How did Elisha see things done in his absence? By God's power.

5. How was Gehazi punished? He was made a leper.

EXPLANATIONS.

He returned—With gladness, for the tides of health again flowed through his body. A blessing—

The word was used for a gift which was supposed to carry with it a blessing. The house of Rimmon—The temple of the idol of the Syrians. The Lord pardon thy servant—Naaman felt that this conduct was sufficiently inconsistent to require a special permit. Take somewhat of him—The Jews were apt to regard Gentiles as legitimate prey. That Elisha should allow a Syrian to go out of the land without paying dearly for whatever he had received seemed to Gehazi's narrow mind an outrage. Leprosy . . . shall cleave unto thee—This was not Elisha's revenge; he was talking for God. The reasons for this peculiarly severe punishment of Gehazi at this juncture were evident. Elisha's words were spoken by God's direction.

Doctrinal suggestion—Sin in the heart.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

31. What was the sin of our first parents? Their eating of the forbidden fruit.

32. By whom were they tempted to sin? By the devil in the form of a serpent. (Gen. 3, 13, Rev. 20, 2.)

33. What evil did their sin bring upon them? They lost the image of God, were driven out of Eden, and became subject to pain and death.

Miss Bessie H. Bedloe, of Burlington, Vt., had a disease of the scalp which caused her hair to become very harsh and dry and to fall so freely she scarcely dared comb it. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave her a healthy scalp, and made the hair beautifully thick and glossy.

Obituary.

New Orleans—Sister Lottie Janis departed this life Jan. 1, 1891, in full triumph of faith, aged 103 years. She was a faithful member of Williams Chapel, Carrollton. Peace to her ashes.

Sister Sarah Coll departed this life Feb. 10, 1891, in full triumph of faith. She was a faithful member of Williams Chapel. She died as she lived.

H. Taylor, P. C.

[Received Feb. 28—Ed.]

We, the members and friends of the M. E. Church, sympathize with Rev. H. P. Coulter in his bereavement. On the 7th of July, 1890, he lost his darling boy. On the 24th of October, 1890, he lost his dear companion, Mrs. Maria Coulter. On the 16th of February, 1891, he lost his little daughter, Harriet Coulter, aged 6 years. Sister Coulter was married to Rev. H. P. Coulter Nov. 18, 1888. She lived an affectionate wife for 7 years, 1 month and 6 days. Our losses are heaven's gain.

B. J. Thornton and wife.

Carrollton, Miss.—Malissa Bell Porter, daughter of Sister Lucy Ann and Bro. Hines Porter, departed this life Feb. 15, 1891, aged 3 years and 4 days.

D. A. Bragg, P. C.

On the 15th day of January, 1891, Sister Carrie Harbert, aged 23 years, departed this life. She had been an exemplary and faithful member of Mt. Vernon M. E. Church, Richmond, Texas, for several years. Thank God, through all her sufferings and many crosses, she died the death of the righteous. Her last words were, "Thank God. Amen! Amen! Amen! I will soon cross over." Being away from home at the time of her death, her funeral was conducted by brother William Matthews, one of our local preachers.

On the 21st of February, 1891, Bro. Clem Bohanan passed from labor to reward. He was speechless more than 48 hours. Before his tongue and memory failed he was asked by Bro. Matthews how stood the case between him and his God. His answer was, "I am just waiting on Jesus. I have resigned my all to Him." Bro. Bohanan was 73 years old, and had been a member of the Mt. Vernon Church, Richmond, Texas, many years. He leaves an aged wife, children and grandchildren to mourn. William Matthews officiating.

G. J. Izard, P. C.

Macon, Miss.—Rev. Wesley Jones, one of the old pioneer preachers of the Mississippi Conference until its division, and then a member of the Upper Mississippi Conference, fell a victim to death on the evening of Feb. 13, leaving a wife and nine children to mourn his loss. He has passed from labor to reward. His funeral was attended by the writer and L. P. Brown. His remains were carefully and neatly deposited in the cemetery here by the Macon Lodge. The M. E. Church has lost a faithful friend.

L. F. White, P. C.

Rev. Sam P. Jones says: My wife, who was an invalid from nervous sick headache, has been entirely cured by six weeks' use of Dr. King's Royal Germetuer. Her health is perfect. In three weeks two of my children were cured completely of nasal catarrh. It is TRULY A GREAT REMEDY.

A PLEASANT note from Prof. D. W. Byrd, Holly Springs, Miss., says: "You are constantly on the lookout for the better; under your management the SOUTHWESTERN has more than trebled its subscription list, has improved much in form and tone, yet we expect still more from your effort. We are confident the SOUTHWESTERN is to grow on all lines. You have our support and prayer."

I HAVE been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use it with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

IN THE SPRING

AVOID SICKNESS BY PURIFYING THE BLOOD AND TONING UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wonderful popularity:

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.

2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.

3. It never sweeps off one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.

4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.

5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and anti-pyrene, and leave none of their unpleasant and harmful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it.

For Ladies and Children it is the best.

Aches and pains, headache, etc., mailed free. For sale by druggists and by Kit Williams, agent, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Price: per bottle, $1 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

By permission we refer to the Manager of this paper.

HAVE you purchased, and are you studying the books prescribed in your course of studies? This applies to class leaders, exhorters, and local preachers, as well as all the undergraduates in our annual conferences. Get the books now, and study them, and thereby shun the terrible practice of making excuses at the district and annual conferences. Remember, too, that the SOUTHWESTERN is your official organ, and that unless provided with it, you will be found wanting in a very important particular. Send for the books and the paper.

Queer world! Queer people! Here are men and women by thousands suffering from all sorts of diseases, bearing all manner of pain, attending their all on physicians and "getting no better, but rather worse," when right at hand there is a remedy which says, "It can help them because it's helped thousands like them." Another patient—medicinal advertisement," you say. Yes—but not of the ordinary sort. The Medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and it's different from the ordinary nostrums in this:

It does what it claims to do, or it costs you nothing!

The way is this: You pay your druggist $1.00 for a bottle. You read the directions, and you follow them. You get better, or you don't. If you do, you buy another bottle, and perhaps another. If you don't get better, you get your money back. And the queer thing is that so many people are willing to be sick when the remedy's so near at hand.

PASTOR'S throughout our territory will confer a great favor if they send us their present and former addresses so we can send their papers to their present addresses and not to their former.

BISHOP Warren, in his very able address to the class admitted into full connection at the South Carolina Conference, reminded the young men, then about to be received into full connection, that there were three kinds of shepherds: "Shepherds that feed, shepherds that shear, and shepherds that make mutton of the flock." He fervently exhorted them "to feed the flock, and not to fleece nor make mutton of the flocks committed to their charge."

Theology.

Theology is as truly a science as any physical science is. It has a definite field containing facts which can be ascertained and which can be brought together in their relations and explained in a rational system. Its method is therefore one of scientific induction. The theologian must come to the supernatural as the scientist comes to nature, divested as far as possible of every bias of preconceived theory. He must ascertain, with the aid of all the light which the various theological branches may give him what the Bible teaches and he must seek its rational explanation in a system ever more approaching the perfect system of God, though like the scientist's view of the physical universe, never fully attaining the pattern in the Mount. However, theology is not only a science; the exalted character of its subject matter makes it the queen of sciences; more, as Cave well shows, from the very nature of the case, in a gradation of the sciences, we should advance from the more simple to the complex, from that which contains the fewest elements and is more capable of isolated investigation to that containing more elements and hence whose investigation is conditioned upon the results in the other fields; such a gradation making each science conditioned more or less upon all that precedes, gives us, according to Cave, pure mathematics, physics, chemistry, astronomy, biology, science of mind, sociology, theology, and makes, from a purely scientific view, theology the head of the sciences. The Bible is its great inexhaustible fountain head.

Bishop Newman Vindicated by a Large Concourse of Grateful and Admiring Friends, in the Attack of Bishop Grant of the A. M. E. Church.

Rev. Ernest Lyon spoke as follows, and then introduced the following resolution signed by the committee and unanimously adopted by the large gathering.

Mr. Chairman and friends:—

Assembled as we are, on this the 2nd, day of March, to join with the multitude, all over this broad land, to offer tribute of respect and gratitude to the honored and undying memory of John Wesley, the venerable father and founder of our Holy Methodism, which, for more than a century, has contributed largely to the solidity of human government, to the universal spread of the highest type of christian civilization, and to the final abolition of human slavery in this country, as well as in others afflicted with this, the most diabolical evil of any age, this occasion is deemed by us, fittingly suggestive for the expression of gratitude; first, to Almighty God, the Father of all, for his wonderful care and Providence; and second, to that portion of his servants, who have shown kindness and friendship, at the expense of happiness and life, to his weaker Israel's during their dreadful experience, through their wilderness of oppression, of bondage and injustice. We recognize the fact, that as a people, if not all over the country, yet in certain sections of the country, by force of circumstances, as well as by an unjust public sentiment, we have been prevented from preaching that standard in national and ecclesiastical economies, which exempts us from proscription and injustice. As there seems to be a majority of that class who is so disposed to treat us, wisdom declares, that in our present helpless condition, we should make friends with every man, who is willing to show himself friendly to our race, in the face of alarming opposition. Especially with that class of men, whose sincerity has been tried in more instances than one. Gratitude is a quality which when seen among animals is admired, and when found in man, is not only pleasing to his fellow man, but also to his maker; therefore, we add to the credit of the race when we show ourselves grateful to our benefactors. While we have had much to regret from the action of not only wicked men of the world, but also by the action of narrow minded men in religion; yet we have had infinitely more, for which to be thankful, resulting from the labors and services of good and great men; some of whom have sacrificed their noble lives, in defense of our liberty and rights. Among this mighty cavalcade of good and great men, we recognize the venerable Wesley, who nine days prior to his death—numbered among the very last of his public acts, was a stirring exhortation to young Wilberforce, the English champion of human liberty;—arguing him not to give up the fight for the emancipation of the slaves in the British Dominions, till the shackles of a degrading serfdom should fall from the limb of every Negro thus enslaved. This same spirit of noble-mindedness and of universal fatherhood and brotherhood of all the races still characterizes his successors, and the bishops of the church of our choice, this fact was exemplified in the memorable expression of President Lincoln, who publically declared that the M. E. Church had placed more men on the battlefield, and had sent up to heaven more prayers for the salvation of the Union and the emancipation of the American slaves, than any other christian denomination on the continent. Therefore, we have abundant cause whereby to be grateful to the M. E. Church for her care and concern for us; which care and concern did not merely begin with our emancipation; but extends back into the very darkest and severest period of our trials and humiliation. At a time too, when our sufferings and our condition drew forth but very little pity from many, who are now bidding for our influence and our support by the most artful designs. And since God frowns upon the encouragement of caste, and the existence of prejudice which proscribes any portion of humanity from the blessedness of his holy religion. As his followers cannot but regard those, whether white or black, who would countenance such in religion, as bringing sinfulness, wicked, and unchristian, and unworthy the respect of good men.

Whereas, We are as capable of knowing the difference between a compliment and an insult, and whereas we, on the 13th day of January 1891, listened to the oration delivered on the occasion of the Quarter-Centennial of our Methodism in this state by Bishop John P. Newman, whose christian adherence and fidelity to the cause of human rights, justly entitled him to the respect and confidence of President Lincoln who entrusted him with the religious affairs of this section of the country, at a period in the church's history as critical as any; for he found a newly humiliated people gorged with prejudice and hatred and clinging tenaciously to an imaginary right, which was taken away from them by force; in contrast with a newly emancipated people pampered with liberty and imaginary hopes of national protection; and it was at this period that this same John P. Newman came; a period when smiles were sought, and when favors might have been lavished; but by his strict adherence to right and justice he remained faithful, among the faithless; and whereas, there were also present such representative members of the race as John T. Newman, M. D., a physician of more than ordinary skill, Prof. Fayerweather a man of recognized ability, Hon. T. B. Stamps, proprietor of the Standard Pelican a representative journal, Hon. J. F. Patry naval officer of the port of N. O., Rev. John Marks a leading Baptist minister, Rev. David Young a Baptist minister of national reputation, Rev. O. A. Le Boen a leading minister of the A. M. E. Church and I. E. Mullen, M. D., acting Dean of the Medical Department of the N. O. University, and scores of others whose names cannot be mentioned on account of time and space, but who singly and mildly declared that the oration was a masterly defense of the race; and that the orator was certainly entitled to the respect and gratitude of the race.

Therefore, Be it resolved that we regard the noble remarks, credited to Bishop Abraham Grant in the daily Picayune of the issue of the 9th of February of the present year against Bishop John P. Newman, before a large crowd of excited people, worked up to such a pitch, by frequent appeals to race prejudice, a condition of affairs condemned by all good people black and white, as being, not only, unjust, ungrateful, and sinful and deserving of the severest reprobation; but as being a sample of a first class demagogue, fitter for the back ages than for an enlightened period in American civilization.

Resolved, Further that it is the judgment of the masses, that Bishop Payne, the colleague of Bishop Grant, and the so called Prof. Washington, are more deserving of the righteous condemnation and indignant censure of Bishop Grant, since he himself as a Southern preacher, might possibly have been included in the two-thirds of Southern immoral ministers, branded in this unfortunate episode.

Resolved, Further that we consider the course of Bishop Grant as inconsistent, and also as out of harmony with the exalted station of a bishop, who a year ago in his Baton Rouge Conference, advised unity and concord with the whites in secular affairs; while at this conference he overthrew indirectly that wholesome and commendable advice by exciting the people to discord and dissension in religious affairs and practically asking them to turn their backs upon their friends who have done so much for them in the past, and who are still doing as are evidenced in the establishment of the New Orleans University, with the Peck Memorial Home, for training of the girls of the race; with the medical department for the matriculation of physicians; with the Gilbert Seminary and Agricultural College at Winsted, La., with the orphan's home at Baldwin, affording them shelter, and the academy at Alexandria in which institutions the boys and girls irrespective of denominations are being educated to fill intelligently their stations in life.

Resolved, Further that the concluding remarks of Bishop Grant's effusion were more deserving of censure than anything that was said by Bishop Newman, who according to the quotation of Bishop Grant himself, only condemned in mild terms Bishop Payne and his satellite Prof. Washington (!) for casting a stigma of reproach upon the race; and who were if not for the high and exalted position of Bishop Payne, we might have been made to believe that he was recompensed for the course he took as is too often the case in such matters.

Resolved, Further that we are inclined to believe the statement made by a whole district of African Methodists who have recently seceded from the connection on account of this affair, that Bishop Payne made this remark in order to make the way clear for him to transfer Northern preachers into fat Southern pulpits, which is a thing of frequent occurrence.

Resolved, Further that our confidence in such men as W. F. Mallalieu is well founded; who has been unflinching in his efforts to benefit our people far and near; and by whose herculean efforts and national influence we owe our present position on Canal street, the principal business avenue in the city, in a three story brick building dedicated to the disciples of Escalapins, whereby our young men are being trained to help their people in their moments of suffering and affliction.

Resolved, Further that we take this stand not as Methodists merely but as members of the Southern ministerial family and laity who have been unjustly abused and misrepresented by the palace car brigade, who like some of the Northern white people undertake to know a good deal about the colored man and his condition in the South from a palace car window without having stayed on the ground long enough to intelligently acquaint themselves with our condition and affairs.

OUR JOHN WESLEY SYMPOSIUM.

Bishop Thomas Bowman.
I think Mr. Wesley's entire consecration to his work, was the great element in his marvelous success.

Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D.
Pastor Emeritus of Lafayette Ave. Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn.
Methodism is the glorious and imperishable monument of both the Wesleys. John was system, and Charles was song. The one hewed out the stones; and the other sent up the walls to the music of his heaven-inspired hymns. Behind both of them stood the Almighty Architect.

Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr.
Pastor Twenty-third St. Baptist Church, New York.

I love the memory of John Wesley, because he stood for a free salvation.

Rev. John Lanahan, D. D.
Baltimore Conference.

Said Sir William Jones: "If I am asked who is the greatest man, I answer the best; if I am asked who is the best, I answer the man who has done the most for his race." Measure Wesley by these tests, and where will you place his monument? The waves of religious influence which, under God, he started in the year 1739, are to-day renewing themselves in strength like the mountain billows of the ocean, and in freshness like the bow in the sky. He always sought the best, not the easiest, way to success; hence he built to stand.

Bishop Frederick D. Huntington.
Protestant Episcopal Church.

The secret of Wesley's extraordinary power over men seems to me to be found in his intuitive understanding—at once penetrating and comprehensive—of the religious needs of his time.

President B. P. Raymond.

Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.
The most remarkable characteristic of John Wesley was his indomitable will. But will is "reason energizing," and with him its energy was displayed in power to organize and rule. Through the first half-century of Methodism he was a whole board of bishops in and of himself.

Bishop John F. Hurst.

Wesley was one of those men who was so many-sided, so evenly balanced, that I do not believe he had any single prominent trait. As to achievements, he was much the same. One is hardly safe, amid so many triumphs of the man, in fixing on any one as greater than the rest. I should say, then, that his greatest trait was his many-sidedness, and his greatest achievement was the multitude of them.

Bishop O. P. Fitzgerald.
Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The most remarkable trait in John Wesley was his love of souls. It was this that made his preaching so direct and searching.

Bishop S. M. Merrill.

One of the remarkable traits in the make-up of John Wesley was his power of concentration, and his resultant power of continued effort.

Rev. Philip Schaff, D. D., LL. D.
Professor in Union Theological Seminary, New York.

I regard John Wesley as the most apostolic man that England has produced, and equal to any in the abundance of his labors.

Bishop W. F. Mallalieu.

John Wesley had in his veins the best blood of England. Physically and mentally he was thoroughbred. His scholarship was wonderfully comprehensive, exact and exhaustive. His spiritual life was settled strong, joyous and sympathetic. There, burned in his soul a quenchless zeal, an absorbing ambition, an indomitable purpose to lift all humanity out of the depths of ignorance, poverty and sin up to the possession of all earthly good, to the fellowship of the saints, and to the heirship of heaven. To accomplish this he absolutely gave all that he ever called "my" or "mine" to the service of God and his fellow-men. To-day all nations feel the uplift of his faith, his words, his works.

Edward Everett Hale.

As the dust of the time passes, I should say that the real power of John Wesley reveals itself as it was scarcely known in his time. It is the power of genuine Christianity—a man who believes that Jesus Christ is the Leader and Saviour of mankind, and who really wishes to follow Him in the establishment of God's kingdom.

Bishop Isaac W. Joyce.

In answer to the first, I think it was: His never failing faith in God and in the plan of redemption, and his abiding conviction that God called him to do a special work. In answer to the second, I think it was: In preparing the way for the founding of a great church.

Professor Charles J. Little.
Syracuse University, New York.

Wesley's character, like his face, was strong and beautiful for its perfect blending of traits: Intense feeling; incessant thinking; native resolution; great physical and moral courage; a sense of the unseen with a sense of the actual which the diviner vision never obscured by its excess of light; a love of power tempered and transfigured by his love for men and for God; a genius for self improvement, for the improvement of his generation, a genius too for organization and for command; a passion for righteousness; a hunger for holiness and a profound distrust of phrases and opinions—in short, John Wesley was not only twice born, but born gloriously both times.

Rev. Lyman Abbott, D. D.

Pastor Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, and editor of Christian Union.

I am sorry not to comply with your request; but I really could not do so without taking some time to re-study the life and character of John Wesley, for whom and his work I have a profound respect. I believe him to have been one of the great prophets of Anglo-Saxon christianity.

Rev. J. W. Hamilton, D. D.

Pastor Saratoga St. M. E. Church, East Boston.

The "most remarkable traits" in John Wesley were what Milton called "amplitude of mind," and what Luther called "religion of the heart." His motto, "The world is my parish," illustrate the one; "If thy heart is as my heart, give me thy hand," illustrates the other. His most remarkable achievement was Methodism.

Bishop W. X. Ninde.

John Wesley's working principle was the vitalizing of old and faded Scripture truths into a glowing personal experience, with a profound conviction that he was providentially called to inaugurate, on the basis of these truths, a revival of apostolic christianity.

Rev. S. F. Upham, D. D.

Professor in Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J.

The trait in John Wesley's character which impresses me, was his self-abnegation.

Chancellor C. N. Sims.

Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.

In my opinion, the greatest elements in Wesley's character were his clear apprehension of the privilege and importance of definite christian experience, his devotion to the work of spreading christian holiness, and the organizing power by which he utilized the services of his followers, so as to secure the largest and most enduring results.

Bishop John John H. Vincent.

The most admirable feature in the natural make-up of that marvelous and many-sided man, John Wesley, was his ready susceptibility to a new putting of the truth, from whatever source it might come. Notwithstanding his ritualistic training, and the tenacity with which for a time he clung to the ceremonial, sacramental and sacerdotal ideas, he abandoned it for the larger New Testament thought.

Rev. C. C. McCabe, D. D.

Missionary Secretary.

Put John Wesley into commercial scales and weigh him, and there is not gold enough in the bank of England to measure his value. He saved England a bloody revolution; he awakened the national conscience; he aroused a dying church; he stirred into activity a despairing ministry, and set in motion a religious movement which will never lose its power until the world is converted to God.

Bishop C. H. Fowler.

"What constituted the most remarkable trait in the great founder of Methodism, or his most remarkable achievement?" Ability to organize, patience to wait, and a monopoly of salvation.

Rev. C. N. Grandison.

President of Bennett Seminary, Greensboro, N. C.

He who confutes an error is great; he who gives the world a new idea is greater; he who concretizes ideas and principles into effective systems or institutions benefitting mankind and glorifying God, is greatest, because though dead he yet speaks. This last constitutes the chief glory of Wesley.

Bishop D. A. Goodsell.

Three things seems to me especially noteworthy in John Wesley besides his spiritual fervor: His amazing patience under domestic trials, slander and misrepresentation; his marvelous energy; and, as much if not more than either, the voluntary poverty in which he died. He was in his saying, "I have given all I could, even all I had," the real originator of Cardinal Manning's words, "A priest of God ought to die without money and without debts."

Letters from the Districts.

Nashville District, Tennessee Conference

J. P. PRICE, P. E.

The good Lord has enabled me to meet all my points and nearly all of my preaching places, and I closed my first round, the 14th and 15th of February, at the Central Tennessee College, with reasonable health and fair success.

I found all my preachers at their posts, working like beavers to build up the work for the Master. I have held one district conference, visited the public schools and encouraged the educational work everywhere I have been. The Sunday school works are growing. I have organized one new point and sent Bro. G. Davidson as pastor. I also have organized the Epworth League on my district.

None of my preachers have died this quarter, though several have been sick, and also their families. The La Grippe has been severe all over my district. My first charge is Nolensville circuit, G. C. Harden pastor. This is Bro. Harden's first year on this charge, and the people seemed to receive him cheerfully. He had not been here long before the quarterly conference, but had everything ready. During his quarter Bro. Harden received a letter that his wife was lying at the point of death, which greatly embarrassed him; yet this quarter proved a success to the church. I preached three sermons here. I think Bro. Harden will do well on this charge.

Murfreesboro Station, C. B. Wilson, pastor. This is Bro. Wilson's third year and he is much loved by all his people. He is a good pastor and one of the graduates of the Central Tennessee College. I found him busily engaged in repairing the front of his church. This was a pleasant and prosperous quarter, and I found the people in a high spirit, which was cheering to the writer, this being my old home. Nineteen years ago I was an official member at this place. I preached two sermons here and lectured to the Sunday school. This quarter will be long remembered.

Murfreesboro circuit, James Pickett, pastor. Bro. Pickett is one of our old heroes. He had everything in a high Methodist style and paid out all of his assessments. This quarter was a success every way. I preached twice here.

Lumsden Hill Mission, James Price pastor. This is Bro. Price's first year. He has a good Sunday school and starts off well.

Seay's Chapel (Nashville), W. H. Vaughn pastor. This is Bro. Vaughn's first year. He was cheerfully received by his people. Bro. Vaughn is one of our ablest pulpit orators. He was sick a week or so just after conference, but had everything ready for our conference. Our district conference was in connection with the quarterly conference, and both proved a success. Nearly all of the members of the conference were present with good written reports and cheerful hearts. I preached four sermons here. This session of these conferences will not be forgotten. This charge paid the Elder's assessment for the first time in the history of the church.

Stone River Circuit, Wesley Lillard pastor. Bro. Lillard is a good worker and pastor. He had all his loaders out on time and made this a prosperous quarter.

Farmington circuit, W. E. Ellison pastor. Bro. Ellison is a good pastor and a good worker, and knows how to lead his people to success. He lives in the hearts of all the people; paid his assessment. His committees all had good reports. This conference was a success every way. I preached two sermons here.

Shelbyville station, A. P. Blake more pastor. Bro. Blakemore is a good pastor and is loved by all his people. I preached four sermons here and lectured to the Sunday school, and also to the high school in the city. Miss Josie Price, my daughter, was with me and gave music for the occasion, which was life to the young people. This was a successful quarter.

Fox Camp circuit, Samuel Knight pastor. Bro. Knight is a good man and pastor. I found him hard at work with but little fruit. I preached three sermons here with some good results.

Spencer circuit, P. R. Woodson, pastor. Bro. Woodson is a good pastor and is doing good work. I preached three sermons here, and it was a pleasant and successful quarter.

Tallahoma station, J. Kenser pastor. I found Bro. Kenser in a revival, this being the week of prayer. Though the weather was rainy and stormy, this was a successful quarter. I preached four sermons here and the revival was continued until seventeen souls were converted, and nearly all were added to our church. Bro. Woodson is trying to build a new church, and his wife stands by his side for the old church.

McMinnville station, J. W. Richmond pastor. This is Bro. Richmond's first year here, and he was received with much joy. His people's hearts are open to build a new church. They say, "Though we were burned, in the name of God we will build again." Bro. Richmond proves to be the right man.

McMinnville circuit, J. C. Wade pastor. Bro. Wade is a good pastor and a studious preacher. Though it snowed and rained, we had a successful quarter.

Hillsboro circuit, J. R. Reasonover pastor. Bro. Reasonover is a fair scholar and a good pastor, and has an earnest wife to help him. I preached two sermons and had a pleasant quarter.

Sparta circuit, Thomas Allen pastor. Bro. Allen is a good pastor and is loved by all his people. I preached two sermons here. This work looks up.

Stuart station, D. Scott pastor. Bro. Scott is a good pastor and is doing good work at this place, and is loved by all his people. This place is the first circuit I ever held in charge. Eighteen years ago I was pastor and school teacher at this place for three years and four months; by this I was well known, and they know I have their future betterment to memory. The Sunday school then, is the church now. This was a glorious time. Since then I have been all around parts of this and other States, and have come back to reap the harvest of the fruits that were sown. I preached three sermons here.

Flat Rock, J. F. R. Summerhill pastor. Bro. Summerhill had to be away from his work for some time on account of family affairs. This somewhat made this quarter weak, but his work shows a success for the future.

Thompson Chapel, Central Tennessee College, J. Braden pastor. Dr. Braden is a good pastor and a good teacher and manager, who will be known better in the future than now, for the seed he is sowing will be greatly seen in the future. This charge has been blessed with a wonderfully good revival, and many of the students have been converted to the love of Christ. Nearly all of the scholars that are in school this session are Christians. The Meharry Medical Department commencement was held in connection with my quarter, which was a great occasion. There were seventeen graduates. This quarter was a success every way. Dr. Braden has a good corps of teachers; all belong to the church and are doing good work in the college. The new Mechanical Department, led by Prof. Sedgwick, has proven to be a great success. We have a good Theological class, which many of the city preachers attend, and sometimes read papers. I found on my district many of the preachers' wives who are doing all they can to help their husbands in this grand work. My people are improving much in their morals and intellect.

Letters from the Pastors.

SPECIAL TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Please take notice, 1st, That all anonymous letters go directly to our waste basket; 2d, Letters must be written on only one side of the paper; 3d, No frivolous questions will be noticed; 4th, Abbreviations should not be used; 5th, Notes and items must be condensed so as to insure brevity; 6th, We return no manuscript.

Tenola Edwards, Sloan Street, Houston. Dr. I. B. Scott held my first quarter Mar. 1, 2. He preached an arousing sermon on prevailing prayer, after which six connected themselves with the church, and many came forward for prayer. Communicants, 46.

J. K. Comfort, Brandon, Miss. I was received here with much love. I found a good people. The work is getting along very well. Our beloved Presiding Elder, Rev. J. Campbell, was on time, Feb. 28, and held our first quarter. Collection, $15.45.

Chas. Hart, Smithville, Tex. My first quarterly conference convened Feb. 21, 22. Elder Henson is the right man in the right place. He preached twice on Sunday his sermons will be long remembered.

Rev. J. T. Fisher, Leesville, La., writes of his work, in which he reports many discouraging features. He is hard at work, however, and hopes to be able to report a more favorable outlook in the near future.

Rev. A. Quinn, DeSoto, Miss., informs us that he is about to build a parsonage on his work.

Geo. W. Beaman, Jackson Circuit, Miss. I met a warm reception all over this circuit. My salary was fixed at $350. The Presiding Elder's and Bishop's at $33.50. My first quarterly conference was held Feb. 21, 22, Rev. J. Campbell, Presiding Elder, in the chair. We have some as fine people on this circuit as can be found anywhere in Mississippi.

A great many of our people own their homes and plantations. But one thing the people need to learn, that is to pay their pastor's salary according to their ability. The Sacrament was administered by the Presiding Elder, assisted by the writer, Rev. R. B. Anderson of Chunkey circuit, and ex-pastor Thomas. Collection for Presiding Elder, $5.25. I'll do all I can for the SOUTHWESTERN, and assure you of my hearty support.

Rev. J. H. Barnett, Hearne, Texas, writes in praise of his hours of solitude and meditation with Almighty God. There is no greater source of spiritual power than may be drawn in such meditation. Let Israel thus repair to his tent, and divine power will come upon the church such as the world, the flesh, or the devil shall not be able to withstand.

Rev. H. S. Priestley, Bull's Gap, Tenn., requests the church to pray for the secretary of his Sunday school, who, although a devoted attendant and worker in the Sunday school, is not converted.

R. H. Ponton, Mann, Texas. Rev. Mack Henson, Presiding Elder, was with us on the 28th of February and 1st of March, and held our first quarterly conference. He preached a wonderful sermon. Collection for Presiding Elder, $12.05; for pastor, $43.10. We are moving on grandly. I shall do all in my power for the SOUTHWESTERN in getting cash subscribers. The La Grippe and measles have been raging in Anstin.

P. R. Woodson, Murfreesboro, Tenn. Rev. J. P. Price, Presiding Elder of the Nashville District, Tennessee Conference, is a real Methodist. May the Lord give him health and strength and a long life, to do much good for his church and people.

E. B. Richards, Winsted, La. Last Sunday night we had 82 to partake of the Lord's Supper. We have had 33 conversions since conference. We are moving on. We want to build the new church this year.

J. P. Gregg, Lebanon, Tenn. I have just closed a very successful protracted meeting, resulting in saving 33 souls. The church is greatly revived. We had a creditable quarterly meeting the fourth Sunday in February. We were favored with the presence of our Presiding Elder, Rev. A. Phillips, who preached for us three nights. $22 were raised and paid him. In this conference year the Lord has visited the church and taken away four of our members. Quite a number of our converts were Sunday-school scholars.

A. H. Banks, Eola, La.

Our first quarterly conference was held Feb. 28, by our new Presiding Elder, Rev. S. E. H. Morant. The Elder preached one of his soul-stirring sermons, after which five persons joined the church. Collection, $18.35. Bro. Morant is the right man in the right place.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

Letters from the Laity.

John Woods and J. R. Pickett, Columbus, Ga.

We desire to let the many readers know of the progress of this part of the Lord's vineyard since the arrival of our new pastor. We have been in the background for the last three years or more, but since he has been in our midst we feel uplifted, and like we have a shepherd that will take care of the sheep. Since he has been here a goodly number of members have been added to the church, and we feel that we are going to the front. Thanks to the Savannah Annual Conference for such a man as Rev. E. S. Hicks.

A. J. Evans, Donaldsonville, La.

The first quarterly conference was held at St. Peter M. E. Church, Rev. Pierre Landry, Presiding Elder, in the chair. We had the largest crowd out this quarter that was ever seen at a quarterly conference. Rev. H. J. Wright is taking hold, and our people are following in line for a good year's work. Resolutions offered by Bro. Henry Jones were adopted, expressing gratitude to the conference for the appointment of Rev. Pierre Landry as Presiding Elder, and also requesting him to publish in the SOUTHWESTERN the able address which he delivered to the Sunday school last Sunday.

Fletcher Ellison, Abingdon, Va.

Our pastor, Rev. P. P. Brooks, is well beloved by all. He preaches nothing but the truth. He has done more towards bringing souls to Christ than any other man in our town. Our meeting of two weeks resulted in 97 conversions. Out of that number 74 joined the M. E. Church. The wonderful work has moved us to remodel our church. I receive my paper and am very much pleased with it.

Building for the Future.

BY W. A. SPENCER.

The Church Extension work of the church in the South is emphatically building for the future. The great surplus of missionary money which accumulated at the close of the war made it possible for the Methodist Church to go into the South and plant itself through the Southern States in hundreds of places that otherwise would have been unoccupied. The result is a half a million members to our church in the old slave states which could not have been gathered in but for the large amount of missionary money that accumulated in the years at the close of the war. The Church Extension Society was born in debt. The bishop believing that the church would respond drew drafts for two or three hundred thousand dollars before there was any money in the treasury of the Board of Church Extension. This brought disaster to the society at its very beginning and the first two years of Dr. Kynett's secretaryship were occupied in overcoming this disaster. He was compelled to go to the bank on his personal note and that of his friends to borrow large sums of money to take up drafts that had already gone to protest. By appealing to the churches through the South, he succeeded in preventing other drafts from being used which had been issued in this wholesale way by the bishops when there was nothing to draw for. The society has been crippled ever since by this preliminary debt and the church has grown more rapidly than the Board of Church Extension could provide for it.

Other corporations operate differently. The Pennsylvania Railway has a bonded indebtedness of $700,000,000. Its income this year is $133,000,000, of which $41,000,000 is clear profit. They are able to set aside $20,000,000 for bettering of the road and increasing the tracks and car facilities. The result is that sweeping through the country in every direction, are the finest of railway trains and splendid dining and sleeping cars giving passengers every facility for travel that is known to American life. The great lines to the South and Southwest from New York largely pass over this road. The Richmond and Danville System, Atlantic Coast Line System, East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia, connect with this remarkable road, so that through sleepers from New Orleans and from Florida and from Atlanta by many different routes converge at this one centre and all of them are helping to pour wealth into the treasury of this company.

Meanwhile, it is able to provide for third and fourth tracks over much of its system to widen the scope of its traffic for freight and passengers to a remarkable degree. $133,000,000 receipts in a single year, with $41,000,000 net earnings is a very remarkable testimonial to the value of building for the future. When the World's Exposition at Chicago assembles in 1893 a very large part of the passengers and freight from the East are likely to pass over this wonderful net work.

The Central and Southern Pacific Railways have done great good to the country in the development of Louisiana, Texas, and the country farther west, having invested hundreds of millions of dollars which, thus far, no adequate return has come to the investors. But for the support of the national credit, this road must long since have gone into bankruptcy. Like many other great lines, undoubtedly they would surrender thousands of miles of track as utterly unprofitable, if they were allowed to do so without forfeiting their charters. One of the great missionary agencies of the country in making possible the subjugation of the Pacific Coast has been this great network of Pacific Railways. When these were building, the terminal camp was always a pandemonium. It was the burning end of a live electrical wire where civilization came in contact with the cowboy and gambler elements of the frontier life, now happily exterminated by the Gospel and good schools. These roads built for the future and it is doubtful if they will receive their full reward in half a century to come for the enormous outlay that has been made for the improvement and unification of our nation.

From our treasury at Philadelphia, however, the little streams that we are able to send forth scarcely save multitudes of communities from disaster without enriching to any considerable degree any portion of the country. We need an income of one million dollars a year to do the work the church has called us to do. Tens of thousands of dollars a year are to be given away in the South in addition to all that is collected in the South for Church Extension, and this wonderful premium is paid for the collection of the Southern Conferences in order to stimulate them to do their best to take care of the territory. The Louisiana Conference is to receive five dollars for every one it contributes; the Actin $7 for one; the Alabama $10 for one; Central Alabama $13 for one. These enormous offers the board can with difficulty pay as it has no surplus in the treasury but is practically $100,000 over drawn. We need the immediate and cordial co-operation of every pastor in all the Southern States to raise the collection before the hard times of the spring come, if possible. We need to call upon every loyal Methodist preacher in all the Southland to help us now. There are so many emergencies of extreme difficulty to be met that we need to ask the churches that have loans from our board to do their utmost to pay these loans that we may use the money in aiding other churches that now are deeply involved and compelled to pay on mechanical liens two and three per cent, per month. May we not urge upon the entire constituency of the Southwest an immediate response to the utmost of their ability.

General Church News.

Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the American Bible Society, to be celebrated in May, 1891.

The managers of this society have voted to observe the seventy-fifth anniversary in May, 1891, with appropriate public exercises. It is greatly desired that the auxiliary Bible Societies throughout the land, should mark this year, either at their respective anniversaries, or by holding special meetings for the purpose.

Also, all the pastors of churches are respectfully and earnestly requested to deliver discourses, in their own pulpits, on successive Sabbath's in April and May, 1891, concerning the value of the Holy Scriptures and the importance of their wide-spread circulation.

I respectfully ask all the pastors in Texas who will consent to do so, to inform me by postal card, or give their names to their respective church newspapers, that a list may be published. "They were all with one accord in one place."—Acts. 2d. W. B. RANKIN, Dist. Supt. Austin, Texas.

I HAVE been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. —B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

Science.

Non-conductors of Heat.

Ground cork and some other barks, and the sawdust of the soft woods, as well as the charcoal made of these substances, are very good retainers of heat. Lampblack also works well. When the thing to be kept hot is at a very high temperature, some light, incombustible powders are very suitable. Among the best of these are fossil meal and the calcined magnesias and magnesium carbonate of the druggists. Fossil meal consists of the silicious skeletons of microscopic vegetables, called diatoms, exceedingly various in shape and size, the very largest of them hardly reaching the length of the hundredth of an inch. It is found abundantly in peat meadows and in the bottoms of ponds. Both fossil meal and magnesium carbonate have been largely used in covering steam pipes.

Obviously, when the same light substance is tried in both the first and second apparatus above mentioned, and the results differ, it must be owing to the inability of the substance to hold the included air still in the first arrangement. So powdered plumbago, or black lead, which is very slippery, shows nearly twice as much transmissive power in one case as in the other. Loosened asbestos fibre also lets through about twice as much heat in the vertical arrangement as in the horizontal. Yet this fibre may be split up exceedingly fine; but the great difference in its behavior as compared with cotton or wool must be owing much less to its own greater specific conducting power than to the smoothness and inelasticity of its fibres.—Prof. John M. Ordway, in The popular Science Monthly for March.

OVERMAN'S
Specific Oxygen

A Home Treatment for Diseases of Head, Throat and Lungs.

SPECIFIC OXYGEN is the only Medicated Oxygen in use. It contains a Gentle and Disinfectant which kills the microbes or germs, and disinfects the membranes in the Head, Throat and Lungs. It quiets coughs. It softens tubercles and breaks the lungs. It purifies the blood.

"IT IS THE BREATH OF LIFE." It is a Natural Narcotic, giving rest and sleep by revitalizing the prostrated organs, instead of narcotizing or paralyzing them.

SPECIFIC OXYGEN is a natural and delicate stimulant, perfectly harmonizing with nature's effort to throw off disease. Separates epinephrine in Catarrh and Hay Fever.

"IT IS NATURE'S OWN REMEDY." For the Relief of Nasal Catarrh, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Asthma, LaGrippe, Catarrhal Deafness, and Nervous Prostration.

"It is a Home Cure for Throat and Lung Diseases. We do not claim that it will cure every case, but we do claim that it will cure a large majority of them than any other treatment extant. It is endorsed by physicians."

By permission we refer to the following well-known persons of our city who have used SPECIFIC OXYGEN:
Rev. M. B. DeWitt, D.D., editor "Cumberland Presbyterian Review."
Rev. C. S. Gardner, Pastor Edgefield Baptist Church.
Rev. J. W. Stagg, Pastor Second Presbyterian Church.
Rev. Lewis Powell, Pastor Elm Street Church.

DONALD KENNEDY
Of Roxbury, Mass., says

My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because no two people have the same weak spot. Beginning at the stomach it goes searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps its only little sediment left on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along and you find quick happiness from the first bottle. Perhaps its a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. The Medical Discovery begins the fight, and you think it pretty hard, but soon you thank me for making something that has reached your weak spot. Write me if you want to know more about it.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY, or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. THE "House of Bondage," thrilling, charming, and wonderful is out in book form; and is on sale at this office. Every reader of the SOUTHWESTERN should send for a copy at once. Price, 75c. The introduction, written by Bishop Mallalieu, is worth the price of the book.

THE visit of ex-Empress Frederic of Germany to Paris, was the cause of considerable commotion in European circles. The French populace were quite unfriendly and turbulent in their demonstration toward the ex-Empress. Their action will no doubt further strain the existing attitude of the two countries.

The decision of the State Supreme Court in confirming the decision of the lower court in the East Baton Rouge Regulators' case, condemning them to twenty years in the penitentiary is the most righteous decision ever reached by that court. It gives hope and encouragement to all law-abiding citizens and to our defenseless people in particular.

THOSE of our white brethren who are inclined to think that we have been too severe upon the Rev. Dr. Spence for his unprovoked and unrighteous attack upon our people in the Methodist Review, will profit by reading the following lines from one of our most intelligent, cultivated and influential colored ministers in Methodism. Says he: "What you have said editorially respecting the Chancellor's strange deliverance has not been without effect. Your protest against his being given a conspicuous place in the society's meetings ought to be regarded by the managers. John F. Spence, D. D., deserves just such a rebuke as was administered to Prof. Canlkins. Such men can be spared. We need only true men, sound in the faith, to instruct the rising generation of Methodists. Not even a chancellor that is an heretic, or a traitor or a fool, and will not be admonished should be contemned by the church."

Whites and Blacks.

The attention of our readers is called to the following remarkable exhibition of the relative increase of the whites and blacks in the South, as given by the recent census. Read and ponder well these figures; for they certainly show that some great wrong has been done our people. Whatever may be the motive, it is quite evident that these figures do not, and in the very nature of things, can not represent the truth:

The total for the six States, concerning which we have these statistics, are as follows:

	White.	Col'd.	White.	Col'd.
Alabama (official figures United States Census)	830,796	681,431	662,185	600,103
Arkansas (official figures United States Census)	816,517	311,227	591,531	210,666
Florida (official figures United States Census)	220,461	166,678	142,605	126,690
Louisiana (State Census)	562,113	550,122	458,954	483,655
South Carolina (rough figures United States Census)	512,369	634,788	391,105	604,332
Tennessee (official figures United States Census)	1,335,971	434,300	1,128,881	463,151
Total	4,279,227	2,788,586	3,381,212	2,428,587

White majority 1880..... 952,624
White majority 1890..... 1,620,681
Increase of white majority..... 568,059

The increase per cent is as follows:

	Whites.	Colored.
Alabama.....	24.3	13.5
Arkansas.....	33.1	47.6
Florida.....	58.5	31.5
Louisiana.....	23.6	13.8
South Carolina.....	31.0	7.7
Tennessee.....	18.5	7.0
Average.....	26.6	13.5
Average previous decade.....	31.7	35.2

The Times-Democrat, commenting upon these figures, says:

"It will be seen that there is but little change in the increase of white population in the present decade as compared with the last, whereas the Negro growth is barely one-third of what it was then, and less than half of what it ever was before, either in slavery or freedom. Mr. Porter has never given the slightest explanation of this remarkable decline in the rate of Negro increase. The only explanation that could be given would be a disastrous epidemic, a great exodus, or frauds in the Census Bureau. As neither of the former have occurred, it is evident that the census officers have indulged, from political motives, in the same wholesale frauds in the South as disgraced and discredited the census of 1870."

We care not to enter into any special charges of intentional frauds in this matter, but it must be evident to every sane man that these figures are not correct. There are nearly eight millions of our people in this country, and they are interested in this matter, and should not permit these figures to remain as a part of the eleventh census of the United States without protest. There is something wrong somewhere, and our people throughout the length and breadth of this country should demand their revision. Let the Negro press of the country take up the matter, and call the attention of their Senators and Representatives in Congress to the matter, and let a universal demand be made for a recount of the race. The figures thus far given out are certainly incorrect. The absurdity of the present figures is too patent to admit of even a serious discussion. No one whose eyes are open will admit that the race is thus dying out. The thing is absurd.

The Hennessey Murder Trial and its Dreadful Consequences.

Saturday, March 14, 1891, will ever be memorable as bloody Saturday in the annals of this city. On that day, at 11 a. m., a company of men, numbering not less than 5000, met at Clay's Statue, on Canal street, marched down to the Parish Prison and surged around the prison, while a select number of defiant and determined men battered down one side of the gates, entered the building and visited summary punishment upon nearly all of the Italians there confined and charged with the assassination of Chief D. C. Hennessey of the police force of this city. The following were shot and killed outright in the prison: James Carno, Loretto Comitez, Chas. Trabina, Antonio Scoffidi, Rocco Geraci, Frank Romero, Joseph P. Maobeca, Peter Monasterio, and old man Marchesi. Antonio Bagnetto was hung to a tree, and Mannel Politez to a lamp-post, on the outside; eleven in all. This city never was so stirred and given up entirely to the indignation of its populace as it was last Saturday. For a time it seemed as if the settled order of society had been wholly abandoned, law and order debased, and the primeval method of avenging wrongs had been settled in the powers of Judge Lynch. One could not help but expect every moment that those thousands now moved to frenzy, and having tasted blood, would run riot throughout the city and butcher innocent as well as guilty Italians, without mercy and without limit; but thanks to high Heaven, better judgment prevailed, and a merciful Providence interposed, and beyond the wholesale slaughter of those charged with the murder of Chief Hennessey, no one else was molested. Besides these that were thus massacred, violent threats were made against D. C. O'Malley, who was said to have been deeply implicated in the conspiracy to murder the Chief; and the jury, and especially against Mr. Seligman, the foreman, that acquitted six of the parties and found a mistrial in the cases of Scoffidi, Monasterio and Politez. The circumstances culminating in this terrible finale originated in the assassination of Chief Hennessey on the night of Oct. 15 last. Hennessey had made himself quite active in amassing testimony in the Provenzano-Matrango case. A new trial had been secured. The testimony he had obtained was considered damaging to certain ones of the parties involved in the case. The result was he was killed. Evidence of the most direct and circumstantial character fixed the guilt upon the "Dagoes," as Chief Hennessey declared amid his dying groans. At the time, secret and mass meetings were held to determine what to do with the accused. It finally resulted in the determination to let the law take its course. After a month's trial, however, the jury acquitted six of the nine that were then on trial and found a mistrial in the case of three. The verdict fell as a bombshell in this city; the result of which culminated in the terrible and bloody tragedy of last Saturday. The circumstances attending the whole case, from beginning to end, are most unfortunate, and will be deplored wherever justice and humanity exist. Scarcely an effort was made by city or State authorities to protect the victims; and now the subject has become an international one between our National and the Italian governments.

Political Review.

As we predicted last week, the long struggle over the election of a U. S. Senator in Illinois has resulted in the election of Gen. Palmer, the Democratic candidate. Two of the Farmers' Alliance members gave him their votes, thus securing his election.

U. S. Senator Walthall, of Mississippi, has announced his purpose not to be a candidate for re-election. Ex-Gov. Lowry is prominently mentioned for the succession.

Judges Billings and Beattie, of this State, are both seeking appointments as U. S. States Circuit judges. Neither of them could command the confidence of true hearted Republicans for the position, while our people protest against their selection. Judge Billings has disqualified himself by refusing to allow a colored man, Johnson, the $10,000 damage awarded him by a Democratic jury for the loss of his sight while employed by the Cromwell Steamship Line, because that was more than a Negro was worth to his master before the war; and Judge Beattie has disqualified himself by renouncing his Republicanism, and by his defense of the helpless Negroes massacred in Lafonche parish a year or two ago. Our people protest against their selection.

Personal.

—Address Rev. Green N. Johnson 1021 Gains street, Little Rock, Ark.

—Rev. H. B. Gladney, of Tampa circuit, may be addressed at Columbus, Miss.

—Mr. Cornelius Smith, of Baton Rouge, in company with Mr. Jos. Thompson, of this city, made a pleasant call last week.

—Owing to circumstances over which he had no control, Bishop Mallalieu has had to cancel, for the present, his intended trip to points in Northwest Louisiana and Eastern Texas.

—The Rev. W. H. Crawford, B. D., of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., after a visit to DeFuniack, Fla., visited the city last week. He called at this office, at the editor's residence, at the New Orleans University and took in many interesting sights in our city. He delivered a fine lecture at New Orleans University and expressed himself as highly pleased with what he saw and heard.

City Church Notes.

(Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.)

Pleasant Plains, Rev. D. J. Price, pastor, has had a revival of twelve days which resulted in one conversion and three added to the church. Sunday night, March 8, Revs. T. Johnson and Henry Taylor assisted the administration of the Holy Communion. Seventy-five partook of the elements.

The first quarter at Thompson Chapel, Rev. W. P. Forest pastor, shows that the Lord has been blessing that part of Zion since conference. Thirty have been received on probation and five backsliders reclaimed. Rev. E. Williams presided with his usual dignity.

Take Notice!

We cannot make all the transfers on our list because the name of the charge is not a postoffice in many instances. Then those who are on a circuit ought to tell us at which place they get their mail. All changes desired should be requested, and always mention former address. Don't forget that. It is important! The list is about to be put in type for a mailing machine, when we hope there will be no more complaints of not getting the paper. Let requests for all changes that have not been sent in be sent at once! All pastors of charges in the patrouizing conferences can have the paper, and pay when Conference meets. All such not receiving the paper, please notify us. Read this notice again.

Meeting Board Directors, Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society.

A special meeting of the Directors of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society was held in Wiley Hall, Cincinnati, Feb. 17, 1891, to consider, among other things, the offer of the trustees of Grant Memorial University, to convey by deed, all its buildings and lands in Athens, Tenn., to the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society upon certain stipulated conditions.

The following directors were present, viz: J. M. Walden, R. S. Ruet, F. S. Hoyt, H. Leibhart, A. Martin, J. M. Shimpert, T. O. Carter, A. Shinkle, E. Cranston, J. C. Hartzell, W. H. Hickman, J. Courtney, W. L. Hypes, E. W. S. Hammond, T. H. Pearne and D. W. Hays.

After full discussion continued through two sessions the following resolutions were adopted, on that and other important subjects:

1. By Drs. Hartzell and Hypes:

Resolved, That this Board hereby directs its Executive Committee to accept the transfer to the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, by the trustees of the Grant Memorial University, of the lands, buildings and improvements, school furniture and appurtenances, etc., belonging to said Grant Memorial University, in such legal form as may be satisfactory to the Executive Committee; and we advise the said Executive Committee to be careful that the conveyance shall contain such legal guarantees as to title, cancellation of debts, as will fully protect this society.

2. By Amos Shinkle: Resolved, That Earl Cranston, R. S. Ruet, A. Martin, W. H. Hickman and J. C. Hartzell shall be a commission who shall prepare and report to the next annual meeting of this society, a plan by which its expenditures shall be kept within its receipts, and by which alone the indebtedness shall be reduced.

3. By Dr. Martin, amended by Dr. Cranston: Resolved, That in view of the demand upon our treasury for monies to carry forward our schools and discharge existing liabilities and in consideration of the hindrances already, for years, checking important enterprises, that our Executive Committee be instructed to take immediate steps to dispose of such properties as may be available and as may be necessary to discharge our indebtedness and carry forward the work of the society.

4. By Drs. Pearne, Ruet and Hoyt, and adopted by a unanimous rising vote: Whereas, Our beloved bishop, Rev. John M. Walden, D. D., LL. D., is about to leave this country, accompanied by his wife and daughter, for an extended absence in Europe, upon official service as one of our general superintendents, we hereby record our earnest prayers, for their comfort, safety, health and usefulness while abroad, and also for their safe, prosperous and seasonable return.

5. By Drs. Hickman and Hoyt: Resolved, That the commission already appointed bring in also a re-apportionment of the collections for this society in all the conferences covered by the work of this society, and that the secretaries be instructed to secure pledges of larger contributions from all the annual conferences.

6. On motion of Dr. Hoyt: The Executive Committee were requested to early fix the date of the annual meeting and to give timely notice thereof.

The administration of the society is conservative and painstaking, fully entitled to the confidence of the Church. The sessions were full of interest. The conclusions reached were unanimous. The spirit of the brethren was earnest and hopeful. The work of this society is surpassed by that of no other in our Church in importance and in grand, far-reaching results upon the Nation, the Church and the kingdom of the Redeemer.

The Chicago Jubilee Convention.

In a private note to the editor Dr. Hartzell writes:

Our second Quarter Centennial Jubilee Convention at Chicago was a great success. I had the pleasure of presenting our cause at Evanston, my old school home, and the people gave $700. As several of the largest givers were absent, the amount will be increased. At night I spoke at Centenary Church, Chicago, and raised $100, which will be made $200 by the noble pastor, Dr. Bolton.

Monday morning we had a convention with the preachers and people of Chicago in Clark Street Church, and it fell to my lot to speak on "The Problems of 1866 and 1891." The people of the North were never more interested in all the great problems that confront in the South than now.

Dr. Hammond, of Covington, Ky., followed in an excellent paper on "Association with the white race necessary to the solution of the Negro Problem." It was a strong plea for fair and square dealing upon the part of every body toward the Negro, and was well received.

Dr. Gray, whose headquarters is Chicago, planned the details of the convention and did it well. He spoke on Sunday morning at Oak Park, his suburban home, and raised $600, and at another church at night and raised $100 more.

Dr. Chadwick did a grand day's work at Grace Church in the morning and at Wabash Avenue at night, raising $500.

Dr. Spence spoke at Milwaukee Wis., and raised $500, besides getting a subscription of a thousand dollars on Monday.

Dr. Hickman, Prof. Sedgwick and Prof. Hill, of Morristown, and others did noble work. The collection was taken in 150 different churches in Chicago and neighboring sections. The increase in collections as far as reported was very large. Our people in the South will rejoice that through these conventions we are awakening increased interest in our glorious work. One of the strongest points which we can make in the North is that our people in the South have wonderfully improved considering the advantages they have had and are now beginning gloriously to help themselves.

Let us all unite in making this our jubilee year a historic one in the Church, and especially in our educational work in the South.

THE Queen & Crescent Railroad Company are making the strongest effort that has ever been tried by any railroad company to settle the lands and towns on their line of road. In furtherance of this purpose they have issued the following notice to which the attention of our readers is especially invited:

TO PROPERTY HOLDERS.

The passenger department of the Queen & Crescent Route will publish an edition of fifty thousand of a pamphlet describing all timber lands, coal and mineral lands, improved and unimproved farms that are for sale on or near the line of the road. The entire expense of this publication will be borne by the Railroad Company, and we ask farmers and land owners having property for sale to send accurate description of same giving location, character of soil, nature of improvements if any, price and terms, to the undersigned at earliest possible moment in order not to delay publication of the work. Supplements will be issued from time to time, but we want the first number as complete as possible. Answer by mail to F. S. Mordaunt, Commissioner of Immigration, care D. G. Edwards, G. P. and T. so separated from the ruling class-offered themselves, and said, "We will go and be slaves on the plan-and went to the West Indies as Deep down in the hearts of children and of men there are nobler and truer standards of living than their outward lives are wont to exhibit. Many persons wait for their fellows to recognize their higher and better aspirations before they are willing to act up to those aspirations. He whose higher motives and deeper longings are unknown may have his best acts misinterpreted; but he whose best spirit is appreciated is more likely to have his acts interpreted by the spirit. A school-teacher, on seeing a young scholar misbehave, said to him: "I'm sorry you did this, because I had formed a very good opinion of you." The boy went home and confessed to his mother that if he had known what a good opinion his teacher had held of him, he would not have done wrong.

Had this teacher said, "I've had my eye on you for some time, and now I've caught you," the boy would simply have been confirmed in his suspicion that no one expects a boy to do anything but the wrong thing. It ought to be a simple matter to show a child or a man that our first impulse toward him is that of trust, rather than distrust. And when one has gone wrong, he will be better helped by our showing that we appreciate the fact that he has gone wrong in spite of the good we believed him capable of; rather than in accordance with our suspicions of him.—

Lesson, Ps. 46. Text Exodus 15, 26.
If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the Lord thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his sight, and will give ear to his commandments, and keep all his statutes, I will put none of these diseases, which I have brought upon the Egyptians, for I am the Lord that healeth thee.

Introduction; The children of Israel had just escaped from their hard bondage in Egypt.

The first part of the chapter gives us the grand and glorious song and deliverance which Moses wrote for his people when they had passed through the Red sea dry shod, and all their enemies had been swallowed up and destroyed.
From the Red sea they started on their long journey through the wilderness.

They went three days and found no water—the people and the cattle were in distress. They still journeyed on and came to Marah, and there they found water but it was bitter.

The people murmured against Moses for they knew they must die in the wilderness if they could have no water.

Moses cried to God. This is always the best thing to do in time of trouble.

The Lord showed him a tree of which Moses took a branch and cast it in the waters and the waters were made sweet.

It often happens that help is very near at hand, even when we are in great trouble, but we must call on God to know what will help us.

When all the people had quenched their thirst, Moses the man of God uttered the words of the text.

The text shows that the Israelites had to do certain things, and we must do the same things to enjoy the favor and protection of God.

1. We must hearken diligently to the voice of God.

God speaks to all of us, He spoke to Adam in the Garden, He spoke to Cain, He spoke to the prophets and holy men, He speaks to everybody.

He speaks to us in his word.
The Bible which is God's book tells us what we must do.

God speaks to our hearts by his Holy Spirit. The Spirit tells us what is right and what is wrong, and tells us to do right.

God speaks to us in his providential dealings.

He sends seed time and harvest to tell of his goodness.

He cares for all his creatures.

He sometimes punishes the wicked in this world as he did the Egyptians.

If we would have the favor and protection of God we must diligently hearken to his voice, whenever,
and however he speaks.

2. If we want the favor and protection of God we must do right, we must keep and obey all his laws and commandments.

The hypocrite pretends to do this but God knows the heart, and no one can deceive him.

It is not enough to make a profession of religion and join the church.

To do right is what God requires.
Everyone knows the difference between right and wrong.

The little child knows the difference.

The Egyptians did wrong, and God punished them.

He sent plagues upon them.

He destroyed their cattle.

He sent his angel and smote the first born of every household.

He overwhelmed Pharaoh and his host in the Red sea.

If sinners will not do right, if they will not obey God he will punish them, in this world or the next world he will destroy them.

Sinners cannot escape from God.

If sinners will repent and turn from their sins and do right and obey God, and keep his commandments they will be saved, and God will care for them and protect them.

Everybody Knows

That at this season the blood is filled with impurities, the accumulation of months of close confinement in poorly ventilated stores, workshops and tenements.
All these impurities and every trace of scrofula, salt rheum, or other diseases may be expelled by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier ever produced. It is the only medicine of which "100 doses one dollar" is true.

We make but one request of every preacher within the bounds of our territory, and that is, that he signalize the beginning of the new year by sending us at least two new cash subscribers each. Will you do it?

Rev. J. W. Mendenhall, D. D.
Editor of Methodist Review.

John Wesley did more than to introduce a new emotion into the religious life of England. He suggested a new system of religious ideas that has resulted in the intellectual deliverance and spiritual development of the church, than which no more important work has been done since the days of the apostles.

Whatever the influence of Kant, or German philosophy, through Coleridge and others, on English idealism and progressive criticism, John Wesley must be viewed as the instrument of England's restoration to moral consciousness through which a broader and richer philosophical and theological development was made possible. Philosophically, he delivered the church from idealism and rationalism.

Without him, or the revival as the product of his initiation, the latter history of theology, as well as the invigoration of the national moral sense, had not occurred.
Theologically, therefore, he check-ed the advance of Calvinism in the world, and gave to thought no limitation except those prescribed by Divine relation. His work, his achievements, were ethical, philosophical, theological. No moral teacher, or founder of a church, undertook more, or so nearly accomplished his ideal. In his presence the majority of the world's great men are in eclipse.—Zion's Herald.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.
A word from Rev. R. H. Harbert.

Great indeed has been the surprise of the thousands of my friends and acquaintances of the part, I regret I was forced to take in an unfortunate episode a few months ago—so strange and different from what they have always known of me; as also their sympathy and regret expressed to me in many letters at the results in both state and church—the former for two years in the penitentiary, the latter expulsion from the ministry and membership of the church of my natural and spiritual birth and for which I have so zealously and successfully labored all my life.
Without any desire whatever through this medium, to vindicate myself—this will be done through other channels. I wish only to say a few things as to my surroundings and prospects. Appeals in both cases—state and church, are now pending, notwithstanding the familiar expression stares me in the face; "He who follows two hares is sure to catch neither; but you know as long as the sick man lives he may hope to recover." As the latter is contingent upon the former right or wrong I am reliably informed Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines.
Peculiar in combination, proportion,
and preparation of ingredients.
Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.
Peculiar in its strength and economy—
Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can be truly said, "One Dollar." Medicines of larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's.
Peculiar in its medicinal merits,
Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."

Peculiar in its "good name" at home—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where than of all other blood purifiers.
Peculiar in its phenomenonally large record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

Do not be induced to buy other preparations,
but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine,

by a high church authority—I have what is considered good grounds for thinking the above unqualified expression to become qualified and read; "He who follows two hares sometimes catches one or both when they enter the same or approachable hollow," yet my hope may turn apt to mock me, in which case I am prepared for the worst.

Those who have known the motives ebullient to the surface and taking visible form into actions and deeds which have characterized me through all my life and public services both educational and ecclesiastical spheres,—though strange and unnatural appears this last act, will suspend their judgment and pass sentence upon me only when they are in possession of the facts as they exist.

"Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage" when one is, and is surrounded as I am here. By the great kindness and courtesy of Sheriff Ellis, and the marked attentions of the same of Messrs. Anderson and Sinton, jailers, not only I but also my many friends will feel honored in returning if possible, at every opportunity. I live in a large corner room up stairs, with four large windows two facing each street along one of which a double line of street cars constantly run with graceful mules drawing them with their chiming bells, into which (windows) from without the gentle beams of electric lights, and of which the cheerful gas lights, meeting, chase away the dreariness by night as the glorious sun does by day; a nice dressing room attached with abundance of pure artesian water ever ready to do its sundry missions; good beds, fire, and other things for my external comforts. Many, many have been the attentions to what is necessary to my inward man, by numbers of the best ladies and gentlemen—not all of one race—of Houston and Galveston. Added to the above, are plenty of reading matter, and an interesting companion—a conductor and a good singer—whose travels and observations over the U. S., and the countries of the orient are related to me in his inimitable manner.

My little "baby" (organ) whose voice has thrilled thousands of children, young people and fathers and mothers over the district and elsewhere, cries as soothingly and sweetly "caged" as it did free.
Visitors exclaim "This does not sound like a prison"—for its little voice penetrates the entire building. The jailor's sweet little children and our benignant keepers frequently join our evening and Sunday "concerts" as they call them. The prisoners are cheered and delighted and though they may forget the singer, they will not forget the "baby" and the song.

My wife—sometimes children and other kind friends—visits me fortnightly from Galveston, our home, and spends the day. Above all, the constant visitations of the ever gracious Spirit, who needs no passes or keys from without to gain admittance to my room, is my spiritual companion and comforter.

"Let the world despise and leave me
They have left my Saviour too;
Human heart's and looks deceive me,
Thou art not like man—untrue.
And while Thou dost smile upon me,
God of wisdom, love and might,
Foes may hate and friends may shun
me,
Show thy face and all is bright."

My working hours are so occupied with constant literary work, correspondence, attention to visitors, etc., that the days steal by too swiftly. Never before did I realize the depth of Shakespeare's immortal words: "Sweet are the uses o adversity, which, like the toad, ugly and venomous, wears yet a precious jewel in its head, and this our life exempt from public hannt finds tongue in trees, books in brooks, sermons in stone and good in everything."

As to my future prospects, however strong against me runs the tide, I have adopted the following lines, if I remember them correctly, as my sentiments, and which I give in the hope that many, who are unfortunate in life and would "waste their sweetness on the desert air" but for their inciting, may Robert Bruce-like, spring from their gloomy misfortunes and bless the world by their triumphs:

Has your life a bitter sorrow?
Live it down.
Think about a bright to-morrow
Live it down.
You will find it never pays,
Just to sit wet-eyed and gaze,
On the glare of vanished days,
Live it down.

Is disgrace your galling burden?
Live it down.
You can win a brave heart's guerdon,
Live it down.
Make your life so free from blame,
That the lustre of your name,
Shall bid all the olden shame,
Live it down.

Has your heart a secret trouble?
Live it down.
For your griefs will make it double,
Live it down.
Do not water it with tears,
Do not feed it with your fears,
Do not nurse it through the years,
Live it down.

Have you made some awful blunder?
Live it down.
Do not hide your face in terror,
Live it down.
Look the world square in the face,
Go ahead as one who tries,
To be honored ere he dies,
Live it down.

Yours in brotherly affection,
R. H. HARBERT.

Nashville District, Tennessee Conference
To pastors, local preachers, superintendents and members: Will you please send at once for Easter programs, and arrange for Easter services, the 29th of March, which is Easter Sunday. Make earnest efforts to raise your assessments for the Missionary cause. By so doing success will be yours.

You are requested to purchase your books prescribed by the Bishops, and prepare papers and give an outline of your knowledge of each of them. And be ready to meet our first theological institute, as per resolution of the last annual conference. The institute will be at Shelbyville, Tenn. The date will be given soon. JESSE F. PRICE, P. E.

THE ONE TALENT.

In a napkin smooth and white,
Hidden from all mortal sight,
My one talent lies to-night.

Mine to hoard or mine to use,
Mine to keep or mine to lose;
May I not do what I choose?

Ah! the gift was only lent
With the Giver's known intent
That it should be wisely spent;

And I know He will demand
Every farthing at my hand
When I in His presence stand.

What will be my grief and shame
When I hear my humble name,
And cannot repay His claim!

One poor talent—nothing more!
All the years that have gone o'er
Have not added to the store.

Some will doubt what they hold;
Others add to it ten fold,
And pay back the shining gold.

Would that I had toiled like them!
All my sloth I now condemn;
Guilty fears my soul o'erwhelm.

Lord, oh, teach me what to do!
Make me faithful, make me true,
And the sacred trust renew.

Help me, ere too late it be,
Something yet to do for thee,
Thou who hast done all for me.

—E.

The Household.

BREAKFAST STEW.—Cut three-fourths pound of a cold roast in small pieces; heat slowly, with half a pint of water, one tablespoon chili-sauce, teaspoon salt, half teaspoonful pepper. Rub two table spoonful of flour with one of butter and a little of the hot gravy; add to the beef, and let cook until the flour is done. Serve with bits of toast.

PUMPKIN CUSTARD.—Omit a pumpkin into inch square pieces, stew slowly until thoroughly cooked, then press through a calendar or sieve. To every pint of pumpkin add a piece of butter about twice the size of a walnut, half a teaspoon of salt (scant), one pint of good milk, half a teaspoon each of mace and cinnamon, one teaspoon of ginger, one cup of sugar and four well-beaten eggs. Bake in a pudding dish, without crust, or in pie tins with a light crust.

WHIPPED CREAM PIES.—One pint of thick cream is sufficient for two full pies. The cream should be twenty-four hours old, and there should not be a drop of milk in it. Stand on ice at least an hour before whipping; beat with an egg whip, or one of the new patent beaters. Do not sweeten till partially whipped; two and a half tablespoons of sugar and a few drops of vanilla will be found sufficient. Have the shells baked and cold, fill with the cream and ornament with slices of bright jelly. Send to table very soon after preparing.

BREAKFAST ROLLS.—These rolls are set to rise over night. To make them, mash fine one medium sized boiled potato, let it cool a little, but while still warm stir in three-quarters of a tablespoonful of unmelted butter. Add two pints and a half of flour with a teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of flour sifted in. Rub in one teaspoonful of lard, then add one-third of a yeast-cake dissolved in half a cupful of lukewarm milk or water, and knead all well for twenty minutes. Cover closely and leave till morning. Then make up into rolls three or four inches long, and place them in two rows in a buttered pan. Let them rise as long as possible before baking. Two hours is not too long. In very cold weather, mix them in the afternoon before.

MOCK LEMON PIE.—One pint of water, two tablespoonfuls of corn starch, one cup of sugar, one fourth tablespoonful citric acid; season with extract of lemon; boil in a double boiler, cool and pour in nice crusts baked down.—The Household.

PASTOR'S throughout our territory will confer a great favor if they send us their present and former addresses so we can send their papers to their present address and not to their former.

Our Symposium.

A Cheerful Christian.

The centenary of John Wesley's death, which is just now here, has turned the attention of the Christian world to perhaps the most notable personal influence the Protestant Church has enjoyed since the reformation. What was the secret of the man's power? The first suggestion which will occur to us is that it lay in his intense earnestness. He was a man—as Carlyle says of one of the early bishops of Germany—on whom a transcendent message laid its hold in a transcendent way. Chalmers suggested this explanation when he defined Methodism as "Christianity in earnest." But the explanation is not quite adequate. Men who are in earnest quite as much as John Wesley are not rare in the history of the church; and yet men of his reach of influence are rare indeed. Combined with his earnestness there were other qualities, such as his English practicalness, his common sense, and his capacity for reckless activity, which went to make up the founder of Methodism. And above all these, as a spiritual force which moulded his whole career, we may put his Christian cheerfulness.—S. S. Times.

Prayer is the mightiest agent to advance God's work. Praying hearts and hands only can do God's work. Prayer succeeds when all else fails. Prayer has won great victories, and rescued, with notable triumph, God's saints when every other hope was gone. Men who know how to pray are the greatest boon God can give to earth—they are the richest gift earth can offer heaven. Men who know how to use this weapon of prayer are God's best soldiers, his mightiest leaders.

Praying men are God's chosen leaders. The distinction between the leaders that God brings to the front to lead and bless his people, and those leaders who owe their position of leadership to a worldly, selfish, unsanctified selection, is this, God's leaders are preeminently men of prayer. This distinguishes them as the simple, divine attestation of their call, the seal of their separation by God. Whatever of other graces or gifts they may have, the gift and grace of prayer towers above them all. In whatever else they may share or differ, in the gift of prayer they are one.—Christian Advocate, Nashville, Tenn.

BRONCHITIS

Is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes—the air-passages leading into the lungs. Few other complaints are so prevalent, or call for more prompt and energetic action. As neglect or delay may result seriously, effective remedies should always be at hand. Apply at once a mustard poultice to the upper part of the chest, and for internal treatment, take frequent doses of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

C. O. Lepper, Druggist, Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "My little sister, four years of age, was afflicted with bronchitis that we had almost given up hope of her recovery. Our family physician, a skillful man and of large experience, pronounced it useless to give her any more medicine, saying he had done all it was possible to do, and we must prepare for the worst. As a last resort, we determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and I can truly say, with most happy results. After taking a few doses she seemed to breathe easier, and within a week, was out of danger. We continued giving the Pectoral until satisfied she was entirely well. This indisputable evidence of the great merit of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has given me unbounded confidence in the preparation, and I recommend it to my customers, knowing it cannot disappoint them."

"Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured me of a bad cough and my partner of bronchitis. I know of numerous cases in which this preparation has proved very beneficial in families of young children, so that the medicine is known among them as 'the consoler of the afflicted.'—James Rufus Vidal, San Cristobal, San Domingo. "A short time ago, I was taken with a severe attack of bronchitis. The remedies ordinarily used in such cases failed to give me relief. Almost in despair of ever finding anything to cure me, I bought a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was helped from the first dose. I had not finished one bottle before the disease left me, and my throat and lungs were as sound as ever."—Geo. B. Hunter, Altoona, Pa.

ELLY'S Cream Balm For CATARRH THE POSITIVE CURE.

Our Children's Legion.
For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: As I saw so many questions asked from the Bible and thought I would ask some. How many verses does the old Bible contain and how many letters are written to the old Bible? I am the superintendent of Sunday-school.

Your Nephew,
W. Y. BRADFORD.
Ocean-Springs, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I thought I would write to you, as I have read so many letters from my cousin's. My mama and papa do not take the SOUTHWESTERN but my uncle does. My mama and papa are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. I go to day school. Miss Eliza D. Foreman, is my teacher, we have a nice Sunday-school, Rev Jones is our superintendent.

Your Niece,
IONE RILEY.
Fairfield, Texas.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my second letter. I am a little girl 13 years old. I go to school every day and to Sunday-school every Sunday. I am not a member of the church but father and mother are members of the church. We have a good pastor his name is Rev. A. D. Payne.

Your Niece,
MARY N. WOODS.
Meridian, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. I am a little girl 12 years old. Mama and papa belong to the M. E. Church. They take the SOUTHWESTERN, we have no school this winter. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Papa is our superintendent. We have no preacher now, Rev. J. C. Tate was our pastor, but he is dead.

Your Niece,
LAURA E. BEWDY.
Moody, Tenn.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 8 years old. I go to school every day at Straight University. My grandmama's house was burned last night, my mama takes the SOUTHWESTERN.

Your Niece,
MAUD MYRTLE ANDERSON.
New Orleans, La.

Neuralgic Persons
And those troubled with nervousness resulting from care or overwork will be relieved by taking Brown's Iron Bitters. Genuine has trade mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

A Word to Our Agents.

Dear Brethren:—The eyes of the whole Church are upon us. During the past year or two we have done grandly in doubling the circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN but as yet, we are far from the desired goal. We should not be satisfied until we have placed this paper on the pinnacle of self-support, where it will no longer be necessary to subsidize it to keep it afloat. Let us cease to be dependent by a general and united rally for the SOUTHWESTERN. We don't need names; what we need is cash with the names. To multiply names without cash is simply to multiply our liabilities without increasing our assets. Now, brethren, we plead with you to roll up your sleeves and pile up in such a list of cash subscribers as will put this paper among the other great papers of the church, where it will support itself independent of any General Conference appropriation. The SOUTHWESTERN never fails to stand by your every interest; now stand by it and make it self-supporting. A strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish the desired end. Send cash with the names.

For three months, 50 cents; six months, $1; twelve months, $1.50, cash; otherwise, $2.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Ticker, One Foot Ruler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

"HOUSE OF BONDAGE" now ready. Send 75 cents and get one postage prepaid, or call at the office.

FIRST QUARTER.—LESSON XII. Elisha's Defenders. 2 Kings 6, 8-18. Mar. 22, 1891. Commit to memory verses 15-17. B. C. 893.

HOME READINGS.

M. 2 Kings 6, 8-18. Tu. Dent. 34, 24-29. W. Psa. 27, 1-8. Th. Isa. 43, 1-7. F. Psa. 91, 1-12. S. Psa. 125. S. Psa. 46.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Fear not: for they that be with us are more than they that be with them. (2 Kings 6, 16.)

LESSON HYMN, C. M.

Which of the monarchs of the earth Can boast a guard like ours, Encircled from our second birth With all the heavenly powers?

Myriads of bright, cherubic bands, Sent by the King of kings, Rejoice to bear us in their hands, And shade us with their wings.

Angels, where'er we go, attend Our steps, whate'er betide; With watchful care their charge defend, And evil turn aside.

Time—B. C. 893.

Place—Dothan, a city north of Samaria.

Rulers—Probably Jehoram, king of Israel, and the king of Syria, probably Ben hadad II.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY.

1. Elisha's enemies, v. 8, 15. Who waged war against Israel? Who warned the King of Israel of the enemy's plans? What was his warning? What did the King of Israel do when warned? How was the Syrian king affected by these results? Who did he think had revealed his plans? What did a servant say about Elisha? What command did the Syrian give? What was he told? What preparation did he make for taking the prophet? What did Elisha's servant see in the morning? What did he say to his master? Who protects God's people from their enemies? (Psa. 34, 7.)

2. Elisha's defenders, v. 16, 18. What assurance of safety did Elisha give his servant? (Golden Text). What prayer did he offer for the servant? How was the prayer answered? What did Elisha ask for his enemies? What answer to this prayer came? To whom should we commit punishment? (Rom. 12, 19.)

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON. Where in this lesson are we taught: 1. That God knows men's thoughts? 2. That God can defeat wicked men's plans? 3. That God can protect us from all our foes?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS. Find the story of an angel that a donkey saw but a man could not see. What prophet saw a splendid vision of four chariots with horses? Find a text in one of the psalms about the encampment of the angel of the Lord?

THE LESSON CATECHISM. [For the entire school] 1. Who told the King of Israel the plans of the King of Syria? Elisha. 2. What did the Syrian king send to capture Elisha? A great host with horses and chariots.

3. What did Elisha's servant discover early in the morning? That they were surrounded by an army of enemies. 4. What did Elisha pray? That the Lord would open the young man's eyes. 5. What did the young man then discover? That they were surrounded by a great army of angels. 6. What is the Golden Text? "Fear not," etc.

EXPLANATIONS.

Warred—This war seems to have been carried on by rapid incursions on the part of the Syrian king. Took counsel—The old despot seems to have taken counsel the way some people we know do: he asked advice while telling his advisers what he was going to do. My camp—Not that he would stay in any place, but that he would make that the headquarters for the next incursion. Sent to the place—Sent spies there. Which of us is for the king of Israel—This question shows the arrogance of the Syrian king. The words that thou speakest in thy bed-chamber—How profound was the faith of this heathen in the Jewish prophet? Go and spy—A very silly errand, but not more so than many a modern effort to circumvent the plans of Providence. God sees and hears all that is said and done in the most secluded places; and some men who admit that as a theological statement will nevertheless plan and laboriously work to offset the divine determination. A great host—Not a large army, but a large company for the purpose. Compassed the city—Stayed outside the gates and watched it. Fear not—The man who is sure God is on his side need not fear. Horses and chariots of fire—Angelic ministers. Smite with blindness—Utterly confuse. Doctrinal Suggestion—The ministry of angels.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

34. Did their sin [Adam and Eve's] harm any besides themselves? "By the offense of one, judgment came upon all men to condemnation." (Rom. 5, 18) 35. In what state are mankind born? In the image of fallen Adam, destitute of original righteousness. (Gen. 5, 3.) 36. What are the miseries of this condition? All mankind being born in sin, are by nature under the wrath of God.

The oppressed subjects of European governments turn to this country for free homes, free laws and for the free use of Salvation Oil for their pains.

It is the slight cold frequently contracted that finally undermines the system. Use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in the beginning stages and get cured.

WILBOR'S COMPOUND OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND PHOSPHATES OF LIME, SODA, IRON.

Invalids need no longer dread to take that great specific for Consumption, Asthma and threatening Coughs—Cod-Liver Oil and Lime. As prepared by Dr. Wilbor it is robbed of the nauseating taste, and also embodies a preparation of the Phosphates, giving nature the very article required to aid the healing qualities of the Oil, and to recreate where disease has destroyed. It also forms a remarkable tonic, and will cause weak and debilitated persons to become strong and robust. It should be kept in every family for instant use in the first appearance of Coughs, or Irritation of the Lungs. Manufactured only by DR. ALEX. B. WILBOR, Chemist, Boston, Mass. Sold by all Druggists.

St Martinsville—Feb. 16, Mr. Moses Charles to Miss Philamon Hackles. On the 26th, Mr. W. G. Drake to Miss Anna Lablanc. On March 3, Mr. Alfred Pattison to Miss Virginia Fusey. M. P. Franklin officiating. Slaughter La.—Wednesday, Mar. 4, 1891, Mr. Elie Wood Fork to Miss Sallie Smith. Rev. A. A. Lacey officiating. Butaw, Ala.—Feb. 11, Mr. W. H. Strayhurn to Miss Rosa Hunter. Rev. F. J. Brown officiating.

Obituary.

West Point, Texas.—Bro. Alfred Jackson, a member of Mt. Olive M. E. Church, departed this life Feb. 27, 1891, aged about 83 years. He was a faithful member of the church for 65 years, and was also an exhorter licensed by Rev. Murray C. Bro. Jackson was the father of the M. E. Church here. He will be greatly missed. He was loved by all who knew him. He leaves a wife, five children and a host of friends to mourn his loss. Wm. Reed.

Millican, Texas.—Sister Cardilla Foster died Feb. 5, aged 51 years. Also, her husband, Frank Foster, died Feb. 11, aged 47 years. Sister Foster was converted last year, and had been in the church ten months and five days. She lived a faithful member. She leaves twelve children to mourn. W. McKenzie, P. C.

Shubuta, Miss.—March 2, 1891, death came in our midst and has taken from us Sister Fannie Parker. She professed religion on her death bed, and joined the M. E. Church and was baptized, and as long as she lived her conversation was of heaven. She asked her mother and relatives to not grieve after her, for she was going to rest. Her funeral was attended by Rev. A. J. McNair, pastor, and Rev. A. B. Logan.

Conway, Ark.—Sister Mintie Saxton, a faithful member of the M. E. Church for nine months, departed this life Feb. 4, aged 18 years. Her last words were, "Save me, Lord." Her funeral was preached at the graveyard by the writer, assisted by Revs. W. M. Smith and R. E. Wall, of the Baptist Church. W. J. Cunningham, P. C.

Palestine, Tex.—Feb. 15, Bro. Harry Strain died in full triumph of faith. He was born in Freestone county in 1864. Age, 27. He was a class leader of class No. 4. Bro. Strain was a good, consistent christian. He died of small-pox, so that his friends could not see after his remains. He leaves a wife and child very low with the small-pox to mourn his loss. T. Moore, P. C.

DeSard, La.—Miss Jeffria McClain was born in Farmersville, La., in the year 1863, and died Feb. 22, 1891. She was one of our best young ladies of the Mt. Sinai Church. F. M. Lashington, visited her and prayed with her until the last hour. She leaves a mother, father, and a host of friends to mourn her loss. F. M. Lashington, P. C.

Winchester, Texas.—March 3, 1891, Brother Peter Worlds departed this life. He was a faithful and a useful member of the Shiloh M. E. Church. He departed this life in full triumph of faith. He leaves a son, daughter, and a host of friends to mourn his loss. Wm. Reed, P. C.

Bellwood, Tenn.—Sister Mollie Smith, wife of Silas Smith; departed this life March 27. Friday morning about 7 o'clock, death, the black camel that kneels at every man's door, came by, and Sister Smith rode triumphant into the city of our Lord. R. H. Johnson.

Sister Aggie Woods departed this life March 1, aged 42 years. She had been a member of Mt. Zion M. E. Church 18 years and 6 months. She said that she

IN THE SPRING

AVOID SICKNESS BY PURIFYING THE BLOOD AND TONING UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely in its wonderful popularity:

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.
2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.
3. It never sweeps off one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.
4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.
5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and anti-pyrene, and leave none of their unpleasant and hurtful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it. For Ladies and Children it is far the best.

was waiting patiently for her change from labor to reward. Paris, Tex. W. Hartley Jackson, P. C.

Death of Sister Kitty Mills, Member of St. Paul M. E. Church, Galveston, Texas.

This Saint of Christ was severed by death from all the claims she owed to mortality and time, on the 20th of Feb. 1891; and to describe the very moment of her severance, words are inadequate, and imagination of anything earthly and human will fail to fully realize. Persons who have witnessed saints of Christ pass over the cold waters, have declared they have never seen such triumph in death. Before the infinite moment of dissolution came, she said, "I don't know my age, but the Lord knows. I was born in Virginia and raised in Franklin, Tenn. I am the mother of four children and three of them are dead. Where is my baby? Tell her to come to me." When she came she embraced her and said to her, "Daughter, put on your mother's Gospel shoes. My children are calling me over, and the Lord will take care of you." She called her son-in-law and asked him to take care of her daughter and to meet her in heaven. "Where is my class leader? He has been a true leader to me; he always told me what was right." She called all her friends and shook their hands and said, "I expect to leave you soon." She asked them to sing, "On Jordan's Stormy Banks" and "Here is rest for the weary." After that she asked all to leave the room, as she wanted to talk to the Lord a little. Next she asked where was her Elder. "He had been here and gave me Sacrament. He is a blessed man; I like him so much. It was the best Sacrament I had ever taken, and his prayer helped me over Jordan." She said to Sister Smith, "Tell Ann Brown I am about to cross over, and she must meet me in heaven. Tell Millie Brown to meet me in heaven." She said many other interesting words, which time and space will not permit. She was sick for seven weeks. Joined the church in 1876. H. S. McMillan.

If you have a GOLD or COUGH, acute or leading to CONSUMPTION, SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA IS SURE CURE FOR IT.

This preparation contains the stimulating properties of the Hypophosphites and the Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, used by physicians all the world over. It is as palatable as milk. Three times as efficacious as plain Cod Liver Oil. A perfect Emulsion, better than all others made. For all forms of Wasting Diseases, Bronchitis, CONSUMPTION, Scrofula, and as a Flesh Producer there is nothing like SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is sold by all Druggists. Let no one by profuse explanation or impudent eulogy induce you to accept a substitute.

EASTER DAWN.

(From The Ladies' Home Journal.)

Break brightly, glorious Easter morn,
Now that the wintry days are sped;
And so deny, with splendid scorn,
That Earth is haggard, old and dead!

A million-million emerald spears
Rise to proclaim her ever young;
And hark! her ever youthful years
On lily bells are sweetly rung.

O freely swing and grandly swell,
Ye church-tower bells, with merry din;
The shadows from our souls expel,
And let the light of love come in!

Break brightly, glorious Easter morn,
Into these gloomy hearts of ours!
That they, too, may this day adorn,
And shed a perfume like the flowers.

THERE is an awakening in Belgium aristocratic classes which has provoked a very unsettled state of affairs. It is now feared that a revolution is inevitable.

The people are in arms conditions are such that humanity demands that the powers should interfere to restore peace to the afflicted country.

NOTWITHSTANDING the many protest of our people, the legislatures of Texas and Arkansas have followed Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana in the adoption of separate car laws. The colored people will now not be permitted in the white coaches unless they are regularly employed as nurses or servants to some white person or other who may be aboard the same train. White men will,
in the future as in the past, ride just where they please, and impose their presence and abuses on the helpless and inoffensive colored without raising a dollar to test these obnoxious measures through the courts? Send contributions

Unwarranted Imputation Upon Our Colored Brethren.

Our members of African descent have generally voted by a large majority against the admission of women to the General Conference.
At this some express surprise, and
The Independent of Jan. 1 says:
"Why the colored members should be so strongly against the ecclesiastical enfranchisement of women is not clear—the strength of their prejudice, perhaps."

It is not alone, however, in disparaging our colored brethren for their attitude.
Expressions of astonishment have been seen in several papers that persons so recently emancipated from the chains of slavery should vote this way. During the late General Conference the Rev. Dr. Albert, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, was practically, though not intentionally, insulted
by a reference of this kind.

The reason our brethren so vote is a prepossession, not a prejudice;
a prepossession in favor of the word of God as a rule of action.
They are sound in the faith upon all the doctrines in the Gospel.
They take the word of God as they find it; believing in the depravity of men, the need of regeneration, atonement, and future punishment.
They are not sophisticated by theories;
and in the same way, when they found the apostles Peter and Paul giving man a kind of headship in the church and the family, which is explicitly withheld from women, they believe it. It would be as reasonable to say that they are actuated by prejudice in adhering to the simple Gospel, as to say that prejudice is the cause of their action on this subject.

To express wonder that an enslaved class lately set free should not vote for the admission of women into the General Conference is to imply that women are now enslaved, and that the slavery in which women are now held is analogous to that in which the Negroes were kept.
If our colored brethren are to be accused of prejudice in following the Scriptures, will those who thus accuse them say that Peter and Paul wrote under the influence of prejudice? If prejudice is stronger than inspiration, there is no guarantee that inspiration coming through human instrumentality has brought to us any truth from God.

Our colored brethren know what Methodism was when they became connected with it; they know what the general teaching and practice of Methodism have been on the holding of ruling positions by women.
Any prejudice that they have upon this subject they imbibed from the Bible, from the preaching and example of the fathers.
If by their votes they should preserve Methodism as it is, they would do as much to make a return for all the gifts and labors of Methodism in their behalf, as they can do in any other way.

It is necessary to preserve Methodism as it is upon this point to give vigor, coherence, and success to their work in the South, where they are obliged to contend with organizations consisting exclusively of Negroes and of persons of Negro descent. To identify the church with radical ideas on the subject of women will furnish a tremendous weapon to be used against them, a weapon far more powerful than any advantage they can derive from the admission of a few of their women into the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and sending them traveling all over the United States to spend a month there, once in four years, attended as it must be by a constant agitation of the entire question of the relation of women to the family, the church, and the state.

We are well aware that the introduction of this subject will expose us to the charge of attempting to appeal to the prejudices of our brethren of African descent; but we have not introduced it. Before and during the entire lay vote The Christian Advocate never so much as mentioned it. Those who have accused them of prejudice, and have referred to their former condition of servitude;—they have introduced it, and we repel it.

During the late vote a widelycirculated Methodist paper made a pointed allusion to the fact that Dr. Albert belongs to a race that had enjoyed about a quarter of a century of freedom. To this he replied with dignity and unanswerable logic:

"What has the fact that the Editor of the SOUTHWESTERN belongs to a race that has been in slavery to do with the pending question? ... Has the doctor forgotten that his Anglo Saxon fathers, yellow haired, ignorant, and degraded, once wore their master's names on their necks and felt their stripes on their backs equally with the race to which this Editor belongs?
... And is not the race to which he belongs seriously divided on this question, and may not this more lately emancipated race be equally divided on this and on any and all questions? Are we to flock in herds and run away with the idea that the women are fearfully oppressed by the men, and because our race was once in slavery, just as the white race was once, and vote pell-mell for their admission into the supreme legislative body of the church? ...

"This is not the first attempt to bulldoze us on the part of those favoring the admission of women.
Our desk was filled with letters of that character from the same class of men and women during our attendance at the General Conference in New York. ... The Negro is a man. He has mind, and is not to be trifled with as a thing. We may be convinced out of error by logical argument, but by a system of open or covert intimidation never.
... Frankly, our view is, woman is in every respect man's equal;
they may and do differ in their physical, mental, and moral make-up as do the stars in the firmament.
... Man has his and woman has her sphere; to attempt to interchange it is to invite the direst consequences. ... There must be order in God's economy, and this is the order that He has established."

The Women's Suffrage Society of the state of Connecticut devoted an entire session to a discussion, much of it an attack upon the proceedings of the last General Conference;
and one of the speakers, Frances Ellen Burr, delivered an address which occupied several columns of fine print in the Hartford papers, in which she spoke of "a colored man, Dr. Albert of Louisiana, whose mind seems to be as cloudy as his skin." (Let it be noted that this reference is not made by a "coarse man," but by an authorized and honored representative of "advanced" womanhood.) At the close of her address, doubtless fancying that this would be a humiliation to us, she moved a resolution:

"That the twin arguments of those exponents of justice for women—
Dr. Buckley, of New York, and Dr. Albert, of Louisiana—should be preserved and handed down to future generations and framed. ... [with some other colored man's saying], which has taken its place at the head of the colored classics of the day."

Never having been conscious of any color prejudice, we should be as willing to have our name associated with that of Dr. Albert as with that of any other minister of the Gospel among us.

But had the editor of this paper been saturated with colorphobia, we should be better pleased to go down to posterity associated with a man who had the courage, believing himself to be upon a Scriptural foundation, to state his views, than to be associated with any man or number of men whose rule of action is to ascertain how a temporary majority may go, and then declare the same sentiments.—

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Philadelphia Letter.

Sabbath January 11th was celebrated in Philadelphia as the centennial of the founding of Sabbath schools in our city. Quite a number of the preachers spoke in regard to the importance of the Sabbath school in regard to national home and social life. Statistics of our city recently issued shows that we have 616 Sabbath schools; 16,937 officers and teachers, and 178,865 scholars, and the total shows more than one-fifth of our population to be in attendance on our Sabbath schools. This is a hopeful sign and yet an incentive to seek to accomplish even greater things.
Quite a number of charges in Philadelphia and outside our city limits have been enjoying revival influences, and while the extent has not been as sweeping as in other years, there are at least 600 recruits already gathered for the Master's service—a sure indication that Methodism is not yet dead. The Historical Society of the Philadelphia Conference has issued an appeal requesting the pastors to arrange for the appropriate and proper recognition, and observance of the centennial of the death of Rev.
John Wesley, March the 2nd 1891.
Dr. Neely of Philadelphia, has been invited by them to deliver an address on the life, character and work of John Wesley on the evening of March 3rd, 1891, when our Conference Historical Society will hold its anniversary. We may be sure the subject will receive proper treatment at the hands of so able a person as Dr. Neely, and the occasion will not soon be forgotten. It is to be hoped that pastors and conferences in other parts might take suitable action to commemorate the life and death of the founder of our world-wide Methodism.
Rev. Dr. "Sam" Small, recently elected president of Utah University, is hard at work in this section of the country in behalf of the institution under his care, and is meeting with a considerable degree of success. His sermons and addresses are drawing large crowds and his management of the Endowment Scheme, proves him a practical man of affairs, which is not lessened by the fact he is a renowned orator and a distinguished Evangelist.
Dr. Small gives promise of large usefulness in the new position to which he has been elected.

Our conference convenes March 4th. There was an attempt to have the date changed, but this has been abandoned and the original date stands. Bishop Fowler is to preside, and, as this was the city where he was elected and consecrated to the Episcopacy, we await his coming with much interest, and on the part of some with not a little solicitude to know what kind of a presiding officer he will prove himself to be. Let us hope the session of conference will be pleasant and harmonizing and the disappointments but few.

City Church Notes.

[Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.]

Sunday School Work.

The Sunday School League met at Mallalieu Chapel last Sunday and perfected its organization. The city was divided into five districts, and an excellent working committee appointed on each district. The third Sabbath evening in April, at 3 o'clock
p. m., at Union Chapel, on Bienville street, the officers of the League will be installed. A committee consisting of J. Gordon Taylor, R. O. Metoyer, E. Williamson, W. S. Chinn, A. H.
Hinton, N. J. Nickerson, Kennedy, Isaac Morgan, L. D. Thomson and H. Weber, have been appointed to arrange a program for the occasion.

It is hoped that every Sabbath school superintendent will do his best to prepare his school for that day. The parlors of the Medical building, situated at the corner of Canal and Robertson streets, have been placed at our disposal, by the kindness of President Adkinson and Elder Williams, for our monthly meetings. With a place centrally located for conference with the superintendents of the city, it is to be hoped that the League will push forward its work in all its departments, till there shall not be a place left in all the districts where a Methodist Sunday School does not flourish. Mrs. Oggilvie, the president of the League, and I. H.
Norwood, city superintendent, are both energetic, and for years known to be earnest Sabbath school workers.
Their election to these positions indicate the future success of the movement. The support of the ministers of the city and a word of encouragement from their pulpits will help the success of this grand undertaking. The effort is worthy your kind consideration.
It is an effort to save the young people.

The officers and members of the League will notice that the future meetings will be at 3 o'clock p. m., every first Sabbath of the month, at the Medical College, corner of Canal and Robertson streets. At most of these meetings it is hoped to have the presence of the Sunday School Agent, who is making a vigorous effort to revive the work in the State. He will also speak at the installation service on some live Sunday school topic. Let everybody be present at that meeting.

Pleasant Plain M. E. Church's Tribe Rally Day is the first Sunday in April, 1891, each tribe to raise $10 for church debts and improvements. Rev. D. J. Price
pastor. Revs. F. T. Chinn, J. W.
Hendson, Henry Taylor, W. S. Harris,
A. J. Pickett, A. E. P. Albert,
Victor Joichim, and other ministers, are expected to assist in the exercises. All are invited.

St. Matthew M. E. Church, Rev.
F. Walker pastor, is moving on nicely. Presiding Elder Emperor Williams held his first quarter and preached an edifying sermon there recently.

LaHarpe Street Church, Rev. A.
J. Pickett pastor, reports an interesting revival, and seven accessions.

A union meeting last Sunday at Simpson Chapel, Rev. J. W. Hilton pastor, resulted in a collection of over $50 toward the church debts. Revs. T. G. Montgomery, Henry Taylor and G. W. Walker, and David Young of the Baptist Church, assisted the pastor.

Rev. Nelson Burton, of Waxia, preached at Williams Chapel last Sunday night.

Special Easter services will be held in all of our churches next Sunday. Let a good missionary rally be made in every church on the occasion, and forward the collection at once to Rev. Dr. S. Hunt, treasurer, 150 Fifth Ave.,
New York. Your receipt will be your voucher, as cash at conference.

Church Polity.

Q. 1. In the preacher in charge's Report to the quarterly conference, under the question "The following pastoral labor has been bestowed," does the Discipline require the preacher in charge to say, "I have visited so many times this quarter by figures, say 50 or 100, that is to say, must he report the number of visits made by himself as does the class leaders?"

Will not the following words answer as well under this question as the telling of the number of visits made, in figures, "I have visited from house to house among the members this quarter conversing with, and catechising the children as well as the grown up people of the charge, praying with the sick, and also with the families when practicable?"

SUBSCRIBER.

A. 1. The Disciplinary requirements it seems would be met equally under the second or under the first method of answering. There is no law requiring the exact number of visits made, in the pastors quarterly report. By analogy however, we would argue that the spirit of the Discipline, favors the report of the exact number of visits made. This we would infer from the purpose of the report, which is intended to impart information showing, to what extent the pastor had carried out the plan of visitation and second from the fact that exact figures are required, on the subject from class leaders, and that in the pastor's own report exact figures are required in the form of the report given for preacher's report, on every other item that is directly specified. For instance, he is required to give number of Sunday schools; average attendance,
I have preached—times to the children, and catechised them—times etc.

Q. What is the pastor's relation to the Methodist Book Concern?

A. He is the agent of the concern on his charge. He is an agent for the people to supply them, and the agent of the publishing house of the church to spread their publications among the people. As he is a joint owner of the Book Concern, and shares directly or indirectly in their profits, he is bound in honor as a man and minister to do all he can to promote their interests, and to prefer their publication over all others.—Merrill's Digest.

THE white editors in the M. E.
Church have dealt very kindly with what were evidently unwise utterances of our senior bishop; only our good friend the colored editor of an M. E. paper, Dr. Albert, seems inclined to take an unholly advantage of it.—Christian Recorder.

Dr. Albert pleads ignorance of any such "unholly" purpose. "The white editors of the M. E. Church" have, as they always do "deal kindly with" our African brethren, but do our African brethren always act in the same manner toward the colored brethren of the M. E. Church?
Isn't it a fact that they are constantly branding our people as being the "mercenary slaves to white folks"?
This is the reason why the "colored editor of an M. E. paper, Dr. Albert," is always ready to take the position that it does in this as on other discussions that arise. It is done purely in self defense.

Letters from the Districts.

Jackson District, Mississippi Conference.

JOSE CAMPBELL, P. E.

The preachers in the Jackson District are all settled down at work, and the indications are very bright for a happy and prosperous future. The continual rain during the year has been quite a drawback, but all have faith. A spirit of revival is at work in the district. Already some charges have been blessed with from eighteen to twenty conversions. Pray for us.

The only vegetable substitute for Calomel, which acts on the liver, blood, kidneys and stomach, and best anti-bilious purgative, is Maguire's Compound. Indorsed by Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia; Rev. McNally, of St. Louis, and a host of prominent people.

E. S. Hicks, Columbus, Ga.

When I arrived here I found seven members and church property worth $2500, but our congregation is not in possession. The property was sold subject to the mortgage of the Church Extension. The parties to whom the church was sold claim that if they can get the money back that they have paid out they will give it up freely. The amount is $200, and if we can raise it and take possession we can easily satisfy the Church Extension. If we be destitute of this church, and lose what we have done here, it will be hurtful to us in this city. Since I have been here I have added ten members to the church, but since the church has got in the present state they have scattered. We appeal to the brethren and friends for help, and any amount that you give will be thankfully received, and the name and amount will be published in the SOUTHWESTERN. Please help us.

[This is a very painful case, and deserves the sympathy and help of every member and friend of our Methodism. Help them, brethren. Help them.—Ed.]

A. A. Lacey, Slaughter, La.

Our members are few in number, but faithful and true. Loyal Methodists, pray for us.

At the new church at Yarbrough, Texas, on the Anderson circuit, after the dedication of the church, the members and friends gave the pastor a nice pound party. Forty pounds of good things were brought to Rev. J. Jones, the pastor.

Green N. Johnson, Little Rock, Ark.

The Lord is blessing us in our work. We have raised nearly $200 with which to build our new church. As yet we have not a member, but several friends. Simpson Chapel is only in name, but we hope to make it a reality and increase its membership from nothing to one hundred. Our school is moving on grandly. Over 300 students are enrolled. We will resume work on our new building this week. Bro. J. E. Toombs is taking well at Wesley. We hope to show up grandly for the Lord this year. We have ten students in our medical class.

S. H. Veal, Warrior, Ala., writes a strong and manly defense in answer to the senseless insinuations of the A. M. E. Church people that our people in the M. E. Church are under white masters because we have white Bishops.

John W. Hall, Memphis, Tenn.

My second quarterly conference was held Feb. 28. Condition of church is fair. We have a good Sunday school, being kept up by Rev. James Beaver, superintendent. A good set of sisters have formed themselves into a committee to work for the church. They have succeeded in raising money and have furnished the church with a nice set of chandeliers, which cost $19. Rev. B. F. Anderson, Presiding Elder, was at his post and urged the church's duties. Sunday was a grand time. The Presiding Elder took for his text Gen. 35, 1. The sermon made a grand impression upon the church. Fifty-four persons partook of the Lord's Supper. Paid to Presiding Elder, $9.40; and to the pastor, $32.60. One subscriber for the paper.

T. Moore, Palestine, Tex.

My first quarterly conference convened Feb. 21, with Rev. W. M. Wesley, Presiding Elder, in the chair. There had not been much done up to this quarter on account of the small-pox being so close to the church. We had eight cases among our members and could not get any one out to church. The Elder was not very well from his vaccination. Paid pastor's traveling expenses, $22.50; and Presiding Elder, $13. The pastor's salary was fixed at $675, and the Bishop's, $500. We took up $2 for Wiley University and $2.50 for missions. Collected $1 for the Bishop. All the brethren of the quarterly conference subscribed $1 each, which will be paid by the second quarterly conference, for Wiley University. Also, there was $100 subscribed, to be paid by the 14th or 15th of March, for the debts on the church. I met a hearty welcome from all the officers and members, and they fixed up the parsonage nicely for us. They also gave me a grand storm party, which consisted of nearly 100 persons. They brought many nice things.

Ben Goff, McKinney, Texas.

I arrived at my work Feb. 10, to do more for the Lord. Then I went to Sherman, one of my points, and found a few members there, but no church except a little shanty. I received one in the church on my first visit there. I was made welcome. I commenced a protracted meeting and in one week added ten to the church. We must have a church at Sherman this year.

J. W. Jackson, Van Buren, Ark.

A revival started on my charge Feb. 8, and up to date 41 souls have been converted and 9 backsliders reclaimed. We have neither seating nor standing room. The people stand at the windows in the night air and cold. The members say that it is the grandest revival that ever was in this church. How I wish we were in our new church. We hold these meetings every day. Young sinners and old hardened sinners are returning home to God. Praise God, for the glory is all his.

(We rejoice to hear of such revivals. Let every church seek for the holy baptism.—Ed.)

Letters from the Laity.

J. F. Taylor, Calvert, Tex.

I have been reading your paper for some time. The more I read it the better I like it. I think all the class leaders ought to take it, and try to get all their class-mates to take it too. On the fourth Sunday in February Rev. W. H. Davis, our beloved pastor, met his people at Mt. Zion. We have a good pastor and are going to do all we can for the good old SOUTHWESTERN. I think by the first of April I will be able to send in several cash subscribers.

R. H. Johnson, Bellwood, Tenn.

Our third quarterly conference was held March 1. Rev. A. Phillips was with us and preached an excellent sermon from Psal. 48, 14. The sermon was simple and impressive. The weather was inclement and the audience small, but those present were made to rejoice in a Savior's love. Paid pastor this quarter, $50.50; paid Presiding Elder, $3.05.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my father. I left him in Louisiana when I was a boy. When I came to Mississippi I was 1 year old. At the beginning of the war I was 16 years old. My father is named Prosper Degoo or Degee, I don't know which. My mother's sisters are named Tyer and Beckey. My uncles are named Tytns, Hammon, Adam, Pepper and Prince. My mother is named Minder. We belonged to a man named Pitman. Any one knowing them will address J. R. P. McDaniel, Good Hope, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I want to find my people. My mother's name is Sallie Scott. My father was dead before I left home. Mother married again to a man named Mose Ishman. My mother had six children. Three boys, namely: Daniel, William and Monroe. And three girls: Grannan, Sindy and Elizabeth. They all belonged to Jefferson Scott. She was sold to a man named Hingerd. I want to find Mary Jane Hingerd. She is my mother's people. Any one having information concerning them will please address J. M. Moore, Marthaville, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my brothers through your paper. My brothers' names were Sam, John and George Mandlin. I have three sisters, Harriet, Mary Jane and Martha Mandlin. Our mother's name is Cynthia Mandlin. My mother and I were brought to Mississippi in 1857, by Hiram Subar. My brother Sam was carried to Shreveport, La., and sold to a man by the name of Dr. Vance. My brothers John and George left with the Federal troops when they passed through Williamston, S. O. The last account I heard of them they were in Knoxville, Tenn. My sister Harriet married Diok Mlwee, and Mary Jane married Shed Wyette. My name when I came to Mississippi was Perry Mandlin, but now it is Perry Howard. Any information will be gladly received. To any reader who will take an interest in looking up these parties I would be willing to contribute a handsome compensation. Address Perry Howard, Ebenezer, Holmes county, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my son, Van Robinson. He used to belong to a man named Jerry Robinson. We lived one mile from the McDaniel place. He had one sister named Mary Robinson. She had one son named James Robinson, and one daughter named Martha. I am his mother. When I last heard of him he was living in Arkansas. When set free we lived in Sabine county. Address Johana Robinson, Orange, Texas.

Science.

Franklin's Practicality.

In his new discovery, Franklin immediately saw the means for producing something "of use to mankind," which, as he had written to Collinson in April, 1794, he was "ohagrined a little" that he had hitherto been unable to do. His speedy invention of the lightning-rod gave to the world the only apparatus directly applicable to the service of man that has ever yet been devised for utilizing or controlling any of the forms of electricity known to Franklin and his contemporaries. In this haste of the philosopher to make his discovery serve a practical end, we recognize the man, Franklin,—the man who exhibited in so many ways the characteristics of a latter time,—the nineteenth century American. Scientist and engineer, literary man and journalist, philosopher and man of affairs, Franklin was by nature what society and the growth of the great newspapers, and the stimulating rewards of the patent system make so many of his successors. Franklin's disquisitions of the single fluid theory of electricity and his whole writing upon the subject of his electrical labors shows that he possessed in a large degree the scientific mind. But he also had the inventive faculty and the will to exercise it. The natural union of these attributes is not so common as might seem to one of our generation. The modern way of life tempts every scientific searcher to turn his laboratory into a workshop, just as the allurement of journalism tempt the majority of the poets and historians away from their natural callings.—From "The Early History of Electricity in America," by George Herbert Stookbridge, in New England Magazine for March.

The underground system of telegraphs of the German empire has a total length of 3,600 miles, and has cost $10,219,000.

It is recorded in a local newspaper that recently, on the occasion of a particularly dense fog in Dundee and its neighborhood, a chemist attached to the University College took the opportunity of investigating the amount of carbonic acid in the atmosphere within the college grounds. The test was taken at 8 a. m., when the fog appeared to be at its thickest. At this time the proportion of carbonic acid in the air was 8 volumes in 10,000, or more than double the normal amount in the locality. It is remarked in the report of this experiment that, although the air in fog has often been analyzed before, the circumstances of the high proportion of carbonic acid present in the atmosphere under such conditions appears to be of peculiar interest, and the question is asked whether attention has been called to it.

M. Comille Gonzy, the proprietor of numerous small farms in the commune of Milas (Western Pyrenees), having an area altogether of nearly 1,500 acres, has for some time past been utilizing a neighboring stream for electric lighting purposes. He has now applied electric power to the working of a wine-pressing plant. Beside providing the power for lifting and driving purposes, electricity is made to work the pumps for irrigating the vines. The 180 16-candle power lamps employed are distributed over all the farms, and the area which they cover may be judged from the fact that the length of telephone wire connecting the buildings is sixty-two miles.

SOME weeks ago we requested all the teachers in our territory to write to us, and we would communicate to them something that would be greatly to their advantage. We requested all of our pastors, presiding elders, and readers generally, to call the attention of our school teachers to the notice. In answer to this effort, we have received letters from quite a large number of our teachers; but there are many who have not yet responded. We are anxious to hear from them. Write at once to the editor of this paper, and learn something to your advantage. This has no reference to any canvassing or agency scheme. Write and find out what we desire to tell you.

The New Orleans Picayune is one of the newest and most reliable papers published. 70 years young

Said the hale old poet, when questioned about his age.

Attesting in himself the truth

That robust age means well lived youth.

Compound Oxygen makes a man feel young again. Does this naturally; for Compound Oxygen is a concentration of nature's ozone. It is charged with electricity. It is readily seen what will be the result of an inhalation of such vitalized nourishment. Dissolved air cells expand again into activity. You feel like breathing from the top to the bottom of both lungs—something that but few of us do—and you regain strength in the most simple and direct way possible. Another strong point—Compound Oxygen is liberated from the inhaling apparatus by heat. You put the inhaler in a tin cup of hot water—and breathe it—at once a warm oxygenated vapor gets to the lungs and you feel the genial glow from head to foot.

An Appeal.

Dear Brethren in the Ministry of the M. E. Church:

The aggregate vote of the laity on the eligibility of women to the General Conference is decidedly in favor of the measure. The vote thus far reported is 216,960 for to 132,949 against, a majority of 84,011 in the affirmative. Not all of even the most active and intelligent members of the church voted. But the voters belong almost universally to this class; and the vote, therefore, represents the most devoted and progressive of our laity. The subject was thoroughly and ably discussed in our papers. Some of the most earnest members of the church have feared that the proposed movement is contrary to the ordinances of God. Had our members generally shared this conviction, the measure would have been defeated overwhelmingly. If to any the vote seems small in proportion to our membership, its very lightness shows conclusively that the body of our church does not for a moment hold that the eligibility of the sisters to the General Conference is a violation of the principles of the Bible, any more than was the admission of the lay brothers to that council. A similar fear was indulged formerly in regard to permitting women to speak in religious meetings. But the blessing of the Lord has rested upon Protestant Christianity and upon Methodism in unsealing the lips of woman. We are equally confident that His blessing will abide upon our church in admitting her to higher responsibilities and in summoning her to greater devotion. Surely it is no more than just that two-thirds of the laity, who are always invited by their brethren to join them in toil and in gifts for the upbuilding of our church, should also be at least eligible to share with their brethren in planning for the work which all must perform together. We therefore appeal to our brethren in the ministry to ratify the expressed wish of the laity, and thus make our mother church even more dear to her daughters than she has ever been before.

General Church News.

American Bible Society.

The stated meeting of the Board of Managers was held at the Bible House on Thursday, March 5, 1891. Theophilus A. Bronner, Esq., vice-president, in the chair.

The religious exercises were conducted by Bishop Andrews, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Among communications from foreign lands were letters from Mr. Penzotti, who on the 9th of February was still a prisoner in Oallao, for the alleged offense of violating the constitution of Peru by holding religious services not approved by the Roman Catholic priesthood; from Mr. McKim, of Cuba, who also had a taste of prison life, as a man on whom suspicion was cast because he was selling the Scriptures in Bahia Honda, a confinement which soon ended with apologies; and from various missionaries and agents.

Upon the application of the Rev. George F. Pentecost, D.D., a grant of one thousand English Testaments and two thousand Gospels was made to him for use in connection with his preaching services in California.

A letter was received from the Rev. A. P. Happer, D.D., of Canton, and other missionaries, commending a new movement organized by native Chinese to promote christian evangelization on a wide scale by the loan of approved books of various kinds. The Board voted to supply a number of volumes of Scripture for this purpose.

Grants of books were made to the value of about $5,000. Funds were also granted to the amount of $13,694, including appropriations for the Agencies in Mexico and Cuba, for Bible work in connection with missions in Sweden, Austria, and Italy, and for the Bible Society of France.

The Rev. Joseph Norwood, of San Luis Potosi, Mexico, was appointed Agent for Venezuela.

The Rev. E. N. Pipkin was appointed District Superintendent for Arkansas, to fill the post vacated by the death of the late Dr. Vernor.

The issues from the Bible House during the month of February were 99,531 volumes; issues since April 1st, 1890, 942,317 volumes.

Books and Current Literature.

The Independent published March 5th, 1891, a special number appropriate to the centenary of the death of John Wesley, March 2nd, 1791. Eight to twelve extra pages, are devoted chiefly to articles, by the most eminent writers, on the result of the great Wesleyan movement. All branches of Methodism throughout the world is represented by communications showing when and how they originated, what they are and what they have done. Among these articles are the following: The Relations of the Wesleyan Movement to the Church of England, by the Very Rev. F. W. Farrar, D.D., Archdeacon of Westminster. The Influence of Wesleyan Arminianism on Calvinism, by Prof. Marvin E. Vincent, D.D., of the Union Theological Seminary, New York. The Influence of the Wesleyan Movement on other Bodies, by Lewis F. Stearns, D.D., Professor of Christian Theology in Bangor Theological Seminary. The Character and Work of John Wesley, by Bishop John F. Hurst, D.D., of the Methodist Episcopal Church. John Wesley in America, by Bishop W. S. Perry, D.D., of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The Contributions of the Wesleys to Hymnology, by Prof. F. W. Bird, of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop J. H. Vincent, D.D. The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, by Bishop E. R. Hendrix, D.D. The African Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop B. T. Tanner, D.D. The African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, by Bishop O. R. Harris, D.D. The Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop L. H. Holsey, D.D. The Methodist Protestant Church, by L. W. Bates, D.D., ex-president of the General Conference. The American Wesleyan Church, by N. Wardner, D.D., president of the General Conference. The Congregational Methodist Church, by the Rev. John Thurman. The Methodist Church of Canada, by A. Carman, D.D., General Superintendent. The Wesleyan Methodist Church of Great Britain, by James M. King, D.D., LL.D. The Methodist New Connection, by ex-president J. O. Watts, D.D. The Bible Christians, by the Rev. W. Higman, president of the Conference. The Primitive Methodists, by the Rev. J. Hallam, president of the Conference. The United Methodist Free Church, by the Rev. M. T. Myers, president of the Annual Assembly.

Such a series it would be impossible to find elsewhere. They give a complete view of the Methodism of the world. Every Methodist should have the number of The Independent containing them. It can be had at ten cents each by sending an order at once. It would be a better investment, however, to take twenty-six numbers of The Independent for one dollar, and still better to send $2 (ministers rate) and get the paper for a whole year. It will have the coming year many memorable issues, with special disquisitions which no intelligent man can afford to miss. The series of articles on Socialism, already begun by Prof. R. T. Ely, of John Hopkins University, would alone make it worth your while to subscribe. It will be a thorough discussion, from a standpoint which is not hostile, and is wholly christian. It will represent the growing sentiment that, with the establishing of great combinations and the breaking down of competition, the State has duties of oversight of capital and labor, to prevent injustice, and to promote the general interests of the people. These articles will be copyrighted, and doubtless appear in a volume, which will be an important text book in the best institutions of learning. The special number of March 5th will be sent to laymen on receipt of ten cents; or they can have the paper six months for $1.50, a year for $3, or in clubs of five or more at $2 a year each.

The charming personality of the Princess of Wales in public has won her hosts of warm friends, but in The Ladies' Home Journal for March Lady Elizabeth Hilary, her almost constant attendant and a very intimate friend, gives us a glimpse at the Princess in her private life. The article is richly illustrated, and will attract as wide attention as will Mrs. P. T. Barnum's dissonant Moths of Modern Marriages, which appears in the same number; quite as interesting is a delightful portrait sketch of Mrs. Gladstone, by a bright American girl who recently spent a day with her; suggestive articles by Rose Terry Oooke and Miss Le Garde on self-support and gymnastics for girls, and George W. Cable's second paper on teaching the Bible, are some of the salient features of a number which has not a weak spot anywhere. Issued at one dollar a year by the Curtis Publishing Company, 433 and 435 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Secretary O. B. Wilson, of the Tennessee Conference, has favored us with a copy of the Minutes of his Conference, which are just out in good shape.

The Seed Annual for 1891, issued by the popular seedmen, D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich., is the very thing that every gardener and florist should possess. Their seeds, samples of which have been kindly sent to us, are of the choicest variety and most satisfactory qualities.

Littell's Living Age. The numbers of The Living Age for February 14th and 21st contain The Letters and Journals of Lady Mary Ooke, Edinburgh; Lord Houghton, Quarterly; Finland, Fortnightly; Labor Colonies in Germany, Nineteenth Century. The applications of Geometry to Practical Life, Nature; etc.

For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw; One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tucker, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 189 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

"HOUSE OF BONDAGE," now ready. Send 75 cents and get one postage prepaid, or call at the office.

Pictures of our Bishops.

Many of our readers would gladly possess the pictures of our bishops if they only knew where to get them. In order to accommodate them, we have arranged to supply them with a beautiful cabinet group photograph of all our bishops, for the small sum of 25 cents. Ten per cent of the proceeds will be devoted to the cause of missions. Send at once accompanying every order with the cash. Address

THE alliance effected between Russia and France has stirred up considerable anxiety in Germany.

STANLEY, the great African explorer, will lecture in this city next Monday night.

IN his great speech at the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society in Cincinnati, recently, President Hickman, of Clark University, Atlanta, Ga., said: "The white men come in to share money raised on the black man's condition. I tell you on my knees God does not like that very well." Another very pertinent and truthful expression was: "The men who trouble us most are those who ride through Dixie in palace cars and then write up a solution."

THE special attention of our readers is called to the article from the Christian Advocate in another column, entitled "unwarranted imputation upon our colored brethren." In that article Dr. Buckley does credit to his head and heart, and ranks himself among the bravest defenders of our people in the exercise of their divine right and manhood, in their espousal or opposition of any and every question submitted to their vote in the church. Read every word of it, and thank the Doctor for it.

EVERY mail brings in some additional orders for "The House of Bondage." Our sales amount to twenty and more some days. A brother in Alabama who had ordered a half-dozen a few days ago, sold them so rapidly that he immediately sent an additional order for two dozens, with the request that we send them by return mail. The demand for the books is multiplying daily everywhere. Send for a copy for yourself, and if you want an agency for the book in your town, send for terms at once.

THE objections which the Cru-sader offers to the constant raising of the color line by our people, are the same ones upon which we advocate the spread of our Methodism among our people. Our confere complains and protests against the organization of the "Colored State Bar Association," recently organized in Mississippi, against the National Colored Press Association, recently held at Cincinnati. It very appropriately remarks: "This constant drawing of lines by the colored people themselves, is injurious in the extreme in perpetuating race or color lines already existing. It is time that the colored people begin to act as citizens of the country and not as a separate people. We want the assimilation and homogeneity of the American people, and not division lines between any portions. We would hail with joy the formation of a National Press Association broad enough to recognize the equality of all men—but no colored press association in ours." This is typically American and Methodist. As such we most cordially and emphatically endorse it.

The Risen Christ.

Next Sunday, Easter, marks the anniversary of the greatest event in the world's history. For nearly nineteen centuries the Christian nations of the earth have been celebrating the glorious event with the most intense interest and devotion. The growing centuries do not diminish, but they rather magnify the glory that hallows His sacred brow. His name and honors cannot be buried beneath the weight of years. They shine on amid the wrecks of time, as the fairest among ten thousands, and that altogether lovely.

"No mortal can with him compare,
Among the sons of men;
Fairer is he than all the fair
That fill the heavenly train."

Wonderful were the condescension, love and pity that prompted the exalted Son of God to take upon himself the form of a servant, and to come down and make His abode with men. But then there was no room in the inn for him. No greater love could any man show than he displayed, in his works of love and mercy which he wrought among men, and in his finally dying for them. But marvelous as were all his deeds, they would have all come to nought in his death, had that been the end of the wonderful drama enacted in his career. Death was but the opening avenue to the glorious victories that awaited the Conqueror. For on the morning of the third day of his ignominious death, as it began to dawn toward the breaking of the day, our Emmanuel, dragged down of the powers of hell, robbed Death of its sting and the Grave of its boasting victory, and came forth victoriously with all the powers of Death and hell in his all conquering hands. All Christendom will unite next Sunday in the anniversary of the wonderful event. It is the pledge and token of our final triumph. For as he overcame, so we shall overcome also. In keeping with the glory that adorns the day, our church has set it apart as an appropriate one wherein all of our people, especially the children, should be given a chance to make their missionary contributions, to assist in proclaiming the universal salvation which it typifies. To this end, let the special Easter services be held in all of our churches, and let the day be one wherein everybody shall be moved and permitted to assist in the spread of glad tidings of salvation wherever man is found.

A General Awakening.

The American Citizens' Equal Rights Association of Louisiana have reason to feel encouraged in their purpose to raise the necessary funds and test the abominable separate car laws that have recently been passed by nearly every State Legislature in the South.

A letter from Natchitoches, La., informs us that a determined movement has been started there to raise funds to assist the Association in its very laudable purpose. A penny collection of $3.15 was taken up there recently, and many subscribed from a dollar up, to be paid on a day appointed, when all the citizens of the place friendly to the movement will be given a chance to share in testing these obnoxious laws before the Supreme Court of the United States.

On Turtle Bayou, Texas, a regular circle has been permanently organized to raise funds for the same purpose. Reports come to us from other sections of this and other States to the same effect.

All that is now needed is that every pastor, every society president, and every leader among our people, of whatever church or no church, should awake to his duty in the premises, and every cent of the necessary funds will be raised. Are we less patriotic than the Irish, the Italians, the Jews, and every other race? The Irish cause is the Irishman's cause the world over; the Italians are massacred in jail in New Orleans and the voice of every Italian in creation is heard; the Jews are persecuted in Russia, and that race is moved the world over. Shall we be less humane and patriotic in our treatment of questions affecting us as a people? A thousand times, never. We rejoice to learn of this general awakening on the part of our people. Now let every American Negro, North and South, and every man, woman and child that is actuated by the common impulses of justice and humanity, join in raising the necessary funds to test these infamous separate car laws.

Send your contributions to Dr. J. T. Newman, treasurer, corner of Canal and Marais streets, New Orleans. Amounts contributed will be published in this paper, unless accompanied with the request that they be not published.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

To the Members of the State Central American Citizens' Equal Rights Association of Louisiana: Gentlemen:—The people are awakening to the needs of the hour. They see that nearly every Southern State has recently enacted an odious and infamous separate car law, which humiliates and outrages our rights as American citizens, and they demand that we take speedy action to test it before the courts of the country. In their names, by virtue of the power vested in me as President of the Association, I request that you meet at our headquarters, No. 139 Poydras street, on Saturday, April 4, at 5 p. m. sharp. Signed,

A. E. P. ALBERT,
President.
JOHN L. MINOR,
Secretary.

Consummate Meanness.

An A. M. E. Church preacher, who evidently has missed his calling, has written a letter to a Democratic paper in Baton Rouge, in which he speaks of the white missionary teachers of our church, laboring among our people, in the following language: "Those teachers are here to misrepresent the South, and to rob it of its fair name, by publishing abroad the outrages perpetrated upon the colored people."

Who would have imagined that such an infamous statement could have emanated from a colored man? The law-abiding white citizens of Baton Rouge were horrified at the murders and outrages perpetrated by regulators and lawless whites upon colored citizens on Jones Creek, only seven miles from Baton Rouge, last November. Their indignation was emphatic and pronounced. They secured their apprehension and arrest. A white Democratic judge and jury sent them to the penitentiary for twenty years, and the Supreme Court confirmed the sentence. And now comes a hypocrite of the deepest dye, and a Negro at that, who comes "pot licking around," to get on the good side of the white people of Baton Rouge, by such a monstrous piece of hypocrisy. The white people are not fools, however. They see through the thinness of the thing and they loathe and despise the man that takes them for such fools. If the African preacher who is the author of that infamous letter thinks that he will thereby prejudice the white people of Baton Rouge against our church there, he is sadly mistaken. If he wants to get their money to assist him in building an A. M. E. institution in the city of Baton Rouge, he should have gone to them in a manly and dignified way, and explained to them his purposes and his needs, and not presume on their ignorance and lack of reasonable discrimination as to what our church is doing for the Negro and the South, in her work of education and evangelization. There was a time when the mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church was not understood in the South. It was thought that the church was engaged in some ulterior political mission, but that day is past and gone. The white people of the South, and among them Bishop Haygood, Dr. Curry, the late Dr. C. K. Marshall of Vicksburg, Miss., and scores of others, understand, appreciate and welcome the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church among our people; this silly and hypocritical nonsense will not avail anything in turning the tide so gloriously set in our favor.

The North freed the Negro, and the South welcomes it to come and educate them, as it should; to fit them for the citizenship for which they were so ill prepared when injected in a stream of 4,000,000 souls into the body politic. The testimony of our Southern white neighbors is to the effect that our preachers are not political emissaries. They attend to the supreme task of making sober, industrious, peaceable, law-abiding citizens, and a holy race, out of our people. As such they are everywhere welcomed, and supported by all classes among the white people, and this is a great deal more than they will ever touching many of the other preachers laboring among our people. Our churches are not grog-shops and political club rooms, but temples, sacredly kept for the worship of almighty God; and our people are never uncertain quantities in every moral reform. These facts commend our church everywhere to the friendly disposition of all good people. All we need do is to faithfully continue in the even tenor of our way, and we have nothing to fear from any and all such consummate wickedness and meanness.

The House of Bondage.

In order that our readers might have an idea of the appreciation extended "The House of Bondage" wherever it has been introduced, we publish the following, which is but a sample of the scores of such letters of commendation which are constantly pouring in upon us:

CENTRAL ALABAMA ACADEMY,
Huntsville, Ala., Mar. 14, 1891.

Dr. Albert:

Dear Brother:—Having read "The House of Bondage," by Mrs. Dr. Albert, I desire to say that it is a work that should be read by every colored man, woman and child in all this land. I read with no small degree of interest many of the articles as they appeared in the SOUTHWESTERN, but in book form there seems to be a charm about them which the former did not have.

It is a fact that faster than we realize we are drifting away from the days of slavery. Our mothers and fathers are passing away. The youth of to-day knows little or nothing about those cruel days. But for such books as this the next generation would know much less.

The book is written in a most charming style. My wife read chapter after chapter to our little girl, eight years old, and when the end of each chapter was reached the little girl would say, "Mama, don't stop; read on, please." It is one of those books which when one begins to read he will sit up nights and rise early in the morning till he reads through it. No one will ever regret paying 75 cents for the book.

Yours truly,
A. W. McKINNEY.

THE Mississippi and her tributaries are threateningly high, and destructive crevasses are reported at several points. The two most disastrous ones on the Mississippi River are the Ames crevasse, opposite the Exposition Grounds (Audubon Park), this city. It is on the Algiers' side of the river and will prove quite disastrous. It is over 300 feet wide and 15 feet deep. The Point Lookout crevasse, in East Carroll Parish, broke out suddenly last Saturday, and after thirty-six hours the break was 400 feet wide. It will ruin some of the most prosperous settlements in that section. The crevasse on Bayou LaFonche, opposite U. S. Senator White's plantation, is an extensive and bad one. The river has fallen three inches.

Political Review.

President Harrison expresses himself as hopeful for his party's future. He congratulates the country on the legislation enacted by the Fifty-first Congress, and says his party will be benefitted by it. He is as firmly emphatic in the faith that the talismanic watchword, of the rule of the majority by Federal intervention, will finally prevail. He is contemplating a Western tour.

Hon. Chas. M. Felton, Republican, was elected to the U. S. Senate to fill Senator Hearst's (deceased) unexpired term.

The Arkansas Legislature has decided against the call for a constitutional convention.

The Democratic Convention, to nominate city officials in Chicago, split and nominated two tickets. One faction heads its ticket with Mayor Oregier, the other with ex-Mayor Harrison.

The Republicans of Cincinnati have renominated Mayor John G. Mosby.

The Boyd-Thayer gubernatorial contest in Nebraska, has been indefinitely postponed by the courts. Boyd, the Republican incumbent, continues as acting Governor.

Postmaster Eaton has appointed a couple of supernumerary colored letter carriers. There is not a single colored clerk in the whole establishment, which is still crowded with Democrats. If Mr. Eaton, and his class of officials, expect to control the Negro vote by such insignificant recognition of the race, they will no doubt be made to understand that the thing cannot be done.

Personal.

—Rev. J. D. Beaman, Jackson, Miss., was among our visitors last week.

—Rev. H. May, of Pass Christian, Miss., was in this city on a short visit last week.

—Rev. Nelson Burton, of Waxia, has been spending a few days among friends and relatives in the city.

—Rev. Wm. Murrell has been in feeble health but is now able to be out as usual.

—Rev. H. A. Lewin, formerly a member of the Louisiana Conference, is on a visit to Glencoe, La. He has been living in Kansas.

—Rev. R. C. Barrow of Ponchartroula, was in the city last week to direct medical attention for his wife, who has been quite ill, but who, we are glad to record, is now improving.

—Mrs. Mary J. Brown, wife of Rev. T. A. Brown, of Port Hudson, is reported to be very sick. We hope she will soon recover.

—Rev. Dr. Thomas Lee, a prominent minister of the M. E. Church, died at Cincinnati, O., March 12.

—Senator Allison, of Iowa, spent a few days in this city recently. He has returned home.

—Secretary of War Proctor has been on a tour of inspection to the ports and fortifications of the United States in this section, and spent a few days here last week.

—Mrs. J. P. Moore, the faithful Baptist Missionary who has labored among our people so devoutly during the past twenty-five or more years, we regret to learn has resigned her work in this field, and has gone to Richmond, Va. Her's has been an eventful life of consecration to Christ and his poor. As such she enjoyed the love of all who knew her, and we unite with our Baptist brethren in heartfelt regret in the loss which they sustain in her removal.

—The many friends of Rev. Samuel Armistead, of Shreveport, will regret to learn of the death of mother Catherine Armistead, his companion for the last half a century. She died of old age, with complicating diseases, about ten days ago. Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to our bereaved father and friend who has thus been left disconsolate. Her life of faith and triumphant death, however, will bring comfort to the wounded heart.

—Ex-Congressman H. Dudley Coleman has returned from Washington, D. C., where he so faithfully served his party and State during the past two years. It was mainly through his influence that Dr. Mullan was appointed an Examining Surgeon of the U. S. Pension Department, as we noted in another column. It was a very fitting appointment, for which our people extend their gratitude to him.

—Rev. Pierre Landry, Presiding Elder of the South New Orleans District, has returned from a tour among some of his country churches, and brings in encouraging reports from nearly every point. Glorious revivals were in progress at Woodlawn, Napoleonville, Beat-tieville, Houma, and at nearly every charge. He is now holding conferences here. He speaks in high terms of the warm and generous reception extended him everywhere.

—Rev. Dr. Thirkield's little boy, who has been very sick with pneumonia, at the doctor's home, Atlanta, Ga., we are glad to know is now convalescent.

—His many friends and our people generally will rejoice to learn that Dr. Isaiah E. Mullan, the very efficient acting Dean of the New Orleans University Medical School, has been appointed an examining surgeon of the United States, for the Pension Bureau in this city. The appointment is one that any first class physician might well covet. And what is specially gratifying in this connection is the fact that it comes to the Doctor as a reward of his high merit, and not by virtue of any efforts on his part. While this is an appointment of very honorable medical distinction, we are glad to learn that it will not interfere with the Doctor's practice, nor with his relation to our medical school. Dr. Mullan is a native of Natchez, Miss., but he came here when quite young, and was raised in this city. He graduated in the first class that graduated in the classical course from the New Orleans University. After occupying the chair of ancient languages in his Alma Mater for a year or two he entered Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn., and graduated with high honors. He then settled to a very fine practice in Holmesville, Miss., after passing a most rigid examination before the Mississippi State Board of Medical Examiners. During the past two years he has been the acting Dean of our medical school in this city. He enjoys the proud distinction of being the only Negro in the world that occupies such a position. In addition to this he has succeeded in a very short time in establishing as wide and lucrative a practice as any physician among our people in this city. A poor boy, with but few friends, by his own sturdy efforts and resolute determination he has succeeded in pushing himself to the very front rank among the men of mark in this country. Our people are proud, justly proud of him.

The Texas and Pacific Railway.

Owing to the break in levee at Company Canal trains on this road will run via Mississippi Valley road and Baton Rouge until further notice. Passengers for points on T. and P. and all points in Texas, Colorado, California and Mexico will take train at Mississippi Valley depot at 8:30 a. m., where the ticket agent and baggage master of the Texas and Pacific will be in attendance. The 3:50 p. m. train, local, is discontinued.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is on the flood tide of popularity, which position it has reached by its own intrinsic, undoubted merit.

Please Don't Forget It.

That Dr. H. James' Cannabis Indica is prepared in California, India, from the purest and best Native Hemp, and is the only remedy either in this country or this that will positively and permanently cure Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Neuralgia, and Nervous Debility or break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. $2.50 a bottle, three bottles for $6.50. Homiletics.

We've no abiding city here,
But seek a city out of sight;
Thither our steady course we steer,
Aspiring to the plains of light,
Jerusalem, the saints' abode,
Whose founder is the living God.
—Charles Wesley.

Take my soul and body's powers;
Take my memory, mind, and will;
All my goods and all my hours;
All I know and all I feel;
All I think, or speak, or do;
Take my heart and make it new.
—Charles Wesley.

Close by Thy side still may I keep,
Howe'er life's various currents flow;
With steadfast eye mark every step,
And follow where my Lord doth go.
—JOHN WESLEY.

Let us this day use all the power
we have! If we have enough, well; if not, let us this day expect a fresh supply.—John Wesley.

We must, we must, you and I, at least, be all devoted to God! Thou wives, and sons, and daughters, and everything else, will be real, invaluable blessings.—John Wesley.

You judge right. If the people were more alive to God, they would be more liberal. There is money enough. But they are not straitened in their own bowels.—John Wesley.

You have nothing to do with the things that are behind; the prize and the crown are before you. So run, that you may obtain; desiring only to apprehend that for which you are apprehended of Christ Jesus.—John Wesley.

Beware of sins of omission. Lose no opportunity of doing good of any kind. Give no place to indolence. Lose no shrod of time. Do not talk much; neither long at a time; few can converse profitably above an hour.—John Wesley.

I am not afraid that the people called Methodists should ever cease to exist. But I am afraid, lest they should only exist as a dead sect, having the form of religion without the power. And this will, undoubtedly, be the case, unless they hold fast both the doctrine, spirit, and discipline with which they set out.
Will you do this? What? Road:
"Send portions unto them for whom nothing is provided." Are you planning something nice for those for whom nothing is provided, that widow and her children—that poor family? Do not let them be overlooked. "Send portions."—Selected.

Will you surely do it? What?
Why, gather the members of your family together at Christmas, and have a good time, looking well after the dear children. We mean an intelligent christian time, so that on Christmas night you will have no ugly dreams.—Selected.

Will you be a Daniel? In what respect? Consult the record! "Now Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat."
He had a salvation that amounted to something. You will be solicitous to partake of holiday meat that will defile you if you eat of it.
"Dare to be a Daniel."—Selected.

A divided heart.—In every age and country, there are some found with divided hearts on the subject of religion. Such was Hiram, king of Tyre, who, while he blessed the Lord that Solomon was king, and gladly traded with him for some of the materials for building a temple to Jehovah, also contributed one hundred talents of gold towards its erection; and yet, in his own country, he dedicated a golden pillar to Jupiter, built the temples of Hercules and Astarte (the Ashtaroth of the Sidonians), and enriched the shrines of the god and goddess by valuable gifts. So there are some people now who appear very religious at times, and yet their hearts go after covetousness, and they are quite at home in the circles of the gay, and in the indulgence of sinful pleasures.—Selected.

Sermon.

Hymns 362, 369, 393. Scriptural lesson, Lk 14. Text, Luke 13, 18.

And they all with one consent began to make excuse.

Introduction, The first verse of the chapter tells us that the words of the text were spoken in the house of one of the chief Pharisees.

Jesus we suppose had been invited there to eat bread on the Sabbath.

While there he healed a man who had the dropsy, on the Sabbath, and thus showed the people that works of mercy could be done on that day.

When Jesus, after saying many other important things, gave them another parable.

The purpose of the parable was to show the spiritual purpose of the gospel invitation.

A man made a great feast, or supper, and invited many to come.
But strange to say, "They all with one consent began to make excuse."

The first said I have bought a piece of ground, and must needs go and see it; I pray thee have me excused.

This was a worthless excuse, for a wise man would not buy land without seeing it, and certainly the land would not disappear, nor be stolen if he waited for a day.

The second said, "I have bought five yoke of oxen and I go to prove them; I pray thee have me excused."

This second excuse was more worthless than the first. For the oxen could be proved any day.
There was no reason for haste.

The third said, "I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come."
This was the worst excuse of all for his wife would gladly have gone with her husband.

These excuses are like those which sinners offer for their not coming to the Gospel feast.

No sinner has a good excuse, for staying away.

Let us notice some of the most common.

(a) The sinner says I have not feeling enough.

It is not feeling that is required. If the sinner hears the invitation he ought to come.

(b) The sinner says, I don't know what to do, I don't know how to come.

The first thing to do is to stop sinning.—The second is to turn to God and ask his forgiveness.—The youngest and most ignorant sinner can do all this.

(c) The sinner says I am too great a sinner.

But Jesus invites great sinners,
he came into this world on purpose to save great sinners. He has already saved many great sinners.

(d) The sinner says, "I tried once and failed."

In all earthly affairs when we do not succeed the first time we try,
we try again.

(e) The sinner says, my companions will laugh at me.

Sinners laughed at Jesus and mocked him even while he was on the cross, but he prayed for them.
Sinners will only laugh and mock for a little time and then they will be lost forever.

Fear God and not man.

(f) The sinner says, I am afraid
I shall not hold out if I start.

It is always harder starting than holding out.

God will help those who try to serve him.

The devil and the sinner's weak troubled heart puts these excuses in the months of converted sinners.

They do not come from any good source.

They are all worthless.

They will all fail at the hour of death.

The sinner will not dare to offer one to the Judge on the throne at the judgment day.

The sinner must cast aside all these vain excuses, and come at once to Jesus, and he will find the feast ready. He will be called for in life and in death and to all eternity.

Come then for all things are now ready.

There seemed to be some uncertainty about the proper means of curing catarrh, but it has been found that Old Sage's Catarrh Cure does the work at once and permanently.

Schools and Colleges.

New Orleans University as Seen
by a Northerner.

The editor of the Inland Christian Advocate, Des Moines, Iowa, writes the following in his paper:

At the head of the splendid faculty of this university is Dr. Adkinson, a man of sweet spirit, firm purpose, and rare qualities of both head and heart, peculiarly qualified for his trying position, and loved and respected by all the students without exception. He rules the whole school in quietness and firmness, and with the absence of everything like a dictatorial spirit.
He rules in love. His commands uttered in a mild voice are understood to be law, and there is to all appearances, as well as in fact, perfect order and splendid discipline.

Dr. Adkinson's wife is an admirable christian lady, and a woman of rare qualities for the position she is called to fill. All through the home, and school, there is a marked neatness, and cleanliness, which reveal the fact that a splendid mind is at the head of the whole department in the person of the president's wife.

Two persons better fitted for the places they occupy could scarcely be found in the whole church, and the wisdom of their choice for the place is evinced in the fact that the school is growing remarkably and is doing a grand work. New students are coming in constantly, and in a little while they will be crowded for room.

The students, more than 400 in number are a bright company of young men and women, and when they go out to honorable positions in the states adjoining, they will reflect great credit upon the university.

The various industrial departments are well sustained, and are doing much toward solving the problem of position of the colored man in the industrial world. Each department is superintended by a competent man and the students take great interest in learning the various trades taught here.

Bishop Mallalieu has his home here in the house used by the president, and boards with the faculty and students in the dining hall.

He has the medical department of the university on his heart, and is trying faithfully to put its support on the heart of the church.

Money put into this work is wisely invested, and we bespeak for this work a practical support on the part of the great church.

Some men of means could not build for himself a grander mountment than to put $25,000 into the medical department of the New Orleans University and thus aid in lifting hundreds of young men to lucrative positions, and in the future to where they can give back to our Southern work some generous benefactions.

Our Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society is doing a noble work in the South, and nowhere better than in New Orleans. The church cannot do better than to give right hearty support to this arm of the church's benevolence, and multiply its ability to do still greater work towards lifting a race, so little removed from the galling chains of an awful slavery.

In our land there are 365 colleges, with 64,086 students; 145 theological seminaries, with 4,921 students; 162 commercial colleges, with 27,146 students; 83 scientific schools, with 11,584 students; 48 law schools, with 3,134 students, and 120 medical schools, with 14,000 students.

The public school population is 16,000,000, of whom 10,000,000 are enrolled and 6,000,000 are in attendance at a cost of $100,000,000.

The famous Dr. Koch was, ten years ago, an obscure country physician. In 1880 he was called to Berlin as a member of the Metropolitan Sanitary Commission and professor in the Royal School of Medicine, and all his wonderful discoveries have followed since. He has been a fresh and ruddy student, hardly looking his forty-seven years.

Mr. Daniel Hand, who two years ago gave a million dollars and more to help on the educational uplifting of the colored people in the South, giving it in trust to the American Missionary Association, is now ninety years of age, and is said to be taking the deepest kind of satisfaction in the thought of the beneficent working of this Hand Fund.

President Thwing put one point very admirably in his inaugural address at Western Reserve University last week. He said:

"The graduate should know enough about some things to deserve to be called thorough; he should know enough about all things not to be called narrow."

"Mrs. Jones sits at the window all day as placid as a May morning, and her five small children play hide and seek on the back stairs." "No wonder! She uses Salvation Oil for sprains and cuts."

E. E. COOPER, of the Indianapolis Freeman, will tell the Colored Press Association "How to make Afro-American journals pay." President Mitchell could not have more appropriately assigned the task.

Editor Cooper has passed master in beating out his confederates of their advertising dues. He ought to be able to tell how to make a newspaper pay. He is one of the "Tou Groatost Negroes." He opened the ballot box too.—Crusader.

Has he beaten you, too? Since "misery loves company" we were glad to know that we were not his only victim. He has beaten us to the too long deluded—the unhappy victim of catarrh in the head. He's been told that it can't be cured. Don't you believe it. It can be, and it is—no matter how bad or of how long standing. It has been done for thousands—by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Other so-called remedies may palliate for a time;

this cures for all time. By its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, it conquers the worst cases. Its makers offer, in good faith, a reward of $500 for a case of catarrh which they cannot cure.
They are able to pay it. Are you able to take it?

The symptoms of catarrh are,
headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive; eyes weak, ringing in ears, deafness; offensive breath; smell and taste impaired, and general debility. Only a few of these symptoms likely to be present at once. Thousands of cases terminate in Consumption and end in the grave, without ever having manifested all these symptoms. Dr.
Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases. 50 cents, by druggists.

We cannot make all the trans-of the charge is not a postoffice in many instances. Then those who are on a circuit ought to tell us at which place they get their mail.

All changes desired should be re-put in type for a mailing machine, when we hope there will be no more complaints of not getting the

THE BIVOUAC OF THE DEAD.

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on life's parade shall meet
The brave and daring few.
On fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead.

No answer of the foe's advance
Nor swells upon the wind,
No troubled thought at midnight
Haunts

Of loved ones left behind;
No vision of the morrow's strife
The warrior's dream alarms;
No baying horn or screaming file.
At dawn shall call to arms.

Their shivered swords are red with rust,
Their plumed heads are bowed;
Their haughty banner trailed in dust
Is now their martial shroud,
And plenteous funeral tears have washed

The red stains from each brow,
And their proud form in battle gashed
Are free from anguish now.

The neighing steed, the flashing blade,
The trumpet's stirring blast,
The charge, the dreadful cannonade,
The din and shout are passed;
Nor war's wild note, nor glory's peal,
Shall thrill with fierce delight Those breasts that never more shall feel

The rapture of the fight.

Like the dread Northern hurricane
That sweeps his broad plateau,
Flushed with the triumph yet to gain
Came down the serried foe;
Our heroes felt the shock, and leapt
To meet them on the plain;
And long the pitying sky hath wept
Above our gallant slain.

Sons of our consecrated ground,
Ye must not slumber there,
Where stranger steps and tongues resound

Along the heedless air.
Your own proud land's heroic soil
Shall be your fitter grave;
She claims from War his richest spoil,
The ashes of her brave.

So 'neath their parent turf they rest,
Far from the gory field;
Borne to a Spartan mother's breast
On many a bloody shield;
The sunshine of their native sky
Smiles sadly on them here,
And kindred hearts and eyes watch by
The hero's sepulchre.

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead!
Dear as the blood you gave,
No impious footsteps here shall tread
The herbage of your grave;
Nor shall your glory be forgot
While fame her record keeps,
Or Honor points the hallowed spot
Where Valor proudly sleeps.

Yon marble minstrel's voiceless stone
In deathless songs shall tell,
When many a vanished age hath flown,
The story how he fell;
Nor wreck, nor change, nor winter's blight
Nor time's remorseless doom,
Shall dim one ray of holy light
That gilds your glorious tomb.

FRIED BREAD.—One beaten egg, one cup of water; this is enough liquid for six or seven slices of bread; dip them, quickly wetting both sides, and fry a light brown in hot grease; this is a splendid way to use up dry bread.

GRATED HAM.—Omit a large piece from the thickest portion of a boiled ham, trim off the fat, grate the lean part and put in the center of a platter. Slice small bits of the fat and lay them around the edge with some tender lettuce hearts and serve for supper or innob. When lettuce is not easily obtained border with thin slices of lemon. Circles of pickled beets are not an unattractive garnish.

SWEET BREAD CROQUETTES.—
Parboil two pair of sweet breads, out in small pieces, with a dozen mushrooms; put one and a half ounces of butter in a saucepan, let bubble, and stir in two ounces of flour; mix and cook until done;
then pour in a gill of soup stock, let boil, add the chopped sweet breads, and stir over the fire until thoroughly heated; take from the fire, add the beaten yolks of two eggs, return to the fire long enough to set without boiling; let cool and form into croquettes, roll in cracker crumbs, then dip in beaten egg, then in the crumbs again, and fry in boiling lard.

The Behring Sea Dispute.
For seventy years the seal fisheries of Behring Sea have been the subject of international contention and of endless diplomatic negotiation. The earliest dispute followed close upon Russia's assertion in 1821 of extraordinary jurisdiction over the waters of Behring Sea and the Pacific Ocean, and though the present controversy between the United States and Great Britain is of but four years' standing, the issues involved in the original episode are in a broad sense the issues of today.

Russia evoked vigorous protests from the United States and Great Britain by the publication of an edict placing restrictions upon "the pursuits of commerce, whaling, and fishing, and of all other industry," in the waters of Behring Sea and in the Pacific Ocean beyond a marine league from shore, the limit fixed by international law as the extent of the maritime sovereignty of any power. At that time the territorial division of Alaska belonged to Russia, and the limits of Behring Sea were marked on all sides by Russian possessions, including the chain of Aleutian Islands on the south. The United States has drawn an equally vigorous remonstrance from Great Britain by an attempt to maintain, for the protection of the seal fisheries of Alaska, a maritime jurisdiction in all the waters of the Eastern half of Behring Sea. The negotiations now pending between the United States and Great Britain have for their object the determination of the vexed questions as to the jurisdictional rights of the United States beyond a maritime league from the shores of Alaska and as a collateral issue the legality of the seizure in Behring Sea of British vessels discovered by United States revenue cruisers in act of pelagic sealing outside the three mile limit. There is every indication that all the contentions in the case will ultimately be set at rest by arbitration.—W. L.
Crouse, in Harper's Weekly.

Reciprocity With Canada.
The disposition of this country was never more favorable to closer relations with Canada than it is now, and a final settlement of the seal trouble, which cannot be longer delayed, would greatly facilitate an understanding which would be mutually beneficial. It is evident that in promoting a sentiment of reciprocity Mr. Blaine has touched a popular feeling.—Harper's Weekly.

DON'T GIVE UP

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. One bottle may not cure "right off" a complaint of years; persist until a cure is effected. As a general rule, improvement follows shortly after beginning the use of this medicine.
With many people, the effect is immediately noticeable; but some constitutions are less susceptible to medicinal influences than others, and the curative process may, therefore, in such cases, be less prompt. Perseverance in using this remedy is sure of its reward at last. Sooner or later, the most stubborn blood diseases yield to

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For several years, in the spring months,
I used to be troubled with a drowsy, tired feeling, and a dull pain in the small of my back, so that I could not go to work, and being able to walk, the least exertion causing me severe distress. Frequently, boils and rashes would break out on various parts of the body. By the advice of friends and my family physician, I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla and continued it till the poison in my blood was thoroughly eradicated."
—L. W. English, Newbury City, Mo.
"My system was all run down; I tried various remedies, and while some of them gave me temporary relief, none of them did any permanent good. At last I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, continuing it exclusively for a considerable time, and am pleased to say that it completely

Cured Me.

I presume my liver was very much out of order, and the blood impure in consequence.
I feel that I cannot too highly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla to any one afflicted as I was."—Mrs. N. A. Smith, Glover, Vt.
"For years I suffered from scrofula and blood diseases. The doctors' prescriptions and several so-called blood-purifiers being of no avail, I was at last advised by a friend to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and now feel like a new man, being fully restored to health."—C. N. Frink, Decorah, Iowa.

Our Children's Legion. For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I thought I would write to you, as I have read so many letters from my consins. I am 15 years of age. I am not a member of the church, but how I long to be one. I attend church and Sunday school every Sunday. My father is a member of the M. E. Church, but my mother is not. Our pastor is Rev. H. James, and he is loved by us all. My father does not take the SOUTHWESTERN, but my uncle does, and I take great pleasure in reading it.

Your Niece,
ARZILLA CAMPBELL.

Clinton, La.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. I am only 12 years old. My uncle takes the SOUTHWESTERN and I love to read it. I think it is one of the best papers I have ever read. We haven't any school this year. I am not a member of the church, but hope to be soon. My pastor's name is Geo. H. Pettis, and we all like him.

Your Niece,
ROSEY B. WITTEN.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I want to answer the question that was asked by J. H. L. Haynes, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn. The middle verse of the Bible is the first verse in the 127th Psalm. "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it. Except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." I want to ask one question: Who ate the fish, the cucumbers, the melons, the leeks, the onions, and the garlic?

Your Nephew,
JAMES MADISON.

Rockdale, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. My mama is a member of the M. E. Church, and I am too. We have a nice Sabbath school. I go to Sunday school every Sunday. My teacher is named Eron Fairley. My pastor is named A. C. Lacey.

Your Niece,
RACHEL EVENS.

Hillsdale, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. My papa takes the dear old SOUTHWESTERN, and I take great pleasure in reading it to him every week. Father and mother belong to the M. E. Church. I will be thankful to see this in the paper.

Your Niece,
MALLEY WITTEN.

Catarh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

General News Items.

The colored people of Washington city are very much divided as to the manner of celebrating the emancipation of the slaves in the District of Columbia. Two opposing committees have taken the matter in hand; one favoring a street parade, the other in favor of observing this day in the churches without any street parade. The celebration takes place April 16.

Twelve buildings were destroyed by fire Monday night March 9 in the square bounded by Onstomhouse, Bienville, Prieur and John-son streets, the fire originating in the premises 366 Bienville.

The 8,000,000 Negroes in this country will have only one representative in the next congress, the Hon. Henry P. Cheatham of North Carolina.

Rome is said to be growing faster than any other European city.

A troop of cavalry will guard Sherman's grave for six months. General Howard says that at the close of the war General Sherman could probably call 5,000 officers by name.

It is reported that General Sherman once declined an offer of $10,000 a year to contribute regularly to a Grand Army paper.

It is said that the idea of raising the Stars and Stripes over the school houses of our country originated with General Sherman.

A tunnel for telegraph and telephone wires and for pneumatic tubes for the mails is talked of between England and the Continent.

Paul Revere's house, 19 and 21 North Square, Boston, an old and well-preserved landmark, is soon to make way for a modern structure.

The interior of Labrador is said to be the largest unexplored area on the Continent, and it has a waterfall with a sheer descent of 2,000 feet.

Cornell will hereafter have a uniform tuition fee in the various courses, of $100. A $65,000 law building and a $20,000 gymnasium annex will be built.

According to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Carthage, Mo., furnishes three-fourths of the world's supply of zinc. The amount got out averages $90,000 worth every week.

Phillips Brook's first Monday noon lecture in Boston, this Lenten season, was enormously attended by business men and working men. St. Paul's Church could not hold them all.

An association has been formed in Washington to honor the memory of Gen. F. E. Spinner, who, by his action in introducing women into various grades of Government service, paved the way for their continued employment, not only in government offices, but in many other places of business.

The Deaconess' Home, to be established in memory of Mrs. Lucy Hayes, the late wife of ex-President Hayes, will be located in Washington. The purpose of this institution is the training and education of deaconesses, and it is proposed to make it a lasting credit to the Methodist Denomination.

Parties from the Southeast portion of Montague County, Texas, report considerable excitement over a gold and silver find. The vein is six feet wide and assays $400 to the ton. Coal is found under the ledge of silver, the vein being thirty-seven inches thick, underlain with nickel, gold and magnetic vein ore. A company has purchased machinery, and expects to begin operations in a few days.

The Sioux chiefs, on their way home from Washington, visited the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa. Feb. 14, 15. Four chiefs made speeches expressing hope that educated Indians would obtain rights for their people. Captain Pratt, in his reply, said pupils had $1,100 in Carlisle banks, earned by their own labor. Eighteen children have recently arrived from Pine Ridge Agency.

Why Suffer One Moment

From Torturing Skin Diseases

When a single application of the Cuticura Remedies will, in the great majority of cases, instantly relieve the most agonizing of itching, burning, scaly, crusted, pimply, and blotchy skin and scalp diseases, and point to a permanent and economical (because so speedy) cure, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail? Cuticura Remedies are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times, are absolutely pure and agreeable to the most sensitive, and may be used by the youngest and most delicate with perfect success.

CUTICURA

the great skin cure, instantly allays the most intense itching, burning, and inflammation, permits rest and sleep, speedily heals the skin, and restores the hair. CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin beautifier, is indispensable in cleansing diseased surfaces. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities and poisonous elements, and thus removes the cause. Hence the Cuticura Remedies cure every disease and humor of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, from pimples to scrofula.

See "All About the Blood, Skin, Scalp, and Hair" mailed free to any address, 64 pages, 300 Diseases, 60 Illustrations, and 100 Testimonials. A book of priceless value to every sufferer. CUTICURA Remedies are sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, 50c.; CUTICURA SOAP, an Exquisite Skin Purifier and Beautifier, 50c.; CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the greatest of Blood Purifiers and Humor Remedies, 50c. Prepared by FORTY AND CHEM. CO., Boston.

Bad Complexions, pimples, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin and hands are prevented and cured by that greatest of all Skin Purifiers and Beautifiers, the celebrated Cuticura Soap. Incomparably superior to all other skin and complexion soaps, while rivaling in delicacy and surpassing in purity the most expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. The only medicated toilet soap, and the only preventive of inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of most complexional disfigurements. Price, 25c.

Sunday-School and Children.

FIRST QUARTER.—TEMPERANCE
LESSON. Isa. 5. 11-23. Mar. 29, 1891.
Commit to memory verses 21, 20. B. C. 760.

11. Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine inflame them!
12. And the harp and the viol, the tabret and pipe, and wine, are in their feasts: but they regard not the work of the Lord, neither consider the operation of his hands.

13. Therefore my people are gone into captivity, because they have no knowledge: and their honorable men are famished, and their multitude dried up with thirst.

14. Therefore hell hath enlarged herself, and opened her mouth without measure: and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth, shall descend into it.

15. And the mean man shall be brought down, and the mighty man shall be humbled, and the eyes of the lofty shall be humbled:
16. But the Lord of hosts shall be exalted in judgment, and God that is holy shall be sanctified in righteousness.

17. Then shall the lambs feed after their manner, and the waste places of the fat ones shall strangers eat.

18. Woe unto them that draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and sin as it were with a cart-ropes:

19. That say, Let him make speed, and hasten his work, that we may see it: and let the counsel of the Holy One of Israel draw nigh and come, that we may know it!

20. Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put the bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!

21. Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!

22. Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink:
23. Which justify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him!

HOME READINGS.

GOLDEN TEXT.
My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. (Hos. 4. 5.)

LESSON HYMN, L. M.
Bondage and death the cup contains;
Dash to the earth the poisoned bowl!
Softer than silk are iron chains,
Compared with those that chafe the soul.

Spare, Lord, the thoughtless, guide the blind, Till man no more shall deem it just
To live by forging chains to bind
His weaker brother in the dust.

Hosannas, Lord, to thee we sing,
Whose power the giant fiend obeys;
What countless thousands tribute bring,
For happier homes and brighter days!

Time—About B. C. 760.
Place—Probably Jerusalem.
Rulers—Azariah, King of Judah; Pekah, King of Israel.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY
1. The Drunkard's Feast, v. 11, 12, 22, 23.

Upon what early risers is woe pronounced?
What music do they have at their feasts?

For whom have they no regard?
What doom is in store for all such? (See Psa. 28. 5.)

Upon what mighty men is there a woe?
Of what injustice are they guilty?

How does God regard such people? (Prov. 17. 15.)

2. The Drunkard's Woe, v. 13, 21.
Why did captivity come to God's people?

What happened to their men of honor and the multitude?
What is said of their doom?

Who would be humbled in that day?
Who would then be exalted?

What is said of the waste places?
What is said of such as sin with vanity and boldness?

What challenge did they give to the Almighty?
What woe is pronounced on those who pervert language?

What upon the wise and prudent?
What is a wise man's warning against self-conceit? (Prov. 3. 7.)

How may we avoid the drunkard's woe? (Prov. 23. 31.)

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.
Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That wine drinking is a curse?
2. That drunkenness leads to other vices?

3. That God will surely punish the drunkard?

THE LESSON CATECHISM.
[For the entire school.]

1. On whom does the prophet pronounce a woe? On those that follow strong drink.

2. On whom is a second woe pronounced? On those that justify sin.

3. On whom is a third woe pronounced? On those who will not be taught their duty.

4. On whom is a fourth woe pronounced? On those that justify wickedness for a reward.

Doctrinal suggestion—The holiness of God.

For the cure of colds, coughs, and all derangements of the respiratory organs, no other medicine is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It relieves the asthmatic and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease, and has saved innumerable lives.

Obituary.

Stonewall Station, Miss.—Sister Louvena Knox, one of our best members, departed this life Feb. 22. Sister Knox joined the church when 13 years old, and was 39 years old when she died, in full triumph. She leaves a husband, two children and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

R. H. Patton.

Hazlehurst, Miss.—Sister Rachel Turner, aged 17 years, a member of the M. E. Church, died in Franklin county, Va., after a protracted illness of nearly two years. She died satisfied that heaven was her future home. She leaves a mother, father, three sisters and four brothers. She was beloved by all who knew her.

James W. Wells.

Meadville, Miss.—Sister Eliza Middleton's two little boys, after three weeks illness, both died the same day and were hurried side by side. One was 2 and the other 9 years old.

W. N. G. Lipscomb, P. C.

Rockwood, Tenn.—Miss Lula J. Zellender, wife of Rev. J. W. Zellender, a member of the East Tennessee Conference, after a long and painful illness, departed this life in full triumph of faith, at Rockwood, Tenn., March 7. She was married to Rev. J. W. Zellender May 16, 1888, and lived a faithful and loving wife up to death. The remains were taken to Philadelphia, Tenn., for burial. May the gracious Comforter support and comfort the bereaved husband.

A Friend.

Anderson, Tex.—Bro. Robert Anderson, one of the oldest members of this circuit, and the father of the Methodist Church here, fell asleep in Christ Feb. 16. He leaves a wife and eight children to mourn his loss.

J. Jones, P. C.

Sister Sarah Rankin departed this life Jan. 27. She died in full triumph of faith. She leaves many friends to mourn her loss.

Sister Lizzie Nerby died Feb. 11. She called them all around her bed and told them to meet her in heaven. She died shouting.

A. W. Randolph, P. C.

Houston, Texas.—Bro. James Modock fell asleep March 5, 1891, aged 66 years. He was called from labor to reward at 7 a. m. He was a member of the M. E. Church for a good many years. He leaves a wife, seven children, nineteen grand-children and a good many friends to mourn his loss.

M. H. Robinson, P. C.

Eola, La.—March 9, Sister Edmonia Waddy, aged 17 years, departed this life. She had been a faithful member of Eola M. E. Church for nine months. Thank God, after four weeks suffering, she died the death of the righteous. Her last words were, "Stand back, Death, and don't be too fast, but wait until that man who is riding that white horse comes in, and I will soon join the saints above." She leaves a father, mother, three sisters, two brothers and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

A. H. Banks.

No one doubts that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy really cures Catarrh, whether the disease be recent or of long standing, because the makers of it clinch their faith in it with a $500 guarantee, which is a mere newspaper guarantee, but "on call" in a moment. That moment is when you prove that its makers can't cure you. The reason for their faith is this: Dr. Sage's remedy has proved itself the right cure for ninety-nine out of one hundred cases of Catarrh in the Head, and the World's Dispensary Medical Association can afford to take the risk of you being the one hundredth.

The only question is—are you willing to make the test, if the makers are willing to take the risk? If so, the rest is easy. You pay your druggist 50 cents and the trial begins. If you're wanting the $500 you'll get something better—a cure!

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold as a cure for catarrh. One bottle cured me.—S. A. Lovell, Franklin, Pa.

IN THE SPRING

AVOID SICKNESS BY PURIFYING THE BLOOD AND TONING UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wondrous popularity:

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.

2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.

3. It never stops off one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.

4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.

5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and anti-pyrene, and leave none of their unpleasant and harmful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it.

For Ladies and Children it is far the best. Circulars with testimonials, etc., mailed free. For sale by druggists and by Kit Williams, agent, 302 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Price: prepaid, 41 per bottle; six bottles for $5. By permission we refer to the Manager of this paper.

DONALD KENNEDY of Roxbury, Mass., says

My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because no two people have the same weak spot. Beginning at the stomach it goes searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps it's only a little sediment left on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along, and you find quick happiness from the first bottle. Perhaps it's a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. The Medical Discovery begins the fight, and you think it pretty hard, but soon you thank me for making something that has reached your weak spot. Price $1.50. Sold by every Druggist in the United States and Canada.

THE SOUL IS FREE.

"No chains can bind it, and no cell enclose,
Swifter than light it flies from pole to pole,
And in a flash from earth to heaven it goes;
It leaps from mount to mount, from vale to vale;
It wanders, plucking honeyed fruits and flowers."

PUSH the revival work, brethren.

LET us hear of a glorious revival on every charge, and salvation in every home. Let us have less wranglings and more revivals.

EVERY boy and girl, and all the grown people, should be enrolled and attend the Sunday schools. Crowd the Sunday schools. Search the Scriptures. They testify of Christ.

Mr. Henry Adams, of this city, now employed in the Treasury Department in Washington, D. C., in a letter enclosing his subscription, says: "I don't want to miss a copy. I like the paper so very much. It is a good, strong and able one."

THE Western wants to know whether the mourners' bench has played out or not. In our section of the church, it is the seat of greatest prominence, after the pulpit, and the amen corners, which are often transformed into mourners' benches.

THE Semi-centennial number, March 12, 1891, of the Northern Christian Advocate, is a real credit to its brilliant and successful history. It is full of good things; among them a sketch and picture of Drs. F. G. Hibbard, Wm. Hooper, Nelson Rounds, Isaac S. Bingham, D. D. Love, former editors, and Dr. O. H. Warren, the present very efficient editor. Continued success to you, Bro. Warren.

A CORRESPONDENT, in writing of the Italian massacre in this city, March 14, remarks very pertinently: "Mob-law is seldom, if ever, justifiable—in a democracy never. The people must govern. If they put the government in bad hands, they are to blame. If saloons are to rule the nation; the people will it. If we are having courts that are venial, and laws that are oppressive, the people can change it if they will. Moths minister to passion, are unreasoning and unreasonable. Our country has been disgraced by them. And 'having sown the wind, may we not reap the whirlwind?' The SOUTHWESTERN hold on its way, and I hope is spreading its influence wider and wider, as it deserves a place in every Methodist family among our people."

My Visit to Calvin Fairbank.

BY REV. T. COTTON.

It would give me pleasure to know that I had aided in the least degree to bring about, the reign of harmony and good will, between the white and colored races, and strengthen the bond of human brotherhood.

To this end I would suggest to our colored friends, that so far as practicable, they inform themselves concerning the noble white men, and women, who have labored, suffered and died for the freedom and elevation of the colored race.

Concerning these, irrespective of the valiant host which perished on the battlefield, we may say that their names are legion and they constitute a noble army of martyrs. Among the few of that class of heroes and martyrs who still survive, is the Rev. Calvin Fairbank, now something over seventy years of age and residing in Angelica, New York. He was a Presbyterian or Congregational minister, and while preaching and teaching in Kentucky, about forty-five years ago, was arrested, tried, and convicted, and suffered two terms in the penitentiary on a charge of aiding slaves to escape; the second term was for fifteen years.

It was towards the close of this second term, that I visited him, an experience I can never forget. It was late in the fall of 1862, I was then, the chaplain of an Illinois regiment, and was left in Frankfort, Ky., in charge of a squad of sick soldiers.

Many years before, I had heard and read something about Fairbank, and his imprisonment, but it was so long ago that it seemed more like a myth or legend than reality.

It occurred to me all of a sudden that this was the place; and I proposed to the hospital steward, an old time Abolitionist, that we go to the prison and make some inquiries.

Accordingly we knocked at the inner gate and the burly guard presented himself rifle in hand. Is there any record of Calvin Fairbank being confined here? I enquired. A nigger thief! Enquired the guard. I suppose that is what you call him was my reply. O yes, said the guard he is here now. Can we see him? Yes, I reckon maybe the Cunnell would let you see him and as he opened the gate, we passed into the prison yard and were introduced to Mr. Whitesides the assistant warden to whom we stated our wishes. He spoke to a convict, "go to the shoe shop and tell Fairbank to come here."

In a few moments the living martyr, the christian minister and scholar, who had endured eleven years of the most cruel imprisonment stood before us, gazing at the visitors with intense interest. Their on of the prison had entered deeply into both soul and body. Our conversation was of course brief and not so free if the presence of the warden, as it would otherwise have been. Fairbank made some enquiries concerning a Lieutenant who had made some efforts to draw the attention of Gov. Robinson to the case, and the governor had promised on condition of certain things being proved concerning the trial, to set Fairbank at liberty.

I left the prison resolved to try what influence I could have with the governor, but was almost immediately ordered to my regiment by General Dumont, and amid the weariness and excitement of army life, the case was partly forgotten, and after my return home I supposed that in the mighty sweep of events, and the changes wrought by the war Fairbank had been restored to liberty; but although Governor Bramlett came into office with high sounding professions of Unionism it was nearly two years longer before our anti-slavery hero and martyr, was released from his horrible prison; and for this he was indebted to the humanity of a brave soldier Colonel Jacobs, who, happening to be Lieutenant Governor at the time seized the opportunity in the absence of Bramlett to open the prison doors and let the oppressed go free. The recital of the atrocious ornet's, the tortures and indignities heaped on this friend of the slave, through all these dreadful years, is enough to cause the blood in any American freeman's veins to curdle with horror and disgust, or boil with righteous rage.

He had been burdened with impossible tasks and had received nearly forty thousand blows of the strap on his bare body.

During many years after his release he endeavored to obtain means for the publication of his book, and through the generous aid given him by our own Chaplain McCabe and Dr. G. W. Gray, he has at length succeeded. It is entitled "How the Way was Prepared," and is issued at the moderate price of 75 cents, by the Patriotic Publishing Company, 134 Dearborn street, Chicago. I should be glad if many readers of the SOUTHWESTERN would send for the book, and read carefully its thrilling contents, it will help them to understand at what a cost of suffering, the way of freedom was prepared by its heroic friends, and martyrs of the past.

About a year ago, I wrote a sketch similar to this, which appeared in the N. Y. Independent, and soon after received a grateful note from Mr. Fairbank, in which he says, "I was greatly surprised to find that you of whom I had thought thousands of times after twenty-seven years, are still on this side the gates."

Thus the white man shared the black man's bitter cup, and drank the very dregs of its toil, and torture and ignorance, for Christ and his oppressed ones.

Notes from Nashville.

The friends of Hon. T. H. Caldwell of Shelbyville, will be pained to hear of his death at Shelbyville, his home, on the 10th of this month. He was one of the original trustees of the Central Tennessee College, and has held the office of president or vice-president, nearly ever since the organization of the Board in 1866. He was a firm union man during the war and at its close became an earnest member of the M. E. Church. He aided very greatly in the upbuilding of the church in Shelbyville and its vicinity. He was at one time Attorney General of the State, was a lawyer of acknowledged ability, and has frequently occupied the bench in important cases. He has been a warm friend to the college and has been its legal counselor since its organization. He was a man of strong convictions, and with the courage to openly avow them, whenever necessary. His work for the Sunday school cause in his county was very valuable. He will be missed in his community, in the church, and in the college where he has so long acted with earnest fidelity. We are having quite a revival spirit in some of the churches in Nashville. At Clark Chapel, pastor Rev. H. H. White, over seventy conversions; at Seay Chapel, pastor Rev. W. H. Vaughn, over sixty conversions. The pastor at Murfreesboro, Rev. C. B. Willson, reports twenty-six conversions and the meeting still going on with interest. Other churches in the city and vicinity are sharing in the revival spirit. The Legislature, contrary to the general impression among the colored people, has passed the "Separate Car Bill," which requires the colored people to travel in special cars.

In some respects this will be an advantage to the colored people, if the railroads will put on a decent car for them, as heretofore they have been compelled to ride in the smoking car, and often with a vile set of drinking, smoking rongs, and compelled to endure the stench of bad whiskey and miserable tobacco, and conversations that were hardly fit for the slums. We have had at the Central Tennessee College quite a number of conversions; rooms remain crowded, and the indications of increased interest in education among the colored people is quite evident. The question is still asked here occasionally by lecturers, "What shall we do with the colored people?" Would it not be well to ask another question, "What will the colored people do with us, and the country? If we judge the future by the past, we may take it for granted that the colored people will have quite an influence in the future history of this nation. For nearly two hundred years they shaped the legislation for us in our State and National Legislatures, they gave tone to the pulpit in the North and in the South, they controlled the school system of the South and prevented the poor class of whites from acquiring an education which they had a right to receive in the public schools; they largely controlled the social life of the South, they made it necessary for the country to be patrolled by watchmen at night, in order to keep them in what was supposed to be necessary subjection; from the number of mulattoes in the country they evidently lowered the standard of social purity; they eventually became the cause of contention which deluged our land in blood. If they have done this for the country in the past, what they will do for us in the future depends upon the character which they shall receive from the treatment which they may have from the whites, and their opportunities to secure the just fruits of their labors, the educational advantages, and moral and religious culture which they may have the opportunity to acquire.

Central Alabama Conference.

A. N. JACKSON.

During the recent session of our conference a discussion arose over receiving an applicant from the African Methodist Episcopal Church, during which one of the opponents claimed (but didn't state wherein) that the conference had been harmed by the great influx from other churches to ours. As to whether or not this whole sale accession has been an injury or a benefit, facts alone can be the only basis on which a fair conclusion can be reached. For about twelve years the Central Alabama Conference was composed of four districts, confined continually to the same territory, without any apparent prospects of a spread.

If the benevolent collections ran up to three or four hundred dollars it was considered a remarkable good showing. Missionary and Church Extension money was lavishly expended upon the work with meagre returns. About five years ago, by the influence of the writer, there was a break from the other churches to ours, and about three years ago the fifth district was formed by Bishop Mallien, composed entirely (with two or three poor exceptions) of new work, and one of the new men placed in charge of it, and having under him mostly new and inexperienced men in the work of our church, and in a territory of the most intense opposition. Now, a little comparison: Take the Huntsville district, and in its fifteenth year (its real age being about twenty years), it reports for all purposes, benevolent collections $128.50 and the Montgomery district in its third year $102 leaving a balance of only $26.50 in favor of the district twelve years its senior. Making an average of the last collections by the age of these two districts, and if they continue at the same ratio in the twelfth year hence, the new district would raise $408 and the old $102.80. Again, take St. Paul, Birmingham, about twenty years old which had two of the strongest original preachers of the conference to its pastorate during the past year, and only reported $15 for all purposes, and Troy about four years old and a new man as pastor reports $28 for the same purpose. Once more; ten of the strongest original men reported an aggregate of $142, and the same number of new men reported $235.35. This shows that ten men in their fourth year have raised $143.35 more than a like number of original men in their fifteenth or twentieth year. I have not the means to get at the spiritual success, yet, doubtless it would follow suit with the financial results. If these brethren who so stoutly oppose applicants, were to consider the above facts, and really desire to see the work prosper, they would be more courteous to all—remembering that the church is known in the state to-day as never before, and naturally in the stampede to us, some unworthy ones may get in, but not to brand all as such, but sidetrack the unworthy as found out. Our work is gaining strength and influence and let it be encouraged. Instead of feeling elated over raising two or three hundred dollars as heretofore, we will soon see that a failure was made if thousands were not raised and souls saved in proportion—may God help us all in mission to do the great work of the church.

How to Manage a Church Successfully.

Read by Rev. F. T. Childs, before the New Orleans preacher's meeting, and published by its request.

First, Be punctual at every service, begin at the appointed time.

Second, Let the local preachers have their appointments arranged properly, allow the people to give them their text at times.

Fourth, Let each body of officers be their own sovereign.

Fifth, Announce from the pulpit the names of the sick, giving their street and number, then visit them yourself.

Sixth, Endeavor to have a new idea to put before your congregation at all services, so as to be broadening their views towards the progress of the work.

Seventh, In appointing the Conference Committees, do not only appoint members, but friends of the church.

So arrange it that all the returns for your benevolent moneys will be made before the fourth Sunday in May.

Eighth, Devise a plan with the District Steward so as to assess each class a certain amount, in order to pay the Presiding Elder at once.

Ninth, Attend the Sabbath school regularly and make your presence felt, so that the children may welcome you at all times. Meet the Board and let nothing be accomplished without its order.

Tenth, With the Board, by the installment plan have the Sunday school Agent's money raised.

Organize a class of local preachers and exhorters in the school. Then teach them, if they fail to attend they do not recommend a renewal of the license.

Eleventh, Make your prayer-meeting a success by having a lay member open the meeting, then allow each leader to have a prayer-meeting to conduct

Church Polity.

Question 1. Where there is a local preacher, ordained or unordained, and his membership is in a certain church, is he not required, as other members of said church, to observe all the means of grace?

Q. 2. On failure to observe them is it not lawful to proceed in his case as in cases of other lay members? Would it be lawful to bring a charge against him for neglect of the means of grace, try him before a committee and expel him?

LAYMAN.

Answer 1. Most certainly.

A. 2. Yes. The only difference is in the fact that he must be tried by a committee of local preachers.

Q. 1. Can a convert become a full member under six months in church?

Q. 2. Can one become an officer in the church and try and expel full members?

A SUBSCRIBER.

A. 1. "Let no one be received into full membership in the church until such person has been at least six months on trial. Par. 36, Sec. 1, Discipline 1888.

A. 2. He cannot be an officer, except a trustee; and under no circumstances can one who is not a full member sit as a committee to try full members.

THE colored press is unanimous in its demand that the President appoint a colored jurist to one of the nine U. S. Circuit judgeships provided for under recent act of Congress. A petition to that effect has been presented to the President by a committee representing the Colored Press Association of the United States, and he has promised to give just and impartial consideration to the subject. He requested that proper names be presented to him. The demand for representation on the Columbian World's Fair Management also received encouraging responses from him. The colored people of this country are justly entitled to the representation here sought, they have the proper persons to recommend, and they ought to be pressed, and the President should appoint them. Let every American Negro and every impartial patriot unite in the demand. Let the proper names be presented.

THE Parnell disgrace continues in Irish affairs. The renowned Kilkenny cats fought till there was nothing left but their tails—and it wasn't very good weather for tails, either. It seems that history is about to repeat itself in the fight of the Irish factions. The millstone about the neck of Ireland is the Roman Catholic Church. Protestant Ireland is sober, prosperous, enlightened and contented. When Irishmen shake off the College of Italian Cardinals, that has ruled them since the days of St. Patrick, and practice the truths of Evangelical Christianity, they will have "Home Rule" indeed—but not until then.

WHENEVER Italy has thrown off the yoke of the papal hierarchy it has produced marvelous men—Garibaldi, the hero; Cavour and Mazzini, the statesmen; Giordano Bruno, the heretic; and Savonarola, the martyr.

Letters from the Districts.

To the Preachers of Paris District, Texas Conference.

Dear Brethren: The first district conference will convene at Bonham, Texas, April 30, 1891. Pastors and superintendents will see that each Sunday school sends a delegate on the 28th, which will be two days prior to the conference. We want each school represented and all the members of the Institute present, for the purpose of fixing a suitable time for the annual meetings. Let all the members of the district conference be present to co-operate with the Institute, to reach the best conclusions.

Prof. J. B. McCulloch, J. Smelser, A. L. Patterson, J. W. H. Moore and P. L. Jackson are hereby requested to serve as a committee on program for the Institute, and publish the same in the SOUTHWESTERN without delay. I ask this because those are near together. I hope the brethren did not fail to hold special Easter services, and that they realized a good sum of benevolent money. Please don't forget to do your best on Children's Day, also. It is best to take advantage of all these special days, and not to wait for "fall or winter. Try your best to report at least one-fourth of your benevolent collections at Bonham. I recommend also that you do your best for the blessed old SOUTHWESTERN, for she is your best friend. I have tried many papers, but nothing comes up to the good old SOUTHWESTERN. Ah, boys, when she lifeth up herself on the earth, she scorns the horse and rider. Of all good papers, the SOUTHWESTERN speaks better things for, and is the best friend to the M. E. Church than any other in the world.

I hope every pastor, local preacher, exhorter, superintendent, officer and member, will make a special donation for the early erection of that Grand Central (new) college building at Marshall, Tex. It is our own building. Why not give $1 apiece and have it go right up? Pastors, let me stir you up on these matters. Let us forget ourselves and work for God and suffering humanity. How easy can all this be done if every one will lay hold and do his best.

Mr. Editor, I have not forgotten you; I am am doing my best. You see, I love you, because I don't owe you anything above 25 cents.

PROGRAM

For the first district conference, to be held at Bonham, Tex., April 30. Introductory sermon, A. Taylor. Missionary sermon, W. H. Jackson.

W. H. Perkins, Radford, Va.

We are getting along well on my work. My church will soon be finished. It will be one of the nicest in the East Tennessee conference. My second quarterly conference was held Feb. 28, and we had a grand time. A conference rally on Sunday, March 1, resulted in a collection of $31.45. The Elder preached one of his old-time sermons. God bless Bro. Geo. T. Wright. All the people at Bell Springs fell in love with him. Paid the Elder, $9.75; pastor, $22.18. The SOUTHWESTERN brings good news to me every week.

Dr. Thirkield's Lecture on Our Ministry.

G. J. IZARD.

I wish to congratulate the Doctor for so many good things that he said for the race. Dr. Thirkield will live when his mortal body will have been destroyed by the worms of the earth. It is true, his place of business is at Atlanta, where also he remains personally, but he preaches and teaches everywhere. We are glad the old church has such men as he, and that he is bringing others along in his footsteps. Like the Doctor, I must say, we have too many men who are unable to tell the people what they need to know. Therefore, this class of brethren do not attempt to preach to the people what they need, but are all the time preaching to the people what they want. Like Bishop Warren, I say, let us not "fleece and make mention of the flocks, but feed them." Richmond, Texas.

W. Harmes, Jewett, Texas, proposes and requests that every pastor collect 25cts. from every member, and bring the same to the first district conference, for the purpose of buying a home for the Presiding Elder of that district.

The colored preachers of the city of Nashville, Tenn., met March 4, and organized themselves into a Preachers' Union. Rev. Jesse P. Price is president; Dr. Davis, of the C. M. E. Church, vice-president; Dr. Poody, of the First Baptist Church, treasurer; H. S. Howell, of the Christian Church, secretary; and G. C. Harden, corresponding secretary. By so doing they hope to bring our people into closer relation.

A very wise movement.

The annual report of the Elliot Avenue M. E. Church, St. Louis, Mo., shows that the trustees raised $778.30, and the stewards $723.25. Church benevolence, $33.80. Membership, December, 1889, 120; increase, 38.

F. Smith, Cookeville, Tenn., is meeting with considerable success on his work, and he feels much encouraged.

Speaking of the celebration of Emancipation Day, Jan. 1, on his work, Rev. A. H. Newsom, of Lawrenceburg, N. C., says: "Emancipation Day is one that every Negro should take an active part in celebrating. While the white man boasts of the day of Independence, let the Negro boast of the day of Freedom. It's the day our fathers and mothers prayed for. Some of them are in their graves, while we are blessed with the light of freedom."

F. L. Teague, Marion, Ala.

We are enjoying another revival in Zion Chapel M. E. Church. Five converted and forty-five at the altar.

Owen Hyppsher, Bristol, Tenn.

A revival meeting at the Scott Street M. E. Church closed last night in the Odd Fellows' Hall. Meeting continued nineteen nights. Some times we had to stop the meeting for three nights at a time, but the interest never changed in the meeting. The members were greatly revived: 28 conversions and 27 joined the church. Many thanks to Revs. C. Boyd, Presiding

Elder; P. P. Brooks, of Abingdon, Va.; J. H. Butler, of Montgomery circuit; J. H. Burla, of this city; and T. M. Draper, local preacher from the Delaware Conference; for their timely assistance.

A. J. McNair, Shubuta, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference convened at Shubuta, Mt. Zion M. E. Church, March 14, 15. The quarter was quite interesting. Nearly all the quarterly conference members were present with written reports, which indicated progress. Nine have been received in the church, and three died during the quarter. Sunday was a season of joy to all present. Our Presiding Elder, Rev. J. M. Shumpert, preached two able sermons to a crowded house, and all rejoiced with joy unspeakable. The Lord's Supper was administered to 92 persons. Collection, $27.05.

P. P. Thirkield, Hattiesburg, Miss.

On the night of the 17th of March I heard some melodious voices singing in the yard of the parsonage, and on opening the door I found a great number of Hattiesburg grandest ladies and gentlemen. They had come to bring the pastor and wife good tidings. They brought sugar, flour, rice, soap, canned goods, a fine rocking chair, and many other things that were needed. All such friends may call again when they choose. I can stand such treatment at any time.

H. A. Sorrell, Beattieville, La.

Our first quarterly conference was held March 4, 5. The Presiding Elder, Rev. P. Landry, was on hand. The quarter was one of great interest. The people gave evidence of being more than satisfied with the Presiding Elder. He is fully equipped for the work. His wide range of experience and business tact give him great success among the people. On Thursday night he preached a heart reviving sermon.

D. W. Nelson, Hazen, Ark.

I think we can do much good here with the circulation of the noble SOUTHWESTERN. I notice that where it has been read the people seem to be much better enlightened, so I am working for its circulation. May God speed the time when every Methodist family within our bounds will receive a copy of the SOUTHWESTERN once a week.

A. W. Randolph, Jasper, Tenn.

My second quarterly conference was held March 15, by Rev. D. W. Hayes. He preached with power, and left many things for us to consider. Our work is moving on nicely.

J. J. Obee, Shady Grove Circuit.

Elder Duncan held our first quarterly conference March 2, 8. Financially we hadn't done much, but we had a very good spiritual time during the quarterly conference. Old friends were glad to welcome him on the district again, and some were sorry that Elder Montgomery was not Presiding Elder any more. Our aim is to do better this year than we did last.

G. C. Harden, Nashville, Tenn.

Rev. J. P. Price, Presiding Elder, held my second quarterly conference with much success. His visit on the Nashville circuit was much enjoyed by all. He thought the work was doing well.

Wm. Perry, New Berne, Ala.

Our first quarterly conference convened at New Berne, Ala., Feb. 21, 22. We had a grand time. Rev. H. N. Brown was at his place and preached two effective sermons. Raised $10 for Presiding Elder.

J. E. Bryant, Yarbrough, Texas.

First quarterly conference of the Yarbrough circuit was held at the Stonehamville M. E. Church, Feb. 14, 15, by Rev. W. H. Logan, Presiding Elder. Although both days were cold and rainy, everything passed off pleasantly. The Presiding Elder preached two noble sermons, which will long be remembered. Rev. W. H. Logan is in the hearts of all his people here. We are glad always to see him, and are sorry when he leaves. The Lord's Supper was administered to 65. Amount raised for Presiding Elder, $12.45. Two subscribers for SOUTHWESTERN received.

A. N. Jackson, LaFayette, Ala.

Our first quarterly conference was held March 14, 15, by Presiding Elder W. F. Smith. It was a profitable and enjoyable occasion. Collection, $18. Apportionments for 1891: pastor's salary, $500; Presiding Elder, $60; benevolences, $60; and 100 souls for Christ.

J. I. Garrett, Benton, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was held at Mt. Pleasant M. E. Church on the 18th inst., with Rev. J. Campbell in the chair. Reports showed the work in a prosperous condition. Pastor's salary, $650; Elder, $60; conference claimants, $10.50; bishop, $5. The Elder preached a powerful sermon, and administered the Lord's Supper to 100 souls. Paid Elder, $16; pastor, $46.70; Bishop, $1.25. Accessions, 12; deceased, 3; expelled, 6.

C. M. Ancrum, Manchac, La.

I was appointed to Conrad and Bayou Paul. I found the church in much need. I will do all I can to furnish it. The SOUTHWESTERN is a grand paper. Everybody ought to take and read it.

Letters from the Laity.

W. E. Hutcherson, of Marshall, Tex., who was formerly a citizen of Shreveport, has recently made a visit there among relatives and friends. He was delighted with what he saw and heard, and especially with the glorious services in which he participated at Fairfield, St. James and St. Paul churches, in Shreveport. He speaks in high terms of the work being done by Rev. T. J. Johnson, at St. Paul, and Rev. O. D. Shallowhorne, at St. James.

John A. Thomas, Morgan City, La.

Rev. Pierre Lanury, the Presiding Elder, paid his first visit to the church on the 10th, and held his first quarter for 1891. He preached to a large gathering on the nights of the 10th and 11th, and spoke highly of his predecessor and the amount of work accomplished by so few members.

J. C. Wilson, Carrollton Circuit, Miss.

Notwithstanding the absence of our beloved pastor, Rev. D. A. Bragg, who was visiting his family at Yazoo City, the memorial of John Wesley was well attended at Jones' Chapel M. E. Church. Speakers: Revs. S. P. McOskill and J. H. McMillan.

N. R. Clay, Aberdeen, Miss.

Our new pastor, Rev. Fred H. Bnnton, is very much appreciated. The Bishop made no mistake in appointing this worthy preacher and able scholar to the Aberdeen charge. He's the right man in the right place. Our first quarterly conference was held on the 14th and 15th by Presiding Elder J. O. Eckles. It was a delightful session. The talks, lectures and sermon by the Elder were edifying and profitable. The salary of the pastor was fixed at $650. The Elder administered the Lord's Supper to 174 communicants, assisted by the pastor. Collection, $18.50. We cannot fail to accomplish much for the Master with such a scholar and Christian gentleman as our worthy pastor, and his wife and leaders. He is now working very persistently for the SOUTHWESTERN.

A complimentary reception was tendered by the members of the Elliot Avenue M. E. Church, St. Louis, Mo., to their pastor, Rev. J. W. Hill, Monday eve, March 9, on his return to them for another year.

Sandus Trent, Waxia, La.

Our first quarterly conference convened in St. Paul M. E. Church, March 5, Rev. S. E. H. Morant, Presiding Elder, in the chair. The roll was called and all the brethren except two were present. After conference, the Presiding Elder preached us a powerful sermon, teaching us our duty to God and the Church. The people were glad to hear him. Our pastor, Rev. Nelson Burton, is the right man in the right place. He is loved by the members and friends of the Church. Pray for us that we may have a successful time this year.

A personal note from Mr. Henry Adams, Washington, D. C., says: The Congress of the United States has adjourned, and has not done anything for the colored race. Our race is as yet left to the mercy of the old slaveholders in the South, for them to whip, kill, cheat, take our crops, our stock, our land, houses, wagons, wives and daughters.

World Wide Methodism.

The Recorder gives this statistical resume:

STATISTICS OF METHODISM AT THE CLOSE OF A CENTURY.

When John Wesley fell asleep there was an undivided Methodist Church in Great Britain (with 312 ministers and 79,000 members), and the total statistics of Methodism for England and America were 540 ministers, 1,000 local preachers, 134,589 members of society.

To-day there are five Methodist Churches in Great Britain, and the adherents of Methodism throughout the world number thirty millions. A larger number than that of any other Protestant Church. Of these thirty millions, 39,403 are ministers, and 6,122,564 class members.

General Church News.

The census reports of religious bodies in the United States show that there are 134 sects, with 25,000,000 members. The Methodists head the list with 5,000,000 members, the Baptists and Romanists each claim 4,000,000, the Presbyterians 3,000,000, and the Episcopalians, 2,000,000.

The African Methodist Episcopal Church has established a home for aged ministers. The board of directors has located the home in Philadelphia. The building will cost $50,000.

The city of New York has 600 Sunday-schools, with a total of 187,000 scholars and teachers. Philadelphia has 616 Sunday schools, with a total of 195,802 teachers and scholars.

The Catholic magistrates of Ghent, Belgium, have recognized the Salvation Army as a sect, and have fined a number of persons who were brought before them charged with having created a disturbance at meetings held by the Army.

Archbishop Ireland, a Roman prelate in the United States, declares in the Catholic World that "intemperance is doing the holy church harm beyond the power of the pen to describe, and, unless we crush it out, Catholicity can make but slow advance in America."

If the 30,000,000 barrels of beer used in England were emptied, they would fill a river 300 miles long (a distance greater than from New-castle-on-Tyne to London), 21 feet wide and 5 feet deep. Draining of this river 160,000 persons were convicted of drunkenness in one year.

Denmark is decidedly the best country to get drunk in. A law recently passed there provides that every drunken person shall be sent home in a carriage at the expense of the publican who sold him the last glass.
